HOLMS TO SUDLAM

The most cherished pride of many people is the supposed fact that some fraction of their "blood" is derived from a noble ancestor, or from a passenger on the Mayflower....To be sure, an individual receives on the average one quarter of his genes (hereditary factors) from each grandparent, one-eighth from each great-grandparent, etc. But this is only a statistical average, and in reality one may have either more or fewer, down to no genes at all, especially from the more remote ancestors.... It is painful to see that even some serious writers have deluded themselves into believing that they have explained the greatness of a great man by finding that some priceless "biological strain" has "persisted" in his "blood" by transmission from some particular ancestor.

C O N T E N T S

VOLUMES ONE, TWO, THREE AND FOUR

NOTE: The reader invariably should examine entries under SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION in each volume, for the family in which he is interested. The SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION in volume one refers to families in that volume only; that in volume two refers to families in both volumes one and two; and similarly in volumes three and four the contents are cumulative. The index will be in the last volume issued.

Paging is consecutive, without regard for volume number. It is, by volume:

One	pp. 1 - 510
Two	pp. 511 - 1,036
Three	pp. 1,037 - 1,498
Four	pp. 1,499 - 2,050

In response to many requests, we have included not only the surnames of families for which pedigree monographs have been compiled, but also the surnames of those other families (1) from which the writer is descended, although a separate section for them has not been provided, and (2) from which the writer is not descended, but which for various reasons have been given considerable space.

HULSE

4. FREELOVE HULSE 11
m. JOHN FURMAN son of John Furman and Ruth Ackerly

She was born 22 April, 1812 at the residence of her father, then Bald Hills, now Farmingville, Brookhaven, New York.

No baptismal record is found.

She married 1, 14 March, 1828, probably either at Bald Hills or Patchogue, New York to John Furman, whom she survived. After her marriage she resided at Patchogue, New York. She married 2, after 1872 to Apollos Swezey, an oysterman of Patchogue, widower of Elizabeth Overton and son of Asa and Desire (Smith) Swezey. There were no children by the second husband.

Freelove (Hulse) (Furman) Swezey died at Patchogue, New York 12 August, 1891, and was buried beside her first husband in Lakeview cemetery, Patchogue, New York.

For descendants by John Furman and further connections, see FURMAN, #10.

NOTES

The foregoing information was obtained from Mrs. Jacob Louis Valentine, now (1950) of Patchogue, New York; and from the late Mrs. Florence Ward (Smith) Chichester of Centre Moriches, New York.

From available portraits Freelove (Hulse) (Furman) Swezey appears to have been a moderately strong-featured woman, with a somewhat round face, a retrousse nose and strong chin. It is said that when she was a young woman her hair was blond. She was also strong-minded and of determined character----both traits necessary to maintain the domestic efficiency of a family whose father was equally strong-minded, salty, and of an extremely convivial temperament! As an old lady she lost grasp of everyday contacts, and had to be cared for. She died in the arms of Herbert Kemp Smith, her grandson (volume I, page 11); the latter stated that in her last days, he was the only person whom she would unquestioningly obey.

Mrs. Valentine writes in a letter of 30 August, 1943:

> I do not remember grandmother Furman, when she was young. Her hair was white and beautifully curley (sic) & she was very pretty with soft lovely skin & very handsome large blue eyes -- she was a very smart capable woman -- she did not have a very easy time of it in her young married life -- It broke her family all up when she married again and went to live at Apollis (sic) Swezey's home I rem(ember) her living there & she thought a lot of him, too if I dare say it.... I think her youngest son John & family went to live at the old place -- We lived over in Blue Point but I remember Father driving to see Grandmother at the old Furman place long since gone. I can just remember the old house with its long sloping roof, at the back. It faced south--- I can only rem(ember) being there once....

Freelove Hulse was the daughter of

5. JOHN HULSE 22
m. NAOMI NORTON daughter of Thankful Norton and

He was born in Bald Hills (Farmingville), Brookhaven, New York, after 1770 and before 1776.

No baptismal record is found.

John Hulse was a quiet farmer, shoemaker and itinerant vendor in Bald Hills for most of his life. He had removed to Patchogue, New York before 1830, in which place he lived on Patchogue lane. Here he was a blacksmith and shoemaker. He had died before 1840.

He was probably buried in the Lewis Hulse plot in the Coram, New York village cemetery adjacent to the Methodist Episcopal church. No will or administration was filed.

John Hulse married about 1798 or 1799 to Naomi Norton who survived him.

NOTES

The basis for the foregoing was an outline MS. obtained from the late Florence Ward (Smith) Chichester; and information from Mrs. Jacob Louis Valentine of Patchogue, New York; Mrs. Samuel Metcalfe of Bay Shore, New York and Mrs. Charles T. Lowndes.

The proof of the connections of John Hulse of this generation, that he was son of John and Elizabeth Hulse, is given in The Directory and Year Book of the Public Schools, printed in 1930; and concerning the Second Supervisory District of Suffolk county is the following:

> May 1, 1817. No. 27 - Bald Hills, the West Bounds to extend to the east line of Daniel saxtons land so extending Northward so as to include the House and premises of John Hulse, Jur.

Mr. Oraft, the author of the Directory then goes on to state that > the present Farmingville section was then known as Bald Hills,... on the first of May, 1817, the inhabitants of Bald Hills made application to the Commissioners to be set off in a (school) district by themselves.

Elijah Terry taught school in 1816-1818. In the 1819 census of the schools of the Bald Hills district the following are listed:

> Children of Asa Swezey
> Apollos
> Hiram
> Van Rensselaer
>
> Children of John Hulse
> Lewis
> Enos
> Freelove

We acknowledge with grateful thanks the report of this list, as transmitted to us by Osborn Shaw of Bellport, New York.

In the Records of the Town of Brookhaven, vol. II (1888 edition), p. 188 (original page 134)), the confirmation of the foregoing is recorded:

> Be it remembered that on the first day of May 1817 the Inhabitants of the Neighborhood of Ball,d hills made application to us commissioners of common schools for the Town of Brookhaven to be set off in a District by themselves and we the sd Commissioners after due consideration had in the premises do hereby set them off the West Bound to extend to the east line of Daniel saxtons land so extending Northward so as to include Christopher Tookers and Eastwardly so as to include the house and premises of John Hulse Jur which will be District No. 27....

On 24 October, 1842 this became the 13th School district.

Other records of John Hulse are scant. He signed an unacknowledged deed 5 December, 1818 (Liber 1, Unacknowledged Deeds, Riverhead, N. Y.):

> (abstract) John Hulse and Naoma his wife, for $900.00 in hand paid by Brewster Terry and Daniel Hulse of the said town, gives and grants "all that certain tract or parcel of land situate in the said town of Brookhaven near Coram, being the south side of the Country road, bounded following, that is to say: Beginning at the northwest corner at the southwest corner of David Fordham's land, then running south by the land of Ulisus Hulse to the Middle Island line, then running eastwardly in the Middle Island line till it comes to the land of the said Brewster Terry, then running northwardly by the said Brewster Terry's land till it comes to the lands of Daniel Mott and David Fordham to the bounds first mentioned...." to them and to the said Brewster Terry and Daniel Hulse their heirs forever.

John Hulse was the son of

6. JOHN HULSE
m. ELIZABETH*

He was born probably at Fireplace (the present village of Brookhaven), town of Brookhaven, New York in 1732.

There is no baptism discovered of record.

John Hulse was a moderately well-to-do farmer who held property on the south side of the east-west country road in the Bald Hills (Farmingville) district of Brookhaven town. Conservative, he appears to have been a staunch and even recalcitrant Tory during the War of the American Revolution; he refused to sign the Association Lists. This lost him none of the respect of his neighbors in later years, however; for he was Overseer of Highways for Brookhaven 7 April, 1807 and again 4 April, 1809.

*The problem of her ancestry is discussed at length in the notes following. She may have been (it is not proved) a daughter of Enos Bishop, a neighbor and friend of another John Hulse, the father of the present John Hulse.

John Hulse died 25 October, 1818 at Bald ~~Hills, and was~~ buried in the Coram, New York village cemetery adjacent to the Methodist Episcopal church. From this it would appear that he was a disciple of John Wesley. No will or administration is found of record.

His wife was named Elizabeth; she was born in 1739 and died 8 February, 1818. She was buried beside her husband.

Issue, very certainly:

1. John, married Naomi Norton. See page 1,500.

Issue, very probably:

2. Enos, listed in the 1776 Revolutionary census for Brookhaven, New York; born between 1772 and 1784; married and had issue, as indicated by census record, at least one son and 4 daughters. We have not been able to trace this line further.
3. A son, credited to him in the Revolutionary census of 1776.
4. A daughter, living in 1776.

Perhaps other children.

NOTES

See the references cited under JOHN HULSE, No. 22; American Archives, Series IV, Volume 6, edited by Peter Force, pp. 1,237+; Unacknowledged Deeds, Riverhead, N. Y., II, p. 97; and the Records of the Town of Brookhaven, loc. cit. The Census of 1776 of the Town of Brookhaven is a valuable reference list of the contemporary descendants of the family, and we give it as published by Peter Force:

North Side Country Road (through Selden, Coram, etc.)

Daniel Hulse: 1 male above 50, 1 under 16; 3 females above 16, one of which was probably his wife.

Jesse Hulse: 1 male between 16 and 50; 4 males under 16; 3 females over 16 and 4 females under 16.

Gilbert Hulse (see under that individual)

Peter Hulse and William Tooker: 2 males between 16 and 50; 1 female above 16.

Thomas Hulse: 2 males over 16; 2 males under 16; 4 females above 16; and 2 females under 16.

South Side Country Road

Nehemiah Hulse: 2 males 16 to 50; 2 males under 16; 1 female 16 to 50 and 2 females under 16

Henry Hulse: 1 male over 50; 2 males 16 to 50; 3 males under 16; 2 females above 16 and 2 females under 16.

John Hulse: 1 male between 16 and 50; 3 males under 16; 1 female over 16 and 1 female under 16

Abigail Hulse: 1 male under 16 and 3 females above 16

THE PROBLEM OF THE ANCESTRY OF ELIZABETH, WIFE OF JOHN HULSE

The present writer has sought, without avail among the town records and such other records as are known to him, for the evidence which would establish this ancestress' maiden name. There are three bits of information which presumably apply to this connection:

1. The late Caroline (Furman) Kemp claimed a relationship to De Witt Clinton Tallmadge and once spoke to Mrs. De Witt C. Tallmadge at a social function on the basis of this presumed relationship. It must be stated, as the family anecdote goes, that Mrs. Tallmadge did not acknowledge that she knew of the relationship. The basis of the relationship was a connection with the Tallmadge family.

2. There is a claim that the Rev. Benjamin Tallmadge and his son, Col. Benjamin Rallmadge, were related in some manner to the descendants of John Hulse who married Naomi Norton. However, the analysis of the relationships of both of these Tallmadges provides no apparent possibility of a relationship. The relationship to the Tallmadge family, if it exists, cannot be through Naomi (Norton) Hulse, and must therefore be be sought for in the ancestral connections of John Hulse.

3. Enos Swezey of Brookhaven, a notorious Tory during the War of the Revolution, was in some manner related to John Hulse, his contemporary and likewise a Tory.

So much for the Tallmadge relationship. On the basis of the circumstantial indications that exist, it must be pointed out that Enos is a frequent given name in the Tallmadge family; and the name Enos in the Hulse family appears for the first time in the descendants of John and Elizabeth Hulse. We now turn to the known associations of John Hulse, to establish what possible relationships may exist which would satisfy this uncertain tradition that there was a Tallmadge relationship.

First of all, the present John Hulse was son of a senior John Hulse who was an immediate neighbor of Enos Bishop, born at Stamford, Connecticut 21 April, 1707, and who removed shortly after 1731 to Brookhaven, New York. In his will, dated 5 June, 1751 this John Hulse directs certain lands to be sold at auction, some of which was next to the land belonging to Enos Bishop. This Enos Bishop was the only person in the town of Brookhaven in his time who was called Enos; and he died shortly after the date of John Hulse's will, leaving no will or administration of his effects. The names of his children, presumably by his wife Hannah Smith, are on this account imperfectly known.

It encourages us to believe that Enos Bishop was related, as it is established that Enos Bishop was son of John Bishop and Mary Tallmadge or Talmadge, daughter of Enos Tallmadge or Talmadge by his wife Hannah Yale. If Elizabeth, wife of John Hulse were his daughter, not only would the chronology fit perfectly, but the name of her supposed son Enos would then be accounted for. Going further back in the Hulse line, neither the dates nor the associations appear to provide any better hypothesis; in fact, the converse is true. At the same time, while there is a relationship to DeWitt Clinton Tallmadge and to Col. Benjamin Tallmadge, it is a very distant one----sufficiently distant to account for the lack of any acknowledgement on the part of Mrs. DeWitt Clinton Tallmadge of the relationship.

We turn now to the supposed relationship of Enos Swezey. The name of this man's father is not certainly proved, but he was probably son of a James Swezey who married an Abigail Overton 4 May, 1747. The name Bethiah is a characteristic one in this family; and it is noted that the first child of Enos Bishop, who died young, was named Bethiah. It is possible that Abigail (Overton) Swezey died young, and that James Swezey married a second time, to another daughter of Enos Bishop. This makes John Hulse who married Noami Norton and Enos Swezey cousins, if Enos Swezey was child of this hypothetical second marriage.

We must emphasize that there is no proof that Elizabeth, wife of John Hulse, was a daughter of Enos Bishop. We outline the foregoing for the reason that it may aid some future researcher who will be in possession of more facts than we have now.*

*Enos Bishop was born at Stamford, Connecticut, 21 April, 1707. Shortly after 1731 he removed to Brookhaven, New York, where, next to Benjamin Jones and John Hulse, he resided the rest of his life. He was deceased in 1751, leaving no will or administration of record. He is cited on the tax lists of 1741 and 1749. Enos Bishop married Hannah Smith of Stamford, Connecticut, daughter of John Smith and Phebe Green of that place, and on 1 March, 1730/1. Issue included, very certainly:

1. Bethiah, born at Stamford, Connecticut 15 December, 1731; died 25 December, 1731.
2. James; whose earmark is recorded in Brookhaven, New York in 1755 and 1757. He married at Huntington, New York in the First church at that place 13 November, 1753 to Susannah, daughter of John Skidmore of Huntington. His will, dated 20 December, 1787, was proved 3 January, 1788; the widow was then living. (Liber A, p. 39. Wills, Riverhead, New York). Their children included
   i. Abigail, baptised at Huntington, New York, 13 October, 1754;
   ii. John White, baptised 18 April, 1762.
   iii. Jonah, baptised 29 January, 1765.
   iv. Henry.
3. Enos, whose earmark appears on the Brookhaven Town Records in 1757. No further record.

And possibly (the existence of these putative children is not proved):

4. A daughter, who married James Swezey, son of Stephen and Elizabeth (Youngs) Swezey, presumably then widower of Abigail Overton (married 4 May, 1747: Salmon Records). Indicated issue:
   i. James.
   ii. Enos, who married Susanna Knight, widow; his will, dated 23 August, 1803, proved 5 October, 1803, mentions his beloved wife Susannah and her daughter Sarah Knight; son Enos to have lands which he had of Noadiah Carter and Christopher Swezey, and he is to maintain the two youngest daughters until they are sufficiently able to maintain themselves, and to have a home there until they are married. Son, William Jarvis Swezey; daughters Rhoda, Hannah, surnames not given; Bethiah Swezey, Mary, Rachel, Chloe. There may have been other children.
5. ?Elizabeth. Identified as the wife of John Hulse. If so, then she was born in 1739 and died 8 February, 1818. See page 1,509.

The foregoing Enos Bishop who married Hannah Smith was son of John Bishop of Stamford, Connecticut, who was born there in 1682, and who died at that place between 16 April, 1752 and 12 January, 1758, the dates of making and probate of his will. He was probably buried at Stamford. John Bishop married 1, 10 May, 1704 and presumably at Stamford to Mary Talmadge, so spelled, who died 23 September, 1725. He married 2, Abigail, maiden name not found. The son Enos was by the wife Mary Talmadge. In his will John Bishop mentions the children of this son Enos, but not by name; and in the distribution of the estate in 1758 the reference to them is not more specific.

John Bishop was the son of Stephen Bishop, who was born about 1656 and presumably at Stamford, Connecticut; he resided there and died at that place 3 December, 1722. Stephen Bishop was a Deputy in 1700, 1707, 1708 and 1709. His wife was named Mercy, but her maiden name is not reported.

Stephen Bishop was son of the Rev. John Bishop who was born about 1620. The Rev. John Bishop appears in 1641 in Taunton, Massachusetts as a schoolmaster and student in theology. Subsequently and by 1643 he had become a minister. We quote from The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol. 28, p. 89, in the words of Nathaniel Holmes Bishop of Lake George, New York:

> "....he was once celebrated throughout the New England Colonies as one of the most self-sacrificing and hard-working divines....I have collected all the material obtainable to illustrate his personality. He is thus introduced in that somewhat rare book of Mrs.Caulkins, the 'History of Stamford, Connecticut':
> 'Coming together, after much deliberation and prayer, the people selected two of their number, Lieut. Francis Bell and George Slauson, furnished them with food for the way and sent them on foot to Boston to see if they could not find one John Bishop, whose name had been reported to them, or some minister whom they could persuade to come back with them.... they providentially find Mr. Bishop, then a young man, on whom was the seal of consecration & promise, and with much persuasion they prevailed upon him to accept this pressing call from the Lord. Taking his staff and his well-used Bible in his hand he started with the two brethren for the field of labor.'

At the first May meeting of the General Court in New Haven in 1659, it was reported that Mr. Bishop encountered so much discouragement that he desired to leave Stamford. Apparently, however, he was prevailed upon to continue, and in 1667 the town freed his estate from the annual minister's tax. His parish was extensive, preaching from Norwalk to the New York line; and as he grew older his labors required that he be assisted. The Rev. Eliphalet Jones was his assistant from 1673 until 1676; after that time, nevertheless, he was without one.

His closing years are described by Mrs. Caulkins: "And now the good bishop who so long had kept spiritual watch over this widely scattered people began to feel the infirmities of age. At the town meeting, September 12, 1692, he expresses an earnest desire that someone should come to relieve him. 'The town desire in compliance with his motion, being sensible also of their own necessity, to therefore think it their duty, first, to settle a maintenance on Mr. Bishop, that may be to him yearly paid, during his lifetime, in case we have a supply of another minister.' They then voted an annuity of forty pounds. They then vote fifty pounds to be paid annually to another minister during Mr. Bishop's life...."

He died in the next year, shortly after 16 September, 1694, the date he made his will. Therein he mentions his children by his wife Rebecca. The will was proved 12 March, 1694/5.

The Rev. John Bishop married 1, Rebecca Goodyear, daughter of Stephen Goodyear by his wife Mary; married 2, Joanna (Boyse) (Prudden) Willett, daughter of the Rev. John Boyse of Halifax, co. York, England, and widow respectively of the Rev. Peter Prudden of Milford, Connecticut and second of Capt. Thomas Willett. The son Stephen was evidently by the first wife.

Rebecca (Goodyear) Bishop was the daughter of Stephen and Mary ( ) Goodyear as stated; her father in turn was son of Zachary and Susanna (Baxter) Goodyear. Zachary and his wife were married at St. Michael's, Cornhill, London, England 5 July, 1596. His will, calling him a citizen and vintner of London, was dated 18 July, 1613; it mentioned the church of St. Gregory near Paul's in London; his loving mother; cousin Mary Storey; son Stephen residuary heir and executor; his loving brothers John Partridge, scrivener, and Ralph Bowlton, merchant taylor, citizens of London. Administration was granted 31 July, 1613 to Ralph Bowlton during the minority of Stephen Goodyear, who assumed the administration 15 October, 1624, having reached full age.

The records of the Merchant Tailors' Guild show that on 14 August 1614 this Stephen Goodyear was bound apprentice to Ralph Bowlton of Paternoster Row for seven years, and was freed 12 November, 1621 (indicating that he was born in 1600).

Mr. Stephen Goodyear was licensed 26 January, 1640 to carry 250 passengers to New England in the St. John of London. He was an original proprietor of New Haven, and an early but not original subscriber to the Fundamental Agreement of 4 June, 1639. He was chosen a Deputy, May 1641, and was one of the two Magistrates of the Town chosen (with Mr. Eaton) 27 October, 1641 and 26 October, 1642. On 6 April, 1643 he was appointed member of an advisory committee to consult with the New Haven Commissioners of the United Colonies. In 1641 (or perhaps 1639/40) he was listed with nine heads in his household, and an estate of £1,000. He was chosen Deputy Governor of New Haven Colony, 26 October 1643, and held that office continuously until his death, being last elected 27 May, 1657. He was Commissioner for the United Colonies from 1645 to 1647, and from 1650 to 1651. He was chosen a Town Auditor 22 October, 1645; and was one of the six commissioners appointed for New Haven, 17 June, 1650, to set the bounds between that town and Milford. He was a merchant and ship-owner; on 18 May, 1641 he bought Shelter Island of Mr. Farret, and sold it 9 June, 1651 for $1,600 of merchantable sugar; in 1647 he attempted to buy the ship Zwoll from the authorities at Fort Amsterdam; and in 1651 he was owner, with Edward Stanton, of five-eighths of the Swallow. On 10 March, 1651 he was appointed member of a committee on the settlement at the Delaware Bay, and in 1655 he expressed his willingness to adventure his life and estate if a company could be induced to settle there. Between 1655 and 1657 he had an interest in the Iron Works at Stony River.

Stephen Goodyear married 1, Mary, whose maiden name is not found. She was lost in 1646 at sea on the "Phantom Ship". He married second, Margaret (Lewen) Lamberton, widow of Capt. George Lamberton who was lost on the same ship, which he commanded. By his first wife he was the father of Rebecca, who married the Rev. John Bishop, which see.

We list next the connections of the Talmadge family, as established in the maternal ancestry of Enos Bishop, son of John and Mary (Talmadge) Bishop. Mary (Talmadge) Bishop was born in New Haven, Connecticut 3 February, 1682/3; was baptised there 10 January, 1685/6 and died 24 October, 1735. She was a daughter of Lieutenant Enos Talmadge of New Haven by his wife Hannah Yale. Enos Talmadge was born at New Haven 4 October, 1636, baptised there the same day. He is in Bradley's list of the proprietors of New Haven, 1685, and went to Schenectady in command of the assistance sent by Connecticut, and was killed in the burning of that town by the Indians, 9 February, 1690.

Enos Talmadge was the son of Robert Talmage, so spelled, born in England, and who came to America as a young man. In 1638 his uncle John Talmage of Newton Stacey, Hampshire, drew his will, leaving Robert a legacy. On 3 September, 1640 at Boston, Robert with his brother-in-law signed a letter of attorney to Ralph King of Watford, to get the money for them from the Overseers. On 7 March, 1644 Talmage was at Southampton, New York, living in the Second Ward where Thomas Talmage junior also lived; subsequently Robert Talmage removed to New Haven, Connecticut, where he took the freeman's oath 1 July, 1644. In 1649 he was a married man. It is supposed that he married in 1648, although the record has not been found. His wife was Sarah Nash, daughter of Thomas and Margery (Baker) Nash.

It is said that Robert Talmage was among the original purchasers of New Haven Colony in 1639, and that his brother or father Thomas, was also located there for a time. In 1662 the administrators filed the inventory of his estate. The father of Robert Talmage was named Thomas, and the indicated English connections are discussed at length in The Talmadge, Tallmadge and Talmage Families, by Arthur White Talmadge. From the constructions in that book, Enos Bishop was a third cousin of the Rev. Benjamin Talmadge.

Sarah Nash, the wife of Robert Talmage and mother of Lieutenant Enos Talmadge, was the daughter of Thomas Nash by his wife Margery Baker. Thomas Nash came in the Davenport Colony in 1637. Quoting Fifty Puritan Ancestors, by Elizabeth Todd Nash: "On the 26th July, 1637, from the ship Hector and another not named, a company landed at Boston, Mass., ... formed principally by merchants of London, whose wealth and standing at home enabled them to come out under more favourable auspices than any company that had hitherto sought these shores. They were accompanied by the Rev. John Davenport as their Pastor, and are supposed to have been mostly members of his Church and Congregation in Coleman street, London. The Leaders were men of good practical understanding, and provided for the anticipated wants of an infant colony, by learning trades and arts such as were likely to be most needed. In this company was Thomas Nash, his wife Margery and their five children." Thomas Nash was one of the members of the Rev. John Robinson's congregation at Leyden, Holland, part of whom were the first settlers at Plymouth in 1620. Others came to New England soon afterward. On 30 November, 1625 five of those at Leyden addressed a letter to their brethren at Plymouth, and signed it as brethren in the Lord. Among the signers was Thomas Nash, who subsequently returned to England to come, as we have reported, with the Davenport group. They settled at Quinnipiac, now New Haven. On 4 June, 1639 they met in Mr. Newman's barn and after solemn religious exercises drew up the fundamental agreement of which Nash was 36th signer. He also signed the Guilford Compact, but did not go, although they attempted to persuade him strongly as he was a gunsmith. His home lot at New Haven was on the west side of State street, about a third of the distance from Chapel to Elm street, as shown on an old map. He died 12 May, 1658.

Margery Baker, wife of Thomas Nash, was born probably in Hertfordshire, E., shortly after 1600, and died in residence at New Haven, Connecticut between 11 February, 1655 and 1 August, 1657. She was the daughter of Nicholas Baker of Hertfordshire by his wife Mary Hodgetts. Nicholas Baker is recorded in Pedigrees of Hertfordshire Families, as collected by William Berry and published in 1844; therein it states that Baker died 14 November, 1632. The ancestry of his wife is not given. Nicholas Baker was in turn son of John Baker, born about 1540, of Hertfordshire, who married Margery Madestard.

The Yale ancestry of Hannah Yale, wife of Enos Talmadge, is so extensive that it is deemed preferable to refer to the Yale Genealogy and History of Wales, by Rodney Horace Yale, published in 1908. She was the daughter of Thomas Yale, born in 1616, died 27 March, 1683, by his wife Mary Turner, who died 15 October, 1704. This Thomas Yale was the son of Thomas Yale and Anne Lloyd; grandson of David and Frances (Lloyd) Yale and of George and Anne (Wilkinson) Lloyd, the last having been Bishop of Chester, England. It is alleged that the Yales are lineally descended of the Princes of North Wales. Mary (Turner) Yale, wife of Thomas Yale and mother of Hannah (Yale) Talmadge, was daughter of Nathaniel Turner of New Haven, Connecticut, whose widow, name not otherwise reported, married Samuel van Guidenhousen.

The wife of Enos Bishop, Hannah Smith, was born at Stamford, Connecticut 7 April, 1711. It is not known when she died, but it was probably in the town of Brookhaven, New York. Hannah (Smith) Bishop was the daughter of John Smith, birth date undetermined, a resident of Stamford, Connecticut, who died there 5 November, 1711. This John Smith married twice; first to Elizabeth, maiden name unreported, who died 6 October, 1703; and 2, to Phebe Green, daughter of Benjamin and Susan (Roberts) Green. By the first wife John Smith had (1) Ebenezer, who married at Huntington, New York, 29 May, 1723, Hannah Whitman; (2) Nathaniel, under 21 in 1712; (3) Hannah, who died young, 27 October, 1703; and (4) another daughter, who died 10 October, 1703. By his second wife Phebe (Green) Smith he had (5) John, born 16 February, 1710, died 7 September, 1724; and (6) Hannah, who married Enos Bishop, as stated.

John Smith was son of Henry Smith of Stamford, an early settler there. In Ye Historie of Ye Town of Greenwich, by Spencer P. Mead, it is stated that he was there in 1641, granted a home lot; and died in 1686. He is said to have served in the Pequot War. Henry Smith married twice; the name of the first wife is not known, and the second, Ann, maiden name likewise unknown, died in June, 1685. There was a large family of children, of whom John was by the second wife.

Phebe Green, wife of the foregoing John Smith, was born in 1686. She was daughter of Benjamin Green, who died 6 March, 1726, married 10 April, 1683 to Susan Roberts, died 8 November, 1694. His father was John Green of Stanford, whose wife Mary, maiden name unknown, died 14 September, 1657. On the distaff side, Susan (Roberts) Green was the daughter of Thomas Roberts, who married Sarah Elliot of Stamford. The latter was born at Watertown, Massachusetts, 22 December, 1643, and married Thomas Roberts 27 of 11th month, 1658. Sarah Elliot was the daughter of John Elliot or Ellet, of Watertown in 1633, and of Stamford, Connecticut, 1658. His wife Mary died 17, 6th month, 1658, according to lists. This may have been a second wife, for one named Margaret was mother of Sarah (Elliot) Roberts.

John Hulse (page 1,508) was the son of

7. JOHN HULSE 88
m. (DEBORAH)

He was born about 1706, in the south central part of the town of Brookhaven, New York.

No baptismal record is found.

The home of this John Hulse was on the site of the present Beaver Dam Road, at the head of Bay Road, in Brook Haven village, Brookhaven town, then called Fireplace. He was a yeoman, and of apparently quiet and conservative inclinations.

In 1738 John Hulse, then called junior, was one of those who quitclaimed to the Rev. Mr. Phillips; he was then, therefore, a Presbyterian. He was assessed for a rate of 1s 6½d in 1741, and for 10s in 1749.

John Hulse died in the early summer of 1751. His will, dated 5 June, 1751, was proved 22 July, 1751, and was filed in Liber 17, p. 429 of New York City, New York Wills. A wife named Deborah survived him; her maiden name and connections are unknown. It is not established that she was the mother of the children. John Hulse was probably buried in Brookhaven town.

John Hulse (page 1,518) was the son of

8. JOHN HULSE 176
m.

He was born probably between 1668 and 1675, although where is unknown.

John Hulse was assessor of the town of Brookhaven with Richard Woodhull 7 May, 1717. He was a proponent of the Church of England as evidenced by his signature to a protest against the practice of Presbyterianism in the local church, and as supporting the Anglican service, 4 December, 1719.

In his will dated 25 January, 17?4/5, Richard Clark of the Manor of St. George left to his well-respected friend John Hulse his choice of "my jades" (horses), and made him executor, with Major William Smith and John Wood overseers.

John Hulse was still living in 1741 when he was on the assessment lists and rated for 1s 3d. He died before the 1749 list was prepared. No will or administration of his estate is of record, and the name of his wife is unproved. She may have been the widow Anna Hulse of the tax list of 1749.

i. Valentine Coles, born 2 August, 1910, married to Jean Hamilton Brown of Edinburgh, Scotland. Issue:

A. Sarah Valentine, born 28 May, 1937.
B. June Roxburgh, born 27 January, 1940.

Mrs. Alfred Bruce has been one of the kindest and most helpful genealogical and personal friends this writer has had throughout the years.

NOTES

References to John Hulse are not numerous. See: Records, Town of Brookhaven, as compiled by the town clerk, 1880, pp. 97, 110, 140, (which proves that John Hulse had a son John junior), 142, 147, 153, (the 1741 tax listing) and 162 (when this John Hulse had deceased, but an Anna Hulse appears next in the listing to John Hulse, formerly junior); Records of the Town of Brookhaven, edited by Osborn Shaw, 1932, Book B, 334, 335, 406, 444, 445, 452, Book C, p. 164.

Insofar as the Overton descendants are concerned, the greater part of the information has been transcribed from notes collected by Osborn Shaw of Bellport, New York. Some of the references to the connections of the Overton family have appeared in Refugees from Long Island to Connecticut, by Frederic Gregory Mather, pp. 489-. We have not transcribed this material to save space. Other contributors to these records have been noted in passing.

John Hulse (page 1,523) was the son of

9. RICHARD HULSE 352
m.

Richard Hulse was born probably in England, and about 1640-1645.

It is stated that on August, 2, 1687 John Howell, Clerk of the County of Suffolk, certified that a conveyance from Andrew Miller and his wife to Richard Smith dated 21 September, 1670 was void. One of the witnesses was Richard Hulse, and this seems to be the first record of this ancestor in America.

Six years later he was given a half accomodation in the town of Brookhaven, 18 December, 1676. It was at this time that Nathaniel Norton agreed with the town that notwithstanding he had upland granted to him at the east side of Mount Misery by the Old Mans Harbor, he would give it proportionally to those who would settle on it. In the associated list of settlers Richard Hulse was the fifth. On 5 February, 1677, Andrew Miller was his neighbor to the south, and on 2 April, 1677 he is referred to by inclusion as one of the young men to whom land was lately granted.

In "Ien" (January or June), 1677 he filed his earmark in the town records. About this time he had apparently removed to another locality in the town, for William Williams, who obtained land in the foregoing locality adjacent to that held by Richard Hulse, exchanged land with Joseph Davis which was next to that which was Richard Hulse's.

Richard Hulse on 4 August, 1679 bought from Benjamin Gould his house, land and orchard which the latter had had of Thomas Higham or Higgam. Richard Hulse was to pay the equivalent of twenty-five pounds---that is, to build for Gould a frame of a house with clapboards and shingles and to provide nails therefor. Everything apparently went well, for Gould confirmed the sale 14 November, 1682. On 24 September, 1680 William Jayne sold to Richard Hulse the home lot that he (Jayne) had bought of Andrew Miller.

Not only house carpenter and builder, Richard Hulse called himself planter 27 May, 1681, when he sold his original 3 acre lot to John Inian of New York city, and further agreed to satisfy the latter's account to the amount of five pounds eleven shillings before 15 April, 1682; the account was to be paid in good merchantable whale oil, whale bone, beef, pork, winter and summer wheat and Indian corn. He sold property 3 August, 1681 in George's Neck which he had had from his first settlement, to Robert Gouldsbury. Sixteen days later Richard Hulse was of Newtown in Brookhaven.

On 27 July, 1682 he, then calling himself yeoman, mortgaged his homestead, lands and cattle to Andrew Gibb to save the latter harmless in an indebtness incurred wherein Captain Edmund Cantwell was the creditor. The debt was satisfied.

Richard Hulse was 11 December, 1684 one of the inheritors of the estate of Joseph Beardsley of Brookhaven, a brother of his second wife Hannah (Beardsley) Hulse. Articles of agreement were concluded on this date between Abraham Dayton and Richard Hulse, to divide Beardsley's estate. Hulse received 30 acres of land and a small house near Floyd's swamp; 15 acres of upland and a share of meadow which had been Richard Starr's; a fifty acre lot at the Old Man's; and other property.

He was chosen a trustee of the town of Brookhaven on 5 May, 1696, for one year; but evidently he never attended a meeting.

Richard Hulse died between 4 July, 1698 and 21 August, 1698. There is no record of a will or administration. The names of his children are established from the will of Walter Jones of Brookhaven, dated 11 January, 1692/3, proved 3 June, 1699.

The name of the first wife and mother of his children has not been found. He married second, Hannah Beardsley, step-daughter of Samuel Dayton of Brookhaven and daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (?Harvey) Beardsley of Stratford, Connecticut. This wife was single as late as December 24, 1675, but had married Richard Hulse before 6 June, 1681. After his death she married 2, Samuel Swayze, son of John and Katharine (King) Swayze. She was still living in 1709.

Issue (by first wife):

1. Thomas, married . See genealogical section following.
2. Richard, married . See genealogical section following.

3. Joseph, born about 1675, a weaver of Brookhaven, New York; constable there 2 May, 1727, and referred to as recently deceased in 1749. It has not been possible to establish with any plausibility that he ever married.
4. John, married. See page 1,523.

THE DESCENDANTS OF RICHARD HULSE SENIOR OF BROOKHAVEN, NEW YORK

Note: None of the children of Richard Hulse left any wills of record. As a consequence, the identification of the probable grandchildren has been made very difficult. It is known that John had a son John junior, and that Thomas had Thomas, Selah and Josiah (the last two from family records handed down); and that Richard had a son Richard and undoubtedly a son Paul. Since the family bible of Thomas Hulse junior went to the family of Ruth (Hulse) Tooker, a daughter of Ebenezer Hulse, it is considered to be probably true that Ebenezer Hulse was also a son of Thomas Hulse. Further, Ebenezer Hulse and Joshua Hulse married sisters, were older than most of the other presumed grandchildren, and had earmarks recorded the same day; it is our present opinion that Joshua was son of Thomas Hulse also. It will be necessary to search for documents in private hands, if such exist, to prove some of these connections.

1. Thomas Hulse, son of Richard Hulse by his first wife, was born about 1667, and perhaps in England. He is mentioned 24 March, 1687/8 in the Huntington, New York printed Town Records (I, page 517) as witness to a deed of Robert Arthur's. He filed his earmark in the Brookhaven Town Records 3 July, 1699. He had pitched upon one share of meadow to be laid out in Fireplace neck at the South below the Beaver Dam (printed Town Records, 1932, Book C, p. 35), 20 March, 1701/2. Called Thomas Hulse senior, he was elected collector of the town 3 May, 1720; was collector again in 1723; and was appointed constable 1 Mar. 1722 (having bid 20s 9d for the post). He complained against the inconveniency of a highway 26 March, 1735. Thomas Hulse apparently had died between 1741 and 1749. The name of his wife is unknown. Issue:
   + 5. Thomas, married Abigail
   + 6. Josiah, who held property in Brookhaven, New York 29 May, 1735. He is provisionally identified as the Josiah Hulse who died intestate in 1778 in Berkeley county, Virginia.
   + 7. Selah, married Mary Tutthill.

Issue, probably:

+ 8. Ebenezer, married Ruth White.
+ 9. Joshua, married Sarah White.

2. Richard Hulse, son of Richard Hulse by his first wife, was born about 1669/70, and died in residence in Brookhaven, New York after 5 May, 1724, when he complained against the inconveniency of a highway. The name of his wife is unknown. From repeated associations of names in land transactions, the following are held to have been his children;the first certainly, the second probably:

+10. Richard, married.
+11. Paul, married

And perhaps:

12. Mary, who married at Jamaica, New York, 10 September, 1717, John Aber or Eber of Setauket. On May 25 John Eber transmitted to the town £2/2/0 on a bond of Paul Hulse's.

-. (Either Thomas, Richard, Joseph or John) Hulse is considered to have been a parent of the following, not otherwise assignable:

+13. Stephen, married Hannah Flower.
+14. Jesse, married
15. Elizabeth, born about 1715/20, married Samuel Jayne, son of William and Elizabeth (Woodhull) Jayne. See Jayne Genealogy, privately printed.

5. Thomas Hulse, son of Thomas Hulse, was born in Brookhaven, New York in 1709, and died there 8 April, 1747. His will, dated 23 March, 1746, was proved 27 May, 1747 and was filed in Liber IV, p. 124 of New York Wills, New York city, N. Y. He married 1, Abigail, maiden name not proved. She was born in 1711 and died at Setauket, town of Brookhaven; he married 2, Ruth, probably a daughter of Charles Tooker. His children were by his first wife:

16. Thomas, who had the earmark of his grandfather Thomas Hulse, 25 December, 1775. He seems to have been the one of that name who married 7 September, 1771 to Margaret Swezey in the Christ Lutheran Church in New York city, New York (New England Hist. and Geneal. Register, 71, p. 268) but no issue has been found. The family bible went into the family of Ruth (Hulse) Tooker, daughter of Ebenezer Hulse.
17. Abigail, who had died before 1747.

7. Selah Hulse, son of Thomas Hulse, was born about 1715 in Brookhaven, New York and died before 1775. He recorded his earmark in the Brookhaven town records 16 October, 1736. He received land from his father 6 May, 1744 (family deeds). Selah Hulse married Mary Tutthill or Tuthill, born in 1725, died 29 September, 1802, dau. of James Tutthill or Tuthill of Brookhaven. Issue:

+18. David, married Mary Jones.
19. Selah; registered his earmark in the Brookhaven town records in 1752; refused to sign the Colonial Associations in 1775. He was to be prosecuted for the support of Martha Jones' bastard child in 1750.

Perhaps other children.

8. Ebenezer Hulse, probably son of Thomas Hulse; born about 1703, believed to have been his son for reasons cited under No. 16. Also, in the tax lists for 1741, Ebenezer, Joshua and Thomas Hulse junior are listed together as distinguished from other members of the family. Ebenezer Hulse was a well-to-do resident of the town of Brookhaven and his rate in 1741 was £1/3/0. A muster roll of the New York Provincial Troops from 1755 to 1765, p. 196, lists him as aged 56, from Suffolk county, a laborer and in Captain Strong's Company. He died in 1769. His will, dated 3 August, 1769, was proved 10 November, 1769 and filed in Liber 27, p. 164 of Wills, New York city, New York. Ebenezer Hulse married Ruth White, daughter of Stephen White of Islip, New York; she had died before March, 1749. Issue:

+20. Jesse, married Rachel Smith.
21. Elizabeth, living in 1769; perhaps the wife of Isaac Hawkins.
22. Stephen, whose connections are not definitely known.
+23. Ruth, married Charles Tooker.
24. Isaac, living in 1769; not traced further.
25. Peter, living in 1769; died without issue.
26. Samuel, living at Coram, Brookhaven, New York as late as 1800; apparently died there without issue.
+27. Ebenezer, married Jemima Tooker.

9. Joshua Hulse, probably son of Thomas Hulse; was born in the town of Brookhaven, New York in 1706, and died at Setauket, Brookhaven, about 22 November, 1775. He was a farmer and registered his earmark 24 April, 1727. Joshua Hulse married Sarah White, daughter of Stephen White of Islip, New York. Issue:

+28. Silas, married Charity Smith.
+29. Gilbert, married Charity Overton.
+30. Thomas, married Rachel Helme.
+31. Justus, married Gregg
32. Sarah.
33. James White; registered his earmark in the Brookhaven town records in 1776.
+34. Joshua, married Rachel Tuthill.
+35. Samuel, married 1, Elizabeth ; 2, Mary Carpenter, widow.

10. Richard Hulse, son of Richard Hulse, was born in Brookhaven, New York about 1693. On 10 November, 1716 Richard Green senior of Brookhaven sold to Richard Hulse and Paul Hulse, his half right of commonage on the south side of the Country Road, a quarter right to Richard Hulse and a quarter right to Paul Hulse; with warranty of title. One of the witnesses to this conveyance was John Aber or Eber, who had married Mary Hulse (and whose earmark went later to Henry Hulse, descended of this line). In other records and in tax lists Paul, Richard and Jonathan or Nathan Hulse are closely associated. The name of the wife of this Richard Hulse is not found. Issue (at least):

+36. Henry, married Mary Smith.
37. Richard; not certainly traced.*

11. Paul Hulse, probably son of Richard Hulse, was born about 1695, probably at Brookhaven, New York. In conjunction with Richard Hulse (No. 10 above) he had land laid out to him on the south side of the township, 10 November, 1716. He is listed in the tax records for 1741, but not in 1749. His later days were unfortunate, as he became poor, and in 1744 and 1746 his incompetent son Richard had to be supported by the town. Paul Hulse was dead before 25 March, 1747, and his widow had died within two years after. Her name is unknown. Issue:

+38. Richard, married Anna
+39. Paul, married 1, Esther Mapes; 2, Mary Filer, widow.

Issue, very probably:

+40. Jonathan, married Abigail Sweezy.
+41. Jonah, married Joanna Raynor.

13. Stephen Hulse, probably a grandson of the first Richard Hulse, and perhaps a son of Thomas Hulse (not proved); was born at Brookhaven, New York about 1713, and entered his earmark on the town records in 1734. He married at Hempstead, New York to Hannah Flower, daughter of Jonah and Rebecca Flower of that place. Their children included at least

42. Jesse, born in 1737, married and had issue.
43. Flower, born in 1740, married at St. George's Episcopal ch. at Hempstead, New York, 31 July, 1767, to Elizabeth Sprague.

14. Jesse Hulse, probably a grandson of the first Richard Hulse, and perhaps a son of Thomas Hulse (not proved); was born at Brook-

*He was perhaps the one of that name who was of Frederick co., Virginia, whose will was dated 23 July, 1770 and proved 8 November, of 1770. His wife was Mary Williams, daughter of Sarah Williams; children were William (not of age), Joseph and James; Susanna, Catharine, Esther and Mary.

haven, New York, about 1713; registered his earmark in 1734. He is not recorded in the 1741 assessment and probably died before that date; and his children brought up in some other family. He is one of the more obscure members of this family. The name of his wife is not found. Issue:

+44. Ebenezer, married

45. Stephen, who entered his earmark, 22 January, 1770, as son of Jesse Hulse. Not traced further.

46. Jesse, who entered his earmark 5 February, 1773, as son of Jesse Hulse. Not traced further.

Perhaps other children.

18. David Hulse, son of Selah and Mary (Tuthill) Hulse, was born in the town of Brookhaven, New York in 1755, and died there 27 April, 1808, aged 53. He was buried in ground on the homestead, but the remains were later taken to Cedar Hill cemetery, Port Jefferson, New York. His will, dated 25 April, 1808, was proved 4 May, 1808, and is recorded at Riverhead, New York, Liber B, page 509 of wills. David Hulse married by elopement to Mary Jones, daughter of Benjamin Jones. She was born in 1725 and died in 1807. Issue:

+47. Thomas, married 1, Julia Hawkins; 2, Rachel Smith.

+48. James, married Anne Robinson.

+49. Julia, married Henry Hawkins.

+50. David, married Hannah Warner.

+51. Selah, married Mary Overton.

+52. Harvey, married Elizabeth Smith.

53. Daniel, mentioned in the will of his father.

+54. Mary Ann, married Charles Tooker.

+55. Lewis, married Elizabeth Ann Bell.

56. Clarinda, born in 1800, died in 1803.

57. Heathcote, mentioned in his father's will.

+58. Clarissa, married Alfred Jayne.

20. APPENDICES

1. The Aber Family of Mendham, New Jersey

On page 1,538 there is given the marriage of John Aber to Mary Hulse of Setauket, the latter being provisionally considered, from record associations, as daughter of Richard Hulse junior. John Eber or Aber appears a number of times in Brookhaven Town Records, and then disappears. There is a family of this name which appears subsequently in Mendham, New Jersey, and while absolute identification is not yet possible, the unusual surname and chronological fit makes it seem quite likely that this family is descended from Richard Hulse. Mr. Donald L. Jacobus of New Haven, Connecticut, an outstanding genealogist and editor of The American Genealogist, is a descendant of the Aber family of Mendham. He has compiled the following outline, and has very kindly granted permission to have it included here.

Possible children of John and Mary (Hulse) Aber:
+1. John, married Mery Hulbard.
+2. Israel, married Dorothea Leonard.
3. Christian, married at Morristown, New Jersey, 26 February, 1759, Anna Margaret Battleren.

1. John Aber of Mendham, New Jersey, died there in 1801; married at Morristown, New Jersey 21 January, 1745, Mary Hulbard, perhaps daughter of William Hulbert, Sr. (who died at Morristown, 17 January, 1779, aged 76). The will of John Aber, dated 30 August, 1796, was proved 26 September, 1801; it names wife Mary and eight children (all except Mary). (Files, Trenton, 1055N). Children:
+4. John, possibly husband of Elizabeth
+5. Aaron, married Susan
6. Experience, born about 1749, married McHarey.
7. Mary, born 5 December, 1752, died 27 October, 1788; m. at Hanover, New Jersey 20 June, 1772, Samuel Campfield, born in 1748 (Canfield Gen., p. 127.).

65. Lester.

32. Lewis Hulse, son of Daniel Harrison and Esther (Robinson)Hulse, married Raynor. Issue:

66. Ruth.
67. A son.
68. A son.
69. A daughter.
70. A daughter.
71. Ralph.
72. Ella, married Downs, of Riverhead, New York.

3. The Descendants of Elisha Hulce, of Minisink, New York.

Elisha Hulce of Minisink, New York was born about 1725. His ancestry is unknown, and we have seen no record which could even lead to an inference that he was descended of the immigrant Richard Hulse of Brookhaven, New York. For the most part, the earlier descendants spell their surname Hulce. The will of Elisha Hulce was dated 26 February, 1796 and proved 4 June, 1796. His wife was Elizabeth, maiden name not reported. Issue:

+ 1. John, married Abigail Williams.
2. Jacob, born in 1753, married 30 June, 1778 to Rebecca van Tassel in the Presbyterian church at Goshen, New York. Issue included*
   i. James, born 23 June, 1779.
   ii. Benjamin, born 25 February, 1781.
   iii. Daughter.
   iv. Daughter.
   v. Daughter.
   vi. Daughter.
3. Benjamin, born in 1756, married 31 October, 1779 to Abigail Everson. His will was dated 1 December, 1826 and proved 3 January, 1829. Issue:
   i. Kelly.
   ii. Rhoda, married Benjamin Brewster.
   iii. Abigail.
   iv. Phebe.
   v. Thomas.
   vi. Benjamin.
4. Joseph, born in 1757, married 11 March, 1778 to Margaret Williams. Issue:
   i. Sarah.
   ii. Frances.
   iii. Dille (sic), baptised 20 February, 1791.
   iv. Daughter.
5. Daughter, born in 1759, married Benjamin.

*It is possible that James Hulse of Baiting Hollow, founder of the line listed in Appendix 2, may come from this branch. The James born in 1779 may have died, and Jacob may have had another son of the name.

6. Elizabeth, born in 1761.
7. Elisha, born in 1767.

1. John Hulce, son of Elisha Hulce, was born in 1751 and died 15 December, 1811. He married Abigail Williams; and was of Goshen, New York, and Harpersfield, New York. Their children were:

+ 8. Sylvester, married Peninah Hotchkiss.
9. Samuel, born at Goshen, New York, 10 April, 1777.
10. Juliana, born 16 April, 1779.
+11. John Williams, married Elizabeth Lowry.
12. David, born 26 November, 1781.
13. (?)Abner, born 27 February, 1787.

8. Sylvester Hulce, son of John and Abigail (Williams) Hulce, was born in Goshen, New York 27 October, 1774; baptised 23 July, 1775; married Peninah Hotchkiss, born at Waterbury, New Hampshire, 1 February, 1782, died 19 January, 1841 at Deposit, New York, daughter of David and Peninah (Peck) Hotchkiss. 25. Ellen Douglas, born 12 January, 1822, married 1, Warren Butler; 2, Henry Merrill.
26. Edgar Mandelbert, born 28 February, 1824, married Catharine Milnes.

11. John Williams Hulce, son of John and Abigail (Williams) Hulce, was born 26 November, 1781 and died 16 May, 1849. He married 12 April, 1808 to Elizabeth Lowry, born 10 February, 1786, died 18 March, 1852, daughter of Matthew and Abigail Lowry. Issue:

27. Mary L., born 10 February, 1809, married 31 October, 1833 to Otis Briggs.

28. Jethro Hambleton, born 19 April, 1810.
29. Theodore Sedgwick, born 8 July, 1811, died 6 June, 1851, married 26 October, 1835, Elizabeth Westley.
30. Comegus Paul, born 16 September, 1813.
31. Matthew Lowry, born 31 March, 1817.
32. Jane Elizabeth, born 20 August, 1820, married 30 July of 1838, Almeron P. Merrill.
33. John Williams jr., born 22 February, 1822.

14. Martial Rosen Hulse, son of Sylvester and Peninah (Hotchkiss) Hulse, was born 29 March, 1804 at Tompkins, Delaware county, New York. He married 20 May, 1832 to Elizabeth Ann Curtiss, born 12 April, 1810 daughter of Gideon and Ruth Curtiss of Homer, New York. Issue:

34. Francis, born 8 September, 1833, died 2 October, 1835; Deposit, New York.
35. Martial Curtiss, born 16 April, 1844, died 8 December of 1864.

NOTES

The first Richard Hulse is recorded in the printed Brookhaven Town Records, Vol. I (1659-1679) as published in 1924 from the copy by Archibald C. Weeks: pp. 28 (line 2, under "hulls"), 39, and 61; in Records of the Town of Brookhaven, Book A, as published in 1930 and edited by Osborn Shaw: p. 58; ibid., Book B, (1932), pp. 13, 18, 25 (he lived next to Robert Kellam and Henry Rogers 11 November, 1679), 48, 66, 76, 83, 150, 200, 214, 216, 322, 334, 336, 348, 356, and as indexed, otherwise. The second wife of Richard Hulse, Hannah Beardsley, is reported 6 June, 1681 (p. 76):

> where as I Hanah Huls Through vnadvertang and pasion defamed Nathanell Norten of this towne by saying he had stollen Indien corn out of my fatther daitons his corn cribb These may sartifie all whome it may concern that I the saide hanah Huls never had any cause soe to say and that I never knew that the sayd nathanell had ever stoele any Indien corn from thence and am hartely sory for my defaming of him nott knowing any cause soe to doe as wittnes my hand in brookhaven this 5thday of June 1681
> wittnes Richard wodhull hanah Hulse

In ibid., Book C (1931), p. 18 appears record of the election of Richard Hulse as trustee of the town. This is his last record.

See also Early Long Island Wills, edited by William Smith Pelletreau, pp. 174-5 (will of Walter Jones of Brookhaven, New York). The descendants of Thomas Hulse and Richard Hulse junior, sons of the immigrant, have been compiled from The Records of the Town of Brookhaven as edited by Osborn Shaw, Books A, B, C, indexed.

Bible Records were furnished by Mrs. Joseph Kay Hampshire of Brooklyn, New York; Mrs. Salmon W. Hoyt of Middletown, New York; Mr. Edward W. Hulse of Bellport, New York; Miss Theresa N. Swezey of Brooklyn, New York and Mr. Clinton F. West of Port Jefferson, New York. Family Records, often of very considerable extent, were furnished by the late Orville B. Ackerly; Mrs. Alfred Bruce of Brookhaven, New York; Mrs. C. C. Coleman; Mrs. Gilbert Carter of Center Moriches, New York; Mrs. H. H. Edwards of Port Jefferson, New York; Mrs. Edith M. Hulse of Amityville, New York; Mrs. David Eugene Hulse; Miss Grace Hulse of Wading River, New York; Mrs. Chloe E. Jacques of New Haven, Conn.; Miss Ida L. Maddrah; Mrs. Carleton E. Slater of Larchmont, New York; Mr. Charles E. Stiles of Deposit, New York; Mrs. Ralph Vail of Detroit, Michigan; and Mr. Clinton F. West of East Setauket, New York.

Manuscript compilations of sections of the family have been prepared by the late William A. D. Eardeley as revised by Arthur Soper Wardwell; also collections by Osborn Shaw of Bellport, New York have been of great assistance. The transcriptions and annotations of the Brookhaven Tax Lists sent by Mr. Shaw have been especially helpful.

The ancestry of Richard Hulse (page 1,535) is unknown.

NOTES ON ENGLISH HULSE FAMILIES

1. The Hulse Family of Sutton Courtenay, Berkshire and Norbury, Cheshire.

The following outline is based on The History of the County Palatine and City of Chester, by George Ormerod, II, p. 241; III, 245; and IV, p. 245; The History and Antiquities of Berkshire by Elias Ashmole, 1736; The Visitation of Berkshire, p. 33+ (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 56) and others as mentioned in the following text. The arms of this Hulse family are given as Argent, three piles sable, one in chief, the others reversed in base; and the crest: On a wreath, a buck's head couped, proper, collared or, between the horns a sun of the last.

William de Holes or Hulse is the first recorded ancestor of this family from the information we have. He was born, it is estimated, about 1310. His wife was surnamed de Norbury, and Ormerod quotes Booth's pedigrees as calling her daughter and heir of David de Norbury. Another account by Leycester terms her Sybill, daughter of William, son of Hugh de Norbury; we have not endeavored to resolve this difficulty. The children are given as

+ 1. William, married
+ 2. Hugh, married Ellen Bruce.
3. David. For further discussion as to his possible connections, see under his brother 2. Hugh.

1. William Hulse, son of William and (Sybill) (de Norbury) Hulse, was born, it is estimated, about 1335-40. He was the founder of the family of Norbury in Cheshire, and some account of his connections is given in The Visitation of Cheshire in the Year 1580, edited by John Paul Rylander, F. S. A. (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 18, page 128). He married and had (at least)

+ 4. John, married

2. Hugh Hulse, son of William and (Sybill) de Norbury) Hulse, was born about 1340 and died in 1383. His wife was Ellen Bruce of Piemere. See also The History of Broughton Gifford, in Wiltshire Archaeological and Natural History Magazine, vol. 5, p. 267. There are differing accounts as to whether or not he was the father of Sir Hugh Hulse of the next generation; the latter is also termed son of David Hulse, the brother of this Hugh Hulse. Provisionally we place Sir Hugh here:

+ 5. Sir Hugh, married Margaret Domville.

4. John Hulse, son of William Hulse, was born about 1365-70, and was a resident of Norbury in Cheshire. Nothing more is known of him except that he had a son

+ 6. Thomas, married

5. Sir Hugh Hulse, son of either Hugh or David Hulse, was born about 1363, and died 3 July, 1415. He was Sergeant of the Bridegate and deputy to the Earl of Nottingham as justiciary of Chester, 20 Richard II (1386). Later he became Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas. Sir Hugh Hulse married Margaret, second daughter and coheiress of John Domville by his wife Cecily, daughter of William de Mobberly, who survived him. In 1385 Cecily (Mobberly) Domville granted to John de Brunstath, parson of the church of Mobberlegh, and Thomas de Swetenham of Mobberlegh, who granted to Sir Hugh de Holes and Margery, these manors and free rents in Thyngwall, parcel of the manor of Brunstath. By the latter grant Sir Hugh and his wife became seized for their lives with successive remainders in tail to Thomas de Holes, son of the said Hugh and Margery, and Edmund de Holes his brother, with remainder to the heirs of the body of said Hugh and Margery; remainder to the heirs of the body of Margery, etc. By Inquisition post mortem of 3 Henry V Margaret, widow of Hugh Holes, held in joint feoffment, with her husband, the manors of Brunstath and Oxton, and free rents in Thingwall (Thyngwall) to the value per annum of twenty marks. Issue:*

7. Eleanor, married in 1408 to Richard le Vernon.
8. Isabella, living in 1408.
9. Thomas, married Margery
10. Edmund, Not traced further.

*This list of children is taken from Ormerod's History of the County Palatine and City of Chester (1818), vol. II, p. 241; and from the documentation associated therewith and the references therein quoted. Nevertheless, the Visitation of Berkshire (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 56, p. 33) could say:

> S^{r} Hewghe Huls of Modberly in com. Cestriae....knighte and lorde cheif Justyce of the comon place maried Margerye ye Doughter of John Domvile of Modberley in Com. Cestriae Esquire, and by her had yssue S^{r} John Huls Knighte his eldiste sonne died sans yssue, Thomas Huls second son Andrewe Huls thirde sonne Doctor of bothe laws Deane of Powles Archedecon of Rychmonde p̄bende in Yorke and p̄bende in Lyncolne Chancellor of Salysburye and ther buryed in the southe syde of the churche William Hulls fourthe Sonne Lorde of St. Johanes and John Huls fifte sonne.

Thomas is identified with No. 9 above, and from thence these two pedigrees are in accord. Accordingly, beginning with No. 11 we list these and others as children of Sir Hugh Hulse or de Holes. Nevertheless, any further study of these lines must take into consideration these peculiar pedigree constructions, and thorough check of them should be made. The present writer assumes no responsibility for the correctness of these pedigrees.

11. Phillippa, married William Brereton of Brereton in Cheshire.
12. Sir John, knt., died without issue.
+ 13. Andrew, LL. D., Dean of St. Pauls, Archdeacon and Prebend of York, Lincoln and Sarum; Archdeacon of Richmond.
14. John the younger. For a discussion of his possible connections see under 13. Andrew Hulse.

6. Thomas Hulse, son of John Hulse of Norbury in Cheshire, was born about 1395 and died He was of Norbury. He married and had issue:
+ 15. Ralph, married Cambridge.

9. Thomas Hulse, son of Sir Hugh and Margaret (Domville) Hulse, was born about 1395 and died 28 November, 1420. He was of Brunstaple. His wife was named Margery; her maiden name is not reported. They had one child:
16. Margery, who was born in 1419 and died 16 November, 1456, aged 37; married Sir John Troutbeck, Knt., who died 26 August, 1458. Issue.

13. Andrew Hulse, son of Sir Hugh and Margaret (Domville) Hulse, and 14. John Hulse, son of Sir Hugh and Margaret (Domville) Hulse. Here we have conflicting statements concerning the connection of a John Hulse who married Joan Hill. He is made in some pedigrees to be the son of Andrew Hulse, and in others he is identified as No. 14. We are without critical information as to the correctness of either statement. Provisionally then, we list the last John as son of Andrew:
+ 17. John, married Joan Hill.

15. Ralph Hulse, son of Thomas Hulse, was born about 1425. He married a daughter and heiress of William Cambridge of London, Kt. Issue:
+ 18. Thomas, married Legh.

17. John Hulse, son either of Andrew Hulse or of Sir Hugh Hulse, married Joan Hill, daughter of William Hill of Buntingsdale by Alice, heir to Richard Bunbury. Issue:
+ 19. William, married Agnes Humphreyston.

18. Thomas Hulse, son of Ralph and (Cambridge) Hulse, was born about 1455. He married a daughter and heiress of Philip Legh of Norbury Booths. Their children were:
+ 20. Phillip, married Margaret Corbett.
21. William, married Issue:
i. William.
22. Henry, who married and had several daughters.
23. Walter, who married and had
i. Mary.
24. Ralph, born about 1490. He is not to be identified with Ralph Hulse of Clive who was born about 1590.

25. Parnell.
26. Elizabeth.

19. William Hulse, son of John and Joan (Hill) Hulse, was of Sutton Courtenay in Berkshire. He married Agnes Humphreyston, daughter and co-heir of Richard Humphreyston of Shropshire. Issue:

+ 27. Andrew, married Joan Rythe.

20. Phillip Hulse, son of Thomas and (Legh) Hulse, was born about 1485-90 and was living in 1566 at Norbury. He married Margaret, dau. of Robert Corbett of Hatherton, Esq. Issue:

+ 28. Thomas, who married Margaret Cotton and Alice Hinton.
29. Phillip.
30. John.
31. Catharine, married James Chetwood.
32. Margaret.

27. Andrew Hulse, son of William and Agnes (Humphreyston) Hulse, was of Sutton Courtenay, Berkshire; married Joan Rythe, daughter of John Rythe of Totton (Totford) in Hampshire. Issue:

+ 33. Thomas, married Dorothy Yate.
34. John.
35. Jane, married William Whitbye of Lincoln's Inn.
36. Margaret, married John Hertford (Harford) of Coventry, Warwickshire.
37. Joan, unmarried.
38. Magdalen, married James Yate of Stanlake in Oxfordshire.

28. Thomas Hulse, son of Phillip and Margaret (Corbett) Hulse, was born about 1520 and died at Norbury in 1588. He married Margaret Cotton, dau. of Thomas Cotton of Whitechurch, and also Alice daughter of Jeffery Hinton of Hinton, Shropshire. Records differ as to which wife was the first. By Margaret Cotton he had:

39. Hugh of Ellesmere and Norbury, who married and had issue in 1591, and whose family had been succeeded by the Brereton in their estates before 1621.
40. Robert.
41. Isabell.
42. Eleanor.

Issue, by Alice Hinton:

43. John of Norbury, Cheshire who married Alice Loyd.
44. Robert.
45. George.
46. Thomas.
47. Margaret.
48. Margery, married David Merry and had issue.
49. Amy.

33. Thomas Hulse, son of Andrew and Joan (Rythe) Hulse, was born about 1550. He married Dorothy Yate, daughter of Thomas Yate of Lyford in Berkshire. Issue:

50. Susanna.
51. Mary.

2. The Hulse Family of Knotsford, Cheshire and Over Standon, Bedfordshire.

Hugh Hulse of Knotsford in Cheshire, born about 1470, is claimed in pedigrees to have descended from Sir Hugh and Margaret (Domville) Hulse (see page 1,610). The record of these connections will be found in County Genealogies: Pedigrees of the Families of the County of Kent, by W. Berry, p. 326; A Visitation of the County of Kent, Begun 1663 by Sir Edward Bysshe (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 54, p. 86); and Archaeologia Cantiana, vol. 16, p. 68. From the integration of these and other records we have that this Hugh Hulse married Mary Knotsford. Issue:

+ 1. William, married

1. William Hulse, son of Hugh and Mary (Knotsford) Hulse, was born about 1500. He married and had

+ 2. William, married 1, ; 2, Elizabeth Snagg.

2. William Hulse, son of William Hulse, born about 1530; he was of "Upper" Standon, Bedfordshire where he died in 1588. He acquired the Manor of Upper Standon in 1565 from George Rotherham (Feet of Fines, Beds., Mich. 7 Elizabeth) and sold it in 1592 to Henry Grey, Earl of Kent. As Mr. Hulks of Standon he was a witness in 1581 to a memorandum of a dispute between William Gery and others. William Hulse married 1, a lady whose name is not reported; 2, Elizabeth Snagg, sister of Thomas Snagg of Marston, Beds., a Baron of the Exchequer. She is probably the Elizabeth Huls, widow, buried at Over (sic) Standon, 22 November, 1604 (Register of Burials). Issue, by first wife:

3. A daughter, who married Abbis

Issue, by second wife:

4. William, born about 1560, perhaps the one of Nether Standon who had the following children baptised at Shillington by his wife, name not found:

i. Thomas, baptised 20 September, 1590.
ii. Judith, baptised 23 July, 1592.
iii. Elizabeth, baptised 15 May, 1597.

5. A son.
+ 6. John, married Margaret Hawkes.
7. A son.
8. A daughter.
9. A daughter.
10. A daughter.

11. A daughter.
12. A daughter.

6. John Hulse, son of William and Elizabeth (Snagg) Hulse, was born about 1565 at Upper (Over) Standon, Bedfordshire. He married Margaret, dau. of Nicholas Hawkes of Claxwell, Bedfordshire. They had at least one child:
+ 13. Richard, married Clara Toke.

13. Richard Hulse, son of John and Margaret (Hawkes) Hulse, was born about 1588, and was a resident of Bethersden, Kent. He was a justice of the peace in 1663. Richard Hulse married Clare Toke, born 26 August, 1589 in Bethersden, Kent and died there 13 November, 1667, daughter of John Toke of Godinton, Knight. They had at least one child
+ 14. Richard, married Mary Clerke.

14. Richard Hulse, son of Richard and Clare (Toke) Hulse, was born at Bethersden, Kent in 1606 and died there in March, 1687, aged 81. He married Mary Clerke, daughter of Sir William Clerke of Ford, Wrotham, Kent, who was much younger than her husband; she was born in 1645 and died after 1668. Issue:
15. Richard, only son and heir, born 21 October, 1668, baptised 3 November, 1668, died without issue 2 April, 1706. He married Elizabeth
16. Cecelia, baptised 11 January, 1671, buried 11 January, 1679/80.

3. The Hulse Family of Clive, Cheshire.

This family was founded by a Ralph Hulse of Clive, Cheshire who was born about 1590. Claims have been made that he was to be identified with Ralph Hulse, son of Thomas and (Legh) Hulse, but this is incorrect, as the latter (No. 24, p. 1,611) was born about 1490. The present Ralph Hulse married 1, Mary, daughter of Humphrey Whittingham of Middlewich, Cheshire and 2, Anne Horton from the same place. (Earwaker, History of Sandbach, p. 91+). Issue, by which wife not reported:
1. Ralph, eldest son (presumably by first wife), married a daughter of Hugh Minshull of Parm and left issue.
+ 2. Thomas, married Katharine(Malbon) Reynalds.
3. Hugh.
4. Humphrey.

2. Thomas Hulse, son of Ralph Hulse, was born about 1620, probably at Clive. He married Katharine, daughter of Thomas Malbon of Nantwich, Cheshire, relict of George Reynalds of Redish. Issue:
4. Mary, without issue.
+ 5. Thomas, married Mary Raven.

5. Thomas Hulse, son of Thomas and Katharine (Malbon) (Reynalds) Hulse, was born about 1650 at Clive, Cheshire and settled at Elworth where he had property in right of his wife. She was Mary Raven, daughter and heiress of William Raven of Elworth whom he married at Sandbach, 4 April, 1679. Issue:

+ 6. Thomas, married Anne Webb.
7. Ralph, buried at Sandbach, Cheshire, 9 May, 1758.

6. Thomas Hulse, son of Thomas and Mary (Raven) Hulse, was born about 1681 at Sandbach, Cheshire and died there in 1753. He was buried 19 April, 1753. He married Anne Webb, born in 1687, buried at Sandbach 9 August, 1750. Their children were:

8. John. This John Hulse is the founder of the Hulsean Lectures. We take from Cheshire: Its Historical and Literary Associations, by T. Worthington Barlow, Esq., F. L. S., 1855, p. 141:

> So well known to the world as the founder of the Hulsean Lectures in the University of Cambridge, was born of a respectable family connected with the estate of Elworth, near Sandbach. He was born, however, at Middlewich, in the year 1708, and was the eldest of 19 children. Through some unaccountable antipathy on the part of his parents, he was put to nurse in a cottage, and whilst there was subject to much neglect and hardship, from which he was ultimately rescued by the kind interference of his grandfather, Mr. Thomas Hulse, who was then resident at Elworth Hall. "The grandfather, being desirous of seeing his grandson, proceeded up a dirty green lane, where he observed a girl, with a child under one arm, and a pitcher of water in the other hand. He soon heard the old cottager's wife rebuking the girl for not making haste with the water; and adding that, if she could not bring both the child and the water, she must drop the child in the lane----which was accordingly done." Upon this old Mr. Hulse took his little grandchild home with them (sic), and to him he (i. e., John Hulse) was mainly indebted afterwards for the education he received, which commenced at the Grammar School at Congleton, and was completed at St. John's College, Cambridge. To the latter place, it is said, his grandfather took him, travelling the whole distance with the young aspirant after academical honours behind him on horseback. Having completed a not undistinguished college career, he was ordained in 1732, to the curacy of Yoxall, and, in the year following, married Miss Hall of the Hermitage, near Holmes Chapel. He afterwards filled the small living of Goostrey, a short distance from Holmes Chapel, and which we have before had occasion to mention. Here he remained until his father's death, between whom and his son unfortunate bickerings had ever existed, when he took possession of the Elworth estate, where he spent the rest of his days. Here, shut out entirely from the world, he amused himself with the studies of literature and music. In the latter he excelled, and the science of medicine, to which he was probably led from the infirm state of his own health, largely engaged his attention.

On his death, which took place in 1790, a considerable portion of his property passed to St. John's College for the purposes above stated. Another portion fell into the hands of two faithful servants, whose care and attention to him through life had somewhat compensated for the lack of those good qualities on the part of those from whom he had a right to expect them.

Mr. Hulse is buried at Middlewich, and there is a monument to his memory in the south aisle of the parish church there.

There were other children.

4. The Hulse Family of Newnham, Kent.

Stephen Hulse, ancestry undetermined, was of Newnham, Kent. He was also known as Stephen Hulkes; this indicates a possible relationship to the family of Over (Upper) Standon, Bedfordshire. Stephen Hulse was born about 1570; married and had

1. John, born about 1600; of Newnham, Kent; married Elizabeth Barling and had
   i. Stephen, of Westwall, Kent; married Bethulia, daughter of John Sharpe of Nash in Westwall. Issue:
      A. John, son and heir.
      B. Elizabeth.

5. The Hulse Family of Tunstall, Staffordshire.

William Hulse of Tunstall, Staffordshire, a tailor, is the first ancestor of this family known at the present time. From the proximity of his residence to those in Cheshire of the Hulses hitherto listed, it may well be that he is a descendant of Sir Hugh and Mary (Domville) Hulse. He was born about 1750 and died in 1824. By a wife whose name is not reported he had the following children:

1. David.
2. William.
3. Ann, married Daniel Greatbach. Issue:
   i. William.
4. Mary.
+ 5. John, married Mary Hulse.

5. John Hulse, son of William Hulse, was born in 1776 and died in 1850. He married his first cousin Mary Hulse, perhaps daughter of a Charles Hulse. Issue:

+ 6. Martha, married Thomas Horwell.
+ 7. Ann, married Rev. Samuel Morris.
+ 8. William, married Elizabeth Sutton.
9. Catharine, born in 1822, died in 1901, married Samuel Horwell, born in 1821, died in 1905.

6. Martha Hulse, daughter of John and Mary (Hulse) Hulse, was born 16 November, 1816 in Tunstall, Staffordshire and died 31 May, 1900 at Englesea Brook, Staffordshire. She married Thomas Horwell, born 26 August, 1817 at Tunstall, died 8 May, 1899 at Englesea Brook, son of Samuel and Pamela (Adamson) Horwell. He was a potter, pugilist and Methodist preacher. Issue (HORWELL):

+ 10. John, married Prudence Mitchell.
+ 11. Samuel, married Sarah Lear.
12. William, born in 1840, died in 1858.
13. Joseph, born in 1843, died in 1847.
+ 14. Joseph, married Elizabeth Whitaker.

7. Ann Hulse, daughter of John and Mary (Hulse) Hulse, was born in 1818 and died in 1865. She married the Rev. Samuel Morris, born in 1814, died in 1880. Issue (MORRIS):

15. John, born in 1842.
16. Samuel, born about 1844.

40. Samuel M. Wesley, born 19 July, 1887, died in 1893.

14. Joseph Horwell, son of Thomas and Martha (Hulse) Horwell, was born 17 May, 1851 and died 18 October, 1898. He married Elizabeth Whitaker, b. in 1848, died 25 December, 1893. Issue:

41. Mary Eleanor, born in 1873, died 4 September, 1940, married Frank Finnimore.

42. William Thomas, born in 1878, married Violet Slade. Issue:

i. Cecil, born in 1903.

ii. Dora, born in 1907.

32. Martha Eleanor Horwell, daughter of Samuel and Sarah (Lear) Horwell, was born at Tunstall, Staffordshire 25 February, 1864 and died 22 December, 1948 at Parkesburg, Pennsylvania. She married Albert Henry Gerberich, born 24 April, 1864 at Hanoverdale, Pennsylvania, living (1932) at Washington, D. C. Issue (GERBERICH):

43. Albert Horwell, born at Williamstown, Pennsylvania 23 February, 1898. He received his A. B. degree from Dickenson College, 1918; M. A. from the University of Pennsylvania, 1926; and Ph. D. from Johns Hopkins University in 1932. In the first World War he served as a radio-electrician in the United States Navy; at the close of the war he took the examination for the foreign service. Subsequently he was appointed vice-consul to Puerto Cortes, Honduras, 1920-22; consul, Bremerhaven, Germany, 1922-1924; Maracaibo, Venezuela, 1924-1925. He became Professor of Modern Languages (German and Spanish) at Dickenson College, where he served from 1928 to 1941. He then returned to the service of the State Department, and is currently Political Adviser for Colombian Affairs. Dr. Gerberich is a Fellow of the American Society of Genealogists; a member and former First Vice-President, the National Genealogical Society; and a member of the Pennsylvania German Society and the Pennsylvania Historical Junto, the last of Washington, D. C. Dr. Gerberich is exceptionally well versed in the history of the state of Pennsylvania, and a fluent speaker. The writer is glad to have the opportunity to record here the service of a very good friend. Dr. Gerberich married Gisela Margit Heim-Zimanyi, dau. of Stephen and Theresa Brigitte (Hindenlang) Heim-Zimanyi. No children.

44. Eleanor, born at Williamstown, Pennsylvania 14 February, 1899, died 29 September, 1918 at Parkesburg, Pennsylvania.

6. The Township of Hulse, Cheshire.

In The History of the County Palatine and City of Chester, by George Ormerod, Vol. III, p. 94, there appears a description of the township of Hulse:

This township, at an early period, gave name to an antient family which was undoubtedly the parent stock of the knightly line of the Hulses of Little Neston and the other families of the same name settled at Norbury, in Broxton Hundred, and at Clive and Elworth, near Sandbach ...

Hulse became the property of the abbey of St. Werburgh, at Chester, by various successive grants, recited in the chartulary. Lands here were granted to that abbey by Robert son of Herbert de Holys, by Jonas de Holys, and by William son of William de Burches: lands and rents by William de Lauton; lands and tithes by Ralph Trienlyn, and the wastes and assarts, and homage of the said Ralph Trienlyn; by Richard son of Richard de Lostoc. From these last grants it may be presumed that Hulse, which is unnoticed in Domesday, was part of the original estates of the Runchamps (afterwards Lostocks), the Norman proprietors of Lostock, and that it was probably formed out of that township.

From the plea of the abbot of St. Werbergh to a writ of quo warranto, 31 Edw. III, it appears that "Holes" was then one of the dependencies of his manor of Barnshaw, and that he claimed for it the various privileges noticed in the account of that manor. His rents in "Hulese" were valued, at the dissolution, at xliis vi d.

The township is still considered a component part of the manor of Barnshaw....

9. EUNICE JARVIS 413, 421
m. JOSEPH WOOD probably son of Caleb Wood and

She was born about 1662-3 at Huntington, New York.

No baptismal record has been found.

Eunice Jarvis married at Huntington 15 December, 1681 to Joseph Wood, cooper of Huntington. She is recorded in a deed 6 December, 1698 when she with her husband conveyed to Thomas Smith of Huntington; but was evidently dead 25 December, 1723 when Joseph Wood made arrangements with his son Caleb to take care of him.

No other record of her is found.

For descendants, see CALEB WOOD, #412, 420.

NOTES

She is recorded in the will of her father, Stephen Jarvis, for which see under him. The marriage appears in the printed Huntington Town Records, vol. I, p. 328; see also the same, p. 235. It must be stated that there is no record that the daughter of Stephen Jarvis married Joseph Wood, although chronology, the lack of any other Jarvis family and general genealogical acceptance in the past support this connection. In our opinion it is correct.

Eunice Jarvis is considered to have been the daughter of

10. STEPHEN JARVIS 826, 842
m. MARY PORTER daughter of Jonathan Porter and Eunice

He was born about 1625, and probably in England.

He is first recorded in Huntington, New York when a Court ordered Giles Smith of Fairfield to pay 20 pounds to the daughters of Jonathan Porter, late of Huntington, deceased. Mary Porter was then the wife of Stephen Jarvis, 21 May, 1661.

He was a juror in an action brought by Thomas Matthews against Joanna, widow of Jonas Wood "Halifax", 29 July, 1662. He was witness in a deed dated 23 March, 1667/8 from Samuel Davis to John Finch. Stephen Jarvis was granted six acres of land in the bottom of the East Neck, then so-called, 1 January, 1688, and was occupant with others in the ten farms planted in land in dispute with Smithtown, April 16 & 17, 1672. He signed the agreement settling this dispute, 23 September, 1672. In a list of taxpayers made for the county rate in 1673 he was assessed at 13s 8d. He held no important civil offices.

His lands were recorded 22 December, 1679. His house lot was bounded on the north by Thomas Fleet, and on the south by Robert Cranfield's house lot; it faced the street westward and the woods was to the rear. He had land laid out to him again, 27 November, 1684.

On 10 September, 1688 Stephen Jarvis signed as a witness to a conveyance from Joseph and Joanna Wood of Merrick to his son William Jarvis. In an assessment of property made the same year he was rated at 75 pounds, 16s 8d. More land was granted to him 1 April, 1690 near Dickpechegan Hills (Dix Hills). He was a witness to other deeds during these years.

Stephen Jarvis died at Huntington, New York 5 August, 1693. His will, dated 10 March, 169$\frac{4}{5}$ was proved at Brookhaven, New York 16 April, 1694. He was probably buried at Huntington, New York.

He married, probably about 1650 to Mary Porter, who survived.

1. Elizabeth, born about 1651-2, place not determined, married to John Green* of Huntington, New York about 1674. She was living

*In The Washington Ancestry, by Charles A. Hoppin, Vol. III, p. 539, it is stated that Waitstill Green was a granddaughter of John Green (born in England) and his wife, Mary Jarvis (born in England), daughter of Steven (sic) Jarvis, Senior, and wife, Mary, who came from England and eventually settled at Huntington, New York. This account says further that Stephen Jarvis in his will bequeathed to his deceased daughter Mary's eldest son John; that Mary Jarvis and John Green were married about 1650, and that she died at Stamford, Connecticut 14 November, 1657, leaving sons 31 January, 1686/7 when she and her husband conveyed to James Betts. John Green apparently first appears of record in Huntington, New York 16 and 17 April, 1672, when he with Isaac Platt, Mr. Bryan, Thomas Wickes and Richard Brush were holders of the seventh farm at Crabmeadow.little neck (printed Huntington Town Records, I, p. 188); and the land was property which had been assigned to John Green from his wife's cousin, Jonathan Harned (ibid., I, 480-482). Their children were, all born at Huntington, New York (GREEN):

i. John, born 30 June, 1675.
ii. Elizabeth, born 15 August, 1677.
iii. Thomas, born 16 February, 1678/9.
iv. William, born 1 March, 1681/2.
v. Amy, born 24 August, 1684.

There are undoubtedly descendants in Huntington, New York.

2. Stephen, born about 1655, was granted land 5 June, 1676. He was arrested for debt 6 July, 1682 to satisfy a claim of Isaac Gray. He was still living in Huntington 10 April, 1694, but does not appear on a division list of those who obtained money from a sale of land, 14 December, 1713. By a wife whose name has not been discovered he had, at least:

i. Stephen, born 2 June, 1685. No further record.
ii. Abraham, born 26 April, 1685.

On the assumption that the following were descended of Stephen Jarvis senior, they are placed here as there seems to be no other possibility of a connection:

John, Joseph and Benjamin. We quote: "That John[1] and Mary (Jarvis) Green were at New Haven in 1651 is certain, for their first known child, John, was born there: 'John Greene the sonn of John Greene was borne the 26th of December 1651 (Vital Records of New Haven, 10). John[1] Green married secondly, in September, 1658, Martha Finch (ibid., 39)." Over on page 541 Mr. Hoppin says also: "His sons were John, who married Abigail and had issue at Stamford, beginning with Samuel, born May 1, 1694; Joseph; and Benjamin, who married (1) April 10, 1683, Susan Roberts (Stamford Registration, 39.)"

From our experience we maintain, sincerely and categorically, that the above account is absolutely incorrect, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Hoppin is the genealogist who compiled this material. Mr. Hoppin gives no proof which positively identifies the first John Green of Stamford as having been the son-in-law of Stephen Jarvis; likewise the will of Stephen Jarvis does not mention the name of the daughter who married John Green of Long Island. As John Green of Stamford is possibly an ancestor of the present writer (see p. 1,517), we have a sharp interest in these allegations.

iii. Jebush, who received 9d from a sale of a division of land 14 December, 1713. He would not have received this sum had he not held rights in the name of some member of a Jarvis family who had lands in Huntington. Not traced further.

iv. Eliphalet, who received 1s 1-1/2d from the sale of a division of land 14 December, 1713 (see under Jebush above). Eliphalet appears in the papers of the Lloyd family of Queens village (Collections of the New York Historical Society, vol. 59, pp. 329+). By a wife whose name is not known he had:

A. Phebe, born about 1716, died 3 October, 1773, married at Huntington, New York 2 September, 1736 to John Wood of Huntington, who was born there about 1711 and died there 1 June, 1801, son of John and Hannah (Topping) Wood. See The Miner Genealogy, by Selleck, p. 56; Additions and Corrections For One Branch of the Miner Family, by Selleck, second page (unpaged); and also under EDMUND WOOD.

B. Mary, married Samuel Brown.

3. Jonathan, married Elizabeth. See the section following.
4. William, married Esther, perhaps Wickes. See the section following.
5. Eunice, married Joseph Wood. See page 1,623.
6. Thomas, married Millicent. See the section following.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF JONATHAN, WILLIAM AND THOMAS JARVIS, SONS OF STEPHEN AND MARY (PORTER) JARVIS OF HUNTINGTON, NEW YORK.

3. Jonathan Jarvis, son of Stephen and Mary (Porter) Jarvis, was born at Huntington, New York about 1657, and died about 1709. His will, dated 25 April, 1707, was proved at New York 2 June, 1709 and recorded in Liber 7, p. 533 of New York Wills. He was a trustee of Huntington 1700, 1701, 1702 and 1705; was assessed £43/12/6 in 1688; and was called Ensign in 1705. By a wife Elizabeth whose maiden name is unknown, he had

+ 7. William, married 1, ; 2, Esther Titus, widow.
8. Phillip, of record in 1707, further record inconclusive. He may have been father of (there is no proof at this writing):
i. Phillip, married in Huntington, New York 12 November, 1749, Elizabeth Sammis.
+ 9. Isaiah, married Hannah Whitman.
10. Elizabeth.
11. Susanna.

4. William Jarvis, son of Stephen and Mary (Porter) Jarvis, was born in Huntington, New York about 1660, and died there about 1741. His will, dated 12 November, 1737, was proved 10 December, 1741 and recorded at Liber 14, p. 164 of New York Wills. He was added to the church at Huntington, New York 15 July, 1724, the same day as his wife Esther. He is identified as the one who was trustee of the town of Huntington, 3 May, 1726 and 2 May, 1727. He married Esther or Hester, who is supposed to have been daughter of John and Esther (Ketcham) Wickes; the latter appears to have been a rather plausible guess. Issue:

+ 12. William, married Hannah Forward.
+ 13. Samuel, married Naomi Brush.
+ 14. Stephen, married 1, ; 2, Ann or Susan Wheeler.
15. Mary, born in 1704, married Jehiel Seymour, son of Capt. Matthew and Sarah (Hayes) Seymour. Jehiel Seymour died before 11 June, 1753, when administration on his estate was granted. See A History of the Seymour Family, by Donald L. Jacobus, p. 63.
+ 16. Abraham, married 1, Lavinia Rogers; 2, Hannah Conklin, widow.
17. Esther, married in the First Church at Huntington, New York, 3 May, 1725 to Samuel Stratton of East Hampton, New York.

6. Thomas Jarvis, son of Stephen and Mary (Porter) Jarvis, was born at Huntington, New York about 1669, and died in 1732. His will, dated 17 August, 1732, was proved 14 September, 1732. He was a bricklayer. His wife was Millicent, maiden name unknown, who joined the First church at Huntington, New York 1 December, 1726 and died 29 November, 1732, in her 60th year. Their children were:

+ 18. Elizabeth, married Jonathan Whitaker.
19. Thomas, born about 1698, will dated 25 January, 1771, proved 7 June, 1773. Liber 28, p. 486 of New York Wills. He joined the First church at Huntington, New York 30 January, 1740/1. Thomas Jarvis married in the First church at Huntington, 14 June, 1727 to Abigail Smith. No known issue.
+ 20. Benajah, married 1, Jemima Smith; 2, Anne Sammis; 3, Zerviah (Rogers) Jarvis, widow.
21. Timothy, not in 1764 tax list. Connections indeterminate.
22. Eunice, born about 1703, died at Norwalk, Conn., 19 November, 1767; married in the First church at Huntington, N. Y., 1 June, 1724 to Daniel Kellogg, born at Norwalk, Connecticut 7 May, 1698. The connections of this family appear to be well established in The Kellogge in The Old World and the New, by Timothy Hopkins. Both the marriage record (Prime, Records, First Church, Huntington, New York, as edited by Moses L. Scudder, p. 61) and the will of her father call her the wife of a Kellogg; the evidence seems indisputable. Nevertheless, The Kelsey Genealogy, by Claypool and others, vol. I, p. 94, call her the wife of a Daniel Kelsey who was born 14 September, 1682 and died in 1752, son of Stephen and Hannah (Ingersoll) Kelsey. This situation is recommended to our interested friends for their further attention.

There were perhaps other children.

7. William Jarvis, son of Jonathan and Elizabeth Jarvis, was born probably at Huntington, New York about 1688, and died after 16 January, 1749/50, the date of the will of his son William. He was added to the First church membership at Huntington, New York 2 December of 1725; and was constable 3 May, 1726. A Mehetable Jarvis who was added to the church the same day may have been his first wife. He married 2, 18 December, 1755 to the widow Esther Titus, who has been called the widow of the Abiel Titus who had for one of his wives Mary Smith. Issue, by first wife:

+ 23. William, married Zerviah Rogers.
+ 24. Henry, married 1, ; 2, Sarah Rogers.

The Jarvis Genealogy, p. 176, gives him other children, the names of some being wrong. The following, however, appear to have been his children:

+ 25. Jonathan, married 1, Anne Brewster; 2, Charity White.
+ 26. Augustine, married Sarah Bunce.

And perhaps:

27. Eliphalet, baptised at Huntington, New York 8 February, 1735-1736, married 1, 29 July, 1767, Ruth Whitman and 2, 26 September, 1785, Susanna Weeks.

9. Isaiah Jarvis, son of Jonathan and Elizabeth Jarvis, was born probably at Huntington, New York about 1692 and died before 20 May, 1739 when his widow married Elnathan Smith at Huntington. She was Hannah Whitman, whom he married 4 July, 1729. Their child was

+ 28. Robert, married 1, Sarah Ireland; 2, Margaret Brush.

12. William Jarvis, son of William and Esther Jarvis, was born in 1696 at Huntington, New York, and died in Norwalk, Connecticut. Administration on his estate was granted 3 October, 1767. He married 27 March, 1723 to Hannah Forward, born 18 January, 1701/2, daughter of Joseph Forward. Issue, very certainly:

29. Joseph, born 17 February, 1723/4.
30. Joanna, born 27 September, 1725.
31. Hannah, born 23 November, 1727.

32. Sarah, born 27 December, 1730, died 6 June, 1732.

And perhaps:

33. William, of Columbia county, New York, traditionally born 29 March, 1727, died 15 June, 1772; married Mary Wright, born 11 March, 1730, died 22 December, 1804. Issue. If this connection is correct, the birth dates of the children should be rechecked.

13. Samuel Jarvis, son of William and Esther Jarvis, was born in Huntington, New York 5 October, 1698 and died at Norwalk, Connecticut, 27 September, 1779. He married Naomi Brush, born at Huntington 19 March, 1701, died 3 May, 1756, daughter of John and Elizabeth (Platt) (Griffin) Brush. Issue:

Benajah Jarvis was one of the bondsmen in the administration of the estate of David Davis of Huntington South (North Babyon), New York, 29 March, 1808 (Vol. II, pp. 867-868); it is believed that a relationship existed between the two men, and/or their wives. Issue:
    i. Nathaniel.
    ii. Theodorus.
    iii. Jonah.
    iv. Alva.
    v. Abigail.
    vi. Lucinda, born in 1806, died in 1870, married Ebenezer Clock.
    vii. Keturah.

74. Moses Jarvis, perhaps son of Benajah and Jemima (Smith) Jarvis, was born at Huntington, New York about 1741 according to one source, but another statement, in MS. referred to in NOTES following, states that he was born 27 November, 1749. If this is the case, his mother must have been the second, not the first wife of Benajah Jarvis. From the will of Thomas Jarvis, No. 19 and deeds on file at Huntington, New York, it seems safe to indicate that if Moses was not son of Benajah, he must have been his nephew. Moses Jarvis died 11 February, 1822; he was a cordwainer. He married 1, 29 March, 1772, Phebe Wicks who died in January, 1842, aged 62; married 2, 20 November, 1815, Mary (Wicks) Bears. Issue:

208. Mary.
209. Ichabod.
210. Israel.
211. Cynthia.
212. Jane.

NOTES

It appears that the first compilation of the connections of this Jarvis family was published in 1879 as The Jarvis family; or, The descendants of the first settlers of the name in Massachusetts and Long Island... by George A. Jarvis and others. The book deals mainly with the descendants of Samuel and Naomi (Brush) Jarvis (see p. 1,629) who were of Connecticut. As the records in Connecticut were more accessible at the time, these authors prepared a commendable account of this line, which contributed a number of learned ministers to Connecticut society. Supporting this line there was published Biographical sketches of Hezekiah Jarvis, Noah Jarvis, George A. Jarvis and William Jarvis, from the Encyclopaedia of contemporary biography of New York, vol. v, 1887. Notwithstanding all this, Mr. George A. Jarvis could not establish successfully the detail of the first three generations of the present family.

In 1897 William S. Pelletreau published the Lester Will Book as Early Long Island Wills of Suffolk County, and the will of the first Stephen Jarvis is printed on page 97. In 1892 The New York Historical Society began publishing abstracts of wills on file in New York city; and the first volume of the Huntington Town Records edited by C. R. Street came out in 1887. From these (indexed) came much of the information needed to complete the earlier generations.

Nevertheless, so far as we know, there has been no modern attempt to establish the detail of the early generations of the Huntington family in any comprehensive manner. The first genealogist to construct the first three generations as we know them to be was Donald L. Jacobus of New Haven, Connecticut, although the writer had been gathering material for some time. However the writer, as a descendant of a daughter of the first Stephen Jarvis, did not plan to organize and compile the record beyond the second generation. Of late, because of the fine assistance given by Arthur S. Wardwell of Brooklyn, New York and Mrs. Frederick E. Hall, librarian of the Huntington Historical Society, this monograph has been developed. It must be understood that the constructions given here are those of the present writer only.

Reference is made to the printed Huntington Town Records, vol. I, pp. 36, 42, 115, 136, 145, 187, 195, 204, 246, 295, 335, 350 and 406 for entries relating to the first Stephen Jarvis; and also II, pp. 19 and 68. Stephen Jarvis junior is recorded in vol. I, p. 247; II, 19 and subsequently as indexed. That the wife of John Green was named Elizabeth is established in vol. I, p. 480; their children are given in vol. I, p. 397.

In the early generations there are a few records which have given us trouble, and some of the early members of the family remain unplaced. The Jarvis Family speaks of an Aaron Jarvis who would have been of the second generation; in this connection we have from Mrs. Frederick E. Hall information from the original records on file at Huntington:

> re Aaron Jarvis with reference to MSS Deeds, Huntington Town Hall, Liber I, p. 42, dated December 22, 1679.
> This is a record of the lands and meadows of Steven Jarvis in which the name of Daniel Wickes does not appear. The peculiarity of the writer has caused an error in deciphering, but the name repeated at the end, clearly states "Steven".

Therefore, no such Aaron Jarvis existed.

The next individual is a Timothy Jarvis, evidently of the third generation. He is recorded in the Huntington Town Records, printed, II, p. 159 when a hundred pound lot which had been Benjamin Scribner's to Huntington was paid by Timothy Jarvis. He then disappears; is recorded in no deeds; and if he had issue there is no trace of it. He must have been a son of Stephen junior, if of this family.

Apart from the Abstracts of Wills published by the New York Historical Society and the printed Huntington Town Records, reference has been had to Records of the First Church in Huntington, Long Island, 1723-1779, as edited by Moses L. Scudder and indexed; to the Index of Deeds in Books of Deeds, Huntington, N. Y., 1669-1789 as copied by William A. Robbins and filed in the Long Island Historical Society in Brooklyn, New York; and to MSS belonging to the Huntington Historical Society and to Arthur S. Wardwell.

From the tax lists of 1763 it is known that there was one Benajah and one Stephen Jarvis senior living at the time. This definitely establishes No. 14 Stephen (page 1,629) and No. 20 Benajah (page 1,631); they were the only ones of the name of their time. Mrs. Frederick E. Hall sends us, from original records:

> Know all men by these presents that we Benajah Jarvis and Surviah Jarvis which was the widow or relict of William Jarvis Jr. deceased for and in consideration of the sum of twenty four pounds to me in hand paid —— by William Jarvis and Henry Jarvis and executors of William Jarvis deceased for which consideration we and both of us our heirs and assigns do forever release and Quitclaim unto William Jervis and Henry Jervis their heirs and assigns forever all our right title claim and demands which we or either of us ever had upon the estate of sd William Jervis deceased, and further if sd. Benajah Jarvis and Zurviah my wife for ye consideration above mentioned do forever release and quitclaim all our rights of Dowry which my wife was entitled to by her husband' will being his last will and testament, but from all rights by the claim and demand to or upon sd estate of sd William Jarvis deceased we and each of us do acknowledge ourselves forever excluded and debarred. In witness whereof we the sd Benejah and Surviah Jarvis have hereunto set our hands and seals, this sixth day of August anno dom. 1755
> Witnesses: BENAJAH JARVIS
> ZERVIAH JARVIS
> ZOPHAR SMITH (their marks)
> PHILLIP KETCHAM

Transcripts of the tax lists sent to us will be filed with the Queensborough Public Library at Jamaica, New York. Those members of this family (presumably) which we have not been able to connect remain for our future friends to study.

We wish to thank Mrs. Margaret (Frazer) Brewster for the detailed corrections to The Jarvis Genealogy, which cover the Connecticut line beyond the scope of the present monograph. These have been sent to the Huntington Historical Society, Huntington, New York.

FOR ADDITIONS AND CORRECTUINS

JUDD

8. HANNAH JUDD 167
m. GERSHOM SMITH son of Jonathan Smith and Martha Bushnell

She was born probably at Farmington, Connecticut in 1680 or 1681.

She was baptised in the First church at Farmington 13 March, 1680-1.

Hannah Judd married at Farmington 4 May, 1710 to Gershom Smith of Glastonbury, Connecticut, and thenceforth lived at Glastonbury. She survived her husband, and was living at Glastonbury 3 November, 1756.

For descendants see SMITH (RICHARD OF WETHERSFIELD), under #166.

NOTES

See also Thomas Judd and His Descendants, by Sylvester Judd of Northampton, Massachusetts, 1856; and also the references under her father and GERSHOM SMITH.

Hannah Judd was the daughter of

9. BENJAMIN JUDD 334
m. MARY LEWIS daughter of William Lewis and Mary Hopkins

He was born about 1642 and probably at Hartford, Connecticut.

Benjamin Judd's life was destined to be short. He seems to have been a quiet farmer of Farmington, Connecticut, whence he removed; but he held no civic office. He was made a freeman of the Connecticut Colony in 1669.

He died in 1689, probably in October. The inventory came to 292 pounds, 03s 0d, and was taken by John Norton and John Judd; administration of the estate was granted to the widow Mary 6 November, 1689. For further disposal of the estate after the death of Mary (Lewis) Judd, see under her name.

Benjamin Judd was probably buried at Farmington, Connecticut.

Issue:

1. Elizabeth, born at Farmington, Connecticut, 21 August, 1688; d. young.
2. Benjamin, born at Farmington, Connecticut in 1671; and was added to the church there 9 February, 1706/7. He married Susanna North and had issue.
3. Mary, born at Farmington, Connecticut about 1675, married to Joseph Webster of Hartford, Connecticut 23 January, 1696.
4. Sarah, born about 1677, married 12 May, 1709 to Thomas Buck of Middletown, Connecticut.
5. Hannah, married Gershom Smith. See page 1,643.
6. Nathaniel, baptised at Farmington, Connecticut, 22 July, 1683.
7. Esther, baptised at Farmington, Connecticut, 14 February, 1686, married 14 December, 1704 to Jonathan Webster of Hartford, Ct.
8. Jonathan, baptised 22 September, 1688 at Farmington, Conn.

NOTES

Reference has been had to Thomas Judd and his Descendants, by Sylvester Judd (1856); Judd, the Name and the Arms, published at Frankford, Philadelphia, Penna., in 1910; Probate Records of the Hartford District by Manwaring, 3 vols., (indexed); The American Genealogist, IX, p. 176; and The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. 38, p. 276.

An extensive attempt to develop these connections has not been made by us. The compilation by Sylvester Judd seems to have been carefully done for its era.

Benjamin Judd was the son of

10. THOMAS JUDD
m. ELIZABETH

He was born probably in England, about 1605-1608.

Upon his emigration to the Massachusetts Bay Thomas Judd settled at Cambridge, Massachusetts, where he was living in 1634. His home lot of four acres was granted in August, 1634 and was located at the "West End" on the northeast side of the highway to Watertown. He built a house on this lot. He was also among those who were to receive a portion of the meadow ground 20 August, 1635, and was recorded as a householder in February, 1636.

Thomas Judd was admitted as freeman of the Colony 25 May, 1636. Shortly after this event he removed to Hartford, Connecticut, and it is considered likely that he was one of the company who left Cambridge on the last day of May, 1636, to traverse the wilderness to the Connecticut river.

In Hartford his house lot was on the south side of Willys' home lot, which was celebrated as the site of the Charter Oak. His sojourn in Hartford was short, as he became one of the proprietors of Farmington, Connecticut about 1644. At the latter place his home lot was the third from the north end of the main street on both sides of the street, and extended westward to the Farmington river.

He was a well-to-farmer and a capable citizen. Farmington first sent deputies -- Stephen Hart and Thomas Judd --to the General Court in May, 1647. Subsequently Thomas Judd was a deputy at the May session, 1648 and also at many sessions until 1679.

He was a member of the church under the care of the Rev. Thomas Hooker and the Rev. Samuel Stone, both at Cambridge and at Hartford; and his connection with the Hartford church continued until a church was organized at Farmington, 13 October, 1652. Some of his children were carried from Farmington to Hartford to be baptised. He was one of the "seven pillars" of the church at Farmington at its organization, and his wife was united with this church in November, 1652.

After the death of his first wife and his remarriage (see below) he removed to North Hampton. He was one of the selectmen of this place in 1682. In his later years his son Samuel resided with his father and stepmother.

Deacon Judd died at North Hampton 12 November, 1688, according to the entries on the records at Springfield, Mass. His age must have been about 80, perhaps more. He had already made arrangements for the disposal of his estate by deed before his death. It is probable that he was buried at North Hampton.

Thomas Judd may have married in England before he emigrated; only the given name of this wife, Elizabeth, has been found of record. It is considered that she was the mother of all of the children. She died in Farmington about 1678, or shortly before. In 1678 Thomas Mason of North Hampton died, leaving a widow Clemence, a good estate and no children. On 2 December, 1679 Thomas Judd married Mrs. Clemence Mason, and subsequently resided on her estate at North Hampton. Her homestead was on the east side of Pleasant street, the front extending from two or three rods below the great elm to Hawley street; and she owned about forty acres of meadow land. After Thomas Judd's death his son Samuel Judd took care of his widow, and upon her death she gave him her estate. She died 22 November, 1696 at North Hampton.

Issue, by first wife:

1. Elizabeth, born probably at Cambridge, Massachusetts about 1634, married 27 December, 1653 to Samuel Loomis of Farmington, Conn.
2. William, born about 1636, died at Farmington, Conn., in the latter part of 1690. The inventory of his estate was presented to the Court 5 November, 1690 and distribution was made 27 December, 1690. He was admitted freeman in May, 1656, and was a sergeant in the militia. William Judd married 30 March, 1658 to Mary Steele, died 27 October, 1718, daughter of John Steele of Farmington. Issue.
3. Thomas, born about 1638 and probably at Hartford, Conn., died at Waterbury, Connecticut 18 January, 1703. He was one of the first planters and proprietors of Mattatuck or Waterbury; was the first deputy sent from that town to the General Court; and represented the town at one or both sessions for eleven years, from 1689 to 1703. He was called ensign in 1686, and lieutenant 1696-1697; and was justice of the peace from 1699 to 1703. Thomas Judd married Sarah Steele, died 22 May, 1695, daughter of John Steele of Farmington, Connecticut. Issue.
4. John, born about 1640 and probably at Hartford, Connecticut; was freeman in 1664, and deputy to the General Court from Farmington, Connecticut many times between 1692 and 1710. He became an ensign, and after 1696 was lieutenant of militia. John Judd died about 1715 at Farmington. He married Mary Howkins or Hawkins, born at Windsor, Connecticut 16 July, 1644, daughter of Anthony Howkins. Issue.
5. Benjamin, married Mary Lewis. See page 1,643.
6. Mary, born about 1644, married 1 January, 1663 to Thomas Loomis of Windsor, Connecticut as his second wife. Issue.
7. Ruth, born at Farmington, Connecticut about 1647, married John Steele of Farmington. Issue.

8. Philip, born about 1649 at Farmington, Connecticut, died shortly before 2 November, 1689 at Waterbury, Connecticut, where he resided in his later years. He was added to the church at Farmington 6 March, 1681. The inventory of his estate came to £329 10s 0d, and was taken by Isaac Brunson, Joseph Gaylord and Thomas Judd the smith, 2 November, 1689. Administration was granted to the widow, with William Judd, Ensign Thomas Judd, and Thomas Judd junior to assist, 11 November, 1689. His wife was Hannah Loomis, daughter of Thomas Loomis of Windsor, Connecticut; she was living 11 May, 1704. She is said to have removed from Waterbury and to remarried, although the name of her second husband is not reported. Issue.
9. Samuel, born about 1653 at Farmington, Connecticut, and died at Northampton, Massachusetts 10 January, 1721. He was made freeman in 1684. Samuel Judd married Mariah or Moriah Strong, daughter of Thomas Strong; she died 18 May, 1751, aged 87 yrs. 8 mos., 9 days. Issue.

NOTES

See the authorities already quoted under Benjamin Judd; and also Boddie and Allied Families, by John Thomas Boddie and John Bennett Boddie, 1918; and Philip Judd and his Descendants, by Caroline Judd McDowell, 1923.

There seems to have been some sort of a connection between Thomas Judd and George Phillips of Windsor, Connecticut. Documentation relating to the will of George Phillips is reported by Manwaring in his Probate Records of the Hartford District, I, 348-49. The inventory came to £174-17-00. We quote:

> On the 12th day of July, 1678, The Townsmen of Windsor Met in the Room where George Phillips was found dead on the 9th of July before, to take the Inventory. Those were John Loomis, Jacob Drake, Thomas Bissell, Matthew Grant.
> Now we copy it out of the Town booke to present it to the County Court which will be (held) on the 5 of September, the first Thursday in the moneth: To begin with Housing & Lands: By agreement between George Phillips and Israel Dewey, Israel hath Builded a New end to George's old house, & took down his old chimney of wood & clay & set up a new stone chimney, & we have not Taken to inventory the new, but only the old house without the chimney, with the Barne & the houseland, which Matthew Grant measured & find it one acre three-quarters of an acre, & we value it at £55-00-00.

Also allot to Mr. Thomas Judd £4, Thomas Loomis £5, Thomas Porter £3, to Robert Porter £3. They appear in some way related to him (the sd. Decd). ....

John Grummin had married the daughter of Michael Try of Fairfield, Connecticut, whose wife was a sister of George Phillips. See Donald L. Jacobus, Families of Old Fairfield, Connecticut, vol. I, p. 617. It is not known how Thomas Judd was related.

Since the foregoing was written we have been shown a reference in The Medical Journal of John Winthrop, of which a copy is included in the Banks MSS in the Rare Book Room of the Library of Congress, which states that which undoubtedly refers to the first wife of Thomas Judd.

The ancestry of Thomas Judd is unknown.

7. MARY KELLUM 121
m. GEORGE WEEKES or WEEKS
Son of Thomas Weeks and Mary Udall

She was born in October, 1748 at Huntington South, New York.

She was baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Huntington by the Rev. Ebenezer Prime 23 October, 1748.

Mary Kellum married in the foregoing church 1 January, 1775, George Weekes or Weeks of Huntington South, and thenceforth resided in that part of Huntington South which was set off as North Babylon. Her home was on the west side of Deer Park Avenue adjacent to the property which Miles O. Weeks lived on in 1930. She was traditionally remembered by older members of the family as "Molly" Weekes, and seems to have been a woman of exemplary domestic attainments.

She was a member of the Presbyterian church all of her life, and in later years was a communicant of the church at Babylon, New York.

She died not long after her husband's death in 1806, although the date of her death was not recorded, and no gravestone has been found. She was probably buried in a private family plot at North Babylon, New York, now forgotten.

For connections and descendants, see WEEKES - WEEKS, Third line, #120.

NOTES

See Records of the First Church in Huntington, Long Island, as edited by Moses L. Scudder, pp. 41 and 106. In the marriage record her husband's name is given as Wickes, which is an unfortunate clerical error. She is mentioned in her husband's will, and also in papers which were in the possession of Miles Cokley Weeks of North Babylon, New York, a descendant, now deceased.

The late Mrs. Parthenia (William H.) Weed was a great-granddaughter of Molly Weekes, and told this writer in 1921 that Charles Weekes (Weeks), Mrs. Weed's grandfather and a son of Mrs. Weekes, had told Mrs. Weed of his mother a number of times.

The parentage of Mary Kellum remains unproved. From family record it is known (Charles Weekes, Mrs. Weed, Miles O. Weeks, and others)that she had a sister who married a Ruland and brothers Obadiah and Phillip. These members of the Kellum family are stated to have owned land in Babylon from "since before the Revolution"; and further, it was reported that the Sammis family was related.

The first member of the Kellum family to settle in the neighborhood of these latter-day Kellums was Robert Kellum, who married in 1739 to Phebe Sammis. He is likewise the only member of this family* whose children, except for two, have not been proved. The schedule of baptisms in the First church at Huntington is such that it is possible only for Robert Kellum to have been the father of Mary Kellum, if she was descended of the Huntington family. That she was so descended is strongly indicated by (1) the traditional longevity of the holding of Kellum property in Babylon; (2) the tradition of a Sammis relationship; (3) the actual sequence of property tenures of Robert Kellum and Phillip Kellum; and (4) when informed of these facts, the emphatic agreement of the living relatives that such a connection agreed with all that had been brought down by tradition or was otherwise known. While this last factor is definitely post hoc, it has some value.

Therefore, and on the foregoing bases. we say that Mary Kellum was very probably daughter of

8. ROBERT KELLUM 242
m. PHEBE SAMMIS

He was born probably at Huntington, New York in 1714.

There is no baptismal record; recorded baptisms did not begin until 1723.

Robert Kellum was a carpenter and resident of Huntington South (North Babylon), New York at a very early date. His home was on land which was near the Sumpwams river, a creek separating Huntington from Islip. Here he was neighbor to Joseph Udall, Samuel Muncy, John Lewis and others.

He took the oath of loyalty to the English king in 1778, and at the time gave his age as 64. The assessment of 1765 gives *that is, of this generation.

him a valuation of 40 pounds, 12s. He was chosen with Thomas Wickes to take care of fires at "the south" He seems otherwise to have been a quiet, neighborhood farmer.

Robert Kellum died at Huntington South between 1778 and 1782. No will or administration of his effects has been found, and he probably settled his estate before his death by deeds. He was without doubt buried at Huntington South.

Robert Kellum married in the First church at Huntington, New York, and by the Rev. Ebenezer Prime, 4 December, 1739 to Phebe Sammis.

Issue, very certainly:

1. Phebe, baptised with her mother, 18 September 1743 in the First church at Huntington, New York. No further record.
2. Hannah, baptised with her mother, 18 September, 1743 in the same church. No further record.

Issue, very probably:

3. Joshua, baptised in the First church, Huntington, New York 19 March 1745/6; no further record.
4. Elizabeth, baptised 29 March, 1747 in the First church, Huntington. New York, died young.
5. Mary, married George Weekes or Weeks; see page 1,649.
6. Bettyann (qu. Elizabeth Ann), baptised in the First church, Huntington, New York, 25 March, 1750, married from the same church, 25 (?January), 1774, William Burch.
7. Susanna, baptised in the First church, Huntington, New York 14 October, 1753, married from the First Presbyterian church in Smithtown, New York 12 February, 1781 to Peter Ruland, son of Peter and Mary (Jackson) Ruland. See RULAND.
8. Obadiah, baptised in the First church, Huntington, New York 7 September, 1755, died shortly before 18 September, 1809, when the widow with Scudder Robbins was granted administration of the estate. He married in the First Presbyterian church at Huntington, New York, 2 February, 1799, Keturah Abbott. Issue not traced.
9. Phillip, baptised in the First church at Huntington, New York 21 April, 1751, died at Babylon, New York about 1807. Loyalty claims state that he was born in 1751. His will, dated 4 October, 1799, was proved 12 March, 1807 and filed in Liber B, p. 412 of Wills at Riverhead, New York. He married 1. in the First Presbyterian church at Huntington, New York 15 June, 1777 to Mercy Oakley, dau. of Nathaniel and Mercy (Langdon) Oakley; she died before 12 August, 1794, on which date he married in the First Presbyterian church at Smithtown, New York, to Mary Lockwood who shortly after also died; his third wife was named Hannah 4 October, 1799. His children, by the first wife, were:

i. Jonah, who married in the First Presbyterian church at Babylon, New York to Mary or Polly Stratton, 6 April, 1802. The identification of this wife in A Book of Strattons, vol. II, pp. 283-4, as the daughter of Jonathan and Elizabeth (Totten) Stratton needs careful rechecking. Issue, born at Babylon, New York and baptised in the First Presbyterian church at that place:

A. Mariah, born 29 December, 1804, baptised in August, 1805.

B. Charles Philip, baptised 27 March, 1808.

ii. Epenetus, a resident of Babylon, New York; never married. Documents associated with his will state that he died 29 September, 1859; another report states that he died 7 January, 1863, aged 82 years, 9 months, 23 days. The discrepancy has not been reconciled.

iii. Tredwell, born at Babylon, New York about 1788, died in March, 1873 at the same place. He was a poulterer and resided near Argyle Lake at Babylon. He married 1, Elizabeth Smith, who was the mother of his children; 2, Mrs. Ann Bailey, widow of Joseph Bailey of Manchester, England. She was 70 in 1870 and survived him. Issue:

A. Ira, born at Babylon, New York 10 February, 1821, died there 24 April, 1895. He married Catharine Mott, who died 10 May, 1876, aged 51 years, 1 mo., 1 day, daughter of Samuel and (Baldwin) Mott. Issue:

a. Treadwell B., born at Babylon, New York, in 1845, died there 24 November, 1913. He was progressively Foreman of the Hook and Ladder Company, then Chief Engineer of the Fire Department; and Village President. He was a paper maker. Treadwell B. Kellum married Sarah Ann Sammis who died at Babylon, New York 12 March, 1933. Issue:

- Lily, who married Howell W. Haff, son of Sidney and Sarah (Sammis) Haff.
- Everett, who married Katharine C. maiden name not reported, born in 1881, died in 1923.

b. Samuel Mott, born at Babylon, New York, 10 March, 1852, died 17 July, 1886. He was a carpenter.

c. Catharine E., born in 1854, living in 1870.

d. John H., 14 years old in 1870.
e. Franklin D., born 15 August, 1858, died 29 November, 1904.
f. Amy A., born in 1863, died unmarried.
g. William S., born 4 March, 1865, a trustee of the village of Babylon; builder and carpenter. He married 26 December, 1898, Iola Gilbert. No issue.

NOTES

The earliest reference to Robert Kellum in the printed Huntington, N. Y. Town Records is in vol. II, pp. 388-389. He was already living in the future Babylon, and held land in the Sumpwams Neck on which Babylon was built, 3 May, 1740. At that time the settlers reported that the record of the divisions of land held by the settlers had been lost, so they chose arbitrators to delimit their respective lands and then signed documents restoring the records. The arbitrators were Major Epenetus Platt, Philip Ketchem and Samuel Willis. On 15 May, 1740 it was recorded that (II, page 392)

> ....and the lot No. 3 is Robert Kellum and George Nortons and Contains a four hundred Right and three rods and twenty three links of Chan (chain) wide in the sd. south line and runs parelell a cross the neck ....

He was chosen to take care of fires 3 May, 1763 (II, 457), was assessed 13s 0d in 1764 (II, 476) and chosen to take care of fires at the south 7 May, 1771 (II, 510). He was also appointed overseer of highways for the year at the same time, for his district.

He sold land to Samuel Smith 2 June, 1743, and in the indenture his wife Phebe signed with her mark, he with his signature. The document is filed in original Liber III of Deeds in the Huntington Town Hall; it has not been printed. He was also one of the signers of Associations in Huntington 8 May, 1775, as reported by Frederick G. Mather in his Refugees from Long Island to Connecticut, p. 1062.

The Records of the First Church in Huntington, Long Island as edited by Moses L. Scudder (indexed) records those baptisms which we believe are those of the children of this Robert Kellum; the marriage record is on p. 74. See also the discussion on pages 1,649 and 1,650.

Robert Kellum is considered to have been the son of

9. EPHRAIM KELLUM 484
m.

He was born either at Southampton or Brookhaven, New York, about 1677.

No baptismal record has been found.

The records of this man and his connections are few, and are difficult to evaluate. He was of age and resident of Huntington, New York in 1698. In 1701 his father Robert Kellum made over his home to his son Ephraim, with certain reservations (see NOTES). Ephraim Kellum was to provide for and support his father; this indenture was signed 19 August, 1701 and acknowledged the same day. The property which Ephraim received he sold to Ebenezer Blachley 10 December, 1701.

In the next year there was recorded an indenture dated 5 September, 1702 between Joseph Wood and Ephraim Kellum, wherein the latter is called a carpenter. Following this Robert Kellum senior sold property to his son Ephraim for a considerable sum, 2 October, 1705. Subsequently there are deeds between Ephraim Kellum and his brother Robert, 6 December, 1710; Ephraim Kellum and Timothy Brush, 9 November, 1722; and articles of agreement between John Whitman and Kellum 24 May, 1722. In the last Whitman and Kellum stipulate that they have equal property or interest in a four hundred property right belonging to Robert Kellum, deceased, in a neck called Sumpwams. John Whitman was to have all right from the head line to the Indian Path (now Deer Park avenue) by the East Creek and Ephraim Kellum's lot on the second division on the west side. This appears to be the last record of this Ephraim Kellum that can be certainly so identified.

Maps on file in the Town Hall at Huntington indicate rather convincingly that the land held by Robert Kellum No. 282, is included in that to which the present deeds refer (see also NOTES).

It is not known when this Ephraim Kellum died; but it was undoubtedly before 1738. No will or administration is on file.

The name of Ephraim Kellum's wife has not been found. Similarly, the names of the children are not proved, except that one, Robert, seems to be well indicated from land records. The others are considered to be his children, based on analysis of all available records.

Issue:

1. Ephraim, born about 1705 and probably at Huntington, New York; died there shortly before 5 August, 1757, as his widow was referred to, although not by name, on that date. In Liber III of Deeds at Huntington, New York, he is recorded in a number of indentures: 10 March, 1738 between Ephraim and his brother Silvanus, 53 acres at Long Swamp to Silvanus south by land of his brother Thomas Kellum, the witnesses being Robert (No. 242) and Thomas Kellum; 10 March, 1738 between Ephraim and Thomas Kellum, whereby Ephraim makes over to the latter 89 acres more or less, adjacent to the lands of Thomas Ketcham and Samuel Smith, the witnesses being Silvanus and Robert Kellum (Kellam); and on 20 February, 1744, he was witness with Jonathan Smith to a deed of Jonathan and Hannah Ketcham to Jehiel Smith of Huntington. See Deeds, III, pp. 130, 132, 169. Ephraim Kellum married in the First church at Huntington, New York 2 October, 1738 to Elizabeth, daughter of Ebenezer Blachley and widow of Timothy Titus. It is believed that she was a second wife, the first one being unknown. The following is believed to have been his child:
    i. Ephraim, born probably at Huntington, New York, about 1730; of Salem, Westchester county, New York, where he was a witness to the will of John Osborn, 7 June, 1754; Liber 26, page 24, New York Wills.
2. Silvanus, known as a brother of the second Ephraim, born probably about 1707, living at Huntington in 1738 when he received land of Ephraim Kellum; not traced further.
3. Ebenezer, date of birth not determinable. He ran an account with Henry Lloyd of Queens Village which was paid in 1731 by his brother Ephraim. It is believed that he died without issue.
4. Robert, married Phebe Sammis. See page 1,650.
5. Thomas, born about 1716-17 and probably at Huntington, New York, died there in 1781. His will, dated 23 July, 1781, was proved 19 October 1781 and filed at Liber 34, p. 331, New York Wills. He married in the First church at Huntington, New York 19 November, 1750 to Lavinia Sammis, born in 1731, died of apoplexy, 5 September, 1801 at Huntington, New York. Issue:
    i. Experience, baptised 28 January, 1761 in the First church at Huntington, New York; married at Huntington, New York 13 April, 1779 to Daniel Gildersleeve, widower of Elizabeth Gildersleeve and son of Richard and Elizabeth Gildersleeve. See No. 19, pages 1,085-1,086.

ii. Ruth, baptised 28 January, 1761. Not traced further.

iii. Jemima, baptised 28 January, 1761, not traced further.

iv. Jesse, baptised in the First church at Huntington, New York 28 January, 1761, died in 1836 or 1837. His will, dated 20 November, 1836, was proved 3 March, 1837 and filed in Liber G, page 278 of Wills, Riverhead, New York. He married Abigail, maiden name not reported; she was born in 1780 and died about 1864. Her will, dated 2 November, 1863, was proved 13 January, 1865. Issue:

A. Hannah, married Silas Watts Platt.

v. Ebenezer, baptised in the First church at Huntington, New York 28 June, 1761, died in 1828. His will, dated 29 March, 1828, was proved 2 July, 1828 and filed at Liber E, page 355 of Wills, Riverhead, New York. He was a resident of Long Swamp, Huntington, New York. Ebenezer Kellum married in the First Presbyterian ch. at Smithtown, New York 15 June, 1780 to Phebe Sammis, who died at Long Swamp 10 May, 1798. He married 2, in the First Presbyterian church at Huntington, 3 May, 1800 to Mrs. Phebe Conkling, widow. Issue, by first wife:

A. Nancy, married James West.

B. Hannah, baptised in the First Presbyterian ch. at Huntington, New York 10 June, 1787, married James Berry.

C. Almeda, married Joshua West.

D. Phebe, married Alexander Smith; they were residents of Huntington in 1850. Issue (SMITH):

viii. Joshua, baptised with Ziba, 2 May. 1762; died without issue, intestate. Administration dated 15 September, 1818 granted to brothers Ebenezer and Jesse.

NOTES

Records concerning both Ephraim Kellum and his father Robert Kellum are referred to in the generation dealing with the latter. The homestead which Robert Kellum sold to his son Ephraim Kellum is cited in Liber I, Deeds, p. 413, Huntington, New York Town Hall, when on 10 December, 1701 Ephraim Kellum sold it to Ebenezer Blachley. In the next year there is recorded (Liber I, Deeds, p.435) an indenture dated 5 September, 1702 between Joseph Wood and Ephraim Kellum, carpenter; no wives are mentioned. On 5 October, 1704 (Liber I, Deeds, p. 495) Ephraim Kellum, now called cordwinder, made over to his brother Benjamin Kellum, for and in consideration of a lawful sum of money, land adjacent to that owned by Joseph Whitman, near Whitman's Hollow, with reversion in the event of death without heirs of Benjamin. Indentures in Liber II of Deeds include one dated 9 November, 1720 between Ephraim Kellum and Timothy Brush (p. 366); another between the same two principals the same day (p. 370); and another dated 9 January, 1709 between John Whitman and Ephraim Kellum, husbandman, of the one part and William Soper of the other, wherein the former deed to the latter land, uplands, swamps and bogs lying above the Indian path in the neck called Santapeague. 1720 seems to be the last year in which this Ephraim Kellum is recorded.

In the next generation there are in Huntington five brothers, as proved by record: Ephraim, Silvanus, Ebenezer, Robert and Thomas. It has not been possible to prove the name of their father; as we have already stated, there is some case for establishing Robert as son of an earlier Ephraim. This is based on the fact that the lands held by Robert Kellum of this generation were closely associated with lands held by this Ephraim. The best basis for calling these five brothers the son of an Ephraim is the fact that he was the only one of the name who lived long enough in Huntington to have had such a family. An additional assumption is also necessary: that these five brothers did not come from elsewhere, making this supposed connection a coincidence. While this is barely likely, the fact that we would have two Ephraims in successive generations is a strong element for our case.

See also Liber III of Deeds, Huntington, New York Town Hall, pp. 130, 132, 134 and 169; Lloyd Account Books, in the library of the Long Island Historical Society, 5 November, 1711 and 29 May, 1731. The entry is for logwood and diapers for Eleanor Kellum. She may have been a first wife of Ephraim Kellum junior.

There is some reason to believe that Ephraim Kellum lived for about ten years after 1720. There are two baptisms of women which may have been for two of his daughters: Susanna, baptised 24 January, 1724/5, and Jerusha, baptised 16 November, 1729. A Hannah Kellum, born about 1721, married 16 April, 1745, Thomas Jackson, may be of this connection also.

Ephraim Kellum was the son of

10. ROBERT KELLUM or KELLAM 968
m. HANNAH ( ) WHITE widow of John White, daughter of Robert Kellum was born either in England or in the North American colonies, in all probability, and about 1645.

He is first of record in Southampton, New York when in 1666 his name was posted on the accounts of the town. Subsequently, 26 August, 1669 the Southold Town Records show that he purchased three acres of Edward Petty at Southold, and also one lot of commonage. He was to have liberty to cut what hay he needed for his cattle at Aquebogue as well. However, Robert Kellum does not seem to have ever lived at Southold.

He was still living at Southampton 4 July, 1676 when Robert Akerly of Brookhaven, New York sold him title and interest in forty acres of commonage in Brookhaven, with eight acres of such land to be laid out in the Little Neck; the consideration was 25 pounds. The next day Henry Rogers and John Wood of Brookhaven "have freely granted and given" Robert Kellum a piece of swamp land. The conveyance from Akerly to Kellum was restated 18 July, 1676 and with more detail. Sometime within a year after this date, Robert Kellum removed to the town of Brookhaven.

He was still listed as a property owner at Southampton until 1680. On 12 April, 1679, having let certain land to Cornelius Vonck, he abated 10s of Vonck's next payment. In the same year he is listed as having a 150 pound right in concert with Zerubbabel Phillips and John Howell, junior; and was a part owner with the same two men in lot #24. The last time he is so recorded in Southampton seems to be 1 June, 1680.

He recorded his earmark for stock in 1677 at Brookhaven, showing that his removal from Southampton had then been effected. On 26 June, 1679 he bought three acres of land at the Old Man's from Thomas Thorp; and 5 August, 1679 he rented his house and home lot with attached lands at Southampton to Thomas Trevally of the latter place. Lieut. Richard Floyd on 19 September, 1679 rented land, cattle and a negro to Robert Kellum; this included 19 acres of plowable land "in the old field" as well as elsewhere; 6 cows, 2 oxen, 1 horse, half of Lieut. Floyd's sheep, plow with irons and chain, cope and yoke, and cartwheels with clevis and pins.

He exchanged land with William Jayne 13 October, 1679; and then, 18 November, 1679 he sold his house in Brookhaven situated between Henry Rogers and Richard Hulse to Mr. William Williams, together with the house lot the town gave him, and a ten acre lot at the rear which he had bought of William Jayne. The price was 70 pounds; his wife acknowledged, but her name is not given. On 19 January, 1679/80 Mrs. Nathaniel Brewster sold three acres at Newtown in Brookhaven to Robert Kellum for 4 pounds, in good merchantable shoes. The sequel to the sale of his Brookhaven property to William Williams is shown in the Southampton Town Records, when on 2 February, 1680/81 Robert Kellum, now of Huntington, New York, cordwainer, sold to John Gould of Southampton "all that my lot of land in Huntington, containing 6 acres, in the rear of Jonas Wood's home lot, and in the rear of Richard Brush's lot, and the rear of Joseph Whitman's...."

On 29 September, 1679 John Mitchell of Huntington sold a two hundred pound allotment in Huntington for 25 pounds 10s to Robert Kellum, and on 29 December, 1679 Mitchell agreed to build a house on the land for Kellum. On the preceding 16 December he stated that he was then living at Huntington, when he sold land in Brookhaven to John Tooker. During this time Robert Kellum disposed of much of his holdings not in the town of Huntington.

Kellum received a grant of land from the town of Huntington 23 May, 1681, and which was laid out in 1685. He sold land to William Moore or More of Pennsylvania, 14 January, 1683; and conveyed property on the road to Setauket to Jonathan Jarvis 22 December, 1684. His wife Hannah also signed this last instrument. He purchased land of the Indians 13 July, 1689, the deed being witnessed by Jonathan Harned and Elizabeth White. He also bought land extensively at the south in the present Babylon.

During this time an incident occurred which illustrates the mores of the society in which Robert Kellum lived. Early in Jan., 1682, it being a Sunday, Mrs. Return Davis (vol. II, p. 873) peered out of the windows of her house toward night, as she heard the sound of a horse trotting. She looked out to observe Robert Kellum on horseback, coming from Oyster Bay and carrying a bag of meal. The redoubtable Mrs. Davis lost no time in asking Kellum why he had set out from Oyster Bay on the Lord's day. He answered:"It is not Lord's day for it is night." She retorted "Look yonder, I think the sun is half an hour hie, and I believe you came out of Oyster Bay about the beginning of the afternoon meetimg; I think you will be taken notice of." And then she asked him further whether or not he had gotten his meal, upon which he said, "Yes; I could not have it soon enough to come home yesterday." The deed was also witnessed by Thomas Wickes who was visiting at the home of John Ketcham, and as a consequence a complaint was sworn out before Isaac Platt. On the 29th of January a town court was held with due solemnity and the charges were found to be legally proved. Robert Kellum's fine was twenty shillings.

On 7 March, 1691 he bought islands in the South Bay from the Indians, . He sold to John Sammis on 20 March, 1694, and to his son Ephraim 27 July, 1698. With his second wife Joane he conveyed land again to his son Ephraim 1 February, 1700; & on 15 February, 1700 he conveyed land to John Sammis. A deed to his son Ephraim of 19 August, 1701 was evidently intended to be in lieu of a will. He sold land again to his son Ephraim 1 October, 1705 and the next day he conveyed property to his son Benjamin.

Shortly after 2 October, 1705 Robert Kellum probably died. He was undoubtedly buried at Huntington, New York.

Robert Kellum married 1, at Southampton, New York shortly after 30 May, 1670 to Hannah, widow of John White of Southampton; she was the mother of his children. Her maiden name is not known.* She had died before 1 February, 1700, at which time the name of his wife was Joane. Nothing more is known of the second wife.

*The statement in Vol. III, p. 1,413 that she may have been a daughter of John and Susanna Howell is regrettably in error. See also SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATIO N, this volume, under HOWELL.

Issue:

1. Robert, born about 1673 at Southampton, New York, was of Huntington, New York until 1698. In the latter year he was listed as a resident of Hempstead, New York. He deeded land at Huntington to Richard Brush junior, 28 June, 1698, his wife signing also; on 18 August, 1699 he sold property to Joseph Whitman. Issue, at least:
   i. Robert.
   ii. Hannah.
2. Hester, mentioned in a deed of her father's in 1701. No further record.
3. Ephraim, married. See page 1,655.
4. Benjamin, born probably at Huntington, New York, about 1680, died at Pound Ridge, Westchester county, New York about 1768-9. His will, dated in December, 1766, was proved 2 March, 1769. On 9 November, 1710 he was of Freehold, New Jersey when he deeded property to Robert Kellum (Huntington Court Records, unpaged). The name of his wife is not reported; their children were
   i. Benjamin, who is said to have removed to Connecticut.
   ii. Abreham.
   And possibly:
   iii. Deborah, married Hezekiah Wood.
5. Deborah, married as his second wife to John Whitman, son of Joseph and Sarah (Ketcham) Whitman.

The ancestry of Hannah ( ) (White) Kellum, wife of Robert Kellum and mother of his children, remains a problem. Her first husband was John White junior of Southampton, New York (see WHITE), who in his will dated 9 May, 1670 mentions his wife Hannah, only son John, and daughter Elizabeth. He appointed his friends Francis and Daniel Sayre and brother-in-law Thomas Topping, overseers. In none of these do we see readily any clue which would enable one to project the possible ancestry of Hannah ( ) (White) Kellum. For the Sayre associations see under WHEELER.

ENGLISH RECORDS

There have been two families which have been of some interest: one called Kilham or Killam, sometimes Kellam, and the other called Cullom, Kullom, Kellom, Culme and other variants, The first appears in Doncaster in Yorkshire and the other family was of Thornden in Suffolk and elsewhere.

In the Annals of Smith of Cantley, Balby and Doncaster, County York, by Henry Ecroyd Smith, p. 12, there is a reference to the Kilnoim or Killam family of Balby, co. York; and we quote:

> The family of Killam, formerly spelt Kilholm, Kilham, Killam, Killame or Kellam, probably derived its name from an early settlement of the race at Kilholm (e. g. celle-holm) or sacred site of the chapel, wherever this place may have been. Its branches would seem to have chiefly settled on the Cantley and Balby side of Doncaster, long before the 17th century, but no historical account of them has appeared.

Another line seems to derive, however, from one called Cullom, and stems from a Henry Kilham, Kellam or perhaps Cullom, of Dennington, county Suffolk. The references to members of this Suffolk family were collected by G. Gery Milner-Gibson-Cullom, F. S. A., and published in 1928; they relate chiefly to those of a family settled at Thornden, Suffolk. In this compilation, called Genealogical Notes Relating to the Family of Cullum, etc., there is given at p. 68 the abstract of the will of > William Cullam of Dennington in the county of Suffolk, yeoman. Dated May 13, 1591, proved September 12, 1593, by the executors. To be buried in the church of Denington (sic). To wife Elizabeth ten't in Denington for life, rem^r to sons Humfry and John Cullam. Timber and wood in Denshaw Wood. Son Francis Cullam. Anthonie and Joane Webber. To my daughter Phereby my bay mare. Thomas Phereby. My goddaughter and grandchild, Mary Phereby. John Mapes, William Wright of Dennington; executors, sons Humphrey and John Cullam. Witnesses, Will'm Norman, Rob't Selby, cleric. (Ipswich)

From Genealogical Gleanings in England, by Henry F. Waters, vol. II, p. 1,403 we take the will of > Elizabeth Goodale of Dennington, Suffolk, widow, March 1, 1602. proved March 7, 1602. Sons George, John and Robert Goodale; Henry Kilham and Alice his wife, my daughter. William Downing and Margaret his wife, my daughter. Grandchildren, Alice Kilham and Margaret Downing. The three eldest children of my son William Goodale at the age of one and twenty years. Son Thomas to be executor.

Then follows a note in these Gleanings:

> Elizabeth Goodale the testator was the mother-in-law of Henry Killam, whose will is given below, and grandmother of Austin Killam, emigrant to New England. She was buried 5 March, 1601-/2. Of this family also was Robert Goodale, who came from Ipswich, England, to Salem (Massachusetts), in 1634.

Associated with the foregoing there is the nuncupative will of Henry Killam or Kellam of Dennington, Suffolk, dated 3 June, 1631, and which mentions > Mary Kellam, my eldest daughter, I give my desk; Alice Casbie my daughter, my feather-bed, furnished as it stands, and my chest, with the linen that is in it; my son Austin Kellam all my apparel. Daniel Kellam, my grandchild, ten shillings or else my biggest kettle. To William Tomson, my grandchild, my bible. To Ezechiel Tomson, my grandchild, my bible (sic). To Alice Kellam, my grandchild, one coffer and two pair of sheets. To my grandchild Ezechiel Tomson my flock bed. To Henry Kellam, my grandchild, my cupboard table and my cooper's tools. To Robert Kellam, my son, my lease. And I make said Robert my sole executor of this my will. Witnessed by Elizabeth Booteman, widow, and Joane, wife of Thomas Kerrich. Arch. Suffolk (Ipswich), B. 60, L ------ (1631).

In connection with the foregoing Mr. Waters states:

> I have no doubt that we have here the family of our Austin or Augustine Kilham who went to New England in the ship Mary Anne of Yarmouth, William Goose Master (see Drake's Founders of New England, page 49) in company with sundry others from Norwich, Yarmouth, and parts of Suffolk. I myself examined the list of passengers some years ago, and made out a trifle more than Mr. Drake seems to have done. It reads as follows (i. e. to my eyes):
>
> > 'May the 11th 1637 The examinaction of Augsten Call .... Alles his wife ageed 40 yeeres ....desirous to go to Salam in New Eng....'
>
> I have occasionally seen the name written Callum in our records at Salem.
>
> In the Assembly Book (1585-1613), Norwich, (in the Guildhall there) I found (on fol. 36) among those admitted to the freedom of the city 30 Elizabeth, Augustine Kylham, Pynner, non apprenticius. This man must have been of an earlier generation than our Augustin Kylham.
>

Henry Kellam married Alice Goodale at Dennington 12 August, 1582. Mr. Waters does not cite baptisms of all of the children, but Mary, a daughter, was baptised there 13 August, 1583. There is also recorded the baptism of Daniel, son of Austin Killam in 1620. Henry Killam was buried 27 May, 1631.

Mr. Waters did not develop these connections further. The Robert Kellam or Kellum who appears in Southampton, Long Island as early as 1666 was born, as we suppose, about 1645. It is possible that he may have been a nephew of Austin Kellam or Killam. Were this true, it would be in order to suggest that he may have been the son of Robert, the son of Henry Kellam, whose will has been referred to. The emigration of these Kellams and others from the Norwich diocese was doubtless caused by the zeal of Bishop Wrenn, who was "pressing their conscience with illegal oaths, ceremonies, observations and many strange innovations" (Diurnall Occurrences, or Daily Proceedings of Both Houses, In this great and happy Parliament, from the third of November, 1640, to the third of November, 1641). According to Waters, on "Wednesday, 26th Day Jan. (1640/1) it was reported in the House of Commons that there were 52 families of Norwich that want to New England."

Mr. Waters gives further in his Gleanings, vol. II, p. 1,002, the will of Elizabeth Sloughter:

> Elizabeth Sloughter, 5 August, 1645. "Am now fallen into a time of great mortalitie...." True natural son William Clarke, son of my first husband Henry Clarke. Sister Frances, wife of William Gilber. Cousin, Elizabeth Elliot, cousins Mary King, and Mary and Rachel Cullom, daughter of my sister Jane Cullom, except one feather bed and bolster which I appoint for my son William if he come to demand it as aforesaid. If I die before the return of Isaac Walker from New England, I give to my cousin Mary Cullome, before-named, full power to recover and receive 50s due to me from the said Isaac Walker, for her own use; if she die before she be married, then .... to her brother Robert Collom. Now if my son William Clarke come not after my decease.... I give to the said Mary Cullome, to my sister Sybil Howell's children and my sister Frances' children and my sister Joane's children. My brother Arthur King, my brother Joshua Sloughter and my brother, Robert Cullom.
> Witnesses, John Saniford, Mary Hart. Commission issued 20 June, 1646 to Robert Culme, to administer the will.

Who this Robert Cullom was we do not know.

In the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. 56, p. 344, there is an article on "The Early Kilhams" by William Stowell Mills, LL. B., wherein the connections of Austin Kilham otherwise Augustin Kellam are discussed. He states that Austin came to America in the ship Mary Anne in 1637 with his wife and at least three children. He states further, which is not correct, that he was "doubtless the ancestor of all the name in this country". Austin Kilham, Killam or Kellam died 5 June, 1667 and his wife Alice died 18 July of the same year. Another article on this family appears in the Essex Institute Historical Collections, vol. 49, p. 211. A careful examination of the connections of this family does not establish that Robert Kellam or Kellum of Long Island was in any way related, although it may well be that there was an English linkage.

In the parish register of Horsham, Sussex, as published by the Sussex Record Society, appears the following baptismal record:

> 1580, September 14. Robert, the sonne of Robert Kyllam, deceased before the byrth, by Anne his wife.

No other entries of this name are found in the parish.

We have already noted (page 1,663) the early presumptive emigration of a Robert Kellum to Virginia in 1635, then aged 51. Nothing more is known of him; there is a family by the name in Virginia, which is reported in Swem's Indexes. Whether or not Robert Kellum of the present connection belongs to this group, or is on the other hand related to Austin Killam, remains to be determined. It may be equally true that he comes from an entirely different family.

The ancestry of Robert Kellum (page 1,660) is unknown.

FIRST AND SECOND LINES

12 & 13. REBECCA KENT 3,751, 7,975
m. SAMUEL SCULLARD probably son of Samuel Scullard and

She was born about 1622 and probably at Over Wallop, Hampshire, England.

She left England with her uncle Stephen Kent to come to America in the Confidence in 1638, and undoubtedly was in his family when Stephen Kent settled at Newbury, Massachusetts.

Shortly afterward she married Samuel Scullard of Newbury, about 1639. His life was destined to be a short one; he died between March and October, 1647, leaving a widow with three infant children. On 7 October, 1647 Rebecca (Kent) Scullard married John Bishop, born in England about 1620 or 1621, died at Woodbridge, New Jersey in 1684. She was living in 1664 when the family removed to Nantucket, and is believed to have come to New Jersey. The date of her death is unknown.

John Bishop is termed a versatile carpenter; he was both a house carpenter and a ship carpenter. He was evidently in New England before January, 1643 for he knew of the building of the ship Adventure, which sailed from Boston for Glasgow, and Bishop appears to have been one of the crew. He was in London in April, 1645 when he testified on behalf of Edward Gibbons as to the Adventure. He was back in New England by 1647. He was selectman in Newbury in 1655, and probably was a resident of the latter place until he removed to Nantucket about 1664, where his name appears as one of two added to the original proprietors in the first deed given for the island by the Indians.

By 1667 he had removed to Woodbridge, New Jersey, of which town he was one of the nine patentees and a founder. He was recognized as a leading citizen of Woodbridge, and the second largest landholder among the sixty-three original settlers. In later years he was called Captain Bishop; was Justice or Assistant of the Middlesex county, New Jersey Court of Common Pleas and Quarter Sessions in 1683, 1688, 1692, 1699, 1711 and 1718; was Overseer of Woodbridge in 1684, 1689, 1692 and 1696; and Commissioner of Highways in Middlesex county, New Jersey in 1694. He was a member of Governor Carteret's Council in 1672 and continued as such until the displacement of Carteret in 1682.

The will of John Bishop, dated 19 September, 1684, was probated 28 November, 1684 (New Jersey Archives, 21, pp. 72 et seq.; 23, p. 39). His eldest son John was executor.

For further connections and descendants by the first husband, see ##3,750, 7,974, under SCULLARD.

Issue, by second husband (BISHOP):

1. John, born at Newbury, Massachusetts 19 September, 1648, died in New Jersey in 1722; married 1, unknown; 2, Mary
2. Rebecca, born 15 May, 1650, living in 1684.
3. Joanna, born 24 April, 1652, living in 1684.
4. Hannah, born at Newbury, Massachusetts 10 December, 1653, living in 1684 and called Ann in her father's will. She is identified by John I. Coddington of Washington, D. C., as the wife of John Ilsley of Woodbridge, New Jersey, who married a woman of that name in 1672. Issue (ILSLEY):
   - i. Rebekah, born 10 June, 1673.
   - ii. John, born 22 May, 1675.
   - iii. David, born 3 August, 1677.
   - iv. Jonathan, born 19 November, 1689.
   - v. Joseph, born 29 April, 1693.
5. Elizabeth, born 1 August, 1655, died 11 March, 1655/6.
6. Jonathan, born 11 January, 1656/7, married Mary
7. Noah, born 10 or 20 June, 1658, died in 1750; married Lydia
8. David, born 26 or 29 August, 1660, married Mary Alger.

Rebecca Kent was the daughter of

13 & 14. RICHARD KENT 7,502,-15,950
m.

He was born probably at Over Wallop, Hampshire, England in or about 1590.

His grandfather, Richard Kent of Nether Wallop, Hampshire, bequeathed to him in 1609 his house and lands in West Lavington, Wiltshire, and his house and lands in Over Wallop, in lieu of five hundred pounds that he was bound to pay to him. Probably this sum was left by Thomas Kent to his eldest son, and the grandfather was trustee for the money. Richard Kent was taxed at Over Wallop in the lay subsidy of 3 Charles I (1628). He was undoubtedly a friend of the Rev. Stephen Bachiler (vol. II, pp. 574-576) who was for many years pastor of the parish of Wherwhell, which adjoined the Wallops, and who after his expulsion from Wherwell dwelt for a time at Newton Stacey, not far away. It may be that from Bachiler, as well as from James and Nicholas Noyes of Cholderton, Wiltshire, that Richard Kent was encouraged to emigrate to North America. A sister of the Noyes' had married Richard Kent's nephew.

Be that as it may, after his daughter Rebecca had come in 1638 with Stephen Kent, Richard Kent was persuaded to emigrate, although the exact year has not been determined. He was a resident of Newbury, Massachusetts where he died in 1654. He seems to have been a respected follower of the Rev. Stephen Bachiler in the new world, and a quiet citizen of Newbury. His will, dated 22 May, 1654, was proved at Ipswich, Massachusetts 27 of 7th month (September), 1654. The overseers were John Bishop, William Tittcum and Richard Barltlett. He was probably buried at Newbury.

The name of the first wife, and mother of his daughters, is not found; it is considered that she died in England. His second wife was Emma, maiden name not found, who died at Newbury 10 January, 1676/7.*

*This Richard Kent must be distinguished from another man of the same name, called Richard Kent junior, whose relationship if any to the present Richard Kent is unknown. Richard Kent "junior" came from the Isle of Wight to Massachusetts in the Mary and John, Robert Sayre, Master, in March, 1633/4 from Southampton, England. Like his namesake he, with his brother James Kent settled also in Newbury, Massachusetts. Richard Kent junior died 25 November, 1689 at Newbury and was probably buried there. His wife Jane died 26 June, 1674; and he married 2, 6 January, 1674/5 to Joanna, widow of Nicholas Davison of Charlestown, Mass. This wife died at Newbury 30 October, 1699. She is called Joanna Hodges alias Miller by Libby, Noyes and Davis in The Genealogical Dictionary of Maine and New

Issue, by first wife:

1. Rebecca, who married 1, Samuel Scullard and 2, John Bishop. See page 1671.
2. Sarah, married and mother of children in 1654.

Issue, probably by the second wife:

3. John, born at Newbury, Massachusetts 10 or 20 July, 1645, took the freeman's oath before Robert Pike at that place 25 February, 1668. He was a cooper by trade; married Sarah Woodman 13 March, 1666 and had issue:
   - i. Sarah, born 30 August, 1667, married 1 March, 1686 to Samuel Greenleaf, son of Stephen Greenleaf of Newbury; after his death she married 2, 25 or 28 April, 1696 to Peter Tappan junior of Newbury.
   - ii. John, born 23 November, 1668.
   - iii. Richard, born 17 January, 1672/3.
   - iv. Mary, born 24 October, 1674, married Stephen Swett.
   - v. Emma, born 20 April, 1677, married 1 January, 1701 to Samuel Hazelton of Bradford, Massachusetts.
   - vi. Hannah, born 10 September, 1679, married Nathan Merrill.
   - vii. Judith, born in 1682, married 16 March, 1703/4, Thomas Merrill.
   - viii. Rebecca, born 20 February, 1684/5, married in June of 1704 to Charles Hart.
   - ix. James, born 5 March, 1686/7, married Hannah Hodgkins, 23 March, 1707.

Hampshire, which states that Nicholas Davison, born in 1611, died at Pemaquid in 1644 was the first husband. James Kent was a freeman at Newbury in 1669 and had by a wife whose name is not reported an only son John born in 1641 (perhaps in England). The latter died 12 December of 1681; he married and had a family. See also Genealogical Quarterly Magazine, vol. 4 (1903-4), p. 29, which refers to a deposition by Mrs. Joanna Kent, formerly Davison, aged about 65 years, Salem, Mass., 5 April, 1686; Vernon Briggs, Kent Genealogy, p. 241; Horace A. Tenney, Genealogy of the Tenney Family, 1875, p. 8; and Essex Institute Historical Collections, vol. 53, p. 238.

Mr. John I. Coddington queries if the second wife may not have been the widow Emm Mason who came in the Hercules in 1635 from Eastwell, Kent, and who had a grant of land in Salem, Massachusetts in 1637. This appears to be plausible.

NOTES

In The Essex Antiquarian, vol. 5 (1901), pp. 149-150, there is a complete verbatim transcription of the will of Richard Kent, senior of Newbury, Massachusetts. It mentions his son John, his grandson John Bishop junior, daughter Sarah and her children if they come over from England; his loving wife Em; Mary Kent, his brother Stephen's daughter which he had by his first wife; and his son (in-law) John Bishop. Son John Kent to be kept at school to learn to read, write and cipher. It also states that his son John Kent is to be apprenticed to his son John Kent, which should be rechecked in the original to see if John Bishop was not the second name.

Richard Kent was the son of 14 & 15. THOMAS KENT 15,004, 31,900

m. ELLEN PILE or PYLE daughter of Richard Pyle and

He was b. at Nether Wallop, Hampshire about 1550.

He was a resident of Over Wallop during his short life; the names of his children are known from the wills of close relatives. Apparently he is the Thomas Kent who was buried as the son of Richard Kent, at Over Wallop 25 April, 1605.

Thomas Kent married at Over Wallop 20 June, 1585 to Ellen Pile or Pyle; as his widow she remarried at the same place, 14 February, 1608/9 to Peter Osgood of Over Wallop.

Issue, undoubtedly all born at Over Wallop:

1. Phillis, born about 1586, buried at Over Wallop 28 May, 1588.
2. Phillis, born about 1588, buried at Over Wallop 6 March, 1588/9.
3. Richard, married 1, 2. Emma See page 1,674.
4. Thomas, born about 1592, died before 1638; married and had issue
i. Thomas, married Noyes, daughter of Rev. William and Anne Noyes. Henry E. Noyes and Harriette E. Noyes in their Genealogical Record of Some of the Noyes Descendants, vol. 1, at pp. 43-45 cite the record of the Rev. William Noyes. He was born in 1568 and died at Cholderton, Wiltshire before 30 April, 1622; his will cites that a daughter(unnamed) married Thomas Kent of "Upper" Wallop. His widow Anne (neé Parker) of Cholderton, Wilts., in her will of 18 March, 1655 gave 12d to her son-in-law Thomas Kent.

5. Joan or Joanna, born about 1594, living when her grandfather made his will in 1609; perhaps the Joane Kent who married at Over Wallop, 25 July, 1615 to Richard Leath.
6. Martha, born about 1598, married Browne. She was living, a widow, in 1638 and was bequeathed 40s by her uncle Richard Kent of Nether Wallop, 5 September, 1638.
7. David, born about 1596, received from his grandfather in 1609 the latter's house and lands in Lockersley, Hampshire; he was buried at Over Wallop, 18 September, 1612 as the "son in lawe"(i. e. stepson) of Peter Osgood.
8. Mary, born about 1600, living when her grandfather made his will in 1609.
9. John, born about 1602, received £200 from his grandfather in 1609.
10. Stephen, born at Over Wallop, Hampshire about 1605 as he was stated to be about 32 in his marriage license of 1637. He was a linen weaver and probably lived for a while at Sarum (Salisbury) in Wiltshire, which was not far from his original home. Joshua Coffin in his History of Newbury, Massachusetts states (p. 307) that he came to America in 1635, which is probably incorrect; but if he did come over a first time he must have returned to England as he is recorded as arriving on the Confidence in 1638 (Charles E. Banks, Pioneers of the Commonwealth). The ages given in the ship's list for himself and wife Margery are wrong (aged 27 and 26 respectively). They were accompanied by George Church, 16 (sic), servant; Hugh March, 20, servant; Anthony Sadler, 9, servant, and Rebecca Kent, 16, also listed as a servant. Some or all of these ages may be fictitious. Also included in this company was Nicholas Wallington, a poor boy. Stephen Kent settled first at Newbury, Massachusetts near where his brother Richard was to live at a later date. He was made freeman of Newbury 22 May, 1639; and removed to Haverhill, where he had an orchard in 1650. His house lot at the latter place was assessed at a valuation of £200. Other records show that he was to have one-sixth part of the sawmill at Haverhill 15 December, 1651; 22-1/2 acres in the second division of the town land there, 7 June, 1652; on the 19th of 8th month (October) 1652 he was fined £10 for suffering five Indians to be intoxicated in his house. The General Court at Boston at the time ordered that Kent pay the ten pounds to the selectmen of Haverhill, and also to have the care of one of the Indians who was hurt by the constable when the Indians were apprehended. The General Court had at him again on 18 May, 1653 when they fined him £5 for selling strong liquors to the Indians. At a town meeting at Haverhill, 9 February, 1654-1655 Stephen Kent was granted the right to set a weir in Little river in order to catch alewives and other fish. He was at or about this time (date not specified) bondsman for John Godfrey. Stephen Kent removed from Haverhill to Woodbridge, New Jersey, before September of 1669 but after 1 May, 1669; for on the latter date Kent with his third wife Elinor sold their land(ninety acres) in the second division of upland in Haverhill to Robert Ford. They acknowledged the deed the same day. On 20 May, 1670 Stephen Kent patented 249 acres of land in Woodbridge. He had probably come to Woodbridge in the previous summer, as his daughter married Isaac Tappan or Toppan at Woodbridge 29 September, 1669. Stephen Kent died shortly before 24 September of 1679, on which date administration on the estate was granted to the son Stephen junior (New Jersey Archives, First Series, vol. XXI, p. 43; XXIII, Abstracts of Wills, vol. I, p. 271). The inventory, dated 22 September, 1670, was taken by Saul Moore and Samuel Dennis, and came to £262/0/2. Stephen Kent was married 1, by a license dated 10 August, 1637 to Margery Norris, then aged 24, of Collingbourne Kingston, Wiltshire. She accompanied him to New England in 1638 where she died at Newbury, Massachusetts in 1638. He married 2, about 1641 to Ann, maiden name unknown, who died 3 May, 1660 at Haverhill, Massachusetts; married 3, at Haverhill 29 May, 1663 to Elinor (?Lougie) Scadlock, widow of William Scadlock of West Saco, Maine, who had died in the winter of 1661-1662. (See Noyes, Libby and Davis, Genealogical Dictionary of Maine and New Hampshire, p. 612.) After the death of Stephen Kent, it is thought that Elinor became the wife of Richard Smith senior of Woodbridge, whose will, dated 17 July, 1692, was proved 30 April, 1696 (New Jersey Archives, First Series, XXIII, p. 431; XXI, p. 244). Issue, by first wife:

i. Mary, born about 1638 at Newbury, Massachusetts, married at Haverhill, Mass., to Robert Ford of Haverhill, who died there 4 November, 1700. She died of smallpox at Haverhill, 27 January, 1690/1. Issue (FORD):

A. James, born 9 May, 1674.

B. Mary, born 9 May, 1678, died 3 February, 1690-1691 at Haverhill (Haverhill Vital Records, 2, 127).

C. Stephen

Issue, by second wife;

ii. Elizabeth, born at Newbury, Massachusetts 1 March, 1641-1642, died at Haverhill, Mass., 27 February, 1652/3.

iii. Hannah, born at Newbury, Massachusetts 20 March, 1643/4, died at Woodbridge, New Jersey 10 December, 1688; married as first wife at Woodbridge, New Jersey, 29 September, 1669 to Isaac Toppan, son of Abraham and Susanna (Taylor) Toppan. Issue.

iv. Stephen, born at Newbury, Massachusetts 6 March, 1647/8, only son and administrator of father's estate; died at Woodbridge, New Jersey in March, 1719. He was a planter. Stephen Kent married (1 or 2) at Woodbridge 25 December, 1683 to Jane Scott, probably of Elizabeth, New Jersey. He had a wife named Mary in 1695 and another named Abigail in 1716. His will, dated 11 April, 1716, was proved 25 March, 1719. Children were, the first two at least by Jane Scott:

A. Susannah, born 21 December, 1684.
B. David, born 30 June, 1685 (sic!).
C. John.
D. Stephen.
E. Hannah.
F. Abigail.

v. Rebecca, born 3 August, 1650, married 12 August, 1667 to John Farnham of Andover, Massachusetts. Issue.

vi. Elizabeth, born at Haverhill, Massachusetts 4 December, 1653, married 1 June, 1671 to John Adams, son of Robert and Eleanor (Wilmot) Adams of Newbury, Mass. Residents of Woodbridge, New Jersey; issue.

vii. David, born 26 May, 1657, probably died young.

NOTES

The will of the brother of Thomas Kent, as abstracted for [illegible] John I. Coddington of Washington, D. C., is pertinent:

> The Will of RICHARD KENT of Nether Wallop, co. Southampton, yeoman, dated 5 September, 1638. Sick of body. Soul to God. To be buried in the church of Nether Wallop at the entry of the chancel. To the cathedral of Winchester, 12d. To the church of Nether Wallop, £5. To the poor of Longstoake, £5. To the poor of Mottesfont, £5. To the children of my cozen (i. e., nephew) Thomas Kent late of Over Wallop deceased, £5 to be equally divided between them. To my niece Martha Browne widow, 40s. To the children of Philip Dowlinge of Longstoake and Joan [illegible] his wife, 30s. to be equally divided between them. To John Searle and Joan Searle the children of John Searle late of Nether Wallop deceased, 30s. to be equally divided between them. To Edward Prater son of Edward Prater late of Abridge, all lands, meadows, etc., in Mottesfont, and a farm there called Mount Farme, on lease from Sir William Sandys knight, deceased, and lands bought of Henry Sandys esquire. To the said Edward Prater, £350, with reversion to his sister Joan. To the said Joan Prater, £250 at her age of 20, with reversion to her brother Edward. Both these children to lodge with my executor gratis till their ages of 21 or marriage, whichever shall come first. To Richard Kent the son of my brother Thomas Kent deceased, 40s; and to the said Richard's three daughters, 40s apiece at their ages of 21. To Stephen Kent son of my brother Thomas deceased, 20s. To John Alsher the elder, 20 s. To my servant Richard Tomes, 10s. To the rest of my servants, 3s. 4d. each. All the residue to my son Edward Kent, whom I make sole executor. William Gore of Nether Wallop gent and Edward Pyle the younger of Upper Wallop, overseers. Signed: RICHARD KENT.

Witnesses: Richard Sherfield, Will. Mody, Richard Kent Jur. Proved by Edward Kent, the son and executor named, 17 October, 1638. On 5 June, 1640, letters of administration were issued to Anne Kent, widow and relict of the said Edward Kent (P. C. C., 134 Lee).

Thomas Kent was the son of 15 & 16. RICHARD KENT 30,008, 63,800

m.

Richard Kent was born about 1530, probably in Hampshire.

He was of Nether Wallop in county Southampton at the time he made his will, 13 June, 1609, and was most evidently far along in years. He was buried at Over Wallop in the same county 23 June, 1609. The will was proved 11 November, 1609 and filed at P. C. C., 100 Dorset. He and Richard Pyle (testator of 160$\frac{3}{4}$) were concerned in some legal transactions, the detail of which has not at this writing been elucidated. Richard Kent apparently was married twice; the name of his first wife, the mother of his children, has not been found. His second wife was named Elizabeth, maiden name not found. She survived him and was mentioned in his will.

Issue, born probably at Nether Wallop:

1. Thomas, married Ellen Pile or Pyle. See page 1,677.
2. Richard, born at Nether Wallop, Hampshire, was buried at Nether Wallop 13 September, 1638. He was executor of his father's will in 1609, and received from his father the latter's dwelling house at Nether Wallop, a house at Bentley, two tenements and houses at Lockersley, all entailed, and also the residue of the estate. He was named as overseer in the will of his cousin, John Miller of Nether Wallop, the testator of 1633. This Richard Kent was taxed in the Hampshire Lay Subsidy of 3 Charles I (1628). His estate was considerable, and his charities, both to the church and to the poor, were generous. He seems to have felt a responsibility for the children and grandchildren of his brother Thomas, and he remembered many of them in his will (ante). He bequeathed 40s to his nephew Richard Kent, the emigrant to New England, and 40s apiece to the latter's three daughters, and 20s to his nephew Stephen Kent, who had sailed for New England on the Confidence only a few months before Richard Kent made his will. Richard Kent married at Over Wallop, 22 July, 1594 to Joan or Jone Pile or Pyle, who was buried at Nether Wallop 8 April, 1633. Issue:
   i. Edward, executor of his father's estate in 1638, but died before 5 June, 1640. He married Anne, maiden name not yet found, who on the latter date became administratrix on her husband's estate, and of the unsettled part of the estate of her father-in-law. Issue, baptised at Nether Wallop:
      A. Mary, baptised 4 October, 1631.
      B. Edward, baptised 6 May, 1634.
      C. John, baptised 26 March, 1638.
   ii. (probably) Daughter, died before 1638, married Edward Prater of Abridge. Issue (PRATER):
      A. Edward.
      B. Joan.
3. A daughter, married Thomas Searle of Nether Wallop, who received from Richard Kent the house and malt-house in Searle's possession in 1609. Issue (SEARLE):
   i. Thomas.
   ii. John.
   iii. Joan

NOTES

We have from Mr. John I. Coddington the will of this Richard Kent as abstracted for him:

The Will of RICHARD KENT of Nether Wallop, co. Southampton, dated 13 June, 1609. Sick of body. Soul to God. To be buried at Netherwallop (sic). To the cathedral of Winchester, 12d, and to the church of Netherwallop, 12d. To the poor of Broughton, £4. To my son Richard Kent, my dwelling house in Netherwallop, etc., except the house and malt house wherein Thomas Searle now dwelleth; and (to son Richard) also my house at Bentley, and two tenements and houses at Lockersley, for his life, with reversion to his son Edward and his heirs male, with reversion to Richard Kent of Overwallop, the son of my son Thomas deceased and his heirs male, with reversion to Thomas Kent second son of my son Thomas Kent and his heirs male, with reversion to David Kent third son of my son Thomas deceased and his heirs male, with reversion to John Kent fourth son of my son Thomas deceased and his heirs male, with reversion to Stephen Kent fifth son of my son Thomas deceased and his heirs male, with reversion to the heirs male of my son Richard Kent of Netherwallop. Item, to my aforesaid grandson Richard Kent of Overwallop, eldest son of my son Thomas deceased, my house and lands in West Lavington, co. Wilts, and my house and lands in Overwallop, in lieu of £500 that I am bound to pay him. Reversion of these bequests to his brothers Thomas, David, John and Stephen, successively. Reversion to my own son Richard and his heirs male. Reversion to the heirs female of Richard Kent of Overwallop. Item, to David Kent of Overwallop, third son of my son Thomas, deceased, my house and lands in Lockersley, co. Southampton, with reversion to his brothers John, Stephen, Richard and Thomas, and their heirs male, successively, with reversion to my own son Richard Kent and his heirs male, with reversion to the heirs female of the said David Kent. Item. To my grandson Richard Kent of Overwallop, my houses and meadow in Netherwallop, until the expiry of the lease, then to his brother John. Item, to Elizabeth my now wife, the whole chamber wherein I now lie with her, and all my furniture, etc., for life, and £20 besides. Item, to my grandsons Thomas and David Kent, aforesaid, £100 each, and to my grandsons John and Stephen Kent, aforesaid, £200 each. To their three sisters (my granddaughters) Joanna, Martha and Mary Kent, 100 marks each, all to be paid at their ages of 21 or at marriage, whichever shall come first. They are to be guided in marriage by their mother and by my son Richard Kent. To my son-in-law Thomas Searle of Netherwallop the house and malthouse wherein he now dwelleth. To his children, Thomas, John and Joane Searle, 10 sheep each. To Philip Dowling the younger, 5s. All residue to my son Richard Kent, whom I make executor. Friends Thomas Elye clerke and Thomas Griffin gent to be overseers, each to have 10s for his pains. (Signed) R. K., his mark.

Witnesses: Thos. Ely clerke, Thos. Griffin, John Ely, John Asher his mark.

Proved by Richard Kent, the son and executor named, 11 Nov. 1609 (P. C. C. Dorset 100)

We give now an abstract of the will of John Miller of Nether Wallop, who was related in some way to the Kent family of that place:

The will of John Miller of Nether Wallop, co. Southampton, gent., dated 20 Nov. 1633. Soul to God. To be buried in the church of Nether Wallopp. To the church of Nether Wallopp, £4 for some fitt ornament. To my son Edward Miller, £600 out of my lands of Mottesfont and Ampert, at his age of 21. To my son Richard Miller, £600 at his age of 24. To my daughter Anna Miller, £400. To my daughter Mary Miller, £300. To my daughter Margaret Miller, £300. My daughters to be married with the consent of their mother, or be deprived of £50. To my son John Miller, my lands and tenements in Mottesfont, Ampert, etc., and to his heirs male forever, with reversion to my sons Edward and Richard and their heirs male. My son Richard to go to the University. To my three daughters that are already married, £5 apiece, and to their husbands, a ring each. To Mistress Purdine, 20s yearly for life. Residue to my wife Joane and son John, to be equally divided between them, and I appoint my said wife Joane and son John executors. My son (in-law) William Gore and my cousin Richard Kent to be overseers. (Signed) John Miller. Witnesses: William Gore, Matthew Bucket, R. Kent, Edward Kent. Proved by the executors named, 30 April 1634 (P. C. C. 30 Seager).

The ancestry of Richard Kent is unknown.

Exchequer Depositions

E, 134/Eliz. Mich. 37/38 -- 16 York and Hants

(abstract) Depositions taken at Andover, co. Hants, 29 September 37 Eliz., (1595) before the Queen's Commissioners in a suit between the Vicars Choral of York and Simon Purdew, gent., plaintiffs, and William Typper and Margaret Thornborough, widow, defendants.

Richard Kent of Nether Wallop, Hants., yeoman, aged 50, says that he knows plaintiffs and defendants and the parsonage of Nether Wallop and the latter has been held by Simon Purdew all the time he can remember and he thinks it is held of the Vicars Choral of York.

Richard Hyll, of Nether Wallop, yeoman, aged 80, knows Simon Purdew, has always heard that the parsonage of Nether Wallop belonged to the Vicars Choral of York and all the time of his remembrance Simon Purdew, his father and grandfather, have occupied the same as farmers and occupiers of the said parsonage.

John Smith of Nether Wallop, husbandman, aged 60, deposes as above, and says that Simon Purdew, John his father, and Jenkins alş. John his grandfather have been farmers and occupiers of the parsonage for 55 years.

Richard Smith of Upper Wallop, husbandman, aged 75 years, deposes as did John Smith.

John Purdew, of Nether Wallop, yeoman, aged 73, deposes as John Smith deposed.

Robert Dennete, of Nether Wallop, husbandman, aged 70, deposes as John Smith deposed.

The interrogatories contain more information about the Vicars Choral and the Church, but nothing more about the foregoing.

E. 134/38 Elizabeth Hilary 18 York and Hants

(abstract) Depositions taken at Andover, co. Hants., before the Queen's Commissioners there, 22 December 38 Elizabeth (1595) in a suit between the Vicars Choral of York and Simon Purdew, gent., plaintiffs, and William Typper and Margaret Thornborough, defendants.

Richard Pyle, of Upper Wallop, yeoman, aged 76 (deposes as he did in September, but further states that Simon Purdew's father was named Richard Purdew.

Richard Kent, aged 52, also calls Simon's father Richard Purdew.

Robert Dennet testifies to the same.

John Purdew, aged 74, has known Simon Purdew ever since he was born and knows the parsonage of Nether Wallop and that it belongs to the Vicars Choral College of York. He calls Simon's father Richard Purdew. John Purdew further says that the most part of the land belonging to the Nether Wallop parsonage lies in Hollome Fields, but does not know where the other part of the glebe land lies.

Richard Kent, aged 52, says that the other part of the glebe land is in Cosserton Field, and that Simon Purdew has taken the tithe corn, grain and other profits from 24 Elizabeth (1581/2) until 34 Elizabeth (1591/2).

This last Richard Kent was evidently Richard Kent junior of p. 1,682. His age is variably given, but he seems to have been born about 1543 or 1545.

We acknowledge with thanks the fine courtesy of John I. Coddington of Washington, D. C., who has made these records available to us.

THE MATERNAL ANCESTRY OF RICHARD KENT, THE EMIGRANT TO NEW ENGLAND

THE PYLE (PILE) FAMILY OF UPPER WALLOP, HANTS

14 and 15. ELLEN PILE or PYLE 15,005, 31,901
m. THOMAS KENT son of Richard Kent and

She was born at Upper Wallop, Hampshire about 1560.

She married first, in the parish church at Upper or Over Wallop 20 June 1585 to Richard Kent, whom she survived (see page 1,677). She married second at Over Wallop, 14 February, 1608/9 to Peter Osgood of Over Wallop. For this reason she was called "my sister Osgood" in her brother's will of 1623/4, proved in 1629, which shows that she was still living at the second date.

No further record of her is reported. She was probably buried at Over Wallop, Hampshire.

NOTES

See the references under THOMAS KENT, p. 1,677; and the wills given below.

Ellen Pile or Pyle was the daughter of 15 and 16. RICHARD PYLE 30,010, 63,802

m.

He appears to be the Richard Pyle of Over or Upper Wallop who was 76 years of age in 1595, and hence born in 1519.

Richard Pyle was a resident of Over Wallop, Hampshire, all of his life. He seems to have been an extremely devout and pious man of modest attainments, and what is known of him comes chiefly from his will, an abstract of which follows. His occupation is not described.

The will of this Richard Pyle, dated 20 March, 1603/4, was proved 25 March, 1605 when he was very aged. He was probably buried at Over Wallop.

The name of his wife is unknown.

Issue:

1. Richard, of Upper Wallop, whose will, dated 26 January, 1623/4, was proved 12 May, 1629 by his brother Edward Pyle (P. C. C. 37 Ardley). It states that he was to be buried at Upper Wallop near his father; his brother Edward Pyle was to be executor. To the poor of Upper Wallop and of Idmeston; to his brother Edward Pyle £100; to Richard and Walter, his sons (evidently these are children of Edward Pyle), and to Jane, Agnes and Mary, his daughters; to John Kent, his sister Osgood's son, and to Stephen and Thomas Kent, his brothers, lands in Lindhurst, held by his late father, Richard Pyle; also lands in Collingbourne Aston and in Littleton, co. Wilts. William and Richard Kent, overseers. Apparently this Richard Pyle died without issue.
2. Edward, of Upper Wallop; married and had
   i. Richard.
   ii. Walter.
   iii. Jane.
   iv. Mary.
   v. Agnes.
3. Walter, who married Agnes — Issue:
   i. Richard.
4. Ellen, who married 1, Thomas Kent and 2, Peter Osgood. See page 1,688
5. Daughter (at least), from the fact that in his will the senior Richard Pyle mentions his daughters.

NOTES

The will anstract of this Richard Pyle follows:

> The will of RICHARD PYLE of Upper Walloppe, co. Southampton, dated 20 March 1603 (1603/4). Weak of body by reason of age. (Long passages showing testator's extreme piety). All goods and chattels to Richard Pyle my son, whom I make executor. To the cathedral of Winchester, 12d. To the parish church of Upper Walloppe, 3s. 4d. To my godchildren, 12d. apiece. To each of my daughters, £10. My son Walter Pyle to hold for his life my tenements in Porton wherein he now dwelleth. Reversion to Walter's wife Agnes during her widowhood, reversion to grandson Richard, son of Walter. To said son Walter, sheep and £20. To son Edward Pyle, 100 sheep in Allington and at Collingborne in co. Wilts, and £6 worth of household stuff, and my lands in Collingborne. To each of my grandchildren, a ewe and 10s. To agnes the now wife of Robert Warde of Choldrington, two sheep. To Richard Rutter of Choldrington, 10s. To my servants, 12d. each. Overseers: Henrye Pyle of Upper Wallope, Robert Whityeere of the same, and Willyam Kent of Russell in co. Wilts, they to have 10s each for their paine.

Proved by Richard Pyle, the son and executor named, 25 November 1605 (P. C. C. 78 Hayes).

See also "A Note on the Osgood Family of Hampshire, Wiltshire and New England", by John Insley Coddington, in The American Genealogist, vol. XVII, No. 2, beginning p. 99. This has some particulars of the Osgood family, but does not furnish information as to the second husband of Ellen (Pyle) Kent.

Reference is made in Vol. V. of this work to the Pile family of Bubton, Wiltshire. The present family is undoubtedly cognate to the latter, but the connection has not been found. Jane Pile, born about 1560, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (Langrish) Pile, married Thomas Ludlow (see LUDLOW). Their son Roger Ludlow was a prominent politician of New England (q. v.).

The ancestry of Richard Pyle of Over or Upper Wallop, Hampshire, is unknown.

8. PHOEBE KETCHAM 217
m. GEORGE YOUNGS son of (Thomas) Youngs and Mary Baldwin

She was born at Huntington, New York 9 October, 1721.

She married in the First Church at Huntington, New York 12 January, 1741/2 to George Youngs of Oyster Bay, New York, who was not long afterward a resident of Huntington. She joined the church at Huntington 10 December, 1752.

Phebe (Ketcham) Youngs resided at Cold Spring, of little further record until 14 October, 1782 when her husband's will was probated, and she was then still living. How long thereafter she lived has not been determined. She was probably buried at Huntington, New York, near the grave of her little daughter Phoebe who died young.

For their connections and descendants, see under YOUNGS, No. 216.

Phoebe (Ketcham) Youngs was afflicted with much grief during the war of the American Revolution. Two of her sons were implicated in 1776 as partners in a conspiracy to counterfeit Colonial currency, and barely escaped capital punishment. One of the sons, Israel Youngs, an ancestor of the writer, is supposed to have died before 1790 from the effects of his incarceration in jail at Litchfield, Connecticut.

During the trial of her sons at New York city, Phoebe (Ketcham) Youngs spent many sorrowful hours, either in the court room, or in visiting them. Now that these things are past, let there be peace to her memory.

Phoebe Ketcham was the daughter of

9. PHILIP KETCHAM 434
m. PHOEBE

He was born at Huntington, New York, 7 March, 1691.

Philip Ketcham is first of record 25 April, 1707 when at the age of 16 he was a witness to the will of Jonathan Jarvis of Huntington. His father John Ketcham deeded him property 16 January, 1715/6, the witnesses being John Rogers & Thomas Ketcham. He had then been married but for a short time.

On 1 May, 1716 he was chosen collector for the town, and held this office for one year. On 18 December, 1716 he reported thirty-eight pounds, 18s 8d to the Treasurer at New York city, and foreswore further responsibility of this assignment. Nevertheless the town of Huntington chose him as an assessor at its meeting of 2 May, 1721, and renewed this appointment 5 May, 1724, when he was also chosen town surveyor. He was apparently capable in these assignments, for he held these two offices consecutively until 7 May, 1733, when he was not rechosen. He was also elected trustee 4 May, 1731 and again the next year and on 1 May, 1733 was president of the trustees for the year following. Then, for eleven years he disappears from civic life completely; one suspects that political factions were responsible, as there was quite a turnover in the town offices.

The Account Books of Henry Lloyd show that on 27 January, 1730/1 he paid the account of his mother Elizabeth Ketcham; and in further transactions under his account he paid for materials bought by Keziah Smith and Tabitha Chichester of Huntington. The wife of Philip Ketcham (Phoebe) paid also on the account of Keziah Smith (see NOTES following). These transactions took place during 1731.

He was called friend and neighbor by Timothy Conklin of the west side of Huntington, when the latter made his will, 30 December, 1734; he was executor with Timothy's son Thomas. Again, with Thomas Conklin and the testator's brother Abiel Titus, he was an executor of the will of Philip Titus of Huntington, dated 17 March, 1749.

On 15 May, 1740 he with Epenetus Platt and Samuel Willis, the last of Oyster Bay, New York, were arbitrators among settlers of Sumpwams Neck (Babylon) and made an award. He returned to town duties when on 1 May, 1744 he was chosen town clerk, a tribute to his ability to write. On 7 May, 1745 he with Justice John Wicks was chosen to take account of intestate estates for the ensuing year; and he was elected town clerk, surveyor and treasurer of Huntington town 6 May, 1746.

Philip Ketcham died at Huntington, New York 5 January, 1770 and was buried in the Old Cemetery at that place. His will, dated 21 April, 1769, was proved 5 February, 1770 and is filed in Liber 27 at p. 251 of Wills, New York city, N. Y.

He married 1, probably about 1715 to Phoebe, whose maiden name remains unproved; she was born about 1691 and died 10 February, 1737/8 in her forty-seventh year. She is buried beside him. Afterwards he married 2, in the First church at Huntington, New York to Elizabeth, widow of Nathaniel Williams of Huntington. She died 26 September, 1773 in her 79th year.

Issue, by first wife:

1. Philip, born at Huntington, New York 21 February, 1716, probably died young.
2. Uriah, born at Huntington, New York 11 October, 1719, probably died young.
3. Phoebe, married George Youngs. See page 1,691.
4. Solomon, married Hannah Conklin. See the genealogical section following.
5. Sarah, born 29 January, 1726. No further record.
6. Mary, born 30 January, 1729, died at Huntington, New York 11 May, 1750.
7. Isaac, born at Huntington, New York 14 February, 1734, living at Huntington, New York in 1770. The notes of the late James F. Morton of Paterson, New Jersey (undocumented) state that he married a Rebecca Haff, daughter of a Joseph Haff. To the knowledge of this writer no such Joseph Haff existed (see HAFF) and the so-called Rebecca Haff remains equally suspect. He seems to have been the Isaac Ketcham of Huntington who married in St. George's Episcopal church, Hempstead, New York 28 April, 1760, Freelove Carr (probably correctly Carll) of Huntington. Connections not traced further.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF SOLOMON AND HANNAH (CONKLIN) KETCHAM OF HUNTINGTON, NEW YORK, SON OF PHILIP AND PHOEBE ( ) KETCHAM

Solomon Ketcham, son of Philip and Phoebe ( ) Ketcham, was born at Huntington, New York 8 June, 1724 and baptised in the 1st church there 12 July, 1724. He was prominent in civic affairs in Huntington; he was elected to many offices. He was chosen town clerk 7 May, 1751 and held that office continuously until his death; chosen town treasurer May 1, 1753, which office he held the rest of his life; and was also for many years surveyor, commissioner of highways and assessor. He became a trustee also 1 May, 1764 until his death. He bought a slave of Jonathan Scudder, 24 November, 1766; had 4-1/2 hundreds in the Baiting Place purchase, 6 April, 1768, and was executor of several wills. Altogether he was a man held in high respect and obviously of scrupulous honesty. Solomon Ketcham died at Huntington, New York 21 September, 1781. His will, dated 20 September, 1781, was proved 22 October, 1781 and is filed at Liber 34, page 337 of New York Wills. He married in the First church at Huntington, New York, 30 January, 1750/1 to Hannah Conklin or Conkling, daughter of John Conkling of Huntington; she was born at that place 24 March, 1729 and died there 3 March, 1784. Her will, dated 3 February, 1784, was proved 6 March, 1784, and filed in Liber 36, page 304 of New York Wills. Issue:

1. Philip Ketcham, son of Solomon and Hannah (Conklin) Ketcham, was born at Huntington, New York 5 July, 1752 and baptised in the First church at that place 16 August, 1752. He died at Amityville, New York, 18 June, 1830. Philip Ketcham married 20 February, 1772, Susanna Brush, daughter of Ananias and Mary (Kelsey) Brush. Issue:

10. John, born 23 August, 1773.
11. Mary, born 1 March, 1776, married Oakley.
+ 12. Daniel, married Phebe Ketcham.
13. Phebe, born 22 August, 1780, married Oakley.
14. Sarah, born 25 February, 1783, married Chichester.
15. Philip, born 2 June, 1785, died 18 December, 1870; married Rosetta Ketcham, daughter of Philip and Deborah (Conklin) Ketcham. They had at least a daughter Phebe, born 21 July, 1821, died 15 August, 1903, who married William Pearsall, born 23 July, 1818, died 28 December, 1897, son of Oliver and Margaret (Losee) Pearsall. The latter were grandparents of Miss Nettie E. Pearsall of Huntington, New York.
+ 16. Platt, married Deborah Burch.
17. Susan, born 25 November, 1794.
18. Ira, born 14 July, 1800.

One of the sons (name not proved) married a daughter of Philip and Deborah (Conklin) Ketcham, as three daughters of the latter married three sons of Philip and Susanna (Brush) Ketcham.

4. Solomon Ketcham, son of Solomon and Hannah (Conklin) Ketcham, was born at Huntington, New York 6 April, 1757 and died 19 April, 1851 at that place. He was buried in the Old Cemetery at Huntington. This Solomon Ketcham served as a privateersman (New York in the Revolution, p. 269); was also on the frigate Congress and was afterwards a pensioner. He married 7 March, 1779 to Rebecca Platt, born in 1757, died 17 April, 1834, daughter of Jonas and Rebecca (Bennett) Platt of Huntington. Their children included*

19. Hannah, born in 1782, died in 1876, married Isaac Conklin, son of Timothy and Mary (Platt) Conklin.

41. William J., born 20 September, 1846, died 28 April, 1932.
42. Emily, born 3 November, 1848, died 11 October, 1929.

NOTES

Philip Ketcham is recorded in the printed Huntington, New York, Town Records, vol. II, p. 322 when he did not consent to "Casting a Lott" for the new church or meeting house on the "East Hill", (shortly after 18 March, 1714/5. His appointment as collector is recorded in the same volume, pp. 330-1; and in pages following the records of town meetings show his various appointments to office. His children's births are listed in vol. II, pp. 371-2. Records of his son Solomon Ketcham begin in the same vol. II, pp. 413 and those following; and in vol. III, pp. 3, 24, 30, 50, 61, 63. See also Collections of the New York Historical Society, 1898, VII, p. 398; 1901, X, 151; Shaffer-Hunt Genealogy, by Josephine C. Frost; MSS. Family Records of Miss Genevieve A. Sanders and of the late James F. Morton. Miss Sanders was in 1950 resident of 107 Sea Cliff Avenue, Glen Cove, L. I. Also referred to was MS. of the late W. A. Eardeley (courtesy of Arthur S. Wardwell of Brooklyn, New York); and Refugees from Long Island to Connecticut, by F. G. Mather, p. 433.

The ancestry of Phoebe, wife of Philip Ketcham, remains unsolved. It has been speculated that her maiden name was Platt and that she was the oldest daughter of Jonas and Sarah Platt. If so, she would have been the elder sister of Elizabeth Platt, born about 1695, died 26 December, 1773, who as widow of Nathaniel Williams married Philip Ketcham, widower in the First church at Huntington 18 January, 1738/9 (Scudder, Records of the First Church in Huntington, Long Island, p. 73). It is a plausible guess; one of the children of Solomon Ketcham was named Platt Ketcham. Early in his record collecting the writer was told that a family tradition had her name as Phoebe Smith, and that she was related to the Keziah Smith and Tabitha Chichester who have been referred to. We have not been able to trace down the original of this story, which appears to have been inspired by the records appearing in the Lloyd Account Books.(library of the Long Island Historical Society).

Philip Ketcham was the son of

10. JOHN KETCHAM 868
m. ELIZABETH*

He was born about 1653/4, and probably at Southold, New York.

John Ketcham was brought in his father's family through the town of Brookhaven and settled in Huntington, New York. After he became of age his father sold his properties in Huntington and removed to Newtown, New York. As a consequence it is without doubt this John Ketcham who bought land in Huntington of Content Titus of Newtown, 1 December, 1675. At this time Ketcham was called a carpenter; he was also a surveyor.

He was elected overseer for Huntington, 2 April, 1683 for the ensuing year and became commissioner 4 April, 1687. At this period the title did not mean commissioner of highways as it did at a later date; the office had mixed civil powers & was soon dropped. He was one of three townsmen to carry on town affairs 2 April, 1689, and was reappointed in 1691. His advancement in town political responsibility was rapid. He became town clerk also in 1691, and a fenceviewer as well. On 2 May, 1699 he was elected trustee of the town, holding this office for the rest of his life, the last date of election being 4 May, 1714.

John Ketcham was a patentee under the Dongan charter of 2 August, 1688, and contributed one pound, 11s 0d towards the expenses of the Fletcher patent of 5 October, 1694. He was rated on the 1688 Assessment as worth 75 pounds, 1s 8d.

Land transactions credited to him are relatively few. On 16 January, 1676 the town gave him about 3 rods of land on each side of his home lot; 2 May, 1681 he was allotted six acres lying between the "new field" that was at Millstone brook & Timothy Conklin's land; and he bought land of Samuel Ketcham on behalf of the town, 4 October, 1692. On this last day he was to take up six acres in the Cove swamp adjacent to land of Timothy Conklin's; and he received more land at the Cove swamp 3 April, 1693.

*Her maiden name is not proved. She has been called a daughter of Thomas Wilkes or Wickes most frequently, but there appears to be no evidence.

On 18 September, 1694 John Ketcham with his wife Elizabeth were witnesses to a deed from Nathaniel Foster to his son Samuel. In the same year there was recorded an account of the "hundreds" in the town credited to and paid for by him. On 11 May, 1697 the Indians deeded land in the West Neck on the South side of the town to John Ketcham, James Chichester and Timothy Conklin. As John Ketcham senior, with his wife Elizabeth he deeded land to Jonathan Lewis 20 December, 1706; likewise to Nathaniel Whitman 16 July, 1708. His wife signed the last with an X mark, showing that she was illiterate.

He was obviously settling some of his affairs in January, 1715-1716, when he deeded land to his son John Ketcham junior and also to his son Philip Ketcham. He then disappears from record and probably died in 1716 or very shortly afterward. No will or administration of his estate is now of record; the names of his children were recorded in the town records, undoubtedly because of his having been town clerk or recorder.

John Ketcham's wife was named Elizabeth. Henry Lloyd noted in his Account Books 27 January, 173½ that she was living in Huntington as a widow, then aged. She was born about 1654, and was accordingly about 77. Her maiden name is unknown; for a discussion of claims for her ancestry see the NOTES following.

Issue:

1. John, born probably at Huntington, New York 29 September, 1674, died young.
2. Thomas, married Rebecca, maiden name not found. See the genealogical section following.
3. Elizabeth, born probably at Huntington, New York 14 April, 1678, died before 22 April, 1693.
4. Philip, born probably at Huntington, New York 8 May, 1680, died before 7 March, 1691.
5. David, born probably at Huntington, New York, 27 March, 1683, died before 19 March, 1695.
6. Mary, born probably at Huntington, New York 12 October, 1686; no further record.
7. John, married (probably) 1, Miriam ; 2, Hannah Bishop. See the genealogical section following.
8. Philip, married 1, Phoebe ; 2, Elizabeth (Platt) Williams. See page 1,692.
9. Elizabeth, born at Huntington, New York 22 April, 1693, without doubt the wife of James Kelsey, born at Hartford, Conn., 21 August, 1687, died at Huntington, New York between 23 August and 28 September, 1761, the dates of making and probate of his will. Solomon Ketcham a nephew (cousin) was an executor. James Kelsey was son of Stephen and Hannah (Ingersoll) Kelsey of Hartford. See the Kelsey Genealogy, by Edward A. Claypool and others, vol. I, pp. 99+.

10. David. See the genealogical section following.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF THOMAS AND JOHN KETCHAM, SONS OF JOHN AND ELIZABETH ( ) KETCHAM OF HUNTINGTON, NEW YORK, AND REPUTED DESCENDANTS OF THEIR SON DAVID KETCHAM.

2. Thomas Ketcham, son of John and Elizabeth ( ) Ketcham, was born probably at Huntington, New York 13 May, 1676, and is last recorded at Huntington 14 June, 1711, when the Account Books of Henry Lloyd record under his account, 1-1/2 yards of lace for Elizabeth Ketcham, probably his mother. It is our belief that he died or removed from Huntington after this date. David Chichester and his wife Alice deeded land to Thomas Ketcham 22 December, 1698, being the seventh part of Josias' Neck that they had bought of Thomas Jarvis. John Greene Sr. and Elizabeth (Jarvis) his wife sold his house and home lot to Thomas Ketcham 29 May, 1699; there was also included barns, orchards and other appurtenances. Evidently Thomas Ketcham was establishing himself at this time, probably as a married man. He bought land of George Baldwin of Westbury, 13 May, 1700, and sold land to William Jarvis 9 October, 1705, at this time with his wife Rebecca, called Rebecah in the records. Again, he with his wife sold land to Thomas Smith of Huntington, 21 December, 1706; conveyed property to John Waring of Cold Spring, New York, 24 February, 1707/8; made over to Thomas Brush, son of Thomas Brush, deceased, 23 February, 1707/8; and sold land to William Jarvis 3 May, 1708. The maiden name of his wife Rebecca is not found. Issue, at least:

11. Lavinia, born probably at Huntington, N. Y., 13 March, 1704; not traced further.

12. Rebecca, born probably at Huntington, New York 28 April, 1708; not traced further.

And probably, from the repetition of characteristic family names:

+ 13. Thomas, married Rebecca Ketcham.

7. John Ketcham, son of John and Elizabeth ( ) Ketcham, was born probably at Huntington, New York 2 February, 1689, and died after 4 April, 1740, the date of birth of his youngest daughter. He was admitted as a member of the First church at Huntington, 15 February, 1725/6; a Miriam Ketcham who was admitted the same day is believed to have been his first wife. She had died before 11 June, 1728, on which date he married at Stamford, Connecticut to Hannah Bishop. Issue, by first wife:

+ 14. John, married Sarah Matthews or Matthias.

15. Elizabeth, born at Huntington, New York 1 February, 1718, perhaps the one of that name who married 1 June, 1739 to Jonas Wood, son of Jeremiah Wood of Huntington, New York. See EDMUND WOOD.

16. Mary, born 16 November, 1720, died 29 February, 1800; m. in 1746 to Samuel Hawkins, who has not been identified. In A Hawkins Genealogy, p. 16, Samuel Hawkins, son of Eleazer and Sarah (Owen) Hawkins, born at Stony Brook, Long Island, 7 June, 1721, is stated to have married in 1746 to Mary Green, ancestry not given. It is given further that this Mary (Greene) Hawkins was born 23 March, 1722 and died March 29, 1800. Samuel Hawkins died 18 March, 1810. Their first child, it should be noted, was coincidentally named Miriam, and the similarity of some of the dates has led us to wonder if A Hawkins Genealogy is in error.

17. Timothy, born at Huntington, New York 10 January, 1722, living in 1770; on the 1764 assessment list at Huntington. He married, perhaps second, in the First church at Huntington, 18 November, 1770 to Zerviah Brotherton, widow of William Place. Issue, if any, not determined.

18. Jonas, born about 1725, died 4 April, 1725 at Huntington, New York.

Issue, by second wife:

19. Hannah, born at Huntington, New York 21 April, 1729; not traced further.

20. Sarah, born at Huntington, New York, 6 June, 1730; not traced further.

21. Joseph, born at Huntington, New York 29 July, 1731, died at Hanover, New Hampshire; married Susanna and had issue.

22. Jonas, born at Huntington, New York 19 October, 1732, d. at Hanover, New Hampshire, 28 January, 1805.

23. Zophar, born at Huntington, New York 19 October, 1734, d. at Hanover, New Hampshire before 1816; was of Crum Pond, Hanover. He married at Stamford, Conn., 26 November, 1761, Mary Bishop. Issue.

24. Martha, twin with Zophar, born at Huntington, New York 14 June, 1734. It is stated that she married Othniel Sands.

25. Rebecca, born at Huntington, New York, 6 April, 1737,

26. Ruth, born presumably at Huntington, New York 4 April, 1740, died in 1775, married 7 December, 1763 to Hezekiah Davenport, born in Connecticut 14 January, 1738, died on the battleground at Ridgefield, Conn., 1777, son of John and Sarah (Bishop) Davenport. See A Supplement to the History and Genealogy of the Davenport Family, by A. B. Devenport, 1876.

10. David Ketcham, son of John and Elizabeth ( ) Ketcham, was born probably in Huntington, New York, 19 June, 1695. He was constable at Huntington, New York in 1728, and is said to have had a wife Jane. Compilations on file by the late Nellie R. Scudder in the library of the Huntington Historical Society indicate that he had at least two children; however it must be said that in a search of over thirty years no basic documentary proof has been found or reported. Perhaps the strongest support for an assignment of two sons to this line is found in the listing together of sons of Philip Ketcham and the Joshua and Israel Ketcham given below, in the tax list of 1764 at Huntington, and separately and apart from other Ketchams. It will be noted as well, that the name David reappears in the lists of their children. Provisionally then, and solely on this basis, the following are placed here as children of David Ketcham, without proof:

+ 27. Joshua, married Jerusha Whitman.
+ 28. Israel, married Esther Skidmore.

13. Thomas Ketcham, probably son of Thomas and Rebecca Ketcham, was born probably at Huntington, New York about 1710 or later, and died at Beekman's Precinct, Dutchess county, New York in April, 1760. The late James F. Morton of Paterson, New Jersey stated that he had been of Whitestone, Long Island before he removed. His will, dated 15 April, 1760, was proved 3 May, 1760 and filed at Liber 22, p. 90 of New York Wills. Thomas Ketcham married in the First church at Huntington, New York 3 January, 1742/3 to Rebecca Ketcham, ancestry undetermined, and who was probably a cousin. Issue:

29. Rebecca, born about 1744, died young.
30. Lavinia Rebecca, born in 1745, died 1 March, 1803 at Union Vale, New York, married Isaac Vail, born at Huntington, New York early in 1741, baptised in the First church there 16 March, 1741/2, died 1 August, 1801 at Union Vale, New York, son of Moses and Phebe (Platt) Vail. For descendants see Moses Vail of Huntington, New York, by William Penn Vail, M. D.

+ 31. Thomas, married Mary Doughty.
32. Isaac.
33. Pamela.
34. Mary.
35. Deborah.

14. John Ketcham, son of John and (probably) Miriam Ketcham, was born at Huntington, New York 24 February, 1716 and died at Deer Park, Orange County, New York 21 April, 1794. He removed from Huntington to land near the present Goshen, New York, and finally to Mount Hope, which was renamed Deer Park. John Ketcham married in the First church

The foregoing is taken from the following; Huntington, New York Town Records, edited by Charles R. Street, vol. I, pp. 172, 205, 214, 219, 269, 296, 363-4, 469, 488, 533, 560 and 563; vol. II, pp. 20, 23, 31, 175, 230, 231, 241, 319, 400, 402, 468 and 553; Huntington, New York Deeds on file in the Town Hall, Liber I, pp. 310, 463 and 551; Liber II, p. 111; Liber III, pp. 25 and 27; Book of Surveys and Land Grants, Huntington, New York Town Hall, p. 155; Account Book of Henry Lloyd of Queens Village, in the library of the Long Island Historical Society; American Genealogist, vol. XXII, p. 113 (wherein it is stated that Elizabeth, born 15 June, 1679, daughter of Timothy and Martha Conklin, probably married this John Ketcham, a statement which chronology alone makes impossible); Ketcham Genealogy, MS by George Lionel Seybolt and filed in the New York Public Library in New York city, New York; Stamford Registrations, by E. B. Huntington, p. 61; MSS. of the late James Morton, deceased, called Ketcham Origins; and compilations of Miss Genevieve A. Sanders.

In the present writer's first compilation of 1922 entitled The Ancestry and Kindred of Herbert Francis Smith, he stated that this John Ketcham married Elizabeth Wicks or Wilkes, daughter of the first Thomas of Huntington, New York. As we remember it this was obtained from some Wicks genealogical enthusiast who visited the library of the Long Island Historical Society; in carelessness this was not noted down as to the source. It must be stated that there is no proof known to this writer after thirty years of research, that her name was Wicks.

John Ketcham (page 1,698) was son of 11. JOHN KETCHAM 1,736, 1,794

m. SUSAN(NA)

He was born probably at Cambridge, England about 1622.

He was baptised at the parish church of St. Andrew in Cambridge, 8 September, 1622.

John Ketcham left England probably in the company of his father's family about 1637. In 1646 he appears as a resident of Ipswich, Massachusetts. At this time he was a purchaser of several utensils from an estate sold at auction, & appears to have just set up his household. He is recorded as a landowner in 1647 and in 1648 was a subscriber to compensation for one Major Denison.

He removed, probably shortly afterwards, to the young colony of Southold on Long Island. Because the earliest records of this town are meagre, it is known only that he was a landholder there on the 2nd day of 4th month, 1653 when he purchased land at Hashamomack in Southold from Stephen Goodyear of New Haven, and for twenty pounds.

He was next a resident of the town of Brookhaven on Long Island, and apparently had recently moved from Southold just before 1 December, 1659. At a town meeting of that date at Setauket a home lot was made over to "John Chackum" on condition that he build the mill for the town's use. He was, then, a carpenter. In 1661 he had a 6 acre lot in the Old Field, and on 3 October of the same year, as John Catcham of Setauket he sold his lands, houses, fencings, etc., lying at Hashamomack in the town of Southold to Thomas Moore, Sr. of the latter place. Six days later (9 October, 1662) he was appointed Constable of the town by the General Assembly of the Colony of Connecticut. At the time this was the highest office in the town, and had magisterial responsibilities. (Before that, 16 April, 1662 he had been chosen with Richard Woodhull to levy an assessment in the town).

John Ketcham next appears in the records in connection with Captain John Scott, an adventurer who pretended to have authority to adjust town boundaries. Scott made himself notorious by his jousting with established authority, and he was finally arrested at Setauket, taken to Hartford and tried, & his property sequestrated. Consequently the town records, 9 June, 1664 note that Mrs. John Scott is about to remove, and the townsmen ordered that Mr. Richard Woodhull, William Cromwell and John Ketcham take an "exackte invoyse" of the goods of Captain Scott. The goods were to be impounded in John Ketcham's house until the General Assembly of the Colony of Connecticut should determine their disposal.

He was called commissioner at Setauket, 12 May, 1664.

Again John Ketcham moved westward, this time sometime in the latter part of 1664 or very early in 1665. On 1 March, 1665, he was a deputy representing Huntington town at a Convention held at Hempstead, New York, to discuss civil matters. In a list of commissions issued by Governor Richard Nicholls in 1665 and 1666, John Ketcham is recorded as having been appointed lieutenant of the train band (militia) at Huntington. Consequently he is called Lieutenant John Ketcham of Huntington when, with wife Susan he conveyed property at Southold to Thomas Moore. The land was located on the north side of "the River called Mahansuk" and consisted of one hundred acres which Ketcham had bought of Stephen Goodyear; it was conveyed 29 September, 1666. He is cited in the Nicholls patent to the town of Huntington as a townsman, 30 November, 1666.

Before 23 September, 1669 he had removed to Newtown, New York; it has been stated that he went from Huntington in 1668. He was a respected citizen of Newtown when, 23 September, 1669 the town appointed Lieutenant Ketcham a deputy to meet with deputies of other towns concerning country affairs. On 6 August, 1673 he was chosen again as a deputy with John Burroughs to "goe to the forte to appere there in the name of the towne being somonsed by the commanders of the ships of war untder (sic) the states generall and under the prince of oring", i. e. the Prince of Orange of the Netherlands. As New York had been taken by the Dutch, for a brief period Lt. Ketcham was a Dutch citizen.

John Ketcham of Newtown was overseer of the will of John Ramsden of Newtown, New York with Content Titus, 20 September of 1686. He resided at Newtown the rest of his days, dying in 1696 or 1967. It is not known where he was buried.

Administration of the estate was granted to the second wife Bethiah 17 May, 1697 and the letters were filed in Liber 5-6 of New York Wills, page 159.

John Ketcham married 1, place unknown to Susan or Susanna, who was still living in 1666 in Huntington, New York. Her maiden name has not been found. She died not long after that date for he married 2, by a licence granted 26 February, 1676-1677 and on 14 March, 1676/7 to Bethiah Richardson of Westchester county, New York, daughter of John and Martha (Mead) Richardson. She was living at West Farms, New York 7 September, 1707; as the widow of John Ketcham she married second, Joseph Hunt of Westchester.

Issue, by first wife (so far as known):

1. Samuel, married Mary . See the genealogical section following.
2. Hester or Esther, married John Wickes or Wicks. See KETCHAM, Second Line.
3. Edward, married Mercy Harcourt. See the genealogical section following.
4. John, married Elizabeth . See page 1,698.
5. Philip, married Martha Betts. See the genealogical section following.

Issue, by second wife:

6. Joseph, married Martha Phillips. See the genealogical section following.
7. Nathaniel, a resident of West Farms, Westchester county, New York; letters of administration were granted on his estate to his brother Joseph 25 April, 1732 (Liber 11, New York Wills, page 273). He was apparently unmarried.
8. (probably) Bethiah, married in the First Presbyterian church at Newtown, New York 20 June, 1710, Josiah Reeder.
9. (probably) Jane, married in the First Presbyterian church at Newtown, New York 20 October, 1710 to David Rogers of Huntington, New York, son of Jonathan and Rebecca Rogers. See ROGERS.
10. (probably) Susanna, married in the First Presbyterian church at Newtown, New York 20 October, 1710 to Thomas Brush of Huntington, New York, son of Thomas and Sarah Brush. See BRUSH, Vol. I, page 437.
11. (probably) Theophilus, married Elizabeth Reeder. See the genealogical section following.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF THE CHILDREN OF JOHN KETCHAM OF IPSWICH, MASSACHUSETTS, AND SOUTHOLD, BROOKHAVEN, HUNTINGTON AND NEWTOWN, N. Y.

1. Samuel Ketcham, son of John and Susan ( ) Ketcham, was born probably at Ipswich, Massachusetts about 1646. He was brought by his father to Long Island and settled at Huntington, New York, of which place he is said to have been made freeman in 1664.* Samuel Ketcham's Hollow is mentioned in land transactions 24 December, 1667, showing that he was already a property holder. On 16 and 17 April, 1672 he was a holder in the first of the ten farms set up by Huntington in a title dispute with Richard Smith of Smithtown, New York, and his associates were Joseph Whitman (his uncle-by-marriage) John Samwayes, Richard Williams and Timothy Conklin. He is on the list of taxpayers of 1675 at Huntington. On 7 December, 1675 Samuel Ketcham's lot is to "bear the denomination of a two hundred pound lot"; and he recorded lands in 1681. He was an overseer for the town of Huntington in 1681, 1682 and 1683 and was assessed £0/13/09 on property in 1688. He was living in Huntington in 1707 but shortly thereafter appears to have removed to Newtown where presumably he is the one of that name who, 12 June, 1710 bought land from Obadiah Wilkins of Jamaica for £15. Samuel Ketcham married Mary, maiden name not found. Issue:

+ 13. Samuel, married Joan or Jane
  14. Joseph, born at Huntington, New York 17 January, 1674. No further record.
  15. Mary, born 4 June, 1677 at Huntington, New York, living 2 August, 1707, apparently then unmarried (Doeds, Huntington, New York, I, p. 56).
+ 16. Nathaniel, married Abigail
  17. Jonathan, born at Huntington, New York 1 April, 1682, died without issue, intestate. On 2 August, 1707 the heirs of Jonathan Ketcham disagree in the partition of his estate. It was finally agreed that Samuel Ketcham junior was to have the house, home lot and orchard; Nathaniel Ketcham to have certain lands; and Ephraim, Mary, Sarah and Hester

---

*Joseph B. Felt in his History of Ipswich, Essex and Hamilton (Massachusetts), 1834, states that Edward Ketcham senior, grandfather of this Samuel, was at Ipswich as early as 1639. If so this Samuel may have been born at an earlier date than indicated here. We are convinced that Samuel Ketcham, freeman of Huntington in 1664, was not a son of the senior Edward Ketcham.

Ketcham, brother and sisters of Jonathan Ketcham, are referred to also (Liber I, Deeds, Huntington, New York, page 56).

+ 18. Ephraim, married Mary

19. Hester or Esther, born at Huntington, New York 4 July, 1687, living 2 August, 1707.

20. Sarah, born about 1690, living 2 August, 1707.

3. Edward Ketcham, son of John and Susan ( ) Ketcham, was born about 1651 or 1652. On 7 December, 1675 it was agreed that he should have a lot at the rear of Joseph Whitman's land; and he recorded his earmark for livestock 20 May, 1678. His uncle-by-marriage Joseph Whitman deeded land to him 2 August, 1681; he exchanged lands with Jonathan Scudder 1 December, 1684; and on 10 April, 1685 he sold to Richard Davis of Huntington his house and six acres of land, all barns, etc., bounded by the lands of John Davis, Richard Williams and his own. "Mary" Ketcham, his wife, voluntarily signed and acknowledged the latter conveyance 14 April, 1685. He is not in the 1688 assessment of Huntington, New York. On 6 October, 1694 he is called a resident of Cold Spring, New York; and on 7 January, 1694 bought property of Nathaniel Coles of Oyster Bay, New York, of which place he became resident. He received land there from Daniel Applegate, 25 June, 1696; sold land to Thomas Walters in 1712; and is recorded in further land transactions in Oyster Bay, 27 April, 1721. Edward Ketcham died probably at Oyster Bay, 1724. He married Mercy Harcourt, daughter of Richard and Elizabeth (Potter) Harcourt. Issue included, at least 21. Daniel, mentioned in the will of his grandfather, Richard Harcourt; possible ancestor of a New Jersey family.

Perhaps other children.

5. Philip Ketcham, son of John and Susan ( ) Ketcham, was born about 1656 and probably at Southold, New York. He lived in his father's family at Brookhaven and Huntington, New York, presumably, and was of Newtown, New York 3 June, 1679. He bought land of his brother John at Newtown 27 February, 1694/5 (Newtown Town Records, vol. II, p. 12). He is believed by the writer to be the Philip Ketcham whose will, dated 31 January, 1732/3, was proved 21 August*, 1734; he died at Newtown 12 July, 1734. Philip Ketcham married Martha Betts, daughter of Richard Betts. Issue:

---

*Liber 12, page 213, New York city, New York Wills. In the abstract published in Collections of the New York Historical Society for 1894, the date of probate is given erroneously as 21 April, 1734.

22. A son, believed to be Philip born 8 March, 1680. He married and was the father of, at least:
    i. Mary, who received a legacy in the will of her grandfather.

22a. Keziah, who married Richard Edsall of Newtown, New York, son of Samuel and Ruth (Woodhull) Edsall. Issue.

7. Joseph Ketcham, son of John and Bethiah (Richardson) Ketcham, was born at Newtown, New York about 1685. He sold his property in Newtown in 1732 and removed to Christiana, Delaware. Joseph Ketcham married in the First Presbyterian church in Newtown 7 April, 1714, Martha Phillips. Issue, at least:

23. Joseph, born in Newtown, New York 17 March, 1715, married Gertrude Johnson (probably Geertruyd Jans) of Long Island. He removed first to Mercer county, New Jersey and finally to Shelby county, Kentucky where he died. See Genealogy of the Ketcham and Kutch Families. In this compilation it is stated that a Ketcham crest was a lion's paw raised toward the dexter side, increased rampant. Just how a lion's paw can be increased rampant we know not; nor do we have the proper regard, perhaps, for the statement that 'Sir Rowland Ketcham, Knight of Wales, in the 16th century, is the earliest known of the name.' Aut Caesar, aut nihil!

24. John, born 17 March, 1722, married Mintia or Minitah (probably a variant of Jacomyntje), surname not given; settled in New Jersey.

Perhaps other children.

11. Theophilus Ketcham, probably son of John and Bethiah (Richardson) Ketcham, married in the First Presbyterian church at Jamaica, New York as from Hell Gate, New York 10 May, 1711 to Elizabeth Reeder, daughter of Jacob Reeder of Newtown, New York. He has been called Kellum by mistake. See The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol. XIII, p. 92, and The Scudder Family of Trenton, New Jersey, by Moses Bigelow. Issue:

25. Reuben, born 28 March, 1712.
26. Hannah, born 9 September, 1714.
27. Daniel, born 23 September, 1716.
28. Ruth, born 23 December, 1719.
29. Elizabeth, born 5 February, 1721/2.
30. Bethiah, born 23 February, 1723/4.
31. Theophilus, born 21 May, 1726.

13. Samuel Ketcham, son of Samuel and Mary ( )Ketcham, was born at Huntington, New York 5 May, 1672 and was living at Huntington in 1718, although deceased shortly before 18 December, 1723. His father made over title to land to his son Samuel 8 March, 1704 (Huntington Deeds, I, 504); as Samuel Ketcham junior with his wife Jean (who made her mark "S") he conveyed land to Samuel Whitman, 18 November, 1707 (Huntington Deeds, I, 565); with the same wife sold land to Nathaniel Whitman 8 November, 1717 (Huntington Deeds, II, 241), and the next day to John Whitman (ibid., II, 245); and on 15 December, 1718 he conveyed land to Samuel Whitman for £9 (Huntington Deeds, II, 285). The maiden name of his wife Jean or Jane is not known; she was admitted to the church at Huntington as a widow 18 December, 1723. She married again 2 February, 1729/30, to John Brush of Huntington as his third wife (see Vol. I, page 435). Issue:

33. Elizabeth, born at Huntington, New York 15 January, 1698.
34. Mary, born 18 August, 1699, Huntington, New York.
35. Deborah, born at Huntington, New York 8 May, 1701.
36. Samuel, born at Huntington, New York 15 March, 1706.

16. Nathaniel Ketcham, son of Samuel and Mary ( ) Ketcham, was born at Huntington, New York 9 October, 1679, and died there in 1758. His will, dated 26 February, 1757, was proved 3 April, 1758, and filed in Liber 20 of New York city, New York Wills. He received land of his father 26 November, 1701 (Huntington, New York Deeds, I, 397); in the indenture Samuel Ketcham's brother Edward is also mentioned. On 10 December, 1704 Samuel and Mary Ketcham conveyed land to the son Nathaniel Ketcham, and Samuel Ketcham junior confirmed (Huntington Deeds, I, 530); Nathaniel Ketcham with Abigail his wife conveyed to Jeremiah Platt 4 February, 1708/9 (Huntington Deeds, I, 616); and again, 7 March, 1708/9 he with consent of the same wife sold land to Nathaniel Whitman (ibid. II, p. 109). Nathaniel Whitman sold land to Nathaniel Ketcham 4 February, 1717/8, which formerly had belonged to Walter Noakes (Oakes) (ibid., II, 213); Daniel Lewis and Timothy Brush conveyed to him on 19 March, 1721/2, and there was a reverse transaction on the same day between Nathaniel Ketcham and Daniel Lewis (ibid., II, 462, 470); and on 7 March, 1727/8 John Whitman conveyed land to him for £30 (ibid., 671). Nathaniel Ketcham was constable of Huntington in 1729, trustee in 1732/3 and President of the Trustees in 1740. The maiden name of his wife Abigail has not been found; it is considered that she was mother of the children. Issue:

+ 37. Nathaniel, married Charity Carll.
+ 38. Caleb, married Sarah Hobart or Hubbard.
+ 39. Isaac, married 1. Hannah Barker; 2. Mary (Whitehead) Rogers.

+ 40. Jonatham, married Hannah Ketcham.

41. Keziah, born about 1713, married in the First church at Huntington, New York to Timothy Kelsey, born about 1710-1712, son of Daniel Kelsey of Huntington. See the Kelsey Genealogy by Claypool and others.

42. Abigail, married in the First church at Huntington, New York 16 February, 1740/1 to Jonathan Sammis, son of John and Rebecca Sammis. See SAMMIS.

43. Stephen, identified as the one born in 1732, died at Huntington, New York 23 November, 1792 and buried in the Old Cemetery at that place. He married in the First ch. at Huntington 16 February, 1751 to Ann Titus, baptised in the same church 2 March, 1730, daughter of Abiel and Mary (Smith) Titus. Issue not traced.

44. Ruth said to have been born in 1732 (?twin with Stephen), died 9 October, 1781; was buried in the Old Cemetery at Huntington. She married in the First church at Huntington 10 May, 1753 to Timothy Conklin.

18. Ephraim Ketcham, son of Samuel and Mary ( ) Ketcham, was born at Huntington, New York 4 February, 1685 and died at that place probably in the latter part of 1745. His will, dated 7 August, 1745, was proved 27 January, 1745/6 and filed at Liber 15, p. 505 of Wills at New York city, New York. He married Mary, maiden name not found who survived her husband. Issue:

45. Joseph, born about 1711, perhaps before, probably the one of that name who was married in the First church at Huntington, New York 28 July, 1729 to Sarah Conklin, born 28 January, 1711/2, daughter of Timothy Conklin. Descendants lived in Beekman, New York.

+ 46. Benjamin, married Elizabeth Sprague.

47. Abijah, married 1, First church, Huntington, New York 18 November, 1741 to Agnes Pine; married 2, in the same church, 30 June, 1778 to Mary Smith, widow, of Huntington, New York. Not traced further.

48. Jonatham, who received his father's gun and sword, which had been his (i. e. Jonathan's) grandfather's. He is believed to have been the one of that name who married in the First church at Huntington, New York 24 August, 1748 to Mary Davis. Not traced further.

49. Susanna.

50. Mary.

37. Nathaniel Ketcham, son of Nathaniel and Abigail ( ) Ketcham, was born at Huntington, New York in 1707/8 and died there 19 February, 1758. He was buried at Huntington, New York. Nathaniel Ketcham married in the First church at Huntington, New York 29 April, 1733 to Charity Carll. Issue:

+ 54. Jesse, married Temperance Brush.
55. Anna, born 10 June, 1736, died 18 August, 1818, married Barto.
56. Joel, born 29 December, 1737, married Mary Denton.
57. Timothy, born 21 May, 1739.
58. Abel, born 12 January, 1741, died in Virginia in September, 1775.
59. Mary, born 20 August, 1742.
60. Jacob, born 26 July, 1744, died 29 June, 1807.
+ 61. Zophar, married Jemima Ruscoe.
62. Alexander, born 6 January, 1748, shot by refugees during the War of the American Revolution in September, 1780.
63. Selah, born 20 June, 1750, died 7 January, 1751.
+ 64. Isaac Carll, married Hannah Wicks.
65. Ruth, born 12 December, 1753, died 25 May, 1829, married Wiggins.
66. (perhaps) Charity.

38. Caleb Ketcham, son of Nathaniel and Abigail ( ) Ketcham, was born in Huntington, New York about 1713, married in the First Church at Huntington, New York 28 May, 1738 to Sarah Hobart or Hubbard, daughter of Ezekiel Hobart by his wife Sarah. Probable issue (at least):

67. Caleb, who died at Huntington, New York in March, 1826. He married in the First church at that place 28 July of 1782 to Abigail Rogers.
68. Hubbard, who married 12 August, 1781 to Jemima Blachley, daughter of Daniel and Prudence (Weiser) Blachley (Vol. I, pp. 312+). Issue:
i. Elizabeth, born at Northport, New York 10 May, 1786, died 22 June, 1859, married 29 February, 1804, John Gildersleeve, son of John and Keziah (Ketcham) Gildersleeve. See Vol. III, p. 1,138.

39. Isaac Ketcham, son of Nathaniel and Abigail ( ) Ketcham, a resident of Huntington, New York, married there 1, First church, 12 December, 1739 to Hannah Barker, who was presumably living 6 May, 1757, but died shortly thereafter; married 2, in the same ch., 9 January, 1759, Mrs. Mary Rogers, widow of Smithtown, New York. Issue, by first wife:

69. Isaac, born 20 July, 1740.
70. Mary, born 14 August, 1743, married 1 November, 1763, Jesse Bryan, son of Epenetus and Elizabeth (Stratton) Bryan. See Vol. I, p. 454.

71. Ezra, born 2 March, 1745/6.
72. Samuel, born 5 September, 1748, of Salem, New York 3 May, 1784.
73. Hannah, born 6 September, 1750.
74. Abigail, born 25 December, 1752.
75. Stephen, born at Huntington, New York 6 April, 1755; administration on his estate was granted to his brother Samuel of Salem, New York 3 May, 1784. He married Caroline, maiden name not reported.
76. Keziah, born at Huntington, New York 6 May, 1757. baptised in the First church at that place 14 August, 1757, married at Freshpond, Huntington, 8 January, 1781 to John Gildersleeve, son of Benjamin and Elizabeth (Higbie) Gildersleeve of Huntington. See Vol. III, page 1,137.1.*

40. Jonathan Ketcham, son of Nathaniel and Abigail ( )Ketcham, was born at Huntington, New York about 1715, and died at that place in 1751. His will, dated 22 February, 1751, was proved 2 May, 1751 and filed at Liber 17, p. 358 of New York city, New York Wills. His brother Nathaniel and friend John Wood III were executors. Jonathan Ketcham married Hannah Ketchum of Norwalk, Connecticut, daughter of Nathaniel and Sarah (Wakelee) Ketchum. Issue:

77. Epenetus, baptised at Huntington, New York 3 October of 1736.
78. Jonathan, baptised at Huntington, New York 27 May, 1739.
79. Daniel, baptised at Huntington, N. Y., 18 April, 1742.
80. Eliphalet, baptised at Huntington, N. Y., 13 Oct., 1745.

*Correcting the cross-reference in Vol. III, which makes Keziah the daughter of the second wife Mary ( ) (Rogers) Ketcham. See also SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION, under GILDERSLEEVE.

54. Jesse Ketcham, son of Nathaniel and Charity (Carll) Ketcham, was born at Huntington, New York 23 September, 1734, and died at Babylon, New York 6 September, 1825, of which place he was a resident. He was an elder of the First Presbyterian church of Babylon, and was one of the prominent figures in the issues' which developed between the Presbytery, the Rev. Luther Gleason, and Mrs. Elias (Keziah Ann Muncy) Leek. (See MUNCY). He appears to have been a man of exacting conscience. Jesse Ketcham made his will 30 November, 1811 and it was proved 16 November, 1825, and filed at Liber E, p. 156 of Wills at Riverhead, New York. He married in the First church at Huntington, New York, 3 August, 1761 to Temperance Brush, born 26 June, 1740, baptised in the First church 3 August, 1740, died 14 October, 1803, daughter of Thomas and Temperance (Denton) Brush of Huntington (Vol. I, p. 427). Issue:

84. Charity, born 3 January, 1762, died 11 April, 1853, married van Nostrand.
85. Nathaniel, born 14 May, 1764, died 21 January, 1777.
86. Temperance, born 18 July, 1766, died at South Huntington, New York, 15 April, 1839, married in the First Presbyterian church at Huntington 1 April, 1792 to Epenetus Smith, son of Ichabod and Phoebe (Vail) Smith of New York city, and South Huntington, New York. See SEVER-SMITH-SMITH, Vol. I, p. 29.
87. Thomas, born 21 September, 1768.
88. Abel, born 11 October, 1770, died 25 November, 1772.
89. Prudence, born 16 November, 1775.

NOTES

The record of the baptism of John Ketcham at Cambridge was obtained for John I. Coddington of Washington, D. C., by R. G. Hamshaw of Downham Market, Norfolk, England. John Ketcham is reported in Ipswich, Massachusetts by John B. Felt in his History of Ipswich, Essex and Hamilton (Massachusetts), published in 1834, page 11, and in 1648; but Mr. Felt says on the same page that Edward Ketcham was there in 1639. The explanation, of course, is simple. John Ketcham, son of Edward Ketcham, had come to maturity by 1648. The Ancient Records of the Town of Ipswich, edited and published by George A. Schofield in 1899, vol. I (unpaged), records John Ketcham as in Ipswich on the 11th day of 11th month, 1647; and the late Josephine C. Frost reported him in the records of the Colony of Massachusetts Bay in 1646. The Southold Town Records, edited by J. Wickham Case, refer to him in vol. I, pp. 115 and 117, and vol. II, pp. 94-96; and the History of Southold, Long Island by Epher Whitaker, 1881, refers to him on pp. 36 and 46. His sojourn in Brookhaven is recorded in Brookhaven Town Records, vol. I, transcribed by Archibald C. Weeks, 1924, pp. 71, 84, 86, 96, 98, 110, 116, 124, 126, 136, and 146. Contrary to the impression left by some genealogists, this John Ketcham was not a resident of Huntington, New York except for a very few years, although in that time he got himself recorded as a patentee under the Nicholls Patent. At Brookhaven, Huntington and in his later residency at Newtown, he was recognized as possessing leadership and ability. In the Minutes of the Town Courts there is preserved testimony which he gave, and which brings the voice of this ancestor down through the centuries. We quote:

*Just who these "garls" (i. e. girls) were cannot be decided at this late date. They may have been daughters of John Ketcham by a previous wife, or some other relatives in the household, or even, servants. The son Philip by a wife other than Bethiah Richardson is proved here.

12. EDWARD KETCHAM 3,472. 3,588
m. MARY HALL

He was born probably in southern England, about 1590-95.

Edward Ketcham appears to have been a sojourner at Cambridge, county Cambridge, England at the time of his marriage in 1619. For the next nine years, at least, he was a resident of Cambridge or its immediate vicinity; after 1628 he has not thus far been found in English records.

Some time in the next decade he resolved to emigrate to the English colonies on the other side of the Atlantic ocean, and he is accordingly found in Ipswich, Massachusets when on 9 March, 1636/7 he was made a freeman. James Savage says that he was at Ipswich as early as 1635. Edward Ketcham is recorded as a cattle-owner of Ipswich 20 December, 1638, and again 13 June, 1639. A deed of Samuel Boreman's states that he had sold land to Boreman about 1640. He was still of Ipswich 3 March, 1639/40 when Hester Ketcham, presumably his daughter, was freed from her service to John Woolridge.

Sometime after this he removed to Southold, Long Island, although the date is unknown. The earliest records of Southold are lost, and the available references are evanescent. The records that remain show however, that he was at one time a resident there. In the enumeration of the several properties of William Wells, one piece was separated from the property of Edward Ketcham by the highway. This shows that Edward Ketcham was in Southold before 1651. On 8 August, 1654, William Wells purchased eight acres of land in Southold from Ensign Alexander Bryan of Milford, Connecticut, which had been the property of Edward Ketcham in Southold.

In the description of land owned by Thomas Mapes in 1652, mention is made of a certain parcel of land beginning from Edward Ketcham's meadow; and in the description of land belonging to Joseph Horton at Southold, 2 January, 1653, the property of Edward Ketcham is cited as adjoining. In February, 1654, reference is made to land "late Edward Ketcham's, now Mrs. Wells' lying west"; and on 5 December, 1655 Mathias Corwin owned land adjoining that of Mrs. Wells, and which latter had formerly been the property of Edward Ketcham. It is thought that Ketcham removed before the colder weather of the winter of 1653-4 had set in, or in the fall of 1653.

His next and last residence was Stratford, Connecticut, Here Edward Ketcham died in June of 1655. His will of that month was proved 17 June, 1655 and the inventory was taken 9 June, 1655. It amounted to £90/11/6. He was noted in the records most frequently as Edward Catcham.

Edward Ketcham married in St. Andrew the Great parish church at Cambridge, England, 1, on 22 August, 1619 to Mary Hall. It is believed that she died probably in England. He married 2, probably at Ipswich, Massachusetts to Sarah, maiden name not found, who survived him to marry Henry Whitney of Huntington, New York, and Norwalk, Connecticut (see WHITNEY-KETCHAM).

Issue, by first wife:

1. Mary, born probably at Cambridge, England in 1620, baptised at St. Andrew's, Cambridge, 7 May, 1620; mentioned in the will of her father in June, 1655. Not traced further.
2. John, married 1, Susan(na) ; 2, Bethiah Richardson. See page 1,715.
3. Hester, called Chattcham in the baptismal record, baptised in Holy Trinity church at Cambridge, England, 10 April, 1626. The Court of Assistants of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, 3 January, 1639/40 emancipated her from her then master John Woolridge, apparently because of his propensity to drunkenness and disorderly conduct. She is referred to in the will of her father, June, 1655. Not traced further.
4. Ann, called Ketham, baptised at St. Michael's, Cambridge, England, 19 October, 1628 (Cambridgeshire Antiquarian Society Publications, vol. 25, p. 7).

Issue, by second wife:

5. Sarah, married Joseph Whitman. See KETCHAM, Third Line.
6. Rebecca, called daughter of Edward Ketcham of Stratford, Connecticut in Norwalk records, married 14 February, 1677 to Thomas Taylor of Norwalk. Issue.
7. (probably, because of his close association with Rebecca (Ketcham) Taylor and because if he was descended of Edward Ketcham there appears to be no other way in which he could be descended) Joseph, born about 1650, probably at Southold, New York, died at Norwalk, Connecticut in 1730. His will, dated 4 May, 1730, was proved 3 July, 1730. He, and many of his descendants, spelled the surname Ketchum. Joseph Ketchum married 1, Norwalk, Conn., 13

April, 1679 to Mercy Lindall, born at New Haven, Conn., 18 December, 1658, daughter of Henry Lindall of New Haven; married 2, before 4 May, 1730 to Sarah, maiden name not reported, who married as his widow to Phineas Hanford. Issue, by first wife:

i. Nathaniel, born at Norwalk, Connecticut 23 January, 1679-1680, died at Wilton, Conn., 19 September. 1738. His will, dated 9 September, 1738, was proved 21 December, 1738. Nathaniel Ketchum was lieutenant in the Wilton train band, October, 1727 and captain in October, 1730. He married at Norwalk, Conn., 12 June, 1710 to Sarah Wakelee, daughter of Deliverance Wakelee. Issue:

A. Elihu, born 28 April, 1714.

B. Hannah, born 27 November, 1717, married Jonathan Ketcham of Huntington, New York, son of Nathaniel and Abigail Ketcham. See page 1,722.

C. Ephraim, born 11 August, 1719, married 3 April, 1746, Mary Spencer.

D. Ebenezer, born at Norwalk, Conn., 6 May, 1723, m. 1, 2 January, 1746/7 to Rachel, maiden name not reported, and who died 13 May, 1747; married 2, Mary Sherwood. Issue, by first wife:

a. Daniel, born 27 May, 1747

Issue, by second wife:

b. Thadeus (sic), born 11 December, 1748, married 23 November, 1769, Rachel Boughton.

c. Stephen, born 22 February, 1750, died 15 April, 1710, married in 1774 to Tryphena Torry. Residents respectively of Ballston Spa and Oxford, New York. Issue.

d. Ebenezer, born 26 January, 1751.

e. Jonathan, born in May, 1754.

f. Joshua, born 22 January, 1755.

g. Mary, born 12 December, 1757.

h. Susannah, born 19 August, 1759.

i. Joseph, born 23 August, 1761.

j. Benjamin, twin with Joseph, born 23 August, 1761, died at Lisle, New York in 1822, married at Sharon, Conn., Sarah Kelsey. Issue, residents of Broome co., N. Y.

k. Sarah, born 15 January, 1764.

l. Jeremiah, born 14 May, 1769, died 1 December, 1825.

m. Charlotte, born 31 July, 1774.

E. Joseph, born 9 March, 1725/6, married 8 March, 1739/40, Elizabeth Hurlbut.

F. Sarah, born 9 November, 1725/6, married 29 September, 1743 to Phineas Chapman. She died 23 December, 1812.

G. Nathan, born 5 April, 1729, died in January of 1805; married

ii. Sarah, born at Norwalk, Conn., 19 February, 1681/2.

iii. Hannah, married (recorded at Ridgefield, Conn.) 9 May, 1711, Daniel Olmstead.

iv. Elizabeth, married 1, Thomas Gregory and 2, 13 August, 1719, Moses Fountain.

v. Joseph, lieutenant of the South company at Norwalk, Conn. in May, 1731 and captain of the First company in May of 1739.

vi. John.

vii. Samuel.

viii. Deborah, married Samuel Clugston.

Issue, by which wife not determinable:

8. Hannah, mentioned in the will of her father in June, 1655, and frequently identified as the child baptised as Ann, an identification which we do not accept. No further record.

NOTES

We are deeply indebted to the researches conducted on behalf of Mr. John I. Coddington in England, in which we were privileged to participate in a small way, for the baptismal records of the children of Edward and Mary (Hall) Ketcham. The present writer discovered independently the marriage of Edward Ketcham about 1937 in Phillimore's Cambridgeshire Marriages, vol. 5, p. 6 and communicated this information to the late James F. Morton of Paterson, New Jersey on a privileged basis. In this connection the writer wishes to make a few comments. The first is that in giving out this information the writer did not, at that time, claim that the Edward Ketcham so found was the one of the present connection. The second is that while it may be that other researchers had found this entry before this time, we were not aware of it. The third is that we have found that Mr. Morton disseminated this information widely, to such an extent that a positive identity of the American immigrant with the Cambridge man was eventually made, an outcome which was probably inevitable, some genealogists being what they are.

Therefore, it is gratifying that Mr. Coddington's researches have established reasonably from the baptisms of the children, that the Edward Ketcham who married Mary Hall was indeed the emigrant.

In the list of children of Edward Ketcham there is usually included a son Samuel. There is no baptismal record for such a man thus far found in England; and the records available for a man of this name are from Long Island and at a time when they could be ascribed to the son of John and Susan [illegible] Ketcham. He was not of Ipswich nor of Southold in the earliest days, and one pedigree which makes a Samuel the father of Joseph Ketchum of Norwalk is believed to be wrong. We challenge the evidence that such a Samuel existed, and that he was the father of Joseph Ketchum.

James Savage in his Genealogical Dictionary of New England, vol. III, p. 14, has Edward Ketcham in Ipswich as early as 1635. Other than the pertinent references already given under JOHN KETCHAM, see Southold Town Records, edited by J. Wickham Case, vol. I, pp. 4, 9, 18, 21 and 27; A History of the Old Town of Stratford and the City of Bridgeport, Connecticut, by the Rev. Samuel Orcutt, Part I, p. 241; History and Genealogies of the Families of Old Fairfield, Conn., by Donald L. Jacobus, Vol. I, p. 359; Boston Evening Transcript, Note 3136 by Amiko, 4 and 11 May, 6 and 27 July and 16 November, 1940, and 29 March and 12 April, 1941; Ancestry of Col. John Harrington Stevens and his wife Frances Helen Miller, by Mary Lovering Holman, 1949, p. 511; Bible Records, Vol. 58, (New York State), filed in the library of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, 1943/4 (line of Stephen Ketchum, founder of the families in Greene and Chenango counties, New York): the Southold, Long Island Traveler, 28 October, 1904 (which gives an alleged version of the will of the first Edward Ketcham which is inconsistent with the facts) and The Whitney Family of Connecticut, by S. Whitney Phoenix, p. 4.

In The Whitney Family Mr. Phoenix gives a rendition of the will of Edward Ketcham as he found it to be shortly before 1878. The record is in the Probate Records of Fairfield, and unfortunately at some past time (considerably before 1878) had had ink spilled over it. As a consequence it is stated that the interaction of the acidic ions in the old-fashioned inks had eaten out the paper to such an extent that most of the will is illegible. What is left of the will of Edward "Catchem" appears to be as follows:

I, Edw.... ....perfect.... ....God h....
Sarah.... ....and.... ....burial.... to pay.... ....cause to.... ....After my decease five shillings.... ....to.... ....John....

KETCHAM

Mr. Phoenix's compilation, while it may contain errors, does show that he endeavored to be painstakingly accurate.

Mr. Donald L. Jacobus informed the writer 17 June, 1932 that he had seen the will of this Edward Ketcham recorded in Fairfield Probate Records, and also said that > it is in the badly damaged first volume, and much of it was lost years ago. The part remaining mentions wife Sarah, son John, and daughters Mary, Hannah and Hester. Other children were probably mentioned in the part lost from the top of the page. The top of all these pages were eaten away by chemicals in ink spilled on the volume before 1800, and I do not believe any genealogist can quote the will in full; a brief abstract made in 1841 adds nothing to the above statement.

From the abstract made by Mr. Phoenix, it is believed that the daughter Anne (as distinct from Hannah) was still living in 1655.

There is record of a Henry Ketcham in Ipswich, Massachusetts, in 1638. He does not appear further in Massachusetts and his connection with Edward Ketcham, if any, is unknown.

The ancestry of Edward Ketcham is unknown.

NOTES ON THE KETCHAM FAMILY (et var.) IN ENGLAND

From the Boston Evening Transcript, 11 May, 1940 we take the following, as provided through the fine generosity of Mr. John I. Coddington:

> .... My own study (this writer calls himself Amiko) of English sources shows the first plain trace of the family in Horton (Kent, near Canterbury) and Folkestone, Kent, where the published marriage records show a family named Ketcham, as early as 1459, and thence to 1526. In one case, toward the latter date, the name is spelled Ketham, which as we shall see .... is found applied to Edward himself a century later.
>
> .... The light grows a little brighter presently, since the Goodwin genealogy includes copies of old Kentish wills belonging to its ancestry. Here we have the will of Dionyse Goddyn, Folkestone, widow, March 13, 1430-1, in which she names a whole list by the name of Ketham. A century later comes the will of Mareye Goodwin, of Postlinge, widow, Nov. 17, 1641, in which she spells the name Kitham, but refers to one of its members both as Kitham and as Kitcham. The spelling Ketcham has been found by me only once. This is in the administration proceedings of John Ketcham, mariner, in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, 1667.

And from the same, March 29, 1941, Part II, page 2:

> Note 3136. Part 6. The volumes of Archaeologia Cantiana, referred to more in detail in my answer 9381, published Nov. 30, 1940 .... throw a veritable flood of light on the long, moot problem of the origin of the Ketcham name and family.
>
> The oldest reference, long antedating any mention elsewhere in England of any possible origin of the Ketcham family, is found in volume 46, page 12, where the name Caetham and Chatham are used (synonymously), in a document assigned to about the year 975.
>
> Next comes a charter of William Rufus, definitely dated by reference to positively known events, as of 1090-3. This document, in volume 24, page 4, was sent "ad prae posituram de Ceteham," for the Cathedral of St. Andrews, Rochester.... The Latin original gives the place-name as Cetham, which the Archaeological Society translates as Chatham.
> In volume 30, page 74, Henry and William de Catham, sons of Henry, make a gift to the hospital at Ospring, April 1, 1247. Volume 31, page 82, records a debt paid in 1468-9 by the treasurer of St.

Austin's Abbey, Canterbury, to Richard Ketcham of Monk's Herton. In 1552, in another volume which I failed to make note of, John Keteham is named as an inhabitant of Romney, Kent. In volume 20, page 44, administration on the estate of William Ketham, New Romney, is granted to his father of the same name.

Chatham, Eng.

The foregoing records, taken as a series, and connected with those which I have enumerated in a preceding contribution, seem thoroughly convincing. The family evidently originated in the ancient Kentish village, known by the variant spellings of Castham, Catham, Cetham, Ceteham and Chatham; and its members were termed "de" Catham, or whatever variant spelling may occur in any given case. Later on, the "C" gradually gave way to the "K," though still often found. In all cases, however, the name ended in "-am."

The Chatham family seems to have been (an) early offshoot, which soon went its separate way....

Of the family with which we are concerned, the form "Ketcham" seems to have won its way into general use in the course of the 17th century, although the parish records of Cambridge continue to refer to our own Edward by the name of Cecham, Cetham and Kecham. In Ipswich, the records, as formerly shown, name him and his family as Catcham, a spelling nowhere found in England, and in this country used only in Ipswich and in Edward's will of 1655.

So, as the late James F. Morton could say, all of the stories and reports of a mythical Sir Roland Ketcham in Wales and of German, Dutch and other origins are fully disproved, and have no standing whatever.

10. HESTER or ESTHER KETCHAM 897
m. JOHN WICKES or WICKS son of Thomas Wilkes or Wickes and

She was born probably at Ipswich, Massachusetts about 1648.

Her baptismal record is not found.

She was brought to Huntington, New York in the family of her father John Ketcham, undoubtedly through Southold and Brookhaven, New York. Hester Ketcham is the one identified as recorded in a license issued 25 April, 1673 to permit the marriage of Hester Ketcham to John Wickes. The marriage undoubtedly took place, as the records of Huntington, New York show that the name of his wife was Hester. She is also called Esther.

Hester (Ketcham) Wickes signed an indenture with her husband 20 October, 1706, when John Wickes conveyed to Joseph Wood. However on 14 January, 1709 when John Wickes again conveyed property, she is not mentioned; nor is she recorded subsequently.

The date of her death is unknown. No administration of her effects is found.

For descendants, see WICKES-WICKS, #896.

NOTES

See Names of Persons for Whom Marriage Licenses were issued by the Secretary of the Province of New York, issued by the State of New York; Huntington, New York Deeds, Liber I, p. 544; and other references as given under WICKES-WICKS.

It must be stated that there is no record specifically stating that the daughter of John and Susan Ketcham married John Wickes. However, there seems to be no other possible ancestry for this Hester Ketcham, and many genealogists have accepted it as fact. The writer agrees. Accordingly we say that

KETCHAM

Hester Ketcham was undoubtedly the daughter of John and Susan Ketcham. See #1,736, 1,794, page 1,713, this volume.

10. SARAH KETCHAM 901
m. JOSEPH WHITMAN

She was born at Ipswich, Massachusetts about 1639.

She came with her father's family to Southold, Long Island in all probability, and in 1655 was a resident in her father's household. Sometime before his death, Edward Ketcham was at Milford, Connecticut talking with Edward Frencham, & he told Frencham that Whitman was a good lad and should have his daughter.

After Edward Ketcham's death, his widow (Sarah's mother) married Henry Whitney and removed to Huntington, New York. Whitney opposed the match, and the whole matter was brought before the magistrate at Huntington 11 June, 1660. The latter, finding the matter difficult to decide, resolved to hear Mrs. Whitney. Her testimony is not reported, but genealogists have assumed that love had its way, as it is known that the wife of Joseph Whitman was named Sarah. The connection is accepted by us.

Sarah joined in a deed with her husband to Isaac Platt 11 December, 1688; she signed with an X mark. She participated in conveying land to her nephew Edward Ketcham 26 March, 1692; and she with her husband conveyed land to their son Nathan on 26 November, 1697. She is last of record 7 March, 1699, at which time Joseph and Sarah Whitman deeded land to their sons Zebulon and Nathaniel Whitman. Sarah was then about 60.

The date of her death is not found, and no administration of her estate is of record. She was probably buried at Huntington, New York.

For descendants, see WHITMAN, #900.

NOTES

The first record of Sarah Ketcham appears in the Huntington Court Records, p. 23, and it has been copied and reproduced both in the Whitney Genealogy by S. Whitney Phoenix and in the Huntington, New York, Town Records, vol. II, p. 78. The latter, however, has recorded the year incorrectly as 1690, whereas it was 1660. The two reproductions are not quite alike, and we have not seen the original in the Court Records for comparison. The following is believed to represent essentially the original:

Jeune the 11 (1660)

the complaint of henary Whitms to the court agaynst Joseph Whitmor (Whitman) for steling of his dafters afetions contray to her mothars mind and using unlafull menss to obtayne his dafters Leue

The testimony of samuell blakman: this depo. sayth being in compary Joseph Whitmor and seme others he herd good cechum say ioseph wase a good Lad and shuld have his dafter.

the Cort agred that the matar apering so dark that thay can not se cas to proseed to giue in thar aprehenciones without Sara cechum do apere to give the cort to understand what she can say in the case to giue them further Light

This is an interesting commentary upon the customs of the times.

Shortly afterwards Joseph Whitman of Huntington conveyed, 17 March, 1663, title to accomodations to John Rogers which had been formerly Edward Frencham's, showing that he had obtained Frencham's land. The associations thus confirm the probability that Joseph Whitman did marry Sarah Ketcham. (Huntington Town Records, printed, II, p. 247). 10. MARGRIETJE KOECK or KOUK 915
m. SIMON LOSEE son of Pieter Janszen Loyse(n) and Sara Colfs (Kolfs)

She was born probably at Flatbush, Kings county, New York, about November of 1682.

She was baptised in the Reformed Dutch church in New York city, New York 19 November, 1682, the sponsors at the baptism being Jean Parys (Lequier) and Rachel Dircks(his wife), of Brooklyn, New York.

Margrietje Koeck married about 1702 and probably at Bushwick, New York to Simon Losee. She and her husband were residents of Oyster Bay, New York as early as 1706. The Losee family lived at Wheatley in that town, and she was still a resident there 5 September, 1763, when her husband's will was proved. She was then a venerable matriarch of a very large family.

The date of her death has not been found. She was probably buried at Oyster Bay, New York.

For descendants, see under LOSEE, #914.

NOTES

The baptism is printed in Collections of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, Reformed Dutch Church Records, New York City, New York, (indexed). Her surname is Koek in modern Dutch, and means Cook, to which it was frequently Anglicized. The original name was Danish, and was probably spelled Kok. See also LOSEE.

Margrietje Koeck was the daughter of

11. LAURENS CORNELISZEN KOECK 1,830
m. MARGRIETJE BARENTS VAN FLAESBEEK daughter of Barent Gerritszen van Flaesbeek and Margrietje (Dircks) (Schút) Nagel

He was born in Denmark about 1640.

According to his own testimony, he emigrated to the New Netherlands in 1661 and as of September, 1687 had been a resident of Flatlands (Nieuw Amersfoort) on Long Island in New York for twenty-six years. He is recorded on the assessment rolls of Flatlands in 1676. He was temporarily of Flatbush, New York 2 February, 1677-1678, and was on the assessment roll of the latter place in 1683.

Lourens Corneliszen was a patentee of Bushwick, New York under the Dongan patent of 1687, and took the oath of allegiance to the English government in that year. On 22 December, 1687 he, calling himself Laurens Cornelise, farmer of New Arnhem in Bushwick, bought of Stoffel Jansz, carpenter, 12 lots of woodland, Nos. 32 and 33, in the new lots of Flatbush for 3,000 guilders, which the said Stoffel had bought of Minne Johannes. He with his wife Margaretta (Margrietje) mortgaged their farm at Bushwick 17 January, 169$\frac{3}{4}$ to Stephanus van Cortlandt.

He was still living 16 June, 1702. No will or administration of his effects has been reported; he was buried probably at Bushwick, New York.

Laurens Corneliszen Koeck married in the Reformed Dutch church in Manhattan, New York 5 March, 1676 to Margrietje Barents van Flaesbeek.

Issue:

1. Cornelis, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church in Manhattan, New York 21 March, 1677, sponsors Barent Arentszen, Marretje Cornelis. No further record.
2. Margrietje, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church in Manhattan, New York 21 December, 1678, sponsors Jeurian Janszen and Gristje Idens. She died young.
3. Margrietje, married Simon Losee. See page 1,741.
4. Gerrit, baptised at Flatbush, New York, 23 November, 1684. He was a resident of Bushwick, New York in 1706 where he had 50 acres. He was one of the sponsors to the baptism of his nephew, Lowerens, son of Simon and Margrietje (Keeck) Losee, 18 October, 1705. He is perhaps to be identified with a Gerard Cook of New York city. Gerrit Koeck married Geertje Losee, daughter of Cornelis Janszen and Geertje (Colfs) Losee. Issue not traced.

5. Marritje, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church in Manhattan, New York 22 June, 1687, sponsors Hendrick de Forecst, Sara Barents. She died young.
6. Barent, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church in Manhattan, New York, 1 March, 1691, sponsors Isaac de Forcest, Elsje Blanck. Further record not found.
7. Marritje (Marytje), baptised in the Reformed Dutch church in Manhattan, New York city, New York 13 October, 1693, sponsors Michiel Palmentier, Neeltje Palmentier; married Jan Loyse or Losee, son of Cornelis Janszen and Geertje (Colfs) Loyse(n) de Zeeuw. See LOSEE; also under No. 10. Martha below.
8. John, whose connections are proved by his will, dated 5 September, 1751, proved 20 January, 1752, and filed at Liber C, page 153, Jamaica, New York Wills. He died without issue, leaving bequests to Johannes Walters, son of William Walters of Oyster Bay, New York; sister Margaretta, wife of Simon Losee and her children; Margaret, daughter of his brother Abraham; Lawrence, son of sister Mary; and Johannes, son of sister Martha.
9. Abraham, born about 1698 at Bushwick, New York; as Abraham Koeck was sponsor at the baptism of Sarah, daughter of Jan and Antje Losee 3 May, 1719, in the Dutch Reformed church at Jamaica, New York; as Abraham Coeck was sponsor 23 April, 1720 to the baptism of Jannetje, daughter of Simon and Margrietje Losee in the same church; and was witness to the will of Gabriel Sprangh of Bushwick, New York 10 March, 1721/2. He was called Abraham Cook when he witnessed the will of Arent Stockholm of Bushwick 27 October, 1727 (Liber 12, p. 449 of New York city, New York Wills). In later years he was called Abraham Cook, and must be distinguished from a near contemporary of the same name, an English resident of East Hampton, New York. He was living 20 February, 1756 when he was mentioned in the will of Jacob Duryee of Brooklyn, New York. The witnesses to the will were Gabriel Durye and Gabriel Cook. The name of his wife has not been found; she may have been related to Gabriel Sprangh. Issue:
    i. Margaret, who married 3 December, 1743 to Daniel Duryea, son of Abraham and Elizabeth (Polhemus) Duryea. She was buried 15 March, 1777, after which Daniel Duryea married Martha Losee, daughter of Simon and Margrietje (Koeck) Losee, q. v. Issue (DURYEA):

A. Abraham or Abrem, baptised in the Dutch church at Oyster Bay, New York, 22 April, 1747, died young.

B. Gabriel, married Phebe Hoagland.

C. Elizabeth, married 1, Hendrick Vanderbilt; 2, James Carhart.

D. Abraham, married Susanna Debevoise.

E. Egge or Ache (sic), married William Remsen.

F. Margareta, married Daniel Downing.

Probable issue:

ii. Gabriel of Oyster Bay, New York, whose surname appears frequently as Cook. He married Elizabeth van Wicklen, daughter of Gerret and Helena (Ammerman) van Wicklen; she was born 29 September, 1728. Issue included (at least):

A. Lena, baptised in the Dutch church at Wolver Hollow, Oyster Bay, New York 29 May, 1757.

iii. Giertje, married Stephen Schenck. Issue (at least) (SCHENCK):

A. Jan, baptised in the Dutch church at Wolver Hollow, Oyster Bay, New York 27 March, 1768.

10. Martha. She married Lourens Haff, son of Lourens and Knier-tje (Pieters) Haff as his only wife. In Volume III, p. 1,190, we stated that Lourens Haff married 1, Marytje Koeck and 2, Martha, maiden name not found. That the wife of Lourens Haff appeared to have been Marytje was reported in Baptisms Record of the First Reformed Dutch Church at Jamaica, Long Island, New York, as transcribed by Mrs. Samuel K. (Josephine C.) Frost, entries of baptisms of the children of Lourens Hof (sic), 10 September, 1720; 8 April, 1722 and 6 November, 1726. Nevertheless the Oyster Bay Town Records, vol. 5, p. 145 as printed, records a deed of Lawrence Haff of the township of Oyster Bay, for £260 conveying land to Abraham Cornwell, and wherein his wife is called Matha (Marthe), 3 January, 1726/7. Since Mary (Marytje) and Martha (Maertje) are so similar in Dutch, these clerical errors are understandable. See HAFF, and SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION, this volume.

11. Pieter, baptised 16 June, 1702, sponsors Joost Duric, Magdaleentje, his wife. Not traced further.

A History of the Town of Flatlands by the Rev. Anson DuBois refers to Lourens Koeck on p. 5. Since Lourens Corneliszen Koeck was an inhabitant for twenty-one years of this town, we abstract from the Rev. Mr. DuBois' History his description in some part:(1884):

> The Township of Flatlands lies upon the northwesterly shore of Jamaica Bay, and includes a number of islands within the Bay .... The name Flatlands is descriptive .... designated by its early inhabitants New Amersfoort after the city of that name on the river Eem in the province of Utrecht in the Netherlands. Colloquially it was termed de Baije (the Bay).
>
> The true locality of the "Little Flats" .... was, without doubt, at the point where Andries Hudde and van Couwenhoven formed their settlement, near the Flatlands Reformed Church, at the intersection of Flatbush and Flatlands avenues.
>
> There can be no doubt that the earliest whites in Flatlands located at, or near, the point where the southerly course of the Kings highway bends suddenly westward at J. B. Hendrickson and Son's store. Uniform tradition, the language of early patents, the debris of Holland bricks, and the proximity of burial place, church and school, all prove this spot to have been earliest occupied by Europeans.

The general vicinity of the foregoing finds its center at the intersection of Kings Highway and Flatbush avenue in the present Brooklyn, New York, which is one block north of the intersection of Kings Highway with Flatlands avenue. The town of Flatlands was formally if belatedly created by Gov. Richard Nicolls 4 October, 1667; and in this vicinity, and probably not far from these intersections, was the home of the Koeck family. Continuing:

> We have an interior view of early Flatlands given in Danker's and Strycker's Journal of 1679-1680, published by the Long Island Historical Society. The picture is not flattered (i. e., flattering). (The Rev. Mr. DuBois notes that, except for the houses of Simon van Voorhees and Abraham Terhune, the homes of the settlers at this time consisted of one-story wooden houses). Towards the sea (this is 1679-1680) is a piece of low flat land which is overflowed at every tide, while adjoining corn lands are dry and barren for the most part. Some of them were now entirely covered with clover in blossom, which we (this is Dankers speaking) discovered in the atmosphere before we saw the fields. There is here a grist mill driven by the (tide) water which they dam up in the creek, and hereabouts they go mostly to shoot snipe and wild geese. Behind the village inland are their meadows, now arid.

And the Rev. Mr. DuBois returns to his own narrative:

> Flatlands people first worshipped at Flatbush and were ministered to by the Rev. Johannes Theodorus Polhemus (see POLHEMUS). The latter must have preached in Flatlands in private houses or in the schoolhouse until September 12, 1662 (in 1663 the people of Flatlands completed their own church - HFS). They chose an excellent location, near their primitive settlement, and gently elevated, and which had been sacred from time immemorial as an Indian burial place. In form the church was octagonal, with a belfry, and an inclosed portal called the Baptistry, or "Doophuisje;" the whole being covered, on roof and sides, with heavy spruce shingles, which were so durable as to have survived to our day.

10. WYNTJE HERCKS (KRANKHUYT) LUŸSTER 913
m. PIETER HAFF son of Lourens Haff and Kniertje Pieters Meet

She was born probably in the spring of 1675 at the so-called Poor Bouwerie on the south shore of Bouwerie (Bowery) Bay, now in Newtown, New York.

She was baptised in the Reformed Dutch church in Manhattan, New York city, New York 27 March, 1675, the sponsors being Karstan Luerszen and Engeltje Hercks. The proper equivalent of her name is Lavinia, although it is occasionally translated as Winifred.

She married 1, about 1694 to John Luÿster, born about 1671, died in 1697, son of Pieter Corneliszen and Aeltje (Thuys) Luÿster. On 1 June, 1697 (sic!) 26 guilders were paid to the Reformed Dutch church in Flatlands (New Amersfoort), New York for a grave, and for the use of a pall for John Luÿster. His will is said to have been dated 8 June, 1697.

The widow was a sponsor to the baptism of Sophia, daughter of her brother Theunis, 18 June, 1699.

Shortly after this date and before 1702 she married Pieter Haff of Flushing and Jamaica, New York. She acknowledged a deed conveying her deceased father's estate, 11 September, 1729.

It is believed that she died shortly before 1742. No will or administration of her effects has been found.

For descendants and further connections by the second husband, see HAFF, #912.

Issue, by first husband (LUŸSTER):

1. Pieter, born at Newtown, New York 9 November, 1696 (Bible Record, Henry A. Stoutenburg; the statement by T. G. Bergen that he was born 10 March, 1687 is manifestly in error). He died 18 April, 1772. Pieter Luÿster was a resident of Cedar Swamp in the town of Oyster Bay, New York; bought 82 acres of land near the Little Plains (Cedar Swamp) on 14 February, 1717 for £300.

Pieter Luÿster married 1, 11 May, 1718 to his first cousin Sarah Monfoort, born 28 February, 1696, baptised 29 May, 1696, died 7 February, 1757, daughter of Jan and Geertje Pieters (Luÿster) Monfoort; married 2, 30 June, 1758 to Catrina Lefferts Lott who died 4 December, 1766. Issue, by first wife:

i. Wyntje, born 28 May, 1719, married 1, Aaron van Nostrand, baptised at Jamaica, New York Reformed Dutch church 20 April, 1718, son of Albert and Egbertje (Hendrickson) van Nostrand; married 2, Gerrit van Nostrand. Issue, by first husband (VAN NOSTRAND):

Wyntje Hercks (Krankhuyt) Luyster was the daughter of 11. HERCK SIBOUTSZEN 1,826

m. WYNTJE THEUNIS QUICK daughter of Theunis Thomaszen Quick and Belitje Vleckstein

He was born about 1620 at or in the vicinity of Langedyck, a hamlet in the canton of Cost Stellingwerf, province of Friesland, the Netherlands.

He emigrated from Langedyck to New Amsterdam in the New Netherlands shortly before 1642, in which year he is recorded as a resident of the latter place. His original trade was that of a ship's carpenter; but in later life he was a farmer on Long Island. At first he lived on De Heeren-gracht (now Broad street) in New Amsterdam (New York). In November, 1643 he conveyed a house and lot on Manhattan island to Barent Dirckszen, and gave a power of attorney to Claes Janszen Salff to receive money for him from the Dutch West India Company at Amsterdam in the Netherlands.

After 1647 and before 1650 he removed to the Poor Bouwerie, so-called, on the south side of Bowery Bay in the town of Newtown, New York. Here he had a farm located on the meadows along the east side of Mespat Kil and where he lived the rest of his life. He was granted 21 morgens of land here 2 July, 1654, and was further given 8 morgens more 18 April, 1664. His homestead was adjacent to that of Abraham Rycken, and was in part represented in the estate of Isaac Rapalje in the 1850's.

Herck Siboutszen was rated at Newtown 4 December, 1665 and is recorded in tax lists again 26 February, 1667/8. In the years following he appears as a godfather or sponsor to baptisms of his grandchildren. He died shortly before 3 April, 1697 at Newtown, New York, at which time the heirs sold their interest in his estate to his son Jacobus, who lived on the farm thereafter. No will or administration of his effects is otherwise found. He was probably buried at Newtown, New York. His sons took the name Krankhuyt or Krankheyt, which later became Cronkhite, Cronkwright and Cronk. This surname in English means illness, and why it was assumed is inexplicable.

Herck Siboutszen is undoubtedly the Henricus Sibelsen recorded in the marriage registers of the Reformed Dutch church in New Amsterdam, New Netherlands, 16 November, 1642, as marrying Marretje Theunis, the last being a clerical error for Wyntje Theunis. As a given name Herck is not frequent in Dutch, (Hercules in English), and this pagan name was undoubtedly altered by the Dominy to fit what seemed to be more fitting.

Issue, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church in New Amsterdam:

1. Sibout, baptised 4 December, 1644, sponsors Sybout Claeszen, Hendrick Jacobszen, was a resident of Westchester county, New York. In 1684, Thomas De Kay, Sibout Harche (i. e. Herckszen or son of Hercules), Jacob Harche and others individually obtained licenses to purchase three hundred acres of land from the Indians, lying and being in the highlands by the north of Stephen van Cortland's land. He bought further land of the Indians 23 December, 1685. Shortly afterward the Reformed Dutch church of Cortland, New York was established, and on 21 April, 1717 he and his second wife Geertje were listed as communicants. Sybouwt Krankheyt and his wife were residents of Mount Pleasant in 1697; and he may be the Sybout Krankheyt who was living at Cortland 29 December, 1729, although this may have been a grandson. He married 1, in April, 1669 to Marritje Lent, daughter of Abraham Rycken, surnamed Lent, by his wife Geertje Hendricks; married 2, after 1693 but before 1717, Geertje, maiden name not reported. Issue, by first wife, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church in New York city, New York:
    i. Herck, baptised 17 April, 1670. sponsors Theunis Thomaszen (Quick), Belitje Thomas.

    iii. Abraham, baptised 16 August, 1676, sponsors Evert Aertszen, Marritie Hercx.
    iv. Wyntie, baptised 1 May, 1680, sponsors Herck Siboutszen, Wyntie Theunis; probably the one of that name who married Cornelis Janszen van Tassel, son of Jan Cornelisz. and Annetje (Ablette) van Tassel, widower of Antje Storm. See Van Texel - Van Tassel - The Descendants of Jan Corneliszen Van Texel, by Daniel Van Tassel (MS in the Los Angeles, California public library), 1941.

v. Annetie, born probably at Cortland, New York, baptised 19 March, 1684, sponsors Pieter Janszen, Jenneken de Key.

vi. Herck, born probably at Cortland, New York, baptised 20 November, 1687, sponsors Jan Hercxen, Adriaentie Hercx. He was a resident of the Manor of Cortland, married and had issue.

vii. Jan, born probably at Cortland, New York, baptised 20 November, 1689, sponsors Jacobus de Key, Anneken Hercx.

viii. Hilletje, born probably at Cortland, New York, baptised 30 April, 1693, sponsors Johannes van Vorst and Tryntje Hercx. She married Francis Beasley and had issue.

2. Maryken, baptised 10 November, 1647, sponsors Theunis de Metselaer (i. e., Theunis Thomaszen Quick), Reynier Dominicus, Claes Janszen, Belitje Cornelis. She married 2 February, 1673 to Evert Aertszen, son of Aert and Wyntje (Elberts)Willemszen. See The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol.26, p. 134.

3. Tryntje, baptism not reported, who married Ryck Abrahamszen Lent, son of Abraham Rycken and Geertje (Hendricks) Lent. See History of the Lent (van Lent) Family, by N. B. Lent, 1902, p. 8.

4. Beelitjen, baptised 4 February, 1652, sponsors Lambert Huybertszen, Jacob Teuniszen (de Kay), Jan Janszen, Beelitje Jacobs (Vleckstein, wife of Theunis Thomaszen Quick). She married 19 March, 1675 to Coenradt ten Eyck, son of Coenradt and Maria (Boele) ten Eyck. See The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol. 63, p. 156.

5. Engeltje (Angelche), baptised 17 May, 1654, sponsors Jochem Calder (i. e. Caljer; see COLYER), Dirck Janszen, Susanna Jans, Annetje Lodowycks. She married 1, 13 June, 1677 to Pieter Bresteede; 2, 4 May, 1686, Jan Evertszen and 3, after 1684, John Wendover. Issue, by first husband (BRESTEEDE):

i. Jan, baptised at New York, N. Y., 30 January, 1678, sponsors Evert Aertszen, Marritie Breestede (sic).

ii. Hercules, baptised at New York, N. Y., 18 October, 1679, sponsors Herck Siboutszen, Geertie Theunis.

iii. Maria, baptised 5 November, 1681, sponsors Wouter Breestede, Wyntie Theunis.

iv. Petrus, baptised 27 February, 1684, sponsors Carsten Luurzen, Tryntie Breedstede.

Issue, by second husband (EVERTSZEN):

v. Samuel, baptised 19 September, 1686, sponsors Andries Breedstede, Janneken Breedstede.

vi. Jan, baptised 9 May, 1689, sponsors De Hr Francis Nicols, dep. Gouverneur (i. e. deputy Governor of the Province of New York), Hieronÿmus Van Bommel, Marritje Hercks.

There were children by the third husband.

6. Theunis, baptised 4 July, 1655, sponsors Arie Dirckszen, Jochem Caljer, Teunis Teuniszen, Belitje Jacobs (Vleckstein), Susanna Jacobs. Theunis Herckszen Krankheyt was a resident of the Manor of Cortland, Westchester county, New York. He married in the Reformed Dutch church in New York city, New York 10 September, 1679 to Sophia Hendricks. Issue, baptised at New York, N. Y.:
   i. Wyntje, baptised 15 September, 1680, sponsors Herck Siboutszen, Wÿntie Theunis. She died young.
   ii. Hendrick, baptised 21 June, 1682, sponsors Pieter Breestede, Geertie Theunis.
   iii. Wÿntie, baptised 16 March, 1684, sponsors Meÿnard Hendrickszen, Wÿntie Herck. She married Abraham de Reven.
   iv. Herck, baptised 24 November, 1685, sponsors Meÿnart Hendrickszen, Jennecken Hendricks.
   v. Sibout, baptised 3 July, 1687, sponsors Jan Herckxen, Margariet Meÿrinck.
   vi. Margariet, baptised 18 August, 1688, sponsors Marten Hendrickszen, Grietje Hendrick.
   vii. Jacobus, baptised 4 November, 1691, sponsors Jacobus Herckxen, Annatje Herck. He died young.
   viii. Jacobus, baptised 21 May, 1693, sponsors Jacobus Herck, Wÿntje Herck.
   ix. Sophia, baptised 18 June, 1699, sponsors Henderick Martense, Wÿntje Harx, Weduwe (this is Wyntje Theunis Quick, then widow of Herck Siboutszen. See QUICK).

7. Jan, baptised 28 November, 1657, sponsors Pieter Syboutszen, Jacob Theuniszen (de Kay), Grietje Huddens, Belitje Jacobs (Vleckstein). He was a resident of Tarrytown, New York; married about 1695, Grietje, maiden name not reported. Issue:
   i. Jan, baptised 21 April, 1697, sponsors Jan Ecker, Rechel van Weerdt.
   ii. Herrick (i. e. Herck), baptised 24 April, 1699, sponsors Cornelis van Texel, Marritje Hercks.
   iii. Fytje, baptised 18 April, 1702, sponsors Albert Minnelay, and his wife Meeneke Jans.
   iv. Neyrtje, baptised 4 June, 1705, sponsors Theunis Krankheyt and Mettje Wickelen; probably married 19 August of 1719, Mattheus Brouwer.
   v. Jacobus, baptised 1 June, 1708, sponsors Jacobus Krankheyt and his wife Elizabeth Hegeman. He lived at Ryck's Patent, Westchester county, New York; his will, dated 7 January, 1771, was proved 10 February, 1773. Jacobus Krankheyt married 1, about 1735 to Geertje van Tassell; 2, about 1753, Charity, maiden name not reported. Issue, by first wife:

A. Jacobus or James, baptised in the Dutch church at Tarrytown, New York 18 October, 1737, sponsors Hendrick Lent and Margrietje Lent. He married 1, about 1763 to Esther Lent; 2, about 1771 to Naomi Baker. By his first wife he was an ancestor of the late Hon. Chauncey M. Depew.

B. A daughter, born about 1739, married about 1759 to Teller and had issue.

C. Hannah, born about 1743, married Peter Montross.

D. Margaret, born about 1751, died 23 July, 1827, married about 1775 to John Lent.

8. Jacobus, baptised 7 September, 1659, sponsors Jacob Theuniszen de Key, Aeltie Willems; died 18 February, 1729 at the old family homestead at the Poor Bowery in Newtown, New York. His will, dated 18 November, 1728, was proved 3 March, 1728/9. Jacobus Krankhuyt or Krankheyt married Elizabeth Hegeman; but there is no reported issue.

9. Annetje, baptised 19 March, 1662, sponsor, Hillegond Joris. She married in the Reformed Dutch church in New York city, New York 20 August, 1685 to Johannes van Vorst.

10. Jannetje, baptised 3 August, 1664, sponsors Jacob Theuniszen Cray (sic), Pieter Janszen, Geertje Theunis. She married 1, about 1685, John Pinkens; 2, Jumans (?Yeomans)

NOTES

The basic records appear in Collections of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, Marriages and Baptisms in the Reformed Dutch Church, New York, vol. I (marriages) and II (baptisms, 1639 to 1730, pp. 53, 64, 73, 90, 107, 118, 124, 142, 148, 162, 183, 193 and 214, and otherwise as indexed; Calendar of Historical Manuscripts in the Office of the Secretary of State, Albany, N. Y., edited by E. B. O'Callaghan, Part I, pp. 25, 38, 106; Part II, p. 16; The Annals of Newtown, New York, by James Riker, jr., pp. 36, 236; The History of the Several Towns, Manors and Patents of the County of Westchester, by Rev. R. Bolton (indexed); and see Some Notes on the History of the Bogart Family in Canada, by Marshall C. Bogart, 1918, Chapter II (the Cronk family); and Chronology and Ancestry of Chauncey M. Depew, by William A. Eardeley, pp. 33-41.

Riker in his The Annals of Newtown misread original record and stated that Herck Siboutszen was of Languedoc, i. e. from France; this is in error. The reason why the children were baptised in New Amsterdam is explained by Riker as follows:

> No church of this denomination was organized in Newtown till nearly four score years after the settlement; a circumstance explained by the fact that the Dutch inhabitants were few, and nearly all located on the northern and western borders of the town, whence they found easy access by water to the churches at New-York, Bushwick or Harlem. In the year 1686 the families of .... Abraham Rycken, Harck Krankheyt .... all residing at or near the Poor Bowery, attended the ministrations of Dominie Selyns in New-York.

In Liber D of Deeds, p. 67, filed at Jamaica, New York, is a deed showing settlement of the estate of Herck Siboutszen, at least in part. An abstract taken from records filed in the Queens Borough Public Library at Jamaica is as follows:

> April 3, 1697. Siburt Harickson (that is, Sibout Herckszen, the son of Herck Siboutszen), Maricka Harickson, Trinche Harickson, Beleche Harickson, Angel Harickson, Townis Harickson, John Harickson, An Harickson, Jean Harickson, Areanche Harickson, Heliche Harickson and Winche Harickson all joint heirs of Harick Sibartson (Herck Siboutszen) and Winche his wife of the one part and Jacobus Harickson also one of the heirs of the said Harickson (that is, Herck Siboutszen) and Winche of the other part - for and in consideration of 250 pounds paid to parties of the first part by party of the second part have given granted and sold unto parties of the second part a certain farm of land being at a place commonly called Pores Bowrie and in the bounds of Newtown with timber trees pastures meadows....

September 11, 1729

John Snedeker and Wine (sic) Huff came before me and acknowledged the within deed to be their free and voluntary act and deed

The foregoing "Wine" Huff is Wyntje Hercks (Krankhuyt)(Luÿster) Haff, ancestor of the writer.

Langedyck, from whence Herck Siboutszen stated that he had come, is in the easternmost part of Friesland, and in old seventeenth century maps is included in that part of the province marked off as the Zevenwolden (Seven Woods). It is not far from the waterway variously called the Kuinder or Tjonger river (canal) but is not on it.

There were two contemporaries of Herck Siboutszen in New Amsterdam at the same time that he was there: Pieter Syboutszen, who was a sponsor in 1657 to the baptism of Herck's son Jan, and Susanna Sibouts. The latter appears twice: first as sponsor with Cornelis Theuniszen and Marie Philips to the baptism of Ariaentje, daughter of Joost Theuniszen Backer, 2 February, 1648; and second as sponsor with Dirck Theuniszen to the baptism of Marie, daughter of Christiaen Pietersz and Trÿntje Pieters, 22 December, 1660. Pieter Syboutszen is believed to have been a brother of Herck Siboutszen; however Susanna Sibouts appears not to have been of the blood.

Another man whom the late James Riker thought was related to this line was Sibout Claeszen. In his Revised History of Harlem, New York, at p. 166 Riker writes > Sibout Claessen, first proprietor of Hoorn's Hook, showed strength of character by his resolute stand against the assumptions of Stuyvesant. It accords with the belief that his parents were Friesans (sic) - most stalwart and strong-minded of Netherlanders - and had removed to Hoorn before his birth; for Sibout was no doubt cousin-german to Herck Siboutsen, from Langedyk, on the river Kuinre (sic), in the district of Zevenwalden, or Seven Forests .... Claessen married in 1645, Susannah, daughter of Jan van Schunenburgh and widow of Aert Teuniez van Putten. He left 1,000 guilders, wampum value, to the Dutch church, of which he and his wife were members, and his remaining estate on decease of his wife to her daughters by Teuniszen, i. e. Wyntie, wife of Simon Barentszen, and Susannah, wife of Reynier Willemsen.

Sibout Claeszen was sponsor at the baptism of Sibout, the eldest son of Herck Siboutszen in 1644. This circumstance provides assurance that these two men were related in some fashion, although we cannot come out as enthusiastically with the theory that Herck and Sibout were first cousins, as does Riker. The relationship remains to be established.

Herck Siboutszen was son of one Sibout, whose patronymic is unknown at this time.

FIRST AND SECOND LINES

7 & 8. MERCY LANGDON 71, 205
m. NATHANIEL OAKLEY son of Nathaniel Oakley and Ead

She was born at Hempstead, New York about 1720.

She married about 1740 to Nathaniel Oakley of Foster's Meadows, South Hempstead, New York; they resided in this locality for about ten years. Shortly after 1749 they removed to the Half Hollow Hills, Huntington, New York, where they resided the rest of their days. It is believed that she was an Episcopalian.

Mercy Langdon was living in 1777 but had deceased before 1790, when the son-in-law Jordan Taylor was living on the homestead. Her husband survived her. No will or administration of her effects is found. She was probably buried in a private cemetery at Half Hollow Hills.

For descendants see OAKLEY, ##70, 204.

NOTES

She is referred to in the will of her father as Mercy Oakley; the rest of the information was taken from family records of the Oakley family on file in the Newberry Library at Chicago, Illinois, and from testimony given to the writer by the late John M. Oakley of Babylon, New York.

The father of the writer descends from a daughter of Mercy Langdon; and his mother, from one of her sons.

Mercy Langdon was the daughter of

8 & 9. SAMUEL LANGDON 142, 410
m. MARY

He was born probably at Hempstead, New York about 1690.

Samuel Langdon was a cordwainer and owner of considerable estate in South Hempstead, New York. He did not participate in civic affairs and appears to have been a man of quiet proclivities. He was undoubtedly an Episcopalian. His earmark for stock was recorded in the Hempstead Town Records 20 November, 1710.

His will, dated 13 July, 1752, was proved 17 May, 1753, showing that his death took place probably in the spring of 1753. It is filed at Liber 18, page 318 of Wills, New York city, N. Y. He was probably buried at South Hempstead, New York.

He married about 1713 to Mary, whose maiden name has not been found; she survived him. Mrs. Langdon was baptised in St. George's Episcopal church at Hempstead, New York 3 March, 1746 with her daughter Melly (Amelia).

Issue:

1. Samuel, born at Hempstead, New York about 1715, living 13 July, 1752.
2. Ezekiel, married Sarah. See the genealogical section following.
3. Mercy, married Nathaniel Oakley. See page 1,759.
4. William, born at Hempstead, New York about 1724, received from his father all his patent rights in Hempstead. He is believed to be the William Langdon whose will, dated 8 June, 1785, was proved 30 September, 1794, an executor being James Carman, uncle to his grandchildren. He married 1, about 1745 to Katharine Bedell of Hempstead, New York, daughter of Thomas and Mary Bedell, who died shortly afterward. His second wife Alcheha (Aeltje) made her will 1 May, 1786; it was proved 1 April, 1790. Issue, by first wife:
    i. Millie (Amelia or Millicent), baptised in St. George's Episcopal church at Hempstead, New York 3 March, 1746, married Israel Carman, son of Daniel and Martha (Mott) Carman. Issue (CARMAN):
        A. William.
        B. Daniel.
        C. Martha.
        D. Amelia.
    ii. William, born about 1748, probably the one who was a Tory during the War of the American Revolution (Onderdonk's Revolutionary Incidents of Queens County, New York, pp. 118 ff). He was Overseer of Highways at Hempstead in 1776. Not traced further.

5. Melly (Amelia), born probably at Hempstead, New York about 1726; baptised with her mother 3 March, 1745/6.
6. Phoebe, born probably at Hempstead, New York about 1728, was baptised in St. George's Episcopal church at Hempstead with her mother, 3 March, 1745/6. She married 4 January, 1749 to Thomas Losee, in the same church.
7. Sarah, born probably at Hempstead, New York about 1730, married at St. George's Episcopal church at Hempstead 28 December, 1750 to Joseph Bedell, born at Hempstead, New York about 1723, son of Thomas and Mary Bedell. Apparently there was no surviving issue. See The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol. 71, p. 249.
8. Lydia, living 13 July, 1752.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF EZEKIEL LANGDON, SON OF SAMUEL AND MARY LANGDON OF SOUTH HEMPSTEAD, LONG ISLAND, NEW YORK.

2. Ezekiel Langdon, son of Samuel and Mary Langdon, was born at Hempstead (South Hempstead), New York about 1717/8, died at Hempstead, New York in 1760. His will, dated 3 August, 1760, was probated 25 October, 1760 and filed in Liber 22, p. 240 of Wills, New York city, New York. He married about 1747 to Sarah, whose maiden name is not reported. Issue:

+ 9. Richard, married Hannah Dorlon.
+ 10. Mary, married William Pool.
11. Elizabeth, born about 1752.
12. Amelia (Milley), born about 1754.
+ 13. Archelaus, married Elizabeth Frost.
14. Samuel, born about 1758, died 4 November, 1839; married and had issue.

9. Richard Langdon, son of Ezekiel and Sarah Langdon, was born at Hempstead, New York about 1748; married in 1773 to Hannah Dorlon, who was living in January, 1837. Issue:

NOTES

See Records of the Towns of North and South Hempstead, New York, vol. II, pp. 145, 213, 315, 475, 476, III, 83, 97, 108, 296, 325, 326 and 341; and in succeeding volumes as indexed. Record of the descendants of Ezekiel Langdon, son of Samuel and Mary Langdon, was compiled originally by the late William A. Eardeley from family records, wills, deeds and testimony of descendants; his MS is filed in the Queens Borough Public Library at Jamaica, New York.

The landed estate of Samuel Langdon is recorded in Records of the Towns of North and South Hempstead, New York, vol. VIII, p. 344. The land was originally laid out to the patent right of Joseph Williams, and Langdon's holdings were one half of the right, being fifteen and three-quarter acres. In volume III of the Records, page 97 it is recorded that at the request of John Mott, John Dorlon, Thomas Langdon, William Langdon, Joseph Langdon, Samuel Langdon and Elias Dorlon and some others of the freeholders of Hempstead, made to John Treadwell and William Willis, two of the Commissioners for the laying out of highways in Hempstead, a highway was to be laid out from the plains to the mill of William Langdon on the west side of the swamp that led from the settlement of Hempstead to the said mill, 9 January, 1724/5. The course of this new highway was along the path "formerly made by Joseph Langdon & Joseph Williams Deceased...."

This apparent association of Joseph Williams with the Langdon family is discussed further under the antecedent generation which follows. It is believed that some sort of relationship existed between the Langdon and Williams families.

On 7 April, 1730 Samuel Langdon had liberty to set up tanning vats where Robert Williams had also had them.

Samuel Langdon was the son of

9 & 10. JOSEPH LANGDON 284, 820
m. MARY

Joseph Langdon's birth is recorded at New Haven, Connecticut as having been 23 March, 1649; he may have been born there.

Shortly afterwards his parents were in Milford, Connecticut, and his father was at Derby, Connecticut in 1652. By 1658 the family was resident of Hempstead, New York, where Joseph Langdon lived the rest of his life.

He is first of record in Hempstead 10 October, 1665, when he bought a mare of Mr. Richard Gildersleeve. At a Hempstead town meeting 11 January, 1668 the inhabitants elected to divide themselves into groups to take up land, and Joseph Langdon was in one of these groups. Shortly afterward on 24 March, 1667/8 (1668) it was recorded that the widow Willis lately of Hempstead (but now of Oyster Bay) sold to Joseph Williams the home lot and land of the Willis family adjacent to the lot of Joseph Langdon. This apparently resulted in a close association between Joseph Langdon and Joseph Williams; they constructed a lane for their common use, and Joseph Langdon's son Samuel was later to own one half of Joseph Williams' property.

Joseph Langdon next appears as a party in a dispute between John Cornell and other inhabitants of Hempstead in 1676. On 3 October, 1676 an order was granted at New York city upon a petition of John Cornell (who had been "driven from his habitation at the eastward by the Indians") allotting him one hundred acres of land at Cow Neck in the town of Hempstead. Apparently Cornell's intention to settle was already known to the inhabitants before this date as on 29 September, 1676 they employed Jeremy Wood and Abraham Smith to warn off any persons endeavoring to settle at Cow Neck; it had been allocated hitherto to community pasturage. Before 16 October, 1676 Cornell had erected a house; on the afternoon of that day a group of Hempstead townsmen, including Joseph Langdon, went in force to Cornell's and pulled the house down, and destroyed his goods, at least in part, "with many menacings & threatnings to the said John Cornell".

As a result of this field day Joseph Langdon and the other participants were charged with committing a riot and the destruction of John Cornell's property. He was found guilty at an assize held at New York 26 October, 1676. On 5 October, 1677 he petitioned the Court to have his bonds given up and the whole or part of his fine remitted. The final disposition of the case has not been followed up, but his reputation in the community seems not to have suffered.

On 7 December, 1676 the town gave him two or three acres of meadow at Near Rockaway which he had already fenced in, and which adjoined his own lot there. It represented his share of the common meadow. At the same time Mr. Richard Gildersleeve protested against the allotment inasmuch as the property involved had been part of a common pasture; he offered to give Joseph Langdon an equivalent part of his own meadow. The protest was declared invalid by the Constable and Overseers of the town 1 May, 1678. Further grants to him are recorded 9 April, 1677 and 5 June, 1678.

On 1 May, 1678 John Skidmore of Jamaica, New York was plaintiff in an action of debt against William Osborne of Hempstead, defendant, and Joseph Langdon was a witness in the action. He testified that his (that is, Joseph Langdon's) mother had desired him to fetch three quarts of sack (a strong white wine) from John Skidmore's at Jamaica "for she said hur sone Osburn had Given hur order to send for sume"; and Langdon obtained the sack for her, charging it to the account of William Osborne. A discussion of the possible interpretations of the relationships involved is given in the NOTES following.

He sold one right or property in the town of Hempstead which at one time had been owned by Edmund Wood, one of the original proprietors, on 14 February, 1682/3 to Henry Willis of Hempstead. On 24 May, 1682 he gave 12s guarantee as his share towards the underwriting of the salary of the Rev. Jeremy Hobart or Hubbard. The earmark for Joseph Langdon's stock was recorded 5 July, 1682.

He sued Samuel Denton for trespass 3 August, 1687, and won a judgement of 20s. He appears of record in other land transactions in the next two decades. On 6 March, 1705/6 he conveyed property to his children, mentioning his wife Mary; the tone of the document is that of a will. It is believed that he was seriously ill at the time, and that he died not long afterward.He was probably buried at South Hempstead, New York.

Joseph Langdon married Mary, whose maiden name is unknown.She was living 6 March, 1705/6. It is believed that she was the only wife.

Joseph Langdon is explicitly called son of Thomas Langdon, deceased, 4 September, 1686 when William Yates of Flushing confirmed a sale of ten acres of meadow at Near Rockaway lying at the west side of a spring called Thickstone's Spring, to Joseph Langdon as son and heir of Thomas Langdon (Records of the Towns of North and South Hempstead, vol. II, p. 99). At vol. II, p. 475 of the Records just referred to parenthetically, is the following:

We turn now to the significance of Joseph Langdon's testimony of 1 May, 1678 in which he referred to his mother and to "hur sone Osburn" meaning, from further reading of the documentation, William Osborne of Hempstead, New York. Mr. Henry Alanson Tredwell of Brooklyn, New York wrote in 1945 in his Thomas Langdon of Hempstead, Long Island and Some of His Descendants (MS) as to the possible interpretations of this relationship. These included the possibilities that Joseph Langdon and William Osborne were brothers of the half blood; that Joseph Langdon had married William Osborne's sister; or that William Osborne had married Joseph Langdon's sister. Not included in this, but which should be considered, is the possibility that both Joseph Langdon and William Langdon married sisters, maiden names unknown.

An interpretation that the mother of Joseph Langdon was also the mother of William Osborne seems to be difficult to maintain. First, from the Medical Journal of John Winthrop it is evident that Joseph Langdon had a brother, name not reported, who was ten years of age or more in 1657 and who apparently died young. This older brother was born in 1647 or before, which means that his father Thomas Langdon had married Isabella, the mother of the children about 1646 or before. If Isabella married an Osborne before she married Thomas Langdon, it would have been presumably in the early 1640's, and he would have had to die young. If she married an Osborne after the death of Thomas Langdon about 1664 and had a son William Osborne b. in 1665 he would be rather young to have been involved in a transaction concerning sack, not to mention the fact that he would have been at least sixteen years younger than Joseph Langdon.

Either of these alternatives must take into consideration also the Osborne families which are found in New England and Long Island. Mr. Donald L. Jacobus has outlined the early connections of Osborne families in New Haven, Connecticut in The New Haven Genealogical Magazine, and others of New England have been outlined by James Savage in his Genealogical Dictionary of .... New England. If Isabella Langdon had married an Osborne prior to 1646, from the subsequent history of the family it would appear to have been one from New England. We cannot deny that it happened, although it has not been possible to find any member of a recorded Osborne family that could have been her husband; and diligent search has been made. Consideration must be given to the fact that a study of the Osborne family of Hempstead indicates no associations with New England.

Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell of Brocklyn, New York has given us information concerning the Osborne families of the west end of Long Island. There appear to have been three families: one descended of Richard Osborne of Newtown; another of William Osborne of Gravesend, and the last of another William Osborne, of Hempstead, whose son William was born in 1657 as his age is given as about 16 on 30 November, 1673 (Westchester records: Mr. Wardwell). From our examination of the Hempstead town records as printed it does not seem possible to establish a William Osborne who could have been the son of Isabella and born after 1664. Accordingly we have come to the conclusion that Joseph Langdon and William Osborne were not half-brothers; that is, the mother of Joseph Langdon was not the mother of "hur sone" William Osborne.

Next we take up the meaning of the word mother as used in this record. If the woman mentioned (she is not specifically named) was Joseph Langdon's mother-in-law, it is surprising to read that the text mentions her as his mother and her own son as her son Osborne. One would expect, it seems to us despite the freewheeling habits of recording clerks of those times, that the text would have read Joseph Langdon's mother Osborn and her son William. Since the reverse is true, we are of the present opinion that Joseph Langdon's own mother is referred to, and that she was the mother-in-law of William Osborne. The fact that there is no daughter of record hitherto given in the family of Thomas Langdon does not strike us as a significant point.

The reader will bear in mind, of course, that this is merely the statement of one man's opinion, and that to this writing insufficient evidence has been adduced to settle the relationship.

Joseph Langdon was the son of 10 & 11. THOMAS LANGDON 568, 1,640

m. ISABELLA

He was born about 1620, probably in England.

It has been reported that a Thomas Langden was of Lynn, Massachusetts at an early date. The original of this record is not reported, and it is considered that even if a man of that name was in Lynn, he was not the present Thomas Langden or Langdon.

On 7 January, 1650 Mr. Richard Malbon, lately of New Haven in the New Haven Colony, was referred to in the local Court as having been the "master" of Goodman Thomas Langdon. Evidently Langdon had been one of the "covenant servants" of Mr. Malbon, who brought over a number of yeomen who served an indentureship to pay for their passage. Mr. Malbon was in New Haven as early as 1642, when he served as a judge of the New Haven town Court. He served in several political offices but was a resident of New Haven only a few years, returning to England before 1650. Of him James Savage could say in his Genealogical Dictionary "perhaps went home in 1648 or 9, and it had been better if he had gone sooner."

Thomas Langdon came shortly after 10 March, 1646/7,* and appears to have been somewhat of a roisterer in his early days in New Haven. He was politely called a tavern keeper on 7 January, 1650, and was complained of in Court for disorderly entertaining of young men in his tavern at unseasonable times of the night, to use the description of the day. Not only that; he had been heard to sing songs which were called filthy and corrupting. To all this he answered that he saw no harm in such songs, and if they were in old England they could sing like that, and be as merry as they pleased. He was fined twenty shillings.

After 2 March, 165½ and before the Court held at New Haven 6 April, 1652 he was called of Milford, then claimed under the jurisdiction of New Haven. On 4 May, 1652 he appeared in

*The plan of the seats in the Meeting House in New Haven as of this date does not list the family of Thomas Langdon.

Court to answer for his wife's "disorderly inviteing Mr Cranes maide in the night to her house to eate a sacke posset* wth an intent to haue her meete a young man there, wthout parrents or masters consent". The devious testimony given by Thomas Langdon and his wife, taken together with the somewhat conflicting testimonies of witnesses, successfully irritated the Court.

But the worst was yet to come. Thomas Langdon and his wife, then of Milford, were called before the Court 1 March, 1652, to answer to a charge of what appears to have been the old English trick of poaching. What made it so bad was that his dogs had, according to him, drowned one of the Rev. Mr. Peter Prudden's hogs by holding him in the water by the ear; and by way of their trespasses or otherwise, one or two more of Mr. Prudden's hogs had found their demise at the hands of Thomas Langdon's blunderbuss. That it happened at all was bad enough, but to affront the local theocracy in the person of Mr. Prudden was the last straw. Langdon was heavily fined and (if the sentence of the Court was carried out) severely whipped.

In 1654 Thomas Langdon removed with his family to Paugasset, now Derby, Connecticut, where with his brother-in-law Edward Wooster he was one of the very first settlers. The first entry in the Town Records is without date, but the late Samuel Orcutt concluded from various circumstances that it was written in January, 1665/6, when Abel Gunn, the first recorder, started to keep the records. This entry shows that Mr. Goodyear, Mr. Wakeman and Mr. Gilbert sold to several men, then called of Milford, a tract of land at Paugasset in 1655. The company included Edward Wooster, Thomas Langdon, Isaac Platt and seven others. At that time Thomas Langdon was to have his home lot of 1½ acres where his house already stood; and he was credited also with four acres of upland and three of meadow. After this plan was adopted and before the land was laid out Alexander Bryan bought all of Thomas Langdon's land in this particular tract, and Edward Wooster bought it in turn from Mr. Bryan. Where Thomas Langdon and Edward Wooster lived was called Old Town, and at first there was not another family within several miles.

Derby · undertook against the inhabitants of Milford; however he was told in 1654 that if he prove troublesome to the Court the latter would take a course to either quiet or remove him. But it seems that by this time Langdon had learned that discretion is the better part of valor; and although he was still of record in Connecticut on 25 May, 1657, he had decided to remove from Connecticut by the end of the year.

On 23 September, 1655 Gysbert Opdyck sold land in Hempstead, New York to Alexander Bryan of Milford, and the latter conveyed this land to Thomas Langdon on 17 December, 1657. As a consequence he was rated in the town of Hempstead early in 1658. He took up land granted by the town on 29 November, 1658 and had five cows tallied to him 16 January, 1659. Langdon received 5s in February, 1659 for undisclosed services which he performed for the town in 1658. At a town meeting of the same month he was chosen with Lawrence Ellison and three others to serve as townsmen for the year (to perform a variety of offices). On 14 March, 1659 he assisted the surveyors of the town with his labor; and on 17 April of the same year he was one of those named to fence in Rockaway. A levy was taken in the town 8 March, 1659 for the "public charge" and he was rated.

Thomas Langdon deeded 19 acres of land to Robert Williams 25 January, 1660; and on 12 November, 1662 he purchased from Aaron Forman of Oyster Bay, New York, seven and one half acres, consisting of a homestead with house, barns, farm land and other appurtenances in Hempstead which Aaron Forman had lived in. This was in Mr. Strickland's Neck (a real estate venture of John Stickland) and the transactions show that Thomas Langdon was illiterate.

He seems to have adjusted his hunting instincts by the time he came to Hempstead, the result of which was that he achieved a remarkable record for killing wolves, on which there was a bounty. He collected six pounds for six wolves during 1658, although the town fathers soon brought the rate down; at a meeting of the town of Hempstead on 12 January, 1659 it was voted that Thomas Langdon having killed ten wolves, was to be paid for each wolf head six bushels of Indian corn, "and he is to have his range one mile w'thin ye North woods and in all the South Woods w'thin ye towne bounds." James Pine and John Mead, townsmen, testified before Mr. (Richard) Gildersleeve, Mr. (Robert) Ashman and John Hicks, magistrates on 13 May, 1661, that Thomas Langdon had killed ten wolves. However Langdon was so proficient and intrepid at this business that the townsmen reduced the rate per wolf head to four and one half bushels of Indian corn.

The last entry has a flavor of poetic justice: on 17 December, 1663 the town allowed Thomas Langdon to have 24 guilders in beaver pay, for damages sustained by his swine.

Between this last date and 23 March, 1663/4 Thomas Langdon died. He left no will, and the administration of his estate is not of record. He was probably buried at South Hempstead, New York. On 7 June, 1666 there was sold and delivered for the use of Edward Wooster of Stratford, Connecticut a debt due from Thomas Langdon, late deceased, consisting of among other things, a mare and colt.

Thomas Langdon married about 1646 to Isabella, maiden name unknown. She was evidently something of a matchmaker, and was living 1 May, 1678 at Hempstead, New York.

Issue:

1. A son who is recorded in The Medical Journal of John Winthrop as aged ten and more in 1657, hence born in 1647 or before. He probably died young.
2. Joseph, married Mary . See page 1,767.

Issue, quite probably:

3. Mercy, who married Hope Willetts, son of Richard and Mary (Washburne) Willetts of Hempstead, New York. See Long Island Genealogies, by Mrs. Mary Powell (Seaman) Bunker, p. 86. Mercy has been termed a daughter of Joseph Langdon, but chronology appears to exclude this possibility.
4. A daughter, considered to have been the wife of William Osborne of Hempstead. See NOTES under Joseph Langdon, page 1,776.

Perhaps other children.

NOTES

The Ancient Town Records issued by the New Haven Colony Historical Society, vol. I of the New Haven Town Records, 1649-1662 (edited by Franklin B. Dexter, L. H. D.), pp. 52, 55, 56, 61, 111, 120,125 and 169, throw an interesting light upon the characterof this ancestor. We quote:

At a Court .... January 7th 1650

1,782

Thomas Langden was complained of, for disorderly Intertaining of young men in his house at Vnseasonable times in y^e^ nights to drinke wine, strong watter, and take tobacco, and that Richard Lovell when he was here was drunke ther one night: ther hath bine known to be there Edward Preston, Jn^o^ Knight & Jn^o^ Tuttill once or twice, and Jn^o^ Allen: and that he hath bin heard to singe filthy corrupting songs, w^ch^ his owne wif hath blamed him for: and Edward Preston hath said they were filthy songs: they before the Gouernor haue owned ther miscariages, and promised amendment, but he said he saw no evill in them, nor would owne his guilt, therfore it is now brought to this Court. Thomas Langden said ther was never any appointed meeting, but was told he hath in a manner invited them, asking them why they were so strange, and why they came no oftener: he was told he had gone to bed, and left such company vp w^th^ his wife, and that he saw no harmes in such songs, if they were in old England they could sing and be merry: w^ch^ things he could not deny: beside he was told he hath laid slanderous imputations vpon M^ris^ Tuttill, saying she was a tattelling woman, and being wished to take heed what he said, she was a member of y^e^ Church; he said a goodly privilege, ther was a member hanged.

he denyed it; but was told his wife had said the thing was true; he said, he said not M^ris^ Tuttill was a tattelling woman but that her tattelling made this stir: but his wife said, he spake to that purpose. He was told M^ris^ Tuttill did but her duty to fetch her sonne from his house, and for that he vnjustly reproached her; hee was now asked what evill he saw in it: he would owne none but said if ther was any evill in it he desired to see it. The Court considered of what hath bine said: and see that the miscariage is exceeding great and may produce mischievous effects in a plantation, and thinke it deserves corporall punishment, or if not a great fine: yet because it is y^e^ first time and they hope it may be a warning they are content to pass it by for this time, w^th^ 20s fine, w^ch^ he is w^th^in a moneth to pay to the Treasurer and to take heed of such miscariages for time to come:/

The Court declared that for y^e^ 16s Thomas Langden was fined for his fence y^e^ last Court, the Estate of M^r^ Malbon his Master must paye it: but for y^e^ powndage of oattell then required if Thomas Langden cannot cleere that they came not in at his masters fence w^ch^ was downe before he went to Milford but at another place, newly broke by an vnruly oxe (as he saith) he must beare it himselfe, because he had warning to mend it, before he went, but did not doe it sufficiently:/

At a Court .... 4th of May, 1652

Thomas Langden was called, and vpon his appearance, was told that he and his wife was bound ouer by Captaine Astwood to appeare here, at eight a clocke, to answer for his wives disorderly inviteing Mr Cranes maide in the night to her house to eat a sacke posset, wth an intent to haue her meete a young man there, wth a purpose to drawe on a treaty of marriage, wthout parrents or masters consent: and when his wife was sent for before the Gouernor and examined, she denyed it, though she knew it was true, and did aboute that time confesse it to Mr Crane; beside he hath caried it contemptuously to the Court, for when he was in March last warned in open Court to appeare at the next Court in Aprill, yet he goes away wthout asking leave of the Court or any Magistrate. He was further told that his wife hath spoken naughty, sinnfull, corrupting words of Goody Fuller, wch she must answer for. Thomas Langden said that his wife cannot be heare because of a child he hath sicke; & to cleere it presented a note from Captaine Astwood, testifying the same, wherein also she acknowledgeth her miscariage, both in inviteing the maide, and after denying it before the Gouernor, and professeth her sorrow for the same and hopes it will be a warning to her for time to come. She also in that note confesseth her miscariage concerning Goodwife Fuller and prayes her to forgive her, and that the Court will be fauourable to her. For his goeing away before the Court, hee said his occasions required it, and he spake to Goodman Miles to speake to the Court for him, and he thought it might haue bine past by, for Goody Fuller the difference betwixt her and his wife is ended, and Goody Fuller being in Court testifyed the same.

At a Court .... the First of March, 1652

Thomas Langden and his wife being called, appeared; & were told that they both stand charged wth theft stealing in a felonious way some of Mr Pruddens hoggs, how many may be considered, and how many times he hath denyed the thing, and wth what hideing the truth confessions haue bine, and also what testimonies hath been giuen in by Edward Camp and William Willmot; then he denyed that he had killed any hogg, and there Ed Camp and William Willmot affirmed vpon oath, February 14th, 1652, as followeth: Edward Camp, aged aboute thirty foure yeeres, affirmeth that he and William Wilmot, comeing to Thomas Langdens house, aboute fryday was fortnight at night, found him and his wife at supper; they both bad them welcome and asked the said deponents to eat some pottage and meat, w^ch they accepted and sat down; the said deponent seeing the meat and that it looked black and bloodie, and was flayed of the skine, asked the said Langden what he had, whether a peece of an old horse, but Langden answered no, it was a peece of a dead hogg (now the peece was a peece of the shoulder blade of a hogg flayed, and it was black and bloody, like meat that had bine shott, and it was a great bone of a well-growne hogg, and it tasted like wood-fed porke and not like porke fed w^th pease); and the next morning to breakfast they had another peece of flayed porke, (as occasion to speake to Langden aboute the hoggs skine w^ch hee said an Indian brought to his house, telling him hee tooke not a legall course to cleare himselfe, but all would blame him; but Langden seemed to take it ill from him and began to say it might be a wild hogg; but the said deponent answered it was not; Langden asked if he see M^r Pruddens hogge; the said deponent answered no, nor did beleeve he should, for they were out of his sight:/

William Willmot, aged about 21 yearee, affirmeth vpon oath that hee knowes all the forementioned testimonie to be true vpon his owne knowledg, being then present w^th the said Edward Camp./ After w^ch testimonies were given in, Thomas Langden said he had noth (naught) against the testimoniee but said his wife vsed to take the skine of the porke when they had strangers; Edward Camp said he was sure the last peece had not the skine taken of after it came out of the pott, and he was told that the other could not be so done for strangers, for they were at supper when the strangers came in. He said for the blackness it might be w^th the salt, but was told that could not be; he said in y^e issue he had no porke but what he came honestly by; being asked what hee ment by honest coming by it, he said that w^ch was brought to him vpon the 15^th of February. After two examinations at Millford, where in he denyed the killing of any hogg, he confessed that he w^th his dogg killed one of M^r Pruddens swine, in manner as followeth: viz^d., that his hoggs came to a stack of corne and had eat their belly full and there lay; he crying out to scare them, his dogg came to him and ran vpon one of them, both dogg and hogg into the river and there allmost both drownded, but getting ouer the other side, the dogg vpon the land stood and held the hogg by the eare, the body of the hogg being in y^e water, his head onely out; he caled his dogg, but he would not come, so he left them; afterward his dogg came home all bloody; the next day he went againe to the same stack of corne, and his dogg being w^th him did winde the hogg and went towards him; Langdon perceiving that, he gott a cannow(i.e. a canoe) and found the hogg dead, and flaying of the skin, wch was torne, he there left it and brought away the flesh wth him, wch as he saith he did conceive to bee about a dozen pound; some of it was all bloody; and all this was after the last great flood, and he confesseth it was some of this hogg that Edward Camp and William Wilmot eate of. After these examinations at Millford, Capt Astwood sent him to New Haven where the Gouernor wth the Magistrats examined him two or three times; at first he owned the killing of one hogg in the manner as is before expressed, but would owne but aboute a dozen pound that he had of it; but being further examined another time, confessed he had aboute halfe the hogg, but the Gouernor and Magistrats not being satisfyed wth this confession, being assured he had more of ye hogg (beside what others he might haue), agreed to send him to the prison house to lye in irons, and after the Marshall had him forth, he desired to come in againe, and then confessed he had the whole hog, but that he was killed as he had confessed before, and that he flayed parte of him, and shaued parte of him wth his knife. Thomas Langden was wished now to speake the truth; he said he was much troubled wth Mr Pruddens hogge; they eate his corne, and in the manner as is before expressed he did kill one of them, wch he flayed the hinder parts of and the other parte hee shaved wth his knife. Langdon was told that by his owne confession and the testimonie given in vpon oath it appears he hath killed two swine for that he killed he saith was flayed in ye hinder parts, and that wch Edwa. Camp and William Willmot eate of ouer night was flayed on the fore parts; and Richard Hubball, Mr Wakemans man, now testifies that one time his master and he went theither and Goodman Langden brought vp a peece of porke to sett on for them; it was the hinder part of a loine, and it had the stumpe of ye tayle on, and was not flayed but as other porke is; Langden was told that this is a third hogg wch he had killed; he again denyed and said he had but one, but was told the Court cannot beleeve him, and Capt Astwood remembered him of his stiff denyalles at Millford, and wth what dreadfull asseverations he caled God to witnes and wished the sunn might never shine on him if he was guilty, and now all appeare false. He said that Mr Pruddens men brought a peece of porke, the hinder part of a loine, one time when they came theither, and that it might be that Mr Wakemans man speaks of; Mr Prudden said he beleeves his men caried no such peece, and it was said that Mr Pruddens men affirme that what they caried they eate vp before they went away, therefore it could not be that:/

Goodwife Langden was called to answer because she concealed this theft: she said she neuer saw any but the hinder parts of that hogg that the dogg killed, she was in the meddow a milking when her husband brought it in, and she would haue him go to M^r Prudden and tell him of it; she was asked if she did not dress the meate was spent in the house; she said yes, and then was told she knew well the hinder parts from the fore parts, for it is clear that that Edwa. Camp eat of was of the fore quarter, and she dressed it and eate part of it; she said she may be (i. e. have) it might be spent when she was at Millford, her husband said there was but littell spent but when she was at home; she againe being wished to speake the truth, said she knew of no more but the hinder quarters of one hogg and she cryed, and would not haue had him had it; she was asked why she did not reveale it; it was answered by some that she had said she durst not for feare of her husband, and Edward Granest (i.e. Grannis), M^r Wakemans man, testifyeth that Goodwife Langden told him that if her husband was whipt by her meanes, if he came to her again, she must not looke to live; she said it may be she might say so; and Edward Granest further saith that one time in y^e meddow at Paugaset Goodman Langden beate his wife, because she did not go to weede corne; and Richard Hubbell testifies that Goodwife Langden told him that if any man whipt her husband he said he would be the death of him; the Marshall said he himselfe had said to that purpose to his sonn, and Langden now confesseth that he had spoken such words, but said he now sees the evill of it:/

Thomas Langden was asked what it is he hath said concerning Phillip Leeke*; he s^d one time in the spring Phillip Leeke being at Paugaset w^th him, they were talking what a deale of corne might be gotten at Paugaset; Langdon said that M^r Pruddens hoggs would eate it vp; Phillip said if M^r Prudden send his hoggs theither, it is lawful for the English or Indians to kill them; and another time this winter past he was there, and Langden was complaining of M^r Pruddens hoggs; Phillip Leeke said that if they eate his corne, he might shoote them, and if it was his case he would not want fatt porke as long as one of them was left:

*See LEEK,, No. 4,032.

Phillip Leeke saith for that he speakes of the first time it is alltogether vntrue, and for the second time it was thus: Thomas Langdon was complaining of Mr. Pruddens hoggs, that they had done him much harme, and spake reproachfully of Mr Prudden; he then said to him, if Mr Pruddens hoggs did him damage he might pound them, and he questioned not but Mr Prudden would satisfye, but if Mr Prudden would not, yet he questioned not but Mr Prudden would satisfye, but if Mr Prudden would not, yet he questioned not but that the Court would doe right, but in the issue he said if no way else will doe, he thought he might shoote them, and then tell Mr Prudden, and he questioned not but that the Court would justifie him; but to say that if he was in his case he would neuer want fatt porke, he utterly denies. The Court told Phillip Leeke that as he relates it himselfe it is a most sinnfull speech, and if that counsell be followed, whose cattell can be safe; and the Court cannot pass it by:/

Thomas Langden was also charged wth tradeing powder wth the Indians, and was required to giue account of what po^{r} he hath bought of any since hee went to Paugaset; he said he had fiue pound of William East, of Millford, and two pound of Ensigne Bryan, 2^{l} of Richard Bryan, two pound of Mr Wakeman, and one pound of Mr Goodyeare; but one pound of this was for his brother Wooster*, and two pound for Richard Hubball, one pound of w^{ch} he traded wth the Indians; he was asked how much he traded wth the Indians; he said [illegible] foure pound, and the rest he hath shott away:/

Thomas Langden haueing no more to say, the Court proceeded to sentence and Ordered that for these three swine, w^{ch} is cleerly proved, though the rest of the company might be charged also, but for these three being valewed at three pounds a peece is nine pounds, and though in some sorts of cattell the restitution is foure or fiue fold, yet the Court haue agreed to set but double, and therefore he is to pay to Mr Prudden for these swine eighteene pounds; and for the fowre pound of po^{r} w^{ch} by his owne confession he hath traded wth the Indians, (though beleeves he has traded more,) being valewed at ten shillings, and according to the law in that case is twenty for one, and therefore for this that he pay to the Jurisdiction tenn pounds; and for his continewed lying wth impudency calling God to wittnes to a lye wth dreadfull asseverations prophaning the name of God, wth other bitter cariag to his wife, and threatening those that correct him for these miscariages, he is to be severely whipt. And for his wife, she is guilty of theft wth him in concealing the matter, but because of his threatening words and tyranical cariag, w^{ch} might put her in some feare, therfore the Court layes no corporall punishment vpon her, though she deserves it, but for her lying whereof she is much guilty in this buisnes, and that before authority, he is to paye....

Thomas Langdon was asked what security he can giue for the satisfying of what is now laid vpon him; he said he had none, but he desired libbertie till the next Court, and he would indeauour to get securitie w^{ch} if he could not doe he would present himselfe to the Courts pleasuer; he was asked where his estate is; he said at Paugaset, all but two swine that are at Millford; w^{ch} swine were ordered to be sould to defraye the charges that haue bine aboute this buisnes, and he was to give a note to the Marshall of the other part of his estate:/

For Phillip Leeke, he was told, the speech was as Thomas Langden relates it may render him guilty of theft also; but takeing his owne confession, it is a verey sinnfull speech and pernicious corrupt counsell, and Langden makes vse of it and saith he hath bine drawne to this fact by that counsell; therefore takeing the matter as his owne confession is, the Court orders that he paye as a fine to the Towne forty shillings; but had what Thomas Langden said bine fully proved, it would have been witnessed against in another manner:/

Thomas Langdon and his wife, called Isabel in the records, are also found in Records of the Colony or Jurisdiction of New Haven, edited by Charles J. Hoadly, M. A., pp. 179 and 209, wherein among other things they testified as to the allegedly unseemly behavior of John Beard's wife.

Just how Edward Wooster was the brother-in-law of Thomas Langdon is not shown by records so far discovered. Donald Lines Jacobus in his History and Genealogy of the Families of Old Fairfield, vol. 1, page 700, states that Edward Wooster married first Dorothy, probably sister of Thomas Langdon. In the absence of other information this appears to be likely. We doubt that if Thomas Langdon's wife was Edward Wooster's sister that Thomas would be so ready to cuff her as reported in the records, for Wooster was a husky Constable of Derby. The connections of Edward Wooster are recorded also in an article entitled The Wooster Family, by Holdridge Ozra Collins and published in The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol. XXX, pp. 242+. This was critically examined by Mr. Jacobus in his Edward Wooster of Derby, Conn., and Some of His Descendants, published in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. 75, p. 175+, which is authoritative. See also A Genealogical Dictionary of the First Settlers of New England, by James Savage, III, p. 54; The History of the Old Town of Derby, Connecticut, by Samuel Orcutt, p. 18 ff.; Thomas Langdon of Hempstead, Long Island and Some of His Descendants, by Henry A. Tredwell, 1945 (MS in the library of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society); Colonial Hempstead, by B. Schultz, p. 67; New Haven Genealogical Magazine, by Donald L. Jacobus, V, p. 1,080; and Moore and Allied Families, by De Forest and De Forest, 1938, p. 165. In the Long Island Collection of the Queens Borough Public Library at Jamaica, New York there is filed a MS entitled Brower Genealogy, 1615-1884, and Langdon Genealogy, 1625-1876 by William Applebie Eardeley, M. A., and other notes on the Langdon family as prepared by the late Alice V. Meige.

There may be some of our friends who descend of Thomas Langdon as we do, . . who will wonder why we give his memory the benefit (or lack thereof) of the reputation which he obtained in the New Haven Court. The answer is simple. His overall record is not that of a "bad man"; while he was certainly an indiscreet one and somewhat of a blusterer, he was not without some excuse.

The ancestry of Thomas Langdon is unknown.

6. RACHEL LEEK 63
m. JOHN YOUNG son of Oliver Young and Sarah Ann Davis

She was born 3 August, 1795 at the residence of her father, West Islip, New York.

Rachel Leek was baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Babylon, New York 31 March, 1805.

She was probably a student in the old District No. 21 school which served Babylon and, after 1814, western Islip as well. (Her father's home was within a half-mile of the present Babylon town line). As a consequence when she signed her name to the will of Stephen Abbot of Islip 1 July, 1813 as a witness, her handwriting was good.

During the earlier years of her life Rachel Leek was a Presbyterian, but after her mother was excommunicated by the Presbyterian church at Babylon, the family joined the Baptist church at Babylon.

Rachel Leek married John Young of North Babylon, New York at her father's home in West Islip, 15 June, 1817. After their marriage Rachel and John Young established a home on the west side of Higbie Avenue in West Islip, not far from Hunter Avenue, where she lived until the death of her husband in 1874*. Thereafter she lived with her daughter Clarissa, wife of Woodhull Weeks, on Phelps Lane at North Babylon, New York. She died at North Babylon, New York 1 November, 1875. After a funeral from the Baptist church at Babylon 3 November, 1875, she was buried beside her husband in the Babylon Rural Cemetery.

No will or administration of her effects appears to be of record.

For connections and descendants, see YOUNG - JUNG, #62.

of Mrs. Charles Johnson of Bay Shore, New York, a great granddaughter; and the baptismal record has been printed in The History of the First Presbyterian Church of Babylon, Long Island, by James W. Eaton, page 32, her parents' surname being then spelled Leeke. The will of Stephen Abbot on which her signature appears is filed in the County Clerk's Office at Riverhead, New York, Liber D, pp. 87-89. The obituary notice was published in the South Side Signal of Babylon, New York for 6 November, 1875; it stated that the funeral was "largely attended on Wednesday from the Baptist Church" (this statement, while undoubtedly true, was a common cliche). The writer has a tea-cup and saucer which belonged to Mrs. Young.

Three people have given us enough information to enable one to form some idea of her personality; to that is added the impressions we have gained from a picture of Rachel Leek made shortly before her death. The late Mrs. Parthenia (Weeks) Weed of North Babylon, New York, who was her granddaughter, visited her often and remembered her as a little woman, diligent and hard working, and extremely pious. She was quiet and not very demonstrative, although the writer's grandmother (a great granddaughter) could say that she was always delighted to visit grandma and grandpa Young because of the affection with which she was received. Mrs. Frederick H. Schluter of Brooklyn, New York in a letter to the writer dated 11 July, 1953 wrote

> After my mother's mother died* she (i. e., Mrs. Schluter's mother) went to live with her grandmother Rachel Leek Young, on Higbie Lane, Babylon (sic), L. I. My mother adored her grandmother -- said "She was the sweetest, kindest and most devout person she had ever known."

The original of the only known picture in existence of Rachel Leek is at this writing (1954) in the possession of Mrs. Phillip Linker of Brooklyn, New York, and through the kind courtesy of Mrs. Linker and of her sister Mrs. Schluter, the writer has a copy of it. The original was taken on the front porch of her home at West Islip, and very shortly before her husband John Young died in 1874. It shows a kindly-appearing, upright old lady with a lined face, whose candid (blue?) eyes were filled with patience and experience. She had a rather round face supported by a firm chin, a broad nose which may well have been somewhat retroussé when she was younger, and (we fear) dental plates that did not fit very well. Her gnarled left hand makes us suspect an arthritic condition, despite the fact that she held in it her worn hand-Bible and spectacles. Mrs. Young wore a plaid shawl over a dress of satin-like material which had a neck-band edged with white ruching. There was one concession to personal vanity: the indispensable transformation of those days, probably dark brown in color, and which had a powder line drawn in it to reinforce the part. This was surmounted by an impeccable white cap having frilled edges at the sides, which assures us that she had dressed for the occasion.

Rachel Leek was the daughter of

7. ELIAS LEEK or LEEKE 126
m. KEZIAH ANN MUNCY daughter of Isaac Muncy and Sarah Weeks

He was born at East Hampton, New York 10 May, 1765.

Elias Leek was baptised as the "child" of David Leeke, Christian name undesignated, in the First Presbyterian ch. at East Hampton, New York 26 May, 1765.

As a young man he hired out as a farmhand, and as a consequence eventually came to West Islip, town of Islip, New York, where he worked on the farm of Isaac Muncy. Later he became a farmer in his own right, owning property adjacent to that of Isaac Muncy, whose daughter Keziah Ann he married about 1790. This land was adjacent to the east bank of the Sumpwams river, a creek which runs north and south between the towns of Babylon and Islip, New York; and was in the vicinity of the present Hunter avenue.

He was a communicant of the First Presbyterian church of Babylon, New York and contributed towards the salary of the first minister there 11 June, 1796. It is not known what his point of view was when his wife warmly espoused the cause of the deposed Presbyterian minister, the Rev. Luther Gleason (see MUNCY, Second Line, #127).

His handwriting was good. He was apparently retiring in nature, and seldom appears in civil record of any kind.

Elias Leek died at West Islip, New York, shortly before 21 July, 1828 when the widow asked that the property left as her dowry be defined and recorded. No will or administration is found. On 6 June, 1839 his property was sold to Richard Udall, a relative of his wife. He was buried beside his wife in the Muncy cemetery at West Islip, New York*.

Elias Leek married Keziah Ann Muncy at West Islip, New York in 1790. She survived him.

NOTES

The Bible of Elias Leek containing the family record was last reported in the possession of Mrs. T. W. Campbell of Fargo, North Dakota; this was referred to in The Descendants of Phillip Leeke, a MS by Henry R. Coles deposited in the Library of Congress at Washington, D. C., in 1936. The baptismal record is in the church records as published in the printed Town Records of East Hampton, Long Island, vol. V, in the back of the book.

Information as to the locality and circumstances of settlement of Elias Leek was furnished by the late Mrs. Parthenia (Weeks) Weed of North Babylon, New York. The baptisms of his children are given in History of the First Presbyterian Church of Babylon, Long Island, by James W. Eaton, pp. 32, 34. Information as to the descendants cited (compiled to 1922) was obtained from the following, including the abovementioned Mrs. Weed): the late Mrs. Francis S. Weeks of Babylon, New York; the late Miss Cornelia M. Tooker of Ridgewood, New Jersey; the late Mrs. Oscar S. Davis of Babylon, New York; the late Mrs. David F. Smith of North Babylon, New York; the late Miles Oakley Weeks of North Babylon, New York (whose family documents included one wherein Elias Leek signed as a witness, in a good handwriting); Mrs. Henry A. Edwards of North Babylon, and others. See also: Reminiscences of Babylon, New York, by Benjamin P. Field, and the Dower Record in the Office of the County Clerk at Riverhead, New York, pp. 90, 97.

Elias Leek was the son of

8. DAVID LEEK or LEEKE 252
m. (MARTHA)

He was born at East Hampton, New York about 1740.

David Leek was baptised in the First Presbyterian church at East Hampton, New York 11 May, 1740. It is believed that he was a member of this church all his life.

At the time of the War of the American Revolution he was a signer of Associations in East Hampton, 5 May, 1775 with his brother Benjamin Leek. He was still living in 1800 in East Hampton, although he is not found subsequently of record.

No will or administration of his estate is found. It is believed that he was buried at East Hampton, New York.

The wife of David Leek was named Martha 23 October, 1798(Unacknowledged Deeds, Riverhead, New York, vol. I, p. 36). She may have been a second wife but is, however, thought to have been the mother of at least David (born in 1776) and the younger children. The Rev. Samuel Buell neglected to record marriages at East Hampton during this period. She was probably living in 1800 (census record).

NOTES

The baptismal record was taken from the church records as printed in the back of vol. V of the East Hampton Town Records. The marriage of David Leek is not found in these Records, and we have not been able to determine the maiden name of the mother of David's sons Elias and Phillip with any certainty. A number of statements have been made, one of which in an earlier day the writer accepted, without giving it the critical examination it should have received. Another of these statements, which seems to represent a tradition in the East Hampton branch, is that her name was Mary, perhaps Dayton (see East Hampton History and Genealogies, by Jeannette Edwards Rattray, 1953, p. 426). The difficulty with this is that no connection can be found with the Dayton family that is plausible. Inquiry by the writer in 1921 developed the information that Conklin Weeks Leek, son of Elias and Keziah Ann (Muncy) Leek (p. 1,794) was believed to have been given the maiden names of his two grandmothers; that the maternal grandmother was named Weeks seems certain, and the inference that the maiden name of Elias Leek's mother was Conklin would be logical. Since Elias Conklin lived next to David Leek's father; since he had three daughters, any one of whom could have married David Leek; and since David Leek's second son was named Elias, there are strong circumstantial indications.

Despite this there was apparently some sort of a tradition among the descendants of Phillip Leek who married Ruth Ryder (he was another son of this David Leek) that there was an immediate ancestress who was named Woodruff. A son of this Phillip Leek was Benjamin Woodruff Leek, and the name is repeated again in a later generation. It is to be noted that a Benjamin Woodruff of Southampton, New York was a refugee to Connecticut during the Revolution; he had a brother Elias and a sister Mary, of whom we have found nothing beyond George R. Howell's listing in his History of Southampton, New York. This Mary Woodruff was also a contemporary of David Leek.

And further, David Leek had a brother Elias who died young, so that the significance of the associations of this given name must be discounted.

The fact remains that the wife of David Leek was named Martha on 23 October, 1798, and she may have been the mother of all of the children. Consequently there is no adequate basis at this time for any conclusion as to the maiden name of David Leek's wife. We do not know what it was. Perhaps the bible record is in some family attic, and when reported, will show her name to be something else altogether. It would not be the first time.

The descendants of Phillip Leek who married Ruth Ryder were compiled by the late Cornelia M. Tooker of Ridgewood, New Jersey, and are carried down to 1922. See also Refugees from Long Island to Connecticut, by Frederic G. Mather, p. 1,061; New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, East Hampton, New York Census for 1800, vol.56, beginning p. 272 (for other references to East Hampton church records, etc., see Index to Genealogical Periodicals, vol. I, by D.L. Jacobus, under East Hampton).

David Leek was the son of

9. BENJAMIN LEEKE or LEEK 504
m. CHARITY ALEXANDER

He was born at East Hampton, New York about 1707.

Benjamin Leeke was baptised in the First Presbyterian church at East Hampton 11 May, 1707, and was a communicant of that church. He owned the covenant 26 December, 1736.

He was a mariner in his earlier days and later settled down to farming. His homestead was adjacent to that of Recompence Sherrill and also adjoined the home of Elias Conklin.He held no civic responsibilities of any note and seems to have been of quiet proclivities.

Benjamin Leeke died at East Hampton 16 June, 1759. It is believed that he is buried at East Hampton. No will or administration was recorded.

He married in the First Presbyterian church at East Hampton, and by the Rev. Nathaniel Huntting, 26 January, 1735/6 to Charity Alexander. His wife was baptised as an adult in this church 22 August, 1736 and died at East Hampton 28 February, 1785. Her ancestry is not found.

Issue:

1. Benjamin, born about the fall of 1737, baptised in the First Presbyterian church at East Hampton, New York 26 December, 1737, died 21 February, 1737/8.
2. Benjamin, baptised at East Hampton, New York 4 February, 1738/9, died at Northwest, town of East Hampton about 1798. On 4 May, 1754 he and Ezekiel Hedges together bought a bible; Ezekiel married Elizabeth Mulford 5 May, 1747 and there are no further references to Benjamin Leek in this Bible. He must be the Benjamin Leek who had extensive shorefront at Northwest in the town of East Hampton called "Ben Leek's Beach". He bought the Fire Place Beach (in East Hampton) from the trustees in 1770. He probably held these beaches to garner seaweed; it was a valuable asset in those days, as it was pressed into blocks for insulation or cured for bedding. He was a signer of the Articles of Association for the Colonial cause at East Hampton in 1775; and died before 1800. He married Lucretia, maiden name not found. Issue (at least):

i. Benjamin, born probably at Northwest in the town of East Hampton, New York about 1765, was living in 1789 but had died before 1800. It is thought that he was a resident of Bridgehampton, New York. The name of his wife is unknown. Issue, at least:

A. Mary Ann, born 20 August, 1789, died 29 April 1843 at Fireplace, Brookhaven, New York; called daughter of Benjamin Leek on her gravestone. She married Benjamin Brown of Fireplace, born 25 September, 1784, died 5 November, 1813, son of Gershom and Mary (Miller) Brown of Middle Island, Brookhaven, New York. Issue (BROWN):

a. Mary Ann, born 5 February, 1807, died 8 January, 1896, married 1, Benjamin Tooker; 2, Elihu Hawkins.

b. Alfred Benjamin, born 7 September, 1808; died 16 February, 1895; married 31 January, 1836 to Elizabeth Ann Reeve, daughter of Leverett Reeve.

LEEKE - LEEK

NOTES

The baptismal and marriage records cited are taken from the printed church records, in the back of vol. V of the East Hampton Town Records. The record of the connections of Mrs. Mary Ann (Leek) Brown was taken from the collections of Osborn Shaw of Bellport, New York.

The ancestry of Charity (Alexander) Leek is unknown. As she was baptised at East Hampton, New York as an adult, it is believed that she had not come from any colony in which the local faith was prevailing. The marriage record does not state from whence she came. Contemporary with her is a William Alexander of Hempstead who married a daughter of Mordecai Lester of that place. Some of the Lesters appear later in East Hampton. It may be that Charity and William Alexander were related.

In searching through the adjacent colonies we find a family descended of John Alexander, whose son George Alexander was a settler first of Windsor, Connecticut, and secondly of Northfield, Massachusetts. George's son John had a son Ebenezer, who was born in 1684, was of Wethersfield, Connecticut and Northfield, and who seems to have moved around quite a bit. Ebenezer Alexander married Mehetable Buck, daughter of Henry Buck of Wethersfield and had children: Mehetable, Elias, Ebenezer, Anna, Simeon and Thomas.

There was a fairly constant communication between the residents of Connecticut towns and East Hampton. On the tip end of Long Island, a haven for whalers at Northwest, East Hampton was a place where there are found many passing names. Such was that of Henry Buck, nephew of Mehetable (Buck) Alexander, who was drowned off East Hampton in December of 1721. Confronted with this suggestive information, the writer wrote to Winthrop Alexander, at one time of Washington, D. C. who had compiled records of Alexanders for many years. His answer in 1936 follows:

> Regarding the parentage of Charity Alexander, who married Benjamin Leeke, 26 Jan. 1735/6, at Easthampton, Long Island, I have no evidence whatever as to her being a daughter of Ebenezer Alexander and Mehitable Buck of Wethersfield, Coventry and Northfield. I have found nothing to indicate it except that the date of her marriage would place her as a contemporary of their children. Ebenezer and Mehitable were married in 1709. Their children were born at regular intervals of three years from 1710 to 1722, with the last in 1727. According to the date of her marriage, Charity would probably have been born between 1716 and 1721. Of course there might have been another child during one of these three-year intervals, but I have found no record of such. Neither have I seen any mention of the Connecticut Valley Alexanders having been on Long Island or being related to any families there. All their movements from their first settlement in northern Connecticut were northward. I am very doubtful about Charity being a daughter of Ebenezer and Mehitable, and from any records I have seen haven't the slightest idea who she was.

This is believed to reflect adequately the present state of our knowledge.

Benjamin Leeke or Leek was the son of 10. PHILLIP LEEKE 1,008

m. DEBORAH

He was born about 1672 shortly after his father had come to East Hampton, New York.

There is no baptism of record. He was probably a member of the local First (Presbyterian) church at East Hampton.

His earmark for stock was recorded in the Town Records 16 December, 1696. Posthumously the town was debtor to him for the services rendered by him, "to the last of February, 1710-11".

Phillip Leeke died at East Hampton 12 October, 1709, and was probably buried there. No will or administration is found of record.

He married about 1692 to Deborah, whose maiden name has not been proved at this writing. She was baptised in the First church at East Hampton, New York with her daughter Elizabeth, 22 February, 170½, and survived her husband.

Issue:

1. A daughter, name not recorded, died at East Hampton, New York, 13 November, 1710, aged 17 years.
2. A child, born about 1695, died 4 November, 1699.
3. A child, born about 1697 or 1698, died young.
4. Deborah, born about 1700, baptised 22 February, 1701 in the First (Presbyterian) church at East Hampton, New York. No further record.

5. Jane, baptised in the First (Presbyterian) church at East Hampton, New York 19 November, 1704. No further record.
6. Benjamin, married Charity Alexander. See page 1,810.
7. Phillip or Philip, posthumous, born in 1709/10 and baptised in the First (Presbyterian) church at East Hampton, New York 12 March, 1709/10. He died at Brookhaven, New York in 1781/2; his will, dated 12 February, 1781, was proved 8 March, 1782 and recorded at Liber 35 of Wills, New York city, New York, p. 22. He is recorded in the Brookhaven tax list of 1775 and in the census of 1776. Philip Leek married at Southold, New York 11 August, 1736 to Mary Wiggins who after his death married Samuel Randall of Brookhaven, New York. Issue, by Philip Leek:

NOTES

The vital statistics have been taken from the church records as printed in the Records of the Town of East Hampton, New York, vol. V. See also the Salmon Records (marriage record of Phillip Leeke to Mary Wiggins); and the Bible record of Mary (Leeke) Overton in the possession of Frank Overton, M. D., of Patchogue, New York. Information concerning John Leek was given by Osborn Shaw, Historian of the town of Brookhaven; and other information was compiled by the late Edwin Webb Wheat of Mount Vision, New York, from information received from E. H. Platt of New York city, New York, a descendant of Charles and Hannah (Leake) Platt. Refer also to the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol. 56, pp. 142, 284-5, 322 and 393.

Phillip Leeke was the son of

11. PHILLIP LEEKE*
m. ELIZABETH DAYTON daughter of Robert Dayton and Elizabeth Woodruff

He was born at New Haven, Connecticut 26 August, 1646.

Phillip Leeke was a resident of New Haven, Connecticut until about 1671. As a young man apparently he went to sea and became a whaler; this probably brought him to East Hampton, New York where friends of the family (the Daytons) had preceded him. He bought land at East Hampton, married there and settled down.

On 20 April, 1681 an Indian named Plato bound himself to go to sea for Phillip Leeke in the next whaling season and to kill whales "and other great fish". On 19 May, 1692 he sought a permit to travel out of the province to seek some place in which to maintain his wife and children reasonably safe from the Indians, if he should be called to serve king and country. The occasion did not arise, and he did not leave.

He died at East Hampton, New York 24 September, 1717 and was buried there. No will or administration has been discovered.

Phillip Leeke married about 1671 and presumably at East Hampton, New York to Elizabeth Dayton, who survived him. Issue:

1. Phillip, married Deborah . See page 1,813.
2. Robert of East Hampton, New York; born there about 1675, had wife Sarah, maiden name not determined. This Sarah may be the one mentioned as Sarah Leeke, sister of Jane Conklin, whose will, dated 11 April, 1738 was proved at New York 29 May, 1741. Issue not traced.
3. Joanna, born about 1683/5 at East Hampton, New York, married at that place 12 June, 1706/7 to Nathaniel Hand, son of James and Esther (Bishop) Hand.

Perhaps other children.

Phillip Leeke was the son of 12. PHILLIP LEEKE 4,032

m. JOANNA

He was probably born in England about 1611, as he calls himself fifty years of age in 1661.

Phillip Leeke was in New Haven in the New Haven Colony as early as 1640. In that year a law was passed "forbidding Masters of Ships to throw ballast into the harbour"; it was also ordered that shipwrights be excused from military duty, and Brother Leeke received "liberty to draw wine for them that work at the shipp."

In a list of tenants in the Oystershell Field at New Haven beginning 10 March, 1648 Phillip Leeke was to have one acre for his own. He was further granted three acres out of Mistress Eldred's "out lotts", and he was to have likewise four acres in Mr. Roe's out lots.

Earlier, at a Court 4 January, 1643 he was fined one shilling for coming late "to trayne" - i. e., to serve in the militia. He took the oath of allegiance to the Colony 1 July, 1644. At a General Court on the last of March, 1645 he was with two others, admitted as members of the Court for the year. At the same time he was chosen corporal in the place of Abraham Bell.

On 7 April, 1646 he wished to build a shop attached to his house, and Francis Newman and Mr. Crane were desired to inspect the situation. Evidently he was allowed to build, for on 25 May following he was desired to keep an ordinary or tavern "to pvide for the refreshing of seamen, w^{ch} he tooke into consideration". At the same time the local Court granted him liberty to draw wine for Mr. Richard Malbon, "he attending a court order formerly made for sobryety". He was also given liberty to make use of a piece of ground before his door (that is, in front of his house lot) with the understanding that if the town wanted it back, they could have it.

On 26 October, 1646 he was chosen a viewer (that is, inspector) of measures, such as bushels, etc.; and on 4 January of 1646/7 he was chosen one of the collectors to collect funds for "the colledge" (i. e., Harvard, at Cambridge). His seat location in the meeting house was recorded 10 March, 1646/7; it was next to that of Ralph Dayton, later of East Hampton, N. Y., where his son Phillip was to go in 1671.

At a Court 7 December, 1647, testimony was offered relating to the accounts of the late Francis Brewster of New Haven, (see SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION, this volume, Part II, under BREWSTER) and Phillip Leeke testified on oath that Mr. Lamberton and Mr. Brewster being at his house, he heard Mr. Lambertson say that Mr. Brewster owed him forty-five pounds, and Mr. Brewster did not deny it. Phillip Leeke evidently lived in 'Mr. Lambertson's quarter' and was appointed fenceviewer therefor 3 July, 1648.

On March 1, 1652 he got into difficulties with the Court on account of his testimony in connection with the trial of Thomas Langdon (see LANGDON, pp. 1,786-1,788). Afterwards he relinquished his appointment as corporal 10 May, 1652; and on 3 August of the same year was complained of as being behind in payment of the town rates. The Court told him on 7 September, 1652 that for want of a pound and a half of powder for himself and men he was fined 7s 6d; and that the next time the fine would be heavier. Apparently during this time he was personally at odds with the Court.

Matters improved somewhat shortly. On 8 November, 1652 the Court granted to him the home lot that had been [illegible] Abraham Smith's, and requested that he build a fence and maintain it. He was also granted further land out of the Oystershell field 23 February, 1654. He recorded land that he bought of Ralph Dayton in 1658, consisting of fifty-nine acres, including the house and home lot which Dayton had had in New Haven. Other land transactions are listed and by 1670 Phillip Leeke held relatively extensive property in New Haven.

He was propounded for freeman 21 November, 1668 and is so listed in the next year. He was (or his son) chosen constable 9 January, 1670; gager for casks 11 March, 167$\frac{3}{4}$ and packer, 1675.

Phillip Leeke died at New Haven, Connecticut in 1676. Inventory of the estate was taken 10 June, 1676 and in the papers settling the estate his sons Phillip and Thomas Leeke were named administrators. The assessed valuation was 181 pounds, 7s 7d.

He married, presumably at New Haven, Connecticut to Joanna, maiden name not proved. She survived him.

Issue:

1. Phillip, married Elizabeth Dayton. See page 1,816.
2. Ebenezer, married Hannah Baker. See the genealogical section following.
3. Mary, baptised at New Haven, Connecticut, 16 June, 1651, married there 9 March, 1674 to John Davis. Issue (DAVIS):
   i. Hannah, born 20 April, 1681.
   ii. Margaret, born 18 November, 1682.
   iii. Thomas, born 8 September, 1686.
4. John, born at New Haven, Connecticut about 1654; no further record.
5. Joanna, born at New Haven, Connecticut 22 January, 1657, married 1, 6 February, 1677, Henry Stephens; married 2, Joseph Preston, son of William and Mary Preston. See The New Haven Genealogical Magazine, VII, p. 1,704.
6. Thomas (one of the older children), baptised at New Haven, Connecticut 21 January, 1648/9, died in 1719; married Sarah Hitchcson, who died 11 May, 1729. Issue. See The New Haven Genealogical Magazine by Donald L. Jacobus, p. 1,082.

DESCENDANTS OF EBENEZER LEEKE, SON OF PHILLIP AND JOANNA LEEKE

2. Ebenezer Leeke, son of Phillip and Joanna Leeke, was born at New Haven, Connecticut about 1647, and was baptised there mistakenly as Eleazar, 12 September, 1647. He died at East Hampton, New York 10 June, 1726; his will, dated 19 January, 1722/3, was proved 3 July, 1734 and is filed at Liber 12, page 186 of Wills, New York city, New York. He was constable at East Hampton, 1699 and was a surveyor. On 12 June, 1678 Thomas Baker of East Hampton deeded to his daughter Hannah Leeke and to his son-in-law Ebenezer Leeke 9 and 1/2 acres of woodland at East Hampton. Ebenezer Leeke married in 1673 to Hannah Baker, daughter of Thomas and Alice (Dayton) Baker of Amagansett, town of East Hampton, New York. Issue:

21. Sarah. She may have married Thomas Choate, 2 January, 1754.

12. Ichabod Leeke, son of Ebenezer and Hannah (Baker) Leeke, was born at East Hampton, New York about 1681/2. He was a weaver and resident of East Hampton. Ichabod Leeke married in the First (Presbyterian) church at East Hampton 28 December, 1703 to Sarah, widow of John Parsons, and who appears to have been daughter of Henry and Jane (Shaw) Ludlam. She died 24 September, 1743 at East Hampton, New York. Issue:

22. Alice, baptised at East Hampton, New York 19 November, 1704.
23. Mehitable, baptised 3 October, 1708 at East Hampton, N. Y.
+ 24. Daniel, married Hannah Jessup.

Probably other children.

15. Recompence Leeke, son of Ebenezer and Hannah (Baker) Leeke, was born at East Hampton, New York about 1685 and died at Deerfield, N. J., in 1749. His will, dated 30 March, 1749, was proved 18 November, 1749 and filed at Liber 6, p. 287 (New Jersey Archives, vol. 30, p. 287). The inventory was dated 16 November, 1749 and the widow certified 18 November, 1749 that she was satisfied with the will. He married 1, unknown; 2, 16 November, 1721 Abigail Shaw, probably the one baptised at East Hampton, New York 5 May, 1700, daughter of Richard Shaw; and 3, Martha Miller, widow of Jeremiah Miller, and who survived him. According to Isaac Whitaker of Deerfield, New Jersey, his first wife died in North Carolina. Issue, by first wife:

25. Recompence, baptised at East Hampton, New York 11 September, 1726, but born much earlier; married and had issue, residents of New Jersey.

Issue, by second wife:

NOTES

See History of the Ancient Maritime Interests of New Haven, by Thomas Rutherford Trowbridge, jr., in Papers of the New Haven Colony Historical Society, Vol. III; Records of the Colony and Plantation of New Haven From 1638 to 1649, transcribed by Charles A. Hoadley, M. A., pp. 94, 122, 139, 156, 160, 183, 231, 240, 241, 275, 277, 284, 303, 344, 389, 408, 424, 427, 450 and 457; New Haven Town Records (printed), I, as indexed; Early Probate Records of New Haven as published in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. 81, p. 127; Records of the Town of East Hampton, New York as indexed, including vol. 5, (church records); Chambers, Early Germans of New Jersey, under Leck; and notes of Mr. Leroy W. Tilton, of Washington, D. C. Other references have been noted in passing.

Some research has been done on possible English connections of this family, but they have not been conclusive. It has been asserted that there was a Thomas Leeke of Dover, Kent who had a son named Phillip who was born in 1611. We have not seen the proof of this statement. It has been stated also that the wife of Phillip Leeke was Joanna Ackley (Ackley), which has been equally insusceptible of proof at this writing. Leeke is a fairly common name in England, together with its variant Leake. We shall welcome detailed proof of the ancestry of Phillip Leeke. We are somewhat inclined to think he, like Thomas Langdon (which see) was brought to New Haven by Mr. Richard Malbon, and after working out the payment of his passage money, stayed in New Haven.

The ancestry of Phillip Leeke is unknown.

DESCENDED OF JOHN LEWIS OF WESTERLY, RHODE ISLAND

FIRST AND SECOND LINES

9. JEMIMA LEWIS 493, 509
m. SAMUEL MUNCY son probably of Samuel Muncy and

She was born about 1720, and probably at Huntington, New York.

Jemima Lewis was baptised in the First church at Huntington 21 January, 1729.

She was married in the First Presbyterian church at Huntington, New York and by the Rev. Ebenezer Prime, 15 October, 1739 to Samuel Muncy of Islip. Subsequently she and her husband lived in the western part of Islip town, approximately where West Islip is now. In later years she was a member of the Presbyterian church at Babylon, New York.

Mrs. Muncy died at West Islip, New York shortly before 17 March, 1798. No will or administration of her effects was filed.

For descendants see MUNCY, ##492, 508.

NOTES

See Records of the First Church in Huntington, Long Island, 1723-1779, edited by Moses L. Scudder, pp. 27, 74, and the will of her father, referred to in the antecedent generation following.

Jemima Lewis was the daughter of

10. JOHN LEWIS 986, 1,018
m.

He was born about 1690, probably at Huntington, New York.

He was baptised as an adult in the First church at Huntington as an adult 1 January, 1729, together with other members of his family.

On 14 December, 1713 Jacob Conklin paid for a very extensive number of hundreds of land in the town of Huntington. One of these hundreds belonged to Samuel Whitman, and John Lewis was paid for it. His residence was adjacent to property belonging to Zebulon and John Whitman. On 7 May, 1717 he sold to Jacob Conklin all right which he "bought of Samuel Whitman and Zebulon Whitman together" and in signing he made his mark, which resembled W/. On 29 January, 1717/8 he with his brothers Jonathan, Daniel and Richard and brother-in-law Joseph Jarvis sold property to Jacob Conklin which had belonged to their father Jonathan Lewis of Huntington, late deceased.

John Lewis was surveyor of highways 1 May, 1744 and again 3 May, 1748; in the last entry it was noted that he was to see that they are weeded and kept in order. He was a farmer.

He died at Huntington, New York about 1767 and was probably buried there. His will, dated 20 November, 1754, was proved 28 November, 1767 and filed at Liber 25, page 482 of Wills, New York city, New York.

John Lewis married 1, about 1715 to a wife whose maiden name has not been found; a discussion as to her possible identity is given in the NOTES following. He married 2, in the First church at Huntington 2 April, 1751 to Phoebe Platt, probably daughter of John Platt and widow of Moses Vail (see PLATT & VAIL). She survived him.

Issue (by first wife):

1. Mary, born probably at Huntington, New York about 1716, married in the First church there 16 December, 1735 to Amos Smith, son of Samuel and Mary (Corey) Smith of Huntington. See Vol. I, p. 38, No. 5.
2. John, born probably at Huntington, New York in 1718, was baptised in the First church there 1 January, 1729/30. He married in the same church 24 May, 1743 to Jemima Sexton, who was added to the First Presbyterian church at Huntington in 1764. Issue:
   i. Mary.
   ii. John.
   Perhaps other children.
3. Jemima, married Samuel Muncy. See page 1,827.

5. Elizabeth, born at Huntington, New York about 1725, baptised in the First church there 1 January, 1729/30, single 20 November, 1754.
6. Jane, born at Huntington, New York about 1728, baptised in the First church there 1 January, 1729/30, married in the same ch. 30 July, 1755 to Topping Wood, son of John and Hannah(Topping) Wood. See EDMUND WOOD.
7. Hannah, born at Huntington, New York about 1737, baptised in the First church there 24 October, 1731; married 5 February, 1754 to Jeremiah Sammis, son of Jeremiah Sammis. See SAMMIS.
8. Sarah, born at Huntington, New York in 1732, baptised in the First church there 16 April, 1732; single in 1754.
9. Samuel, born at Huntington, New York after 1732, before baptism in the First church there 22 August 1742; died in residence at Long Swamp, Huntington, New York in January, 1789. His will, dated 8 March, 1788, was proved 23 March, 1793. Samuel Lewis married 1, in the First church at Huntington, New York 20 April, 1767 to Mary Smith who died at Long Swamp 7 April, 1773; married 2, before 15 October, 1773, Anna Bunce, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (Wood) Bunce of Huntington. Issue, by first wife:

JOHN LEWIS

Charles R. Street, II, pp. 313, 399, 407 and 474; Records of the First church in Huntington, Long Island, as edited by Moses L. Scudder, indexed; and to the Deeds on file in the Office of the Town Clerk at Huntington, New York, including those in Liber II, pp. 287, 305, 357, 372, 374, 414, 416, 477 and 618; Liber III, p. 292. From these deeds it is evident that in 1719 John Lewis was living in the town of Islip, apparently for a brief period; on 15 October, 1719, he bought land in the Dicks (Dix) Hills from Richard and Thomas Willetts of Islip (II, 372). The abstract of John Lewis' will published in The Collections of the New York Historical Society for 1898 shows the editor, William S. Pelletreau, in one of his decidedly lesser moments; it appears on p. 67 of Vol. VII, is called the will of John "Lum" and the daughter Jemima appears as "Munsell". The errors were subsequently corrected in a volume of corrections. From the will it is apparent that the son Samuel obtained the homestead; it was at Long Swamp, in the central part of Huntington.

The writer has been told that the name of John Lewis' wife was Mary, and this seems to have been based upon the identification of the Mary Lewis who was baptised at Huntington with others of this family on 1 January, 1729/30. However, the sequence of the names of the daughters in this record (p. 27, Records of the First Church in Huntington) is the same as that in John Lewis' will, and in our present opinion it was the daughter who was baptised. This raises the question why no wife appears at this time; and a conclusion could be drawn that she had deceased. This would mean in turn that the children born after the baptism of Jane were by another wife and that the wife Phoebe (Platt) (Vail) Lewis would be a third wife, not a second. Despite the possibility, we do not think this is probable. It could be argued equally as well that the wife of John Lewis had been baptised before the date these church records were begun, that she had not been a particularly enthusiastic supporter of the Rev. Ebenezer Prime, and that some missionary work had been done to bring not only the children, but the father as well, under the seal of the church.

We have but one indication as to the identity of John Lewis' wife. This is from the record already referred to when on 14 December, 1713, John Lewis was paid by Jacob Conklin for a hundred bought of Samuel Whitman. Samuel Whitman is the most obscure member of his family of this generation (see WHITMAN), and nothing can be found as to his children. It is possible that one of them was the wife of John Lewis.

John Lewis was the son of 11. JONATHAN LEWIS 1,972, 2,036

m. JEMIMA WHITEHEAD daughter of (Thomas) Whitehead and Jane

He was born about 1657 and probably at Westerly, Rhode Island.

Jonathan Lewis appears as a sojourner at first in Huntington, New York 11 January, 168½ when Thomas Skidmore sold him half a farm, so-called, for 62 pounds "In good and . merchantable beife porke winter wheat sumer wheat and Indean corne" in 6 annual installments, the last to be paid on or before 10 March, 1689. Lewis was called of Westerly at the time. He completed this purchase by 29 December, 1688.

Still in Huntington, he contracted to build a house for John Corey 23 July, 1632 for which John Corey was to give him his "diat" among other considerations while he was on the job, and this held true for the Lord's day and for rainy days as well. Both parties acknowledged subsequently (undated) that both sides of the bargain had been kept. Jonathan Lewis was then evidently single.

He was still called of Westerly when Thomas Skidmore junior of Fresh Pond in Huntington sold to him for 72 pounds a farm which Skidmore had received from his father Thomas Skidmore senior, and which was located at Fresh Pond in Huntington. This consisted of a house and home lot of 2½ acres, 17 acres adjacent, and 6 acres at Crab Meadow; and was evidently to become the first Lewis family homestead, for Jonathan was to marry in Huntington and settle there. This transaction was dated 11 January, 1682/3; on 31 December 1683 he acknowledged having received on behalf of his wife her share of the estate of her deceased brother Adam Whitehead.

He was called of Fresh Pond Neck 14 February, 1685 when he bought land at Crab Meadow in Huntington of David and Mary Scudder. The town granted him 20 acres in Bread and Cheese Hollow 4 April, 1687; this was to bring him in contact with the sons of Joseph Whitman, who held land there also. On 29 April, 1687 the town granted him further land: 3 acres on the west side of his home lot and 17 again at Bread and Cheese Hollow. Joseph Bailey sold him 20 acres of upland on Fresh Pond Neck 23 January, 1688. His property was located in the most northeast corner of Huntington town, and the later Fort Salonga was in this area.

JOHN LEWIS

Jonathan Lewis was assessed at a valuation of 77 pounds in the rate list of 1688, and contributed 1 pound 3s 3d towards the Fletcher patent of 1694. On 4 October, 1698 he paid 3s towards the Baiting Place Purchase. Other records show that he augmented his land holdings steadily at Fresh Pond during these years.

He was a carpenter and farmer, well-off and apparently of quiet proclivities. He held no civic offices so far as can be determined.

He was taken seriously ill in the summer of 1708 and made his will on 9 August, 1708. He died probably shortly afterward; the will was proved 11 August, 1709 and filed at Liber 7. p. 542 of Wills, New York city, New York.

Jonathan Lewis married 1, in 1683 to Jemima Whitehead, who died about 1693 or 1694. Shortly afterward, about 1697, he married Deliverance Townsend, widow of Benjamin Carman of Hempstead, New York, and daughter of Richard and Elizabeth (Wickes) Townsend of Oyster Bay, New York, who survived him.

Issue, by first wife:

1. Sybil, born at Huntington, New York 20 October, 1685, married Zebulon Whitman, son of Joseph and Sarah (Ketcham) Whitman of Huntington. See WHITMAN.

gical section following.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF JONATHAN, DANIEL AND JOSEPH LEWIS, SONS OF JONATHAN LEWIS OF WESTERLY, RHODE ISLAND AND HUNTINGTON, NEW YORK

2. Jonathan Lewis, son of Jonathan and Jemima (Whitehead) Lewis, was born at Huntington, New York 1 May, 1688 and died on Staten Island in 1764 or 1765. His will, dated 7 May, 1764 was proved 9 March, 1765 and is recorded at Liber 25, p. 49 of Wills, New York city, New York. He was a resident of Southold, New York for many years. He married (perhaps second) to Abigail, maiden name not reported, widow of Jonathan Scudder junior; the marriage took place before 24 July, 1713 as he had transferred to his account the account of Jonathan Scudder, deceased (Lloyd Account Books in the Library of the Long Island Historical Society) on that date. A wife of this name survived him.* Issue:

11. Phoebe, unmarried 7 May, 1764; living on Staten Island. She died in Richmond county unmarried in 1780; her will, dated 20 April, 1780 was proved 29 April, 1780. Bequests were made to her brother Jonathan Lewis, niece Elizabeth Adlington, niece Phoebe Latourette, daughter of James Latourette; niece Sarah, wife of Nathaniel Johnson. The executor was David Latourette.
12. Mary.
+ 13. Jonathan, married 1, Elizabeth Corey; 2, Anne (?Edwards) (Wheeler) Kelsey; 3, Mary
+ 14. Elizabeth, married James Latourette.
15. Bathsheba, married Mersereau.
16. Sarah, married John Scooby. Issue.

4. Daniel Lewis, son of Jonathan and Jemima (Whitehead) Lewis, b. at Huntington, New York about 1693 and died 21 September, 1748, in his 56th year. His will, dated 2 September, 1748, was proved 14 October, 1748 and is recorded at Liber 16, page 333 of Wills, New York city, New York. He was a resident of Dicks (Dix) Hills in the town of Huntington; commissioner of highways 5 May, 1741; and was recorded as a surveyor in 1744 and 1745. His wife was Mercy, maiden name not proved, who was born about 1699 and who died at Dix Hills 18 November, 1762 in her 64th year. Issue:

*Pontius Stille Pintard of New York in his will dated 25 March, 1783, (Liber 35, page 222, New York Wills) refers to his honored mother Abigail, now the widow of Jonathan Lewis of Staten Island, deceased. As the son of Jonathan and Abigail ( ) (Scudder) Lewis named Jonathan did not die until 1785, the present Jonathan Lewis is probably meant, unless there was another Jonathan Lewis on Staten Island, not yet reported.

17. Mercy, so called, born about 1720 at Huntington, New York, married in the First church there 24 January, 1743/4 to Nehemiah Heartt. Evidently she died before her father; no references are made to her in his will.
18. Daniel, baptised in the First church at Huntington, New York 3 July, 1724.
19. Benjamin, baptised 26 December, 1725, died 31 August, 1748.
20. Israel, baptised in the First church at Huntington, New York 28 January, 1727/8.
21. David, died 15 March, 1728, aged 1 month (1). Buried in the Dix Hills Burying Ground.
22. Joanna, baptised in the First church at Huntington, New York 9 November, 1729.
23. Deliverance, baptised in the First church at Huntington, New York 23 July, 1732 probably married in 1762 to Abraham Snedeker.
30. Mary, baptised in the First church at Huntington, New York 11 August, 1734.
31. Jonathan, baptised in the First church at Huntington, New York 26 May, 1738.
32. Jemima, baptised in the First church at Huntington, New York, 13 April, 1739.
33. Joseph.

10. Joseph Lewis, son of Jonathan and Deliverance (Townsend) (Carman) Lewis, was born posthumously at Fresh Pond, Huntington, New York 17 August, 1708 and died at Huntington 8 August, 1765. He is buried in the Old Cemetery at Huntington. Joseph Lewis was a prominent citizen of Huntington; was constable in 1732 and 1733: trustee of the town in 1751 and subsequently; and president of the trustees beginning in 1753. He was known as Captain Lewis. Joseph Lewis married in the First church at Huntington, New York 18 May, 1731 to Abigail Scudder, born at Huntington 25 April, 1713, died 2 June, 1787, daughter of Timothy and Sarah (Wood) Scudder. Issue:

34. Sarah, baptised at Huntington, N. Y., 16 April, 1732; married in the First church there 31 January, 1749/50 to David Chichester.
\+ 35. Asel, married Charity Bryan.
36. Phebe, baptised at Huntington, New York 3 April, 1734.
\+ 37. Joseph, married Naomi Conklin.
38. Mary.
39. Jemima.
\+ 40. Henry Scudder, married Juliana Carll.

13. Jonathan Lewis, son of Jonathan and Abigail ( ) (Scudder) Lewis, was born probably at Southold, New York about 1713, and died on Staten Island in 1785. His will, dated 28 October, 1735, was proved 5 January, 1786. He married 1, at Southold, New York 5 April, 1735 to Elizabeth Corey of Southold; 2, at Southold and as from Staten Island, 3 November, 1753 to Anne (?Edwards) (Wheeler) Kelsey; and 3, on Staten Island to Mary, who may have been surnamed Latourette. Issue, by which wife or wives not determined:

41. Joseph.
42. Jonathan, probably the one resident of Northeast Precinct, Dutchess county, New York. His will, dated 6 December, 1780, was proved 8 January, 1781 and filed at Liber 33,p. 185 of New York Wills. He married Gertrude Reyley, sister of John Reyley, who survived. Issue:
    i. Jonathan, under age in 1780.
    ii. Ann.
    iii. Johanna.
    iv. Mary.
43. David.
44. James, whose will, dated 29 June, 1787, was proved 14 July, 1787 and recorded at Liber A, page 5 of Staten Island (Richmond county) Wills. He married Eleanor

48. Mary.
49. Frances.
50. Elizabeth.
51. Phoebe.

14. Elizabeth Lewis, daughter of Jonathan and Abigail Lewis, was born probably in Southold, New York about 1715 or later; married on Staten Island to James Latourette. His will was dated 27 January, 1785 and proved 15 March, 1785; it was confirmed 23 March, 1785, and recorded at Liber 37, page 447 of New York Wills, New York city, New York. Issue (LATOURETTE):

52. James.
53. David.
54. Phebe; married Anthony Stoutenburgh.
55. Jonathan, not of age in 1785.
56. Henry.

35. Azel Lewis, son of Joseph and Abigail (Scudder) Lewis, was baptised in the First church at Huntington, New York as Hazael 20 February, 1736/7, thus indicating, despite preserved family record to the contrary, that he was younger than his sister Phebe. He died at Huntington, New York 9 September, 1788. Azel Lewis married in the First Presbyterian church at Huntington, New York 4 April, 1758 to Charity Bryan, probably daughter of Alexander and Phebe (Wood) Bryan (Vol. I, p. 451). Issue:

+ 57. Alexander, married Glorianna Carll.
58. Jemima, born at Huntington, New York 19 June, 1765; married Mosee Scudder, 10 January, 1787.

JOHN LEWIS
1,840

Jonathan Lewis was the son of

12. JOHN LEWIS 3,944; 4,072
m.

He was born presumably in England (perhaps in Wales) about 1625.

On 29 June, 1660 five deputies from Newport in Rhode Island purchased a tract of land known then as Misquamicut from the local Indians. Subsequently on 22 March, 1661 new settlers in this territory signed articles of agreement relating to title and administration, and John Lewis was one of the signers. This is the first record of this ancestor so far reported. He was then married and the father of children, John Lewis was admitted freeman of Misquamicut 28 October of 1668. The next year the town was incorporated under the name of Westerly (14 May, 1669) and Lewis' name appears on the list of inhabitants. On 16 May, 1671 a warrant was issued requiring the inhabitants of Westerly to appear "tomorrow at Tobias Saunders house, to see how they stand as to their fidelity to his Majesty and the colony". John Lewis was one of twenty-two to appear and take the oath of loyalty. He gave testimony in the boundary war with Connecticut.

John Lewis died at Westerly about 1690. It is stated that he was buried near the road leading from Westerly to Watch Hill.

The name of his wife is unknown.

Issue:

1. Jonathan, married 1, Jemima Whitehead; 2, Deliverance (Townsend) Carman. See page 1,831.
2. John of Westerly, Rhode Island, where he died in 1735. His will, dated 14 April, 1732, was proved 22 April, 1735. He was deputy to the General Court in 1704, and again in 1709 and 1710. His wife Anna, maiden name not found, made her will 25 July, 1739; it was proved 29 February, 1748. Issue:
   - i. Joseph, born 16 October, 1683 at Westerly, R. I.; married Mary Wilcox, born in 1683, died 27 November, 1762, daughter of Edward and Thomasina (Stevens) Wilcox.

> Lewis Ground. This is a large unfenced spot, in the southeast corner of a field now owned by George D. Cross, Esq., on the east side of the highway leading to Lottery Village, just below the village of Westerly, and in front of the house of Thomas E. Saunders. The land once belonged to the Lewis family, and afterwards to Arnold Kenyon. It is said that seven generations of the Lewises, beginning with John Lewis, are here buried; but their tombstones are unlettered.

We have to thank also Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell of Brooklyn, New York, for critical comment and additional information.

The ancestry of John Lewis is unknown.

William Lewis was the son of 11. WILLIAM LEWIS 1,340

m. FELIX

He was born probably in England about 1595.

William Lewis emigrated with his family from England in the Lion, which arrived at Boston in the Massachusetts Bay Colony 16 September, 1632. Subsequently he settled in Newtown (Cambridge), Massachusetts, where he was made freeman 6 November, 1632. In Cambridge his homestead was located at the corner of Winthrop and Holyoke streets, now a busy corner. He was one of the company formed to establish a settlement on the site of Hartford, Connecticut, and he was one of the original settlers at that place in 1636. His home lot at Hartford was in 1639 on Main street, next south of John Malcott.

In the next year he had removed to Farmington, Connecticut, where he was selectman in 1640, 1641 and 1645; townsman in 1641 and juror in 1642. Farmington sent him as its deputy to the General Court at Hartford in 1641, 1644-46 and 1648. It is indicated that he was a man of considerable ability.

In 1649 William Lewis made a trip to England to see his sister Mrs. Ann Staines, whom he found in straitened circumstances; and he brought her back to Farmington and took care of her.

He was one of the parties to the Hadley agreement in 1659, and probably removed there in that year; he appears as a deputy for Hadley in 1662 and 1663 and for Northampton in 1664. He was a selectman at Hadley in 1660 and 1669. When the 1st Cavalry company was organized under command of Capt. John Pynchon in 1663, William Lewis was one of the ten men from Hadley.

After the death of his wife in 1671 he was left alone at Hadley; he was certainly then in his seventies, and as a consequence returned to Farmington to be with his only son William. He died at Farmington(2)April, 1683, then very aged. An inventory was taken 3 February, 1683 and his son Captain William Lewis swore to it. He was buried probably at Farmington.

William Lewis married Felix, who was perhaps sister of Giles Whiting of Hartford (see NOTES). She died at Hadley, Massachusetts 17 April, 1671.

Issue:

1. William, married 1, Mary Hopkins; 2, Mary Chaever.

NOTES

The references quoted under the son Captain William Lewis are also applicable here. We wish to quote specifically from Bennett and Allied Families, by Edgar J. Bullard, 1931, p. 29:

> A fraudulent Lewis pedigree, which was unfortunately given circulation in Lewisiana, states that William's wife Felix, was daughter of Walter Collins, and this has been repeated in print elsewhere. Another claim that has been made is to the effect that she was Felix Olcott. The evidence for this is the fact that Thomas Olcott of Hartford, in his will in 1653, gave £1 to his "Brother Will Lewis Seniore." Possibly this meant brother in the church, or Olcott could have married a sister of Lewis or of Lewis' wife. The most important evidence is the will of Giles Whiting of Hartford, which left his whole estate "to be disposed of by my brother William Lewis, to himself and his children at his discretion." This implies that the children of Lewis were related to Whiting and that he took an interest in them, which would hardly have been the case unless Whiting's sister was wife of Lewis.

This is a good analysis of this situation in our opinion. The will is reported in Manwaring's Probate Records of the Hartford District, vol. I, p. 163. Giles Whiting was of Hartford in 1643, then excused from training, but to pay 1s every training day for support of drum and colors (Trumbull, Col. Recs., Conn., I, 99). The will of Thomas Olcott is published by Frank Farnsworth Starr in The Olcott Family (1899), and we have checked the use of his word brother wherein he speaks of "Brother will Lewis Senior one pounde" therein. Cross reference to other records leads to the conclusion that in this case Thomas Olcott was referring to a fellow Christian rather than to a brother of the blood.

Ann Lewis, widow Staines, came first to America with her husband in 1642 but shortly returned to England. After she was brought back to America by her brother William Lewis she resided at Farmington until her death, which occurred between 24 December, 1670, and 26 January, 1675/6. She left the residue of her estate to her nephew, Captain William Lewis.

10. HERODIAS (or HOROD) LONG 795
m. JOHN HICKS

She was born, according to her own testimony, about 1623, and possibly in southern England.

She married at the reputed age of 14 by a license dated 14 March, 1636/7 in St. Faith's Underchapel of St. Paul's, London to John Hicks. Shortly afterward she and her husband left England for New England, and settled first at Weymouth in the Massachusetts Bay Colony, where John Hicks was recorded in 1637. On 20 May, 1638 John Hicks was an inhabitant of Newport, Rhode Island, and in this colony his wife Herodias, also called Horod, Harwood and other variants, was to become the principal in a series of bizarre experiences which scandalized the faithful.

During the next five years the married life of John Hicks was violently unhappy. By the latter part of 1643, according to her he had badly beaten her and she alleged that she was afraid for her life. At the risk of sounding speculative we are inclined to think that Herodias was suffering from an acute anxiety neurosis which Hicks of course could not comprehend. This still adolescent girl found herself in an appalling wilderness in a society which was thoroughly unlike that in which she had been brought up (if we believe her); & married to a husband who was of an entirely different temperament. The result was that on 3 December, 1643 she asked for a divorce. The Court, consisting of William Coddington, John Coggeshall and Nicholas Easton found John Hicks so bitterly enraged and "so desperate in his expressions" among other things that it granted her the divorce. This local Court did not impress Hicks with its authority; on 7 March, 1644/5 he was brought before the Court and bound in the sum of ten pounds to keep the peace for beating his wife (sic). After that Hicks left Rhode Island to obtain his own divorce at the hands of Peter Stuyvesant in New Amsterdam 1 June, 1655. According to Herodias he took all of her estate with him.

On 12 December, 1645 John Hicks, Schout Fiscael at Flushing, Long Island wrote to John Coggeshall at Newport referring to Herodias, stating that "her whoredome have freed my 'conscience". From this it is inferred that on this date she was already living as the common-law wife of George Gardiner of Newport, Rhode Island. Robert Stanton testified in October, 1665 that one night both George Gardiner and Herodias were at his house and "did say before him and his wife that they did take one the other as man and wife". This form of marriage ceremony was not without its precedents at the time, and is reminiscent of the Quaker ceremony; it took place in the two-year period between 3 December, 1643 and 12 December, 1645, & probably after 7 January, 1644/5. Thomas Painter of Newport caused George Gardiner to be presented "by Grand Inquest for keeping John Hicks his wife as his owne Contrarie to Law".The jury found that the plaintiff had not made good his case, and the defendant was acquitted by proclamation.

George Gardiner was named fifth in a list of 59 men admitted to be inhabitant of the island of Aquidneck 1 August, [illegible]1638, which appears to be the first time he is of record. He was admitted freeman at the General Quarter Court at Newport 17 December, 1639, and was recorded as owning 50 acres of land 10 March, 1640. He was elected constable at Newport 16 March, 1642 and the next day was made senior sergeant of the Train Band (militia company). He was commissioned ensign 13 March, 1644; member of the petit jury 1 December, 1649, and member of the grand jury at Warwick 14 October, 1662. On 28 October, 1662 he was Commissioner (as the Deputies to the General Court were called) from Newport to the General Court at Warwick. He seems to have been a gentle man of good repute.

A contemporary of Herodias (Long) (Hicks) Gardiner kept a journal, and in 1658 he chronicled an exploit of hers which lends color to the belief that she may have joined at one time the Society of Friends. She went back to Weymouth on 11 May, 1658, through the wilderness with a babe at her breast, and accompanied by a girl Mary Stanton who helped to carry her child. The purpose of this quixotic jaunt was to testify in favor of the Quakers then on trial at Weymouth. For this futile if brave act the wife of George Gardiner was ordered to be given ten stripes and placed in prison.

After her release and otherwise from 1645 to 1664 Herodias seems to have lived quietly and in good repute as Gardiner's wife. At the end of this period a situation arose which shook the infant colony. Herodias met John Porter.

On 3 May, 1665 the General Assembly of Rhode Island was presented a petition by Margaret (Odding) Porter, the elderly wife of John Porter, asking that her husband be made to support her. John Porter had been a freeman at Roxbury, Massachusetts in 1633. He belonged to the Hutchinson party and had removed with William Coddington to Portsmouth, Rhode Island in 1638. Here he resided until he went across to Pettaquamscutt (South Kingston), Rhode Island after 20 January, 1656/7, at which time he and several others purchased a large tract from the Indians. In her petition Mrs. Porter complained that her "said husband is destitute of all congugall love towards her, and sutable care for her"; and asked the General Assembly for relief. John Porter satisfied the Court on 27 June, 1665 that he had made a proper settlement, and subsequently John and Margaret Porter were divorced.

Concomitant with this series of events Herodias Gardiner decided that she had had enough of George Gardiner, despite the fact that she was the mother of many of his children. It is thought that the motivation is apparent. John Porter was an unhappy, relatively wealthy man with a neurasthenic wife, and had found in Herodias a personality which could effectively captivate an aging heart. Her compulsion for security found a new and better fulfillment in the economic stability that life with John Porter could offer. The woman who could withstand the marital violence of John Hicks and the ten stripes of Governor Endicott when she had made up her mind, did not shrink from the problem of getting rid of George Gardiner. In 1664, doubtless with the aid of clever counsel, she presented a petition to the King's Commissioners, then in Rhode Island, asking for a separation from him. She was then living apart from George Gardiner at Pettaquamscott.

The petition was referred by the Commissioners to the Governor, Benedict Arnold who found himself faced with a legal and political difficulty. Rhode Island then had no provision for dealing with a situation of this kind; there was no common law marriage act enacted. Not wishing to take responsibility for deciding the matter, Governor Arnold took the case to the General Assembly for trial. Accordingly, the Assembly sitting at Newport 3 May, 1665 agreed to listen to the petition of Horod Long for a separation before any other business should be brought before it. She appeared in person before the Assembly after there had been much debate upon her petition and was asked whether she would return to George Gardiner and live with him as a wife should. She answered characteristically that she would not and that they could do with her what they liked.

During the taking of testimony Gardiner admitted that he had never gone before any magistrate to declare their married state, nor to secure judicial approval of any kind. The only evidence to establish a common law relationship was the testimony of Robert Stanton, which has been mentioned. Consequently on 5 May, 1665 the Assembly decreed the separation of parties, characterizing their relationship in unequivocal language as extra-marital, "to the extreme reproach and scandall of this jurisdiction...." George Gardiner and Herodias Long were fined twenty pounds, ordered to separate and not to lead so scandalous a life. At the end of the trial the Assembly immediately enacted a new marriage law, requiring formal marriage in the future, and providing that "all such(common law) marriages at present existing, ... should be regarded as good, firm and authentic...." However Herodias had obtained her freedom, just as John Porter was soon to gain his.

Sometime after 27 June, 1665 Herodias went to keep house for the divorcee John Porter. This caused so much local reaction that on 23 October, 1667, upon indictment of the General Solicitor she and Porter were ordered to answer to the Court of Trials at Newport "for that they are suspected to Cohabit and soe to live in a way of incontinency." Upon their failure to appear the Court issued mandamuses to which John Porter responded at the next Court, 11 May, 1668, and subsequently stood trial. He was found not guilty. Herodias did not appear at this Court, Porter claiming that she was ill. She was subsequently exonerated, 26 October, 1668.

Shortly thereafter, and before 1 January, 1670 Herodias (Long) (Hicks) Gardiner married John Porter. On the latter date John Porter and wife Herodias deeded to William Gardiner, son of George of Newport, 200 acres of land at Narragansett, which bounded westerly on land of Henry Gardiner. They deeded to Nicholas Gardiner, 27 December, 1671, one-sixteenth interest in 1000 acres of land in the Pettaquamscott Purchase, and on 23 November, 1673 they conveyed further property to Nicholas Gardiner.

John Porter had died before 8 April, 1692 when Benoni, William, George jr., and Nicholas Gardiner and John Watson, their brother-in-law, "representing themselves as together with Henry Gardiner, their brother, the assigns of John Porter, deceased", appeared at a meeting of the Pettaquamscott Purchasers and appointed Henry Gardiner to sign the agreement then made by the purchasers, in his own and their behalf and do any other act with the rest of the Purchasers."

Despite the notoriety accompanying the trial and the scathing rebuke of the General Assembly in 1665, George Gardiner does not appear to have lost his good standing in the colony, for later he was called more than once as a Grand Juror. He married after this to Lydia Ballou, daughter of Robert Ballou of Portsmouth, Rhode Island and Boston, Mass., by whom he had several children. The exact date of his death is unknown, but is believed to have been in 1677. His widow married second, 14 June, 1678, William Hawkins of Providence, Rhode Island.

The widow Herodias, aging but now secure, is reported to have lived in South Kingston and to have died there in 1705. No will or administration of her effects is reported.

For descendants by the first husband, John Hicks, see HICKS, #794. There were no children by the third husband.

Issue by the second husband (GARDINER):

1. Benoni, born probably in the latter part of 1645, died about 1731; married Mary
2. Henry, born probably about 1646/7. He deposed in March, 1738 that he was about 93 years of age; died in 1744, close to the century mark. He married 1, Joan ; 2, Abigail Richmond, born in 1656, died in 1744, widow of John Remington and daughter of Edward and Abigail (Davis) Richmond.
3. George, born about 1650, died in 1724; took the oath of allegiance in 1671. He married 17 February, 1670, Tabitha Tefft, daughter of John and Mary Tefft of Portsmouth, Rhode Island.
4. William, born about 1652, died in 1711; married Elizabeth
5. Nicholas, born about 1654; called himself 57 years of age 12 March, 1711; died in 1712. He married Hannah
6. Dorcas, born about 1656, died in 1702; married about 1673 to John Watson as his first wife.
7. Rebecca, born (probably) early in 1658, was the babe at her mother's breast when the latter went to Weymouth to testify on behalf of the Quakers then on trial. She married John Watson, widower of her sister Dorcas.

NOTES

Preliminarily we wish to acknowledge the interest and expert assistance given to us by Mr. G. Andrews Moriarty, A. M., LL. B., F.

S. A., F. A. S. G., who through correspondence and in his article entitled Herodias (Long) Hicks-Gardiner-Porter published in the magazine Rhode Island History, vol. II, pp. 84+ has provided us with biographical material; likewise our thanks are expressed to Mr. John I. Coddington of Washington, D. C. and through him to Dr. Sheridan E. Gardiner of Michigan, for additional information. Mr. Moriarty had discussed some of the connections of Herodias Long in his The Parentage of George Gardiner of Newport, R. I., published in The American Genealogist, vol. XXI, pp. 194+. The divorce that Herodias Long got and which John Hicks did not recognize was taken from Rhode Island Colonial Records, vol. 15, pp. 467 and 489 to 493; at the behest of the late Mrs. Josephine C. Frost it was published in the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol. LXX (1939), p. 116. It follows:

1643 Dec. 3. Harwood Hicks divorced from John Hicks.

Following this is a "True Coppie Pr me" by William Lytherland, recorder; it is included herewith because its orthography seems to be more typical of a proper rendition of the original:

> This witneseth tht in the yeare 1643 Decemb the 3d Harwood Hicks wife to John Hicks, made her complaint to us of many greevances, & exstreme violence tht her Husband used towards her, uppon wch she desired the peace of him uppon the Examination whereof we found such Due grounds of her complainte by his Inhumane & barbarous cariages such Crewell blowes on Divers pts of her body, wth many other like Cruelties, tht we fearing the ordenarie & Desperate afects of such barbarous cruelties, murthering passing (sic), Dooeing hanging wounds & Losse of Limbes could not but bind her to the peace, moreover we found him soe bitterly to be Inraged, & so desparate in his expreshions, uppon wch the poore woman Faught [illegible] wth feares chose Rather to subject herselfe to any Miserie then to Live wth him; He also as desierus thereof as She solicited us to pt them, wth much In ( ) we therefore diligently observing, & waighing, the prmises conceived & concluded, tht it were better, yea, farr better for them to be separated, or devorced then to Live in such bondage being in such perfect hatred one of another, & to avoyde & prevent the sd desperate, hazards prmised, yet observing & knowing how Odious this act was amongst men, Refused to order theire separation, but hould them theire Act should be theires wherein if they agreede we would be wittnesses thereof whereuppon wch they came to an accord & declared it to us wch Accordingly we do testifie the same, being - tht God had separated them so I now ( ) that they were free from tht Marriage bond before God, Now we being Majestrates in this place, & in commission for the peace, & by order we are to walk according to the Lawes of England, under yeare of our Soveraigne, had no direct Rule to walke by to devorce thm did therefore under yeare by our Authorite declare thm duly seperate in wittnes whereof we have sett to our hands

These two renditions are not quite alike; from the first it would seem she was divorced, and from the second, separated, with the divorce more or less undefined. We think she thought she was divorced, and say this not to clear her, but as our independent opinion. What John Hicks really said or thought is not now possible to determine; but when he committed an assault upon her subsequently because he found her, as is alleged, living with Gardiner, it must be that he did not regard himself as divorced from her at the time.

That Herodias Long was not considered in 1665 to be the wife of John Hicks is implicit in the documentation connected with the separation decree enacted in that year. We take from the Records of the Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, vol. II (1857), edited by John Russell Bartlett:

Whereas, the Governor, vpon a petition referred to him by his Majestyes most Honorable Commissioners, subscribed Horod Long, hath sent for the partye to appeare before this Assembly for a hearing, and the partye being present, the Court doe agree to heare the petitioner, and the matter related therein before they hear any other matter.

There having been much debate vpon the petition of Horod Long, alias Gardener, and the Court having demanded of the aforesaid Horod whether she would returne to George Gardner and live with him as a wife ought to doe, her plain and absolute answer is, that to accept or embrace that motion, whatever becomes of her she would not, but sayes she was at the Courts pleasure to doe what they saw good.

And the answer of George Gardener was, that he was free to accept of her if she were free, and did desire her to returne, notwithstanding that agreement of theirs to live apart.

George Gardener being called before the Court, and being asked whether he can prove that ever he were according to the manner and custom of the place married; to that hee plainly answers that he cannot say that ever he went on purpose before any magistrate to declare themselves, or to take each other as man and wife, or to have their approbation as to the premises.

Robert Stanton being called before the Court, and being asked whether hee could informe the Court whether hee knew that ever George Gardener and Horod, his reputed wife were ever married according to the custom of this place; which hee answered that hee knew noe other marridge, but onlye one night being at his house both of them did say before him and his wife that they did take one the other as man and wife....

The humble remonstrance and petition of Horod Long to the Right honorable Sir Robert Carr, Colonall Cartwright, Mr. Samuel Maverick, his Majestyes Commissioners, Charles the S econd, King of England, Scotland, France and Ireland, humbly humbly showeth: whereas, I was vpon the death of my father sent to London by my mother in much sorrow and griefe of spiritt, and there taken by one John Hickes vnknowne to any of my friends, and by the said Hickes privately married in the Vnder Church of Paules, called St. Faith's Church, and in a little while after, to my great griefe, brought to New England, when I was between thirteene and fourteene years of age, and lived two yeares and halfe at Waymouth, twelve miles from Boston; and then came to Rhode Island about the yeare 1640;and there lived ever since, till I came heare to Pettecomscott. Not long after my coming to Rhode Island, there happened a difference betweene the said John Hickes and myselfe, soe that the authority that then was Vnder grace, saw cause to part vs, and ordered I should have the estate which was sent mee by my mother, delivered to me by the said John Hickes; but I never had it, but the said John Hickes went away to the Dutch, and carried away with him most of my estate; by which meanes I was put to great hardships and straight. Then I had thought to goe to my friends, but was hindered by the warres, and the death of my friends. My mother and brother loosing their lives and estates in his Majestyes service, and I being one not brought vp to labour, and young, knew not what to doe to have something to live, having noe friend: but consent to him soe fare I did, for my mayntainance. Yett with much oppression of spiritt, judging him not to be my husband, never being married to him according to the law of the place; alsoe I told him my oppression, and desiered him, seeing that hee had that little that I had, and all my labour, that hee would allow mee some maintainance, either to live apart from him, or else not to meddle with me; but hee has alwayes refused. Therefore, my humble petition to your honours is that of that estate and labour hee has had of mine, he may alow it mee; and that the house vpon my land I may enjoy without molestation, and that hee may alow mee my child to bring up with maintainence for her, and that hee may bee restrained from ever meddling with me, or troubleing mee more. Soe shall your poore petitioner ever pray for your honours peace and prosperity.

We desire you would take this petition into your consideration, and doe justice to the poore petitioner according to the best of your judgment, Given under our hands the 20 of March 1664 at Petacomscott.

Whereas Horod Long, heretofore the wife of John Hickes, and since the reputed wife of George Gardener of Newport, in Rhode Island, by a petition, presented vnto the Right honourable his Majestyes Commissioners, did most impudently discover her owne nakednes by declaring therein vnto their honours, that although she had lived for a long space of time with the aforesaid Gardener as in a married estate, and had owned him as her lawfull husband, yett she was never lawfully married to him, neither could owne him in such a relation, and soe consequently that she had lived all this time in that abominable lust of fornication, contrary to the generall apprehension of her neighbors, she haveing had by the aforesaid Gardener many children; and whereas it hath pleased the Right honourable Commissioners to refere the aforesaid petition Vnto the care of our honoured Governor, who hath alsoe requested the assistance of this present General Assembly in the examination .... and for the full issuing of the matter relating thereto: wee have accordingly taken the matter into our serious consideration, and vpon dilligent search have found it to be even soe as the abovesaid Horod hath declared, and that by the confession alsoe of the aforesaid Gardner, in that horrible sin of vnclеannes in which they had lived for the space of eighteen or twenty yeares together, and had under the covert of pretended marriage (owning each other as man and wife), being now and not before, by her owne acting and confessiones brought to light and most shamefully expressed to the publicke view, to the extreme reproach and scandall of this jurisdiction; therefore this present Assembly laying to heart the fowlness of the aforesaid sin, and manifesting their great abhorrence and detestation of such licke practices, doe order as a mult, far inferiour to their demerrits: that the aforesaid George Gardener and Horod Long shall pay or cause to be paid into the publicke treasury the summe of twentye pounds, each of them, between the sitting of this present Court, and the first day of the Court of Triallis, sitting in October next ensuing....

As to some general happenings this year, I mention a few.

Horod Gardiner (so-called, though rightly, Herodias) the wife > of George Gardiner of this town, hath gone all the way from here to Weymouth (near sixty miles) through the wilderness, and with a babe at her breast, to give her testimony, as the Quakers have it. For this hath Governor Endicott ordered her whipped and placed in prison. After her punishment she prayed the Lord to forgive her oppressors. Converts grow with such new punishment.

> This Mistress Gardiner, then Long, was married when but fourteen, at Saint Faith's, London, to one John Hicks, who brought her to Weymouth and then here, but deserted her on differences arising between them, and went away to the Dutch, and she hath since become wife to Mr. Gardiner.

In an account of the persecutions suffered by the Friends in New England, William Sewel in his History of the Rise, Increase and Progress of the Christian People Called Quakers, written originally in Low Dutch, and translated by himself into English about the year 1720 (vol. I, p. 251, Friends Bookstore Edition) also gives an account of this exploit:

> Not long after, Hored (sic) Gardner, an inhabitant of Newport in Rhode Island, came with her sucking babe and a girl to carry it, to Weymouth, whence for being a Quaker, she was hurried to Boston, where both she and the girl were whipped with a three-fold knotted whip. After whipping, the woman kneeled down and prayed the Lord to forgive these persecutors: --- which so reached a woman that stood by that she said "surely she could not have done this if it had not been by the spirit of the Lord".

Ambrose J. Shotwell in his Annals of Our Ancestors, p. 96, quotes Bishop's New England Judged:

> The woman came a very sore journey and (according to man), hardly accomplishable, through a wilderness of about sixty miles, between Rhode Island and Boston. .... "After the savage, inhuman and bloody execution upon her, of your cruelty, aforesaid kneeled down and prayed the Lord to forgive you."

Genealogists have had a field day with the story of Herodias Long. She has been accused of having been erratic, and her morals have been the subject of much euphemistic description. Much of the characterization has been sheer nonsense, in our opinion. She had come to learn in a hard school and at an early age, what a woman might expect in the society of her time, and since she was a woman of stubborn courage, she caused a rumpus. She was never obviously a Quaker; her trip to Weymouth was as much to testify on behalf of the right to unprejudiced and fair treatment as it was to support a religious conviction.

It is interesting to note in the appointment of Herodias' children by George Gardiner as the assigns of John Porter, that they must have been on friendly terms with him; the assignment is otherwise inexplicable. Particularly we note that on 17 November, 1705 Benoni, Henry, George, William and Nicholas Gardiner and John Watson, together with their wives Mary, Joan, Tabitha, Elizabeth and Hannah Gardiner and Rebecca Watson, all of Kingstown, sold 410 acres on Point Judith Pond to John Potter for £150 to be paid to Thomas Hicks of Flushing, Long Island. Thus Herodias' son by her first husband seems to have been remembered also. From this, the reader may decide what motivation impelled Herodias Long to marry John Porter. It is observed that none of these refused their opportunities.

The will of John Aylesford, dated 26 January, 1638/9, proved 23 February, 1638/9, (Somersetshire Wills, Brown, 4th Series, p. 58) mentioned his land in Little Ockenbury, his plantation in the Barbados and made a bequest to Odias Long. It may be that here we have a clue to the family of Long from which Herodias was descended.

The ancestry of Herodias Long is unknown.

9. SARAH LOYSE or LOSEE 323
m. JOHN BRASS son of Pieter Hendrickszen Brass(s) and Catharina Jans

She was born at Bushwick, New York about 1684.

Sarah Loyse married John Brass about 1701 and subsequently resided at Jamaica, New York, where she was still living 1 October, 1722, when she was designated administratrix of the estate of her husband.

Further record of her has not been found.

For descendants, see BRASS, #322.

NOTES

See Baptismal Records of the First Reformed Dutch Church at Jamaica, New York, 1702-1733 (vol. I), transcribed by Josephine C. Frost, pp. 22, 26, 34, 43; and references under BRASS and under her father.

Sarah Loyse or Losee was the daughter of 10 & 11. PIETER JANSZEN LOYSE(N) DE ZEEUW 646, 1,828

m. SARA COLFS or KOLFS daughter of Jacobus Colfs or Kolfs and Sara Hasenbroeck

He was born either in New Amsterdam, New Netherland, or in Bushwick, Long Island, in 1659.

He had removed in his father's family to Long Island in 1661, and after reaching maturity was a farmer in Bushwick, where he is recorded in poll tax lists in 1675 and 1683. He was on a list of the freeholders of Bushwick 6 November, 1701 as Pieter Loeisen.

Pieter Janszen Loyse died after 1704 in Bushwick, and was presumably buried there. No will or administration of his effects is reported.

He was betrothed 21 February, 1680 to Sara Colfs, and married her in the Reformed Dutch church at Flatbush, New York, 14 March, 1680. In the marriage record his surname is given as Loisen; they were then both of Kreupelbosch, under the jurisdiction of Breuckelen (Brooklyn).

Issue:

1. Simon, married Margrietje Koeck or Kouk. See LOSEE, Second Line.
2. Sarah, married John Brass. See page 1,863.
3. Pieter, born probably at Bushwick, New York about 1690, was living there in 1740 as a landholder and farmer. He married about 1718 to Antje Andries, daughter of Lammert Andrieszen; she was buried 23 March, 1768. Issue:

Pieter Janszen is given the surname Loisen in the record of his marriage. Since his wife Sara Colfs is mentioned with him and under the identifying hallmark of her maiden name in a number of records, we know him as Loise, Loeisen and Loysen, as well as also de Zeeuw, de Seeuw and Seeu. de Zeeuw in Dutch means the Zealander, or from the province of Zealand, the southwesternmost part of the Netherlands. Thus de Zeeuw was not his surname. From the pronunciation of Loisen and its variants as represented in Losee and Losey, we think that the vowel was long, and the name was pronounced Lō-i-sem, with the n strongly nasalized and then lost. Later, the i disappeared also. This name certainly was not Lozier, despite some statements to that effect; the actual original name, however, is not assuredly known. It is an astonishing coincidence that in Hempstead, New York there is another family named Losee descended from Lowys Loesse, misprinted Loecie and Locer, of Jamaica, New York. This last individual is discussed in a separate section further on. Lowys Loesse is apparently Lowys Lowyszen, son of Lowys Biesie by his wife Annetje Jurians; none of these have any known connection with the present family of Losee.

We have examined French surnames to see if there were any which might be referable to the present connection. One Huguenot name of London which may represent the original name is Loison; it is to be emphasized that such a surname is not a patronymic.

Pieter Janszen Loysse(n) de Zeeuw was the son of 11 & 12. JAN CORNELISZEN DE ZEEUW 1,292; 3,256

m. JANNEKEN PIETERS

He was born about 1625.

Before his emigration to New Netherland he resided in the province of Zealand in the Netherlands; hence his appellation of "de Zeeuw" or the Zealander.

He is said to have emigrated in 1651; he was a resident of New Amsterdam 22 December, 1653 when Burger Joriszen was plaintiff vs. Jan Corneliszen the Zealander, defendant, in an action concerning payment for a building which Jan had erected on land he had hired of the plaintiff. The dispute was referred to arbitrators Pieter Noorman and Jochem Calder. He was still recorded in New Amsterdam 8 June, 1660.

The citizens of the new and recently settled town of Bushwick on Long Island requested delineation of the lands of the town by the authorities at New Amsterdam, 14 March, 1661, and on the document to this effect Jan Corneliszen's mark appears. He was thus one of the founders of Bushwick, and with Pieter Janszen de Witt and Jan Tilje (Jean Tellier) was appointed one of the first magistrates of Bushwick. He held this office for a considerable number of years.

Sometime before 12 February, 1663 he alleged that he had been slandered by Christina, the wife of Dirck Volkertszen, and at the same time Jan Corneliszen was charged with beating Rachel, daughter of Dirck Volkertszen. Again the charges and counter-charges were brought before arbitrators on the date mentioned above and the fracas was settled by a signed agreement.

He was a private in the militia as recorded in muster lists 14 June, 1663 at Bushwick; and was schepen there 18 August, 1673. He was listed on the poll records 19 August, 1675 as Jan Cornelise Zeuw, with 1 poll, 2 horses, 2 cows, 5 sheep, 17 morgens of land and valley (swamp or meadow), and other estate valuation at a total of 88 pounds. He is also recorded on the assessment roll of Bushwick for 1683.

When the levies were made to pay for the Dongan patent of Bushwick in 1687 his name was not recorded, and it is believed that he was then deceased. He was probably buried at Bushwick. No will or administration of his effects is found.

Jan Corneliszen de Zeeuw married, probably in the Netherland to Janneken or Jannetje Pieters. On 29 May, 1661 she was received into the Dutch church at Brooklyn, with letters from Midwout (Flatbush), the adjoining town.

Issue:

1. Cornelis, married 1, Geertje Colfs; 2, Margaret van Nostrand. See the genealogical section following.
2. Pieter, married Sara Colfs. See page 1,863.
3. Jannetje, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Brooklyn, New York 4 June, 1662, sponsors Wessel Gerritszen, Clara Leydekkers. She married about 1680 to Adriaan de la Forge of Bushwick, who emigrated from the Netherlands in 1652 and took the oath of allegiance at Bushwick in 1687. Issue (DE LA FORGE):
   i. David, born in 1682; resident of Staten Island, N.Y.
   ii. Marytje, baptised 29 March, 1685, recorded at both

. Brooklyn and Flatbush, New York.

iii. Aeltje, baptised 29 March, 1685 at Flatbush, New York. Sponsors to the baptisms of Marytje and Aeltje were Geertje Colfs, Jaques Fonteyn, Wouter Ghysen (i. e., Gysbertszen) and Doorethee Caljers.

iv. Pieter, baptised 11 October, 1689, sponsors Michiel Palmentier, Sarah Loye.

Issue, probably:

4. David, listed as a member in 1695 of the Presbyterian church in Jamaica, New York, and as supporting its minister, the Rev. George Phillips.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF CORNELIS JANSZEN LOYSE, SON OF JAN CORNELISZEN DE ZEEUW AND HIS WIFE JANNEKEN PIETERS, OF BUSHWICK, NEW YORK.

1. Cornelis Janszen Loyse, son of Jan Corneliszen de Zeeuw and Janneken Pieters, was born about 1645 and probably in the province of Zealand, the Netherlands, and emigrated in 1651 to New Netherland. He appears on a list of the catechumens of the Dutch Reformed church at Brooklyn, New York 26 November, 1661 and was on the militia list at Bushwick 14 June, 1663. He was recorded as a resident of Flatbush 22 August, 1675, but was on the assessment rolls of Bushwick for 1683, 1693 and 1698. He took the oath of allegiance in Bushwick in 1687; and was one of the soldiers on the Albany Expedition (listed 13 March, 1689) who departed on 2 April, 1689. He bought land of Lubbert Lubbertszen in Flatbush in October, 1673, for 4,000 guilders (p. 109, Liber C, Flatbush Records) and purchased eight morgens of cultivated land in the same town, 2 March, 1674 of Titus (Syrachs) de Vries. He was a magistrate at Bushwick, New York in 1673, 1679 and 1681. Cornelis Janszen Loyse was living in 1704, but has not been traced further. He married 1, about 1678 to Geertje Colfs, daughter of Jacobus and Sarah Pieters (Hasenbroeck) Colfs, who was the mother of his children; married 2 by a marriage bond dated 16 September, 1704, Margaret van Nostrand. Issue, by first wife:

+ 5. Jan, married Marytje Koeck.
6. Marytje.
+ 7. Jacobus, married 1, Elizabeth ; 2, Marretje
8. Hester.
9. David, baptised at Flatbush Reformed Dutch church, New York, 1 January, 1682, sponsors Wouter Gysbertszen and his wife Dorothee. Not traced further.
10. Dorothy, baptised 1 January, 1682 in the Reformed Dutch church at Flatbush, New York, married Cornelis Jacobszen van de Water, baptised 9 November, 1673, son of Jacobus and Engeltje (Juriaans) van de Water. Issue.

11. Jans, born in 1689.
12. Geertje, baptised 12 January, 1690, sponsors Maritje Misrol, Jan Sjerol. She married Gerrit Koeck, son of Laurens Corneliszen and Margrietje Barents (van Flaesbeek) Koeck.
13. Cornelis, baptised 23 August, 1691, sponsors Michiel Palmentier, Neeltje Jans.

5. Jan Loyse, son of Cornelis Janszen and Geertje (Colfs) Losee, was baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Flatbush, New York 16 August, 1679, sponsors Peter Janz Zeeuw, Sara Kolfs. He was a resident of Jamaica, New York. Jan Loyse married 1, Marytje Koeck or Kouk, daughter of Laurens Corneliszen and Margrietje Barents (van Flaesbeek) Koeck; married 2, in the First Presbyterian church at Jamaica, New York, 30 March, 1717, Antje Heptonstall. She is identified as the widow of Jan Loyse who was buried 8 July, 1769. Issue, by first wife:

14. Grietje, baptised 13 October, 1703, sponsors Cornelis Loyse and Margrietje Flaesbeek.
+ 15. Cornelius, married Deborah Langdon.
16. Geertje, baptised 22 March, 1709, sponsors Simon and Grietje Looyse.
+ 17. Jan (John), married Neeltje Golder.
18. Marytje, baptised 7 April, 1713, sponsors Barent Blom and Femmetje (van Flaesbeek) Blom.
+ 19. Abraham, married Anna Dorland.

Issue, by second wife:

20. Antje, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Jamaica, New York 12 January, 1718, sponsors Pieter Monfoort, Lowisa Monfoort.
21. Sara, baptised 3 May, 1719 in the Reformed Dutch church at Jamaica, New York, sponsor Abraham Koeck. She married in St. George's Episcopal church at Hempstead, New York 5 December, 1736, Isaac Bedell.
22. Elizabeth, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Jamaica, New York, 16 April, 1721; married St. George's Episcopal church at Hempstead, New York 29 September, 1739 to Samuel Pettit.
23. Jannetje, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Jamaica, New York 2 August, 1724, sponsors Tammes Docksen (Thomas Dorsee), Annetje Docksen; married in St. George's Episcopal church at Hempstead, New York 12 August, 1743, Isaac Pettit.
24. Jacobus, baptised 1 January, 1727.

7. Jacobus Loyse, son of Cornelis Janszen and Geertje (Colfs) Loyse, was born probably at Bushwick, New York about 1680, and died at Jamaica, New York after 1724. He was recorded on the 1698 census of Bushwick, but after his marriage he was a resident of Jamaica. He was on the rate list of the Presbyterian church at Jamaica 4 February, 1708/9, but on 29 April, 1715 he promised to contribute towards the building of the Reformed Dutch church at Jamaica. Jacobus Loyse or Losee married 1, Elizabeth, maiden name not determined; 2, Marretje, whose maiden name is also unknown. Issue, by first wife:

+ 25. Jan (John), married Jannetje Brouwer.
+ 26. William, married Phebe
27. Maria, baptised 21 March, 1710, sponsors Pieter Conselje, Maria Loosye.
28. Jacobus, baptised 31 July, 1715, sponsors Jan Blaair and Susanna Blaair. Not traced further.

Issue, by second wife:

29. Abigail, baptised 23 August, 1724.

15. Cornelius Losee, son of Jan and Marytje (Koeck) Loyse or Losee, was baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Brooklyn, New York 29 May, 1705, sponsors Gerrit Koeck and Geertje Lowise. He removed to Fishkill, New York, where he was living 27 June, 1749. Cornelius Losee married at Jerusalem in the town of Hempstead, New York about 1727 to Deborah Langdon, baptised as an adult in St. George's Episcopal church, Hempstead, New York 26 May, 1728, daughter of Thomas Langdon. Issue (at least)

30. Mary, baptised with her mother in St. George's Episcopal church, Hempstead, New York 26 May, 1728.
31. Jan (John) baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Fishkill, New York 2 October, 1733, sponsors Louwerens Losee, Rachel de Langh.

17. Jan (John) Losee, son of Jan and Marytje (Koeck) Loyse or Losee, was born at Jamaica, New York about 1711, and baptised in the Reformed Dutch church there 10 April, 1711, sponsors Johannes and Catrina van Leeuwen. He removed to Fishkill, New York where he was living in 1746. Jan Losee married about 1738 to Neeltje Golder, who was baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Jamaica, New York 8 January, 1716, daughter of William and Giesie Golder. Issue (at least):

32. Marytje, baptised at Fishkill, New York 27 May, 1739; no sponsors.
33. Gesiena, baptised at Fishkill, New York 20 June, 1742; sps. Josif Golder and Wyntje Goolder.
34. Catharina, baptised at Fishkill, New York 20 April, 1746, sponsors Mattheus du Bois and Deborch Simpkins.

19. Abraham Losee, son of Jan and Marytje (Koeck) Losee, was born at Jamaica, New York about 1714 and baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Jamaica 27 April, 1715, sponsors Anthony Glean and Marrytje Koeck. He died at Fishkill, New York in November 1766. Abraham Losee married Anna Dorland in St. George's Episcopal church at Hempstead, New York 29 November, 1734. She was born 23 August of 1717 and died in February, 1766, daughter of John and Mary(Bedell) Dorland. Issue:

35. John, born about 1735.
36. Mary, baptised in St. George's Episcopal church at Hempstead, New York 30 July, 1738; married at Rumbout, New York 16 May, 1757 by a license granted 13 May, 1757, to Abraham Brouwer, son of Abraham and Sara (Kimber) Brouwer.
37. Anne, baptised in St. George's Episcopal church at Hempstead, New York 23 March, 1739/40; married at Rumbout 22 March, 1758 to Bartholomew Noxon junior.
38. Abraham, born in 1742; married by a bond dated 5 November, 1767, Sarah Hegeman.
39. Elizabeth, born about 6 October, 1744 at Fishkill, New York, died at Hopewell, New York 31 March, 1816; married at Hopewell 1 January, 1766 to Isaac Storm.
40. Elias, baptised in the Presbyterian church at Rumbout, New York 16 February, 1752.
41. Letitia, baptised in the Presbyterian church at Rumbout, New York 7 July, 1754.
42. Chauncey, baptised in the Presbyterian church at Rumbout, New York 8 May, 1757.
43. Love, baptised in the Presbyterian church at Rumbout, New York 13 February, 1763.

25. Jan Loyse or John Losey, son of Jacobus and Elizabeth Loyse, was baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Brooklyn, New York, 6 October, 1700, sponsors Cornelis Lowysse, Grietje Tilburg. He was a resident of Jamaica, New York until shortly before 1731; by that year he had removed to Mendham, New Jersey where he resided the rest of his life. A survey of his property was made 9 January, 1748 by Jon^{a} Hampton, Deputy Surveyor; John Losey died in June, 1765 at Mendham and was probably buried there. He married Jannetje or Jane Brouwer, who is believed to be the one baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Brooklyn, New York 8 January, 1702, sponsors Steven Beduen, Maria, his wife; she was daughter of Willem and Martha (Boulten) Brouwer. Issue:

+ 44. John, married Hannah Holbard.
+ 45. James Puff, married Mary Seley.
46. Marya, baptised in the First Reformed church at Raritan, New Jersey, 27 June, 1730; she married as his first wife to Jonathan Pitney, born in 1721, died in 1778.
+ 47. Cornelius, married

48. Catharine, married John Burwell.
+ 49. Timothy, married 1, Hannah Moor; 2, Prudence
50. Elizabeth, baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey 20 September, 1747; living single, 23 March, 1778 when she was willed £10 by John Young of Morris county.
+ 50. Phillip.
51. Jane, baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey 30 August, 1755.

26. William Loyse or Losey, son of Jacobus and Elizabeth Loyse, was baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Jamaica, New York 4 April 1704, sponsors Jan Loosye, Sophia Shirt (Sjoert). He was a resident of Jamaica, New York until sometime after 1730 and before 1743, when he removed to Hanover, New Jersey. He was a witness to the will of David Trowbridge which was proved 9 December, 1768; and appears on the rate lists of Hanover until his death, 22 May, 1780. At that time he was called 85 years of age. William Losey married Phebe, maiden name unreported; she died 30 August, 1786, aged 70. Issue:

52. Jan, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Jamaica, N. Y., 22 October, 1727, sponsors Coobus loosi, Marytie loosi. No further record.
53. Jacobus, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Jamaica, New York 1 March, 1730, sponsor, Jacobus Loosie. He was rated at Hanover, New Jersey in 1778, 1779, and in later years after his first cousin James Puff Losey had died. He is believed to have been the Captain James Losey who married a sister of the wife of Captain S. Baldwin, the last-named Captain Baldwin having had a first wife who was aunt to one Robert Young (Proceedings of the New Jersey Historical Society, 4th Series, vol. VIII, p. 35). If so, Captain James Losey died 20 January, 1809; his wife Hannah died in 1810 and was buried at Rockaway, New Jersey beside her husband. From the associations in the records it appears to be probable that the following were their issue:
i. Jacob, whose wife Nancy died 12 (gravestone) or 15 (church record) April, 1809, aged 37.
ii. Joseph, of Rockaway in 1793.
54. Zebulon, baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey, 30 October, 1743; was rated as a resident of Pequannock, New Jersey in September, 1779, and in 1780 and 1781. Nothing further known.
+ 55. Cornelius, married Mary
56. Peter, baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey 10 September, 1749
57. Susanna, baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey, 6 October, 1751, probably the one of that name who married 14 February, 1769, Caleb Chadwick.

58. Jane, baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey 6 October, 1751.

And probably:

59. Mary, born about 1731/2, probably at Jamaica, New York, married 14 November, 1748 to Daniel Potter.

60. Isaac, married at the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey, 5 April, 1759, Miriam Hathaway.

61. Nehemiah, whose earmark was recorded in Mendham, New Jersey in 1762. Later residents in Mendham are undoubtedly descended from him.

44. John Losey, son of John and Jane (Brouwer) Losey, was born probably in Jamaica, New York about 1723; and appears on the rate lists of Hanover, New Jersey through July, 1783. He died probably shortly after this date. He received £10 in the will of John Young of Morris county, 23 March, 1778. John Losey married in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey, 16 August, 1749 to Hannah Holbard (?Hurlbut) who died at Hanover, New Jersey 23 October, 1803, aged 70. Issue, baptised in the First Presbyterian ch. at Morristown, New Jersey:

62. Phebe, baptised 27 October, 1751.

63. Elizabeth, baptised 9 June, 1754.

+ 64. Abigail, married David Garrigus.

65. Hannah, baptised 21 August, 1757.

66. Anne, baptised 11 November, 1759, probably the one of that name who married 7 January, 1775, David Tredwell.

67. Stephen, baptised 22 November, 1761, one of the heirs at law of John Losey, 16 March, 1811.

68. Cornelius, baptised 31 July, 1763; one of the heirs at law of John Losey, 16 March, 1811.

69. Lucretia, born in 1763, baptised 4 November, 1764; married 31 December, 1778, William Bowen. She died 17 September, 1798, aged 35.

70. John, baptised 14 September, 1766, probably the one who married Sarah, maiden name not reported; communicants of the First Presbyterian church at Morristown 1 November, 1796.

71. Mary, baptised 21 August, 1768, perhaps the one who married 18 November, 1784, Joseph Trowbridge.

72. Abner, born 28 June, 1770; baptised 28 June, 1772.

73. Silas, born 24 March, 1772, baptised 28 June, 1772. One of the heirs at law of John Losey, 16 March, 1811.

74. Letitia, born 3 March, 1774, baptised 10 October, 1782.

75. David, born 13 March, 1777, baptised 10 October, 1782; m. as of Hanover, New Jersey, 25 December, 1799, Mary Jameson.

76. Sarah, twin with David, born 13 March, 1777, baptised 10 October, 1782.

45. James Puff Losey, son of John and Jane(Brouwer) Losey, was born probably in Jamaica, New York about 1725 and died shortly after 23 March, 1778 at Hanover, New Jersey. He married in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey 18 October, 1750 to Mary Seley, who after his death became the second wife of Jonathan Pitney, widower of Mary Losey. Mary (Seley) (Losey) Pitney was administratrix of the estate of Jonathan Pitney, 19 October, 1778. Issue by James Puff Losey:

77. Sarah, born about 1751, baptised 25 November, 1759.
78. David, born about 1753, baptised 25 November, 1759.
79. Phebe, born about 1756, baptised 25 November, 1759.
80. Joanna, born about 1758, baptised 25 November, 1759
81. James Puff, birth record not found, who was a son-in-law of Adam Burwell.
82. Abigail, baptised 3 October, 1762.
83. Jemima, born 10 April, 1771, baptised 23 June, 1771.

47. Cornelius Losey, son of John and Jane (Brouwer) Losey, was born probably in the Raritan valley of New Jersey in 1732, and was baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Readington, New Jersey, 7 September, 1732. He was in later life a resident of Hanover, New Jersey, and was last recorded on the rate list of September, 1807. He died probably shortly after this date. It is believed that his wife was probably the Elizabeth Losey who died 11 December, 1818 aged 78. There were evidently several children, but the name of only one appears certain:

+ 84. Cornelius, married 1, Anna Hill; 2, Rhoda

49. Timothy Losey, son of John and Jane (Brouwer) Losey, was born probably in Morris county, New Jersey and was baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey 14 April, 1745. He is identified as the one of that name who on 15 March, 1821 with his wife Prudence conveyed land to Cornelius Losee of Hanover township. Timothy Losey married 1, 15 June, 1767 to Hannah Moore, sister of Stephen Moore of Morris county, yeoman; the will of Stephen Moore was proved 27 January, 1777. Timothy had a second wife Prudence in 1821. Issue, by first wife:

85. Anne, born 25 March, 1768, baptised 18 July, 1773.
86. Stephen, born 9 July, 1769, baptised 18 July, 1773.
87. Silas Sayre, born 25 April, 1773, baptised 18 July, 1773.
88. James, mentioned in the will of John Young of Morris county, New Jersey, dated 23 March, 1778, proved 8 July, 1784.

50. Phillip Losey, son of John and Jane (Brouwer) Losey, was born probably at Hanover, New Jersey about 1750, and was baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey 3 June, 1750. He received £10 from the estate of John Young as bequeathed in the latter's will dated 23 March, 1778. In 1779 he had 133 acres of land at Roxbury and in 1783 was rated at Hanover. However he was living at Pequannock in September, 1795. A Phillip Losey was recorded as dying 7 December, 1803, aged 53; since this is the only Phillip Losey found of record and was of the correct age, it is undoubtedly this one. In the next generation and living at Pequannock is a Cornelius Losey born in 1777 whose ancestry has not been established, but as he named his first son after his wife's father and his second son Phillip, it is believed that he was probably son of this Phillip Losey. The only other Losey living at Pequannock who was contemporary with Phillip Losey was Zebulon Losey, No. 54, whose descendants if any, are unknown. It is emphasized that no documentation has shown that Phillip Losey was even married; but it is our present opinion, concurred in by Milton Rubincam, the well-known genealogist of Washington, D. C., that the following may well have been children of Phillip Losey, by a wife whose name is unknown:

89. John, born about 1774, married at Pequannock, New Jersey, 9 June, 1795 to Sarah Haines. He was a resident of Pequannock.
+ 90. Cornelius, married Abigail Tuttle.
91. Jehila, married 10 September, 1797, William Kindree.

55. Cornelius Losey, son of William and Phebe Losey, was born at Hanover, New Jersey about 1747, and was baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, 26 April, 1747. He married about 1767 to Mary, maiden name not reported. Issue, baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown:

92. Phebe, born 14 March, 1768, baptised 10 October, believed to have been the one of that name who married 30 December, 1783, Isaac Garrigus.
+ 93. Aaron, married Alice Simcox.
94. Mary, born 2 November, 1772, baptised 10 October, 1782.
95. Daniel, born 30 November, 1775, baptised 10 October of 1782.
96. Charity, born 18 August, 1778, baptised 10 October, 1782.
97. James, born 3 November, 1781, baptised 10 October, 1782.
98. Benjamin, born 1 September, 1784, baptised 9 January, 1785; died 30 August, 1785.

64. Abigail Losey, daughter of John and Hannah (Holbard) Losey, was born in Hanover, New Jersey probably in 1757 and baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey 21 August, 1757. She married in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey, 18 March, 1773 to David Garrigus, a revolutionary war hero. In 1806 this family removed to Hamilton, Ohio; she died there about 1830. Issue (GARRIGUS):

99. Sarah, born 21 April, 1774.
100. Jeptha, born 7 January, 1776.
101. A child, who died 22 July, 1777.
102. David, born 30 June, 1778, married 25 June, 1800 to Rachel Lyon.
103. Stephen, born 1 December, 1780.
104. Hannah, born 26 January, 1783, died 1 September, 1821; m. 14 December, 1800, Daniel Ayres.
105. Silas, born 18 April, 1785; married Hannah

84. Cornelius Losey, son of Cornelius Losey and ?Elizabeth, was born in Hanover, New Jersey in 1762 and as "junior" appears on the Hanover list of ratables in 1784, at which time he was called a single man. He was a resident of Hanover all of his life, dying there 17 January, 1846. His will, dated 14 September, 1842, was proved 28 January, 1846 (Morris co. Will Book F, pp. 89-90). Cornelius Losey married 1, 14 December, 1785 to Anna Hill who became a communicant of the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey 2 September, 1792. She died probably about 1792; the wife who survived him was named Rhoda, maiden name unreported, who died 3 December, 1854 in her 80th year. Issue, by first wife:

106. Elizabeth, born 20 September, 1787, baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey, 25 December, 1787.
107. Timothy, born about 1790, married and had issue.
108. Lewis, born 14 February, 1791, baptised 7 August, 1791.

90. Cornelius Losey, possibly son of Phillip Losey, was born in Morris county 19 July, 1777 and died 11 February, 1848, according to an old family record in the possession of Mrs. Mamie (Teasdale) Wheless of New York city, New York. On 18 July, 1797 as Cornelius Losey of Pequannock he married Abigail Tuttle, born 25 October, 1774, died 14 August, 1859, daughter of Ebenezer and Rebecca (Broadwell) Tuttle. Subsequently the family moved to Frankford township, Sussex county where on 1 June, 1836 Cornelius Losey sold to George Beard, of Morris township for $30 "all the undivided one seventh of one fourth of those three tracts or parcel(s) of land and premises hereinafter particularly described.... the right and title of the said Cornelius Losey to the three lots of land late the property of Elizabeth Eddy decd. widow of Thomas Eddy deceased...." This deed was made preparatory to his removal to Orion township, Oakland county, Michigan, where he is found in the Federal census of 1840. Issue:

109. Ebenezer Tuttle, born in November, 1797, died 9 March, 1870; presumably a Doctor of Medicine.

110. Rebecca Broadwell, born 22 September, 1799, died 4 May, 1887; married 26 February, 1821 to Christopher Longstreet Beardsley, born 25 September, 1792, died 30 August, 1850. He was a civil engineer; taught school in New York and finally settled in Michigan in 1837. See Genealogical History of the Beardsley-lee Family in America, 1902, p. 103.

111. Elizabeth Eddy, born 12 March, 1804; no further record.

+ 112. Philip, married Mahala Predmore.

+ 113. Susan Beers, married the Rev. John Teesdale.

93. Aaron Losey, son of Cornelius and Mary Losey, was born probably at Hanover, New Jersey 12 April, 1770 and baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Morristown, New Jersey 10 October, 1782. He died before 1808. Aaron Losey married Alice Simcox, born 25 January, 1772, daughter of Nathan Simcox; after Aaron Losey's death she married 2, in 1808 John Hill who died 30 November, 1848. She died 16 December, 1836. Issue:

114. Jacob, of Pennsylvania.

115. Charles, of Lake county, Illinois.

116. Catharine, married Benjamin Goble of New Vernon, N. J.

117. Phebe Ann, born 1 June, 1806, married Joseph Jackson Ayres and lived at Franklin, N. J.

112. Philip Losey, son of Cornelius and Abigail (Tuttle) Losey, was born 14 July, 1806 and died 13 August, 1882; married 23 December, 1826 to Mahala Predmore, who was born 1 March, 1810. Issue:

118. Mary, born 1 July, 1828, married 19 March, 1849, Luke W. Cole.

119. Israel, born 19 August, 1830, a veteran of the Civil War; married Lavinia- maiden name not reported. Issue.

120. Charles Augustus, born 19(?) December, 1833, died 19 February, 1855.

113. Susan Beers Losey, daughter of Cornelius and Abigail (Tuttle) Losey, was born 22 April, 1810. On 19 May, 1831 she married the Rev. John Teasdale, born in Wantage township, Sussex county, New Jersey, 12 November, 1806, son of Thomas and Hannah (Cox) Teasdale. He was a Baptist minister; organized and was corresponding secretary of the Sussex Baptist Association. From 1831 to 1836 he was pastor of the church at Newton, New Jersey and for part of this time was also (1831-1833) pastor at Hamburg, New Jersey. After holding other pastorates, including one at Fredericksburg, Virginia, he removed to Upper Alton, Illinois and served as General Agent for the American and Foreign Bible Society in central and southern Illinois, Missouri and Iowa. He was called to the Third Baptist church of St. Louis, Missouri, 3 April, 1854. The Rev. John Teasdale suffered a tragic death 1 November, 1855, when the Gasconade Bridge on which he was standing collapsed during ceremonies of the opening of the Missouri Pacific Rail Road. Issue (TEASDALE):

NOTES

In The History of the City of Brooklyn, New York, by Henry R. Stiles, vol. II, p. 328 there is chronicled the beginning of the town of Bushwick, the chief primary residence of this family in the "new country". We quote:

> The scattered agricultural inhabitants of the territory now comprised in the eastern district of the city of Brooklyn, seem to have made no attempt towards a regular settlement, or the organization of a town government, for a period of over twenty years from the date of its purchase from the natives, by the West India Company. In February 1660 .... the troublous condition of the times led to the enforcement, by the government, of stringent precautionary measures for the protection and safety of the established towns upon the western end of Long Island. "Outside residents, who dwell distant from each other" were directed also "to remove and concentrate themselves within the neighboring towns, and dwell in the same;" because says the order "we have war with the Indians, who have slain several of our Netherland people." A village and blockhouse was accordingly erected by the Waalboght residents during the month of March, 1660, on the high point of land, on the East river, near the foot of the present South Ferry street ....
>
> Simultaneously, almost, with the issuance of the above order, the first steps were taken towards the establishment of a settlement in another and more remote portion of the territory. On the 16th of February, according to the record, "as fourteen Frenchmen, with a Dutchman, named Peter Jans Wit, their interpreter, have arrived here; and, as they do not understand the Dutch language, they have been with the director general and requested him to cause a town plot to be laid out at a proper place; whereupon his honor fixed upon the 19th instant, to visit the place and fix upon a site.

Accordingly, three days after, on "February 19th, the director general, with the Fiscal, Nicasius de Sille and his Honor Secretary van Ruyven, with the sworn surveyor Jaques Cortelseau, came to Mispat (Mespath, Maspeth) and have fixed upon a place between Mispat kil (Newtown creek) and Norman's kil (Bushwick creek) to establish a village; and have laid out, by survey, twenty-two house lots, on which dwelling houses are to be built."

The name of the settlement was Boswÿck, given by the director general from its associations, i. e., the town in the woods. The Frenchmen who came with Peter de Witt included presumably the first ancestor of the Losee family who appears as Jan Corneliszen de Zeeuw, and whose sons bore the surname Loyse or Loise (?Loison).

On 9 October, 1661, Lowes son of Lowes Bycse and his wife Annetje Jurians, was baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Brooklyn, New York, the sponsors being Touseyn (Toussaint) Bryel and Mary Bronteyn. On 18 May, 1664 his brother Jacques was baptised at the same church as son of Lovys Biosie and Anneken Jeuriaens, the sponsors being Jacques Corsson and Hester Vincent (Holland Society Year Book for 1897, pp. 145, 149). Of these, Lowes is identified as the resident of Jamaica, New York known as Lowes Loesse, or Lowyszen, misprinted in the New York Abstracts of Wills published in the Collections of the New York Historical Society, as Loser. His will, dated 1 June, 1734, was proved 14 December, 1738 and filed in Liber 13 of Wills, New York city, New York. His wife was named Mary and the children were John, Charity, Elizabeth, Abigail, Cornelius, William and Mary. Of these John is identified as the one of Hempstead who is known as John Losee. His son, John Losee junior, is identified as the one of that name who married to Elizabeth Langdon.

We realize fully the implications of this indicated duplication of an unusual name; that we may be wrong in our conclusions. Here are two apparently unrelated families, the one presumably named Lowyszen, the other "Loyse", both of whom resolved their surnames into Losee or Losey. It is an astonishing coincidence if true, and it can be said that after an examination of records of these families for more than twenty years, we cannot come to any other conclusion. Apparently most of the Losees who resided in Hempstead were of this line.

Next, the Losee family of Bushwick and Oyster Bay, New York must be distinguished carefully from the Lozier family which was mainly of Hackensack, New Jersey. The first ancestor of this family was François Le Sueur, who was referred to by James Riker in his Revised History of Harlem, New York:

> And from this port (Dieppe) many of the refugees took ship for other countries, as we presume, did Francois le Sueur and Robert le Maire, who came from thence to Harlem....

LOSEE
1,884

Le Sueur was born at Challe-Mesnil or Colmenil, a small borough or market town three miles south of Dieppe.

Page 100
(1657) Jean Gervoe and Francois Le Sueur went out at about the same date.

Page 196
Francois le Sueur .... was the ancestor of the families of Le Seur and Lozier, now mostly seated in New York City and Bergen Co., N. J. Francois first lived in Flatbush after coming to Manhattan, and in 1659 married Jannetje, daughter of Hillebrand Pietersen, of Amsterdam, in which year Jannetje's brother, Pieter Hillebrands, was captured by Indians at Esopus...

One of the descendants of François le Sueur was Cornelius Lozier of Pequannock, New Jersey, who must be distinguished carefully from the Cornelius Loseys who resided at Hanover and Pequannock. The Loseys and the Loziers stem from entirely different families.

And finally Cornelis Janszen Loys e(n) de Zeeuw of the present family, son of Jan Corneliszen and Janneken (Pieters) de Zeeuw must be distinguished carefully from Cornelis Janszen de Zeeuw, also from Zealand in the Netherlands, better known as Cornelis Janszen van der Veer (of the ferry). The well-known genealogist William J. Hoffman has published an excellent critique of the connections of this last named Cornelis Janszen in the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol. 79, under the title of 'The Dutch Ancestry of the Van Der Veer Family'.

The members of few families have been as difficult to segregate as have those descended of the present line (LOSEE). We have been aided greatly by the independent work of Arthur S. Wardwell and Milton Rubincam. To the late William A. Eardeley must go the credit for segregating the first two generations of these several families; his work has been carefully reviewed and has thus far stood the test. We acknowledge also the help given to us by Messrs. William J. Hoffman, Andrew J. Provost, junior, and the late Miss Alice V. Meigs.

Jan Corneliszen de Zeeuw (page 1,866) was son of one Cornelis, about whom nothing further is known.

9. SARA LOSEE (LOYSE) 457
m. JAN HAFF son of Pieter Haff and Wyntje Hercks (Krankhuyt) Luyster

She was born probably at Oyster Bay, New York about 1704.

Sara Loyse or Losee was baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Jamaica, New York 4 April, 1704, the sponsors being Pieter Loosye and Sara Loosye.

She married either at Oyster Bay or Jamaica, New York in all probability, and about 1727 to Jan Haff. Subsequently they resided at Oyster Bay, New York and were living there in 1740. About 1745 the family removed to Huntington, and she was admitted to membership in the First church at the latter place 30 March, 1748.

It is not known when she died, but it is believed to have been shortly before 1764. No will or administration is found.

For descendants, see HAFF, #456.

10. SIMON LOSEE (LOYSE, LOOSYE) 914
m. MARGRIETJE KOECK or KOUK daughter of Laurens Corneliszen Koeck (Kouk) and Margrietje Barents van Flaesbeek

He was born probably at Bushwick, New York in 1681.

LOSEE
1,886

Simon Losee was baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Flatbush, New York 30 January, 1681, the sponsors being Simon Haaks (Hakes) and Sara Kolfs.

He was a resident of Oyster Bay, New York as early as 1706, and bought land at Wheatley in that township 29 January, 1719. He subscribed eight pounds in 1732 towards the building of the Reformed Dutch church at Wolver Hollow in Oyster Bay, and his family had benches 6, 10 and 13. On 25 April, 1734 the members of the newly built Dutch Reformed church were gathered in the church to select church masters to regulate the "sitting" accordingly; and two men were selected to receive the report of the builders and overseers. The latter were Simon Losee (Loyse) and Cornelis Hoogland. He was one of the church trustees to serve for two years, elected 19 May, 1739. He appears to have been a devout, faithful and respected member of this church his lifetime.

His earmark for stock was recorded in the Hempstead, New York town records 12 November, 1743. During the next fifteen years and more he accumulated property and became one of the larger landholders at Wheatley, a farming community three miles north of Westbury and within the town lines of Oyster Bay. An indenture of 7 April, 1783 between Benjamin Townsend and David van Nostrand states that Simon Losee (then deceased) formerly lived on the Plains south of Richard Townsend's homestead; his homestead property was then bounded on the north by the land of Peter Titus, on the east by the highway, on the south by land that lately belonged to Jotham Post and on the west by land that had belonged to Peter Losee.

Simon Losee was overseer of highways at Wheatley in 1750.

He died probably at Wheatley, in 1763. His will, dated 13 May, 1760, was proved 5 September, 1763 and recorded in Liber 24 of Wills, p. 201, New York city, New York. He is believed to have been buried at Wheatley.

He married about 1702 and probably at Bushwick, New York to Margrietje Koeck or Kouk who survived him. They had thirteen children, 12 of whom lived to marry and have children. Simon Losee can be truly considered to be one of Long Island's patriarchs.

*In vol. I, at page 419 under 9. Margaret Brush, we indicated that this Simon Losee was the one who married Margaret Brush. In the ten years and more since page 419 was written, our research has led us to consider the present account to be correct. In the other we had followed the constructions of earlier writers; their proofs are not found. Unplaced is another Simon Losee of Horse Neck, Dutchess county who married Freelove Merritt about 1776 and had Stephen of Greenville, New York, born in 1777, died in 1849, married in 1797 to Rachel King and had Sylvanus who married Elizabeth Finch (Amer. Ancestry, II, p. 75).

11. Martha, born at Wheatley, Oyster Bay, New York about 1722, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Jamaica, New York 25 January, 1722, sponsors Pieter Loosi and Antje Loosi. She married Daniel Duryea, widower of Geertje Koeck, son of Abraham and Elizabeth (Polhemus) Duryea. Her will, dated 24 May, 1798, was proved at Jamaica, New York 26 December, 1804.
12. Charity (a mistaken adaptation of Geertje or Gertrude), bapt. Dutch church, Jamaica, , New York 4 October, 1724, sponsors Louwerens Haf and Maretje Haf; married 10 January, 1745 to Timothy Titus, born 7 October, 1726, buried 2 November, 1802, son of Jacob and Margaret (Jermain) Titus. See Titus Family of Long Island and Dutchess County, New York, by Andrew J. Provost, jr., C. E., revised, 1945, p. 6.
13. Femmetje (Phebe), born at Wheatley, Oyster Bay, New York about 1726, baptised in the Reformed Dutch church at Jamaica, New York 7 April, 1727, sponsors Louwerens Loosie and Grietje Loosee. She married in St. George's Episcopal church, Hempstead, New York 30 September, 1750 to Jacob Weeks of Oyster Bay, New York, born about 1730, son of Jacob and Elizabeth (Wright) Weeks. FIRST AND SECOND LINES

11. MARY LUDLAM 1,821, 1,853
m. THOMAS SCUDDER son of Thomas Scudder and Elizabeth (Lowers)

She was born probably at Matlock, Derbyshire, England about 1639.

Mary Ludlam was baptised in the parish church at Matlock 7 August, 1639.

She probably came in her father's family to New England about 1650, and removed to Southampton, New York in 1653. At the time her father William Ludlam made his will 27 April, 1665 she was already the wife of Thomas Scudder of Huntington, New York.

She was living at Huntington 22 October, 1691, when the will of Thomas Scudder was proved. The date of her death is not found, and no will or administration of her effects is of record. She was probably buried at Huntington.

Mary Ludlam married Thomas Scudder about 1660.

For their further record, see SCUDDER, First and Second Lines, ##1,820 and 1,852.

NOTES

George Rogers Howell states in his The Early History of Southampton, Long Island, with Genealogies, second edition, 1887, p. 339, in the part dealing with the descendants of the first William Ludlam in this country, that the latter had sons-in-law "Caleb Corwithy, Samuel King and Thomas Scudder, as by his will". Passing over other records for the moment, we turn next to the article entitled William Ludlam of Southampton, Long Island by Conklin Mann, and published in the American Genealogist, vol. XX, No. 1, pp. 8+. After referring to the foregoing statement of Mr. Howell as given above, Mr. Mann goes on to say on page 11:

> That statement (i. e. that Thomas Scudder among others was a son-in-law of William Ludlam) has been accepted as fact by many later writers. I have found nothing to support it, over > a period of fifteen years. Certainly the will, a photostat copy of which is in the possession of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, gives it no support. Samuel King of Southold had a wife Frances who was of an age to fit among the children of William Ludlam. Unfortunately King, though he put down in his record book the date of his marriage and the death and age of his wife Frances, omitted her surname. The book yields no hint as to who she was. Thomas[2] Scudder of Huntington named a daughter Clemens in his will in 1699 (sic)* but there is far more evidence pointing to Scudder's wife as a daughter of John[1] Conklin of Southold than as a daughter of William Ludlam. As to Caleb Corwithy, I find no tie-in whatsoever. I am inclined to believe that Howell's statement was a slip on his part that once in print was not overtaken. If the case could be proved, I believe that the researches of the late Rufus King and the genealogists who were associated with him would have proved it during the many years in which they pursued their search. The best that Mr. King could do was to quote Howell.

This critique is entirely correct wherein it states that the will gives Mr. Howell's statement no support, even though the latter was quite specific as to the names of the sons-in-law, and as to the relationships. This is not an "ordinary slip of the pen" in our opinion (if it was one) but would appear to be the creation de novo of three sons-in-law with specific names, and accordingly we must ask ourselves what kind of man Mr. Howell was, He was a clergyman, Archivist of the State of New York for many years, and a Secretary of the Albany Institute. Our examination of his work shows that he was a man of thoroughly honest approach and of the highest probity, and whose errors (and he did indeed make errors, as do we all) are not found to be of this character.

In The Long Island Traveler (Long Island Historical Society) for 3 June, 1898, the following editorial text appears:

> Among the original documents at the New York Surrogate's, is an almost illegible sheet containing the receipts for these bequests, signed by William Ludlam's three sons-in-law, Samuel King, Thomas Scudder and Caleb Carwithon, or Carwithy.

---

*Thomas Scudder's will was dated 7 December, 1686, proved 22 October, 1691. See Early Long Island Wills of Suffolk County, by William S. Pelletreau, 1897, pp. 46-49.

We regret that our review of published Conklin genealogical records do not permit us to come to a similar conclusion, irrespective of the information presented here.

A note in the Friday, 22 July, 1898 issue of The Traveler tells about the will of William Ludlam having been upon the first three pages missing from the New York Surrogate's record.

At the present time there are a few scattered records remaining at New York city and Arthur S. Wardwell has inspected these for the writer recently. We quote Mr. Wardwell's letter to us of 8 April 1954:

> I went to look at the copies of the records of the first (wills) reported in N. Y. Volumes 1 and 2 are combined and indexed in one book.
>
> Page 1 as now numbered starts with something about the estate of Mary Gardiner. The old pages are given as being 3 to 8 and a statement that the earlier pages 1-2 are not in the old books of N. Y. C. records....
>
> I then went to the office of the Commissioner of Records .... I explained that I wanted to look at the index ... He (the official in charge) showed me a box of cards which were arranged alphabetically and I looked at Scudder and Ludlam, and found that William Ludlam was in envelope 6 .... he took it (the envelope) out of a steel filing cabinet right there in that room. I found the following in it:-
>
> > One sheet of paper small size -, marked Papers relating to the will of William Ludlam.
> >
> > ....
> >
> > Then on three separate pieces of paper receipts to brother Henery Ludlam, signed by William Ludlam of Huntington, Anthony Ludlam of Southampton and Joseph Ludlam of Southampton.
> >
> > The first two were dated 9 June, 1666, the other 8 June, 1666. The last two were signed by mark.
> >
> > Each receipt had two witnesses: William[2] Ludlam was witness to signature of Anthony Ludlam .... John Howell witnessed the signature of Joseph Ludlam. Thomas Scudder witnessed the signature of Joseph Ludlam on June 8th, and the signature of William Ludlam on June 9th. I think this places him in Southampton on June 8th and 9th although his home was in Huntington.

And Caleb Carwithen (Carwithy) was also a witness to the quitclaim of William Ludlam to his brother Henry 9 June, 1666 as cited above (see NOTES under William Ludlam, antecedent generation).

From the foregoing the reader will observe that independently of Mr. Howell's statement there is testimony that there was a record of Thomas Scudder, Caleb Carwithy and Samuel King having been sons-in-law of the first William Ludlam. The reader will note further that proof still exists that Thomas Scudder and Caleb Carwithy were associated in a significant manner with the sons of the deceased William Ludlam. All of these, plus the fact that Thomas and Mary (Ludlam) Scudder had a daughter who was given the rare name of Clemence (for Mary Ludlam's mother, undoubtedly), point clearly to the correctness of Mr. Howell's statement.

But this is not all. In 1929 the writer began an earnest search in the original records in New York and on Long Island. In the summer of that year and in the next year he examined numerous records, many of which he copied, some of which he did not. In the case of the latter it was anticipated that they could be secured conveniently at a later date. The records at the Hall of Records in New York city; the County Clerk's Office in Riverhead, New York and in several towns and historical libraries were examined. During that time the writer saw a copy of these three quitclaims from Caleb Carwithy, Samuel King and Thomas Scudder. They were brief and written in 17th century orthography, and were in a book of quitclaims and inventories about 8" x 10" in size, and Thomas Scudder's name was misspelled. Thomas Scudder acknowledged to have received on behalf of his wife Mary, all her right from the estate of her father William Ludlam, deceased. The writer believes that he saw this book either in the County Clerk's office at Riverhead, New York, or in a certain library. It is admitted with deep embarrassment that we do not remember with certainty where this record was observed. In the last ten years we have made several searches, and to no avail. It should be stated, however, that we have been told that it is known that records have disappeared from the office of the County Clerk at Riverhead.

So far as the writer is concerned, he knows that he has seen adequate proof that the wife of Thomas Scudder was the daughter of William Ludlam. At the same time it is to be borne in mind that Conklin Mann is a conscientious, thorough and conservative genealogist, whose researches in Long Island families have been very valuable; and nothing in our discussion should be interpreted as a criticism of his article on the descendants of the first William Ludlam in this country.

Mary Ludlam was the daughter of 12. WILLIAM LUDLAM 3,642, 3,706

m. CLEMENCE*

He was born about 1600-1605 at or near Matlock, Derbyshire.

The earliest known record of members of this family in North America is dated in July, 1648, when the two oldest children of this William Ludlam arrived in the ship Triall. This is known from depositions made by John Ludlam, grandson of this William Ludlam, in 1701/2. It is believed that William Ludlam, then a widower, emigrated to the North American colonies soon after his son John was buried at Matlock in 1650. His North American port of entry is not certainly known, but it may well have been Boston.

He removed to that part of the town of Southampton called Watermill, where he was evidently a newcomer in 1653. John Woodruff junior of Southampton on 18 October, 1653 sold 36 acres at the head of the mill pond to William Ludlam. At about the same time he made a contract to rebuild the mill, and to serve as the town's miller. The town meeting of Southampton agreed on 21 November, 1653 that if the miller "goes forward with his covenant" he shall have six men to help him. On 30 May, 1654 the town meeting discussed its covenant with him, and agreed "to stand by it to obtain sufficient grinding." Evidently the six men were to help in rebuilding the mill, but an agreement on the interpretation of the contract required two town meeting sessions. At a town meeting on 3 June, 1654 the town voted William Ludlam liberty to lower the mill, and reciprocally he engaged "to grind soe long as the mill will goe."

He shared in a division of lots in February, 165$\frac{3}{4}$. On 4 February, 1655/6 he contributed a half bushel of wheat to Goodman Goldsmith because of the latter's loss by fire. Subsequently William Ludlam was sued by Thomas Pope on 5 March, 1659/60, allegedly for abusing Pope's servant and for "deficient grinding". He was a juror 30 April, 1660.

William Ludlam, junior on 3 July, 1660 was allowed to sign over to his father William Ludlam, the four acres that the town had granted to the former. The father acknowledged 7 February, 1661 that he had conveyed land to Christopher Foster which he had bought of Richard Smith.

---

*We have not seen evidence that her maiden name was Fordham.

William Ludlam died in the town of Southampton, New York in the spring of 1665, and was probably buried there. His will, dated 27 April, 1665 was proved in June, 1665; and was produced in court when the son Henry Ludlam qualified as executor. The latter was granted a quietus 5 October, 1666.

William Ludlam married about 1627 and probably at Matlock to Clemence, whose maiden name is unknown to us. She was buried at Matlock 21 August, 1646.

Issue:

1. William, born in or about 1628 at Matlock, Derbyshire, was living at Huntington, New York 13 June, 1667, but died shortly afterwards. He married Elizabeth Smith, born about 1636, living 24 May, 1703, daughter of John Smith, who after William Ludlam's death married Nehemiah Smith. Issue.
2. Grace, born in or about 1630 at Matlock, Derbyshire, came from England to New England with her brother William in 1648; married Caleb Carwithy of Southampton and Huntington, New York.
3. Anthony, born about 1631 at Matlock, Derbyshire, identified as the one who died at Mecox in the town of Southampton, New York 17 March, 1682. The gravestone is the oldest one standing in the town, and the inscription has been read that he was then 51. This is believed to be a misreading for 51 (see the American Genealogist, vol. 29, No. 2, p. 93, lines 28 ff.). The inventory of his estate was made 22 March, 1681/2. He married Sarah who after his death married in 1682 to Isaac Corey. Issue.
4. Henry, baptised in the parish church at Matlock, Derbyshire 15 April, 1638, died at Southampton, New York 25 October, 1691. He married a daughter (probably Jane), daughter of Edmund Shaw of Southampton, New York. Issue.
5. Mary, married Thomas Scudder. See page 1,893.
6. Frances, baptised in February, 1640/1 at Matlock, Derbyshire, m. Samuel King of Southampton, New York, son of William King.
7. John, baptism not reported, buried at Matlock 8 April, 1650.
8. Joseph, baptised at Matlock, Derbyshire 9 August, 1646; died at Oyster Bay, New York 16 March, 1698. He married Elizabeth, ancestry unknown, who died 22 August, 1723. Issue.

NOTES

Anthony J. Ludlam published his Genealogical Sketch of the Ludlam family in 1878. This dealt with those of the name who settled in Cape May county, New Jersey. Subsequently George R. Howell in 1887 published further information on the descendants of William Ludlam of Southampton, New York in The Early History of Southampton, Long Island, with Genealogies, second edition (1887), and this was followed by A gencalogy of the descendants of William Ludlam, published in 1896 by Julia Parish Ludlam.

These pioneer works were followed by several magazine articles of a critical nature and they were uniformly well constructed. They include documents relating to the estate of William Ludlam published in The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol. 15, p. 93, and vol. 47, p. 308; The Early Ludlam and Related Families of Oyster Bay, New York, by Clarence Almon Torrey, published in the American Genealogist, vol. XIV, No. 1, pp. 5+; William Ludlam of Southampton, Long Island, by Conklin Mann, in the American Genealogist, vol. XX, No. 1, pp. 88 ff; and William Ludlam of Southampton: Some new information, by Dr. Walter D. Ludlum, Sr., in the American Genealogist, vol. 29, No. 2, pp. 91 ff. Dr. Ludlum has also deposited in the East Hampton Free Library at East Hampton, New York, a MS entitled Descendants of Daniel Ludlam, 1766-1837.

The will of William Ludlam was the first one recorded in New York in Liber 1-2 and the official record is now lost. At one time the original will apparently was filed in the Hall of Records at New York city, New York, and a photostat was made many years ago; this is all that is left. The photostat is in the library of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, and it follows:

Aperil ye 27: 1665

shire, about 1575-1580.

He was juror at Courts held at Wirksworth 6 October, 1609, 27 April, 1610 and 8 October, 1611; juror at the Matlock Court Baron held at Wirksworth 1 September, 1614; at the View of Frank Pledge with Court Baron, 14 April, 1617, 2 May, 1622, and 27 April, 1626.

William Ludlam was listed among those who gave aid to His Majesty King Charles I in 1627 at Matlock, and for forty shillings.

In lay subsidies for Matlock, 29 March, 1626 and 7 October, 1628, he was listed for three pounds eight shillings in goods.

He, together with Anthony Senior and Anthony Cotterell took the inventory of the estate of Edmund Flint of Matlock, 24 February, 163½. A return for Matlock manor and parish in 1633 gives Anthony Bourne, Anthony Cotterell, Thomas Flynte, gentleman, William Ludlam, Anthony Woodward, Adam Woolley and William Woolley as the freeholders of Matlock. It is quite likely that William Ludlam was related to some of them.

He was buried at Matlock 29 January, 1659/60. The will (or administration) has not been searched for.

William Ludlam married Mary, maiden name unknown. She was buried at Matlock, Derbyshire 28 July, 1645.

Issue (at least):

1. William, married Clemence . See page 1,897.

NOTES

The foregoing information has been obtained chiefly from William Ludlam of Southampton: Some new information, by Dr. Walter D. Ludlum senior and published in The American Genealogist, vol. 29, beginning at page 91. It has been augmented by records appearing in The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. 56, pp. 316 ff.; Matlock manor and parish, historical and descriptive, by Benjamin Brown, 1903, and other records as may be mentioned in passing.

In his article Dr. Ludlum gives entries in the Matlock parish register for those of the name recorded in the seventeenth century.

These include members of the family whose connections will have to be determined by recourse to an examination of wills; which is yet to be made. One of the sources of information which should be examined is the Consistory Court of the Bishop of Lichfield and Coventry. The Calendar (index) of Wills and Administrations in the Consistory Court of the Bishop of Lichfield and Coventry, 1516 to 1652 is published in The Index Library, W. P. W. Phillimore, editor, vol. 7, and includes the following:

We quote now some of the documentation which Dr. Walter D. Ludlum reported in his article in the American Genealogist, to show the holdings of William Ludlam in Matlock. In the Public Record Office in London the Court Rolls of the Duchy of Lancaster were examined; these have identifying numbers beginning "D. L." The following were found:

In The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. 56, p. 316, . William Ludlam is mentioned, as well as some of his undoubted kinsmen. We quote the abstract of the will of Edmund fflint of Matlock:

Page 13, juncta line 8, and cross-reference to SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION, vol. II, p. 983, reference to vol. I, line 13. After his marriage at San Francisco, California in 1861 Jacob Ward Smith (Jacob or Jake Smith) removed, probably in 1862 to Virginia City, Nevada, site of the Comstock Lode. The 1862 Directory of Nevada Territory lists him as a butcher in Virginia City; he was proprietor of the City Market at the corner of B St. and Sutton Ave. (information courtesy of Mrs. Clara S. Beatty, Director of the Nevada State Historical Society, State Building, Reno, Nevada). We add the following, taken from The Wonderland of Silver and Gold, by Miriam Michelson, 1934, p. 70:

> Here was a brand new town with hardly any fuel, save faggots of sagebrush and nut pine. Already trees were scarce and Indians were grubbing up the roots to sell....
>
> We were all living in tents and dugouts with shake fronts and canvas roofs in 1860. The Virginia Hotel, Maldonado's brick house, Johnny Newman's saloon, two general stores and the Keg saloon were being built. The big hay yards were out to the north....
> But when the roads opened, things began to burn (i. e. develop). The streets, A and B, as far south as Piper's old corner, were straightened. Lumber came in, hardware, a new shop; building materials of all kinds, principally scantling boards and shakes. Wells, Fargo opened their office. A brick yard was started, Gardner opened a livery stable, Jake Smith, a butcher shop....

In the Mercantile Guide and Directory for Virginia City, Gold Hill, Silver City and American City, published by Charles Collins in 1864/5, Jacob Smith is listed as a broker in the Chapin House. He was also on the local exchange. Also in 1864 he entered himself as a candidate for election to the First Assembly of the new State of Nevada which was to meet 12 December, 1864, and was elected from Storey county of which Virginia City was the county seat. The Journal of the Assembly During the First Session of the Legislature of the State of Nevada, published in 1865 for the legislative year 1864-5, records that Jacob Smith was appointed to the Ways and . . Means Committee, and to the Committee on Contingent Expenses and Accounts 17 December, 1864. In the next three years the speculation in mining stocks gradually broke the market, and about 1868 Jacob and Jeannette Smith followed the trail to Montana, where gold had been discovered in Lost Chance Gulch in 1864. The name of the rapidly growing camp was changed to Helena in the same year, and in 1870 it was the most important town in the territory of Montana.

line 13. Mr. Robert W. Inscore, Graves Registrar, Fort Douglas, Utah, states that no record of service of any kind can be found for Jacob Ward Smith, or for any variant of his name that could be associated with him.

Page 15, lines 1 ff. Nathaniel P. Langford's estimate of the Indians in the Yellowstone National Park does not seem to have been soundly based. In Yellowstone National Park, by Hiram Martin Chittenden, 1933 edition revised by Eleanor C. Cress and Isabelle F. Story, the following appears at page 8:

> ... It was a humble branch of the Shoshone family (of Indians) which alone is known to have dwelt in the region of Yellowstone Park. They were called Tukuarika, or, more commonly, Sheepeaters. They were found in the park country at the time of its discovery, and had doubtless long been there. These Indians were veritable hermits of the mountains, utterly unfit for warlike contention.... They were feeble in mind and diminutive in stature, and are described as a "timid, harmless race."

It can be understood why the Jacob Smith who had had experience with the ways of Virginia City, Nevada, and who had followed western trails for several years, could not be concerned with the possibility of Indians in the Yellowstone sufficiently to disturb his sleep.

Page 180, last line. Mrs. Frank T. Wallace (Helen Lucas) of Monmouth, Illinois, has compiled a record of the descendants of No. 46. Polly Baldwin, daughter of James and Susan (Vail) Baldwin, and which has been brought to date (1952). Descendants owe to Mrs. Wallace a debt of gratitude for her thoroughness and perseverance in the preparation of the following, which is taken from her MS. The only changes have been to maintain the format of the present work, and as much as possible, its numbered references.

Page 219, line 11, cross-referenced to page 1,454, referring to p. 219, lines 9 and those following. The following information has been developed by our valued friend Commander Peter Van der Poel. The will of Joseph Baldwin is reported to be actually dated 10 May, 1728 and was proved 13 June, 1728. He was a resident of Hempstead, New York at the time his will was made. It mentions the children as Mary, Ellinor and Jacob. There was no son Isaac.

line 17. The will of Jacob Baldwin is referred to in Collections of the Dutchess County Historical Society, vol. 6,p.210.

line 24 (see page 1,454, cross-referenced to the same). Commander Van der Poel (supra) has furnished us with records of some descendants of Elizabeth, daughter of Jacob Baldwin and wife of Daniel Raynor. The latter was a son of John and Elizabeth (Coombs) Raynor; the vital records have been referred to, and his military service in the Second Dutchess county Regiment during the War of the American Revolution is reported in Revolutionary Soldiers of Onondaga County. BALDWIN, RICHARD Page 231, line 13 from bottom. Richard Platt has been proved, from the researches of Mr. John I. Coddington of Washington, D. C. not to have been the one who married Mary Grover. Her ancestry is known sufficiently well, as is that of Richard Platt, to disprove any possible connection with Sylvester Baldwin or his wife. Mr. Coddington is to publish the connections of Richard Platt of Ware, Hertfordshire and his wife Mary Wood, very shortly. The latter were the emigrants to Milford, Conn.

Page 233, line 26. iv. John. Strike out all that follows after his name, and which concerns his possible connections. Further investigation is being made.

Page 248, line 27 ff., cross-referenced to page 994, beginning line 3 from bottom, and more particularly to page 996, lines 13+from bottom; see also page 998, cross-reference to page 252, line 12 from bottom (charters of feoffment). An entry in The Hartford Times for 22 September, 1951 reads as follows:

> B-1893 -- V. A. K. Oct. 14, 1950. Ans. by R. S. H. and H. S. Baldwin. The contradictions found in the Baldwin Genealogy and in Severesmith's Colonial Families should be carefully examined before final acceptance. Evidently the records have been combed and all available data published.
>
> In 1552 Richard Baldwin of Dunridge left a will naming wife Ellen; naming first daughters, Alice, Agnes, Cecily and Letice, the last three under age 19. Then named sons John (to have a farm at Dundridge) (sic) and Richard who was to have "my tenements at Cholesbury when he shall be age 25, but if he dies before age 25 the land was to Remayne to the next heires."
>
> Son Henry was to have the lands at Dundridge after his mother's death. There is no mention of Cholesbury lands in any of the published wills of the "next heirs" so it might be assumed that Richard lived and took possession of them, else the brothers would have had them.
>
> There is no record of the birth of this Richard, but as the three daughters were named first in their father's will and were under 19, then ordinarily, Richard would be younger and as he was named last, may have been the youngest.
> It is true that Richard who died at Cholesbury 1630, father of the emigrants, would have been past 78, but he may have married late in life, as did, for instance, Thomas Hurlbut of Windsor, but he could easily have been a son of Richard who made the will above. However, here is documentary proof that Richard, son of Richard, had land in Cholesbury?

As to the Seversmith claim: first, he says Richard, son of Richard, probably died young but no proof. The Richard who died 1639 was son of Thomas. This Thomas in his will dated Oct. 11, 1570, proved Dec. 16, 1570, gives to wife Joan all his land in Chelsea "until John my son be 21"; to Richard, his son, to be raised out of my woods." Mr. Seversmith stated this Richard was born 1575 but later corrected it to 1568 so he had no proof of his age or that he ever grew up. Perhaps he was the Richard who "died young." But, according to Mr. Seversmith, he is the man whose will was dated 1630; so we must balance a documented proof against "probables and abouts," sans documents.

G. T. K.

In quoting this document the writer wishes to give G.T.K. every opportunity to bring this case before the widest possible audience, since the present work is in most of the major libraries of the United States. It is fully recognized that the objective of the correspondent to The Hartford Times is to ascertain the truth, and we should like to have it believed that we have that same objective.

On page 248, lines 27 ff. we had already noted that Richard Baldwin was assigned tenements in Cholesbury, so the comment is not novel. The writer did not say that Richard Baldwin, No. 45 on page 263, was "born 1575 but later corrected it to 1568". He did qualify the statement with the two words probably and about, and he properly qualified his amendment on page 995. The probables and abouts which G. T. K. refers to in the last sentence, and the meaning of which is improperly dissociated from the context, should be considered in association with the total framework of the connections involved.

Unfortunately The Hartford Times in its editorial treatment of the writer's answer of 8 December, 1951, did not, in the writer's opinion, convey properly the intent of the answer. The original follows (this version was not printed):

HFS agrees with GTK that Seversmith's Colonial Families should be carefully examined before final acceptance.

GTK's observations also should be examined, under the same conditions. Let GTK's readers note: (1) Colonial Families, II, pp. 994+, beginning under RICHARD BALDWIN, particularly p. 998, reference to p. 248, line 21 (Thomas Grange vs. Henry and John Baldwin); (2) Ellen Baldwin's will of 1555 or 1556 omits Richard junior although it names all other children; (3) E. B. Baldwin in more than 20 years of research never found Richard junior after his father's death, himself told Seversmith it would be unreasonable to suppose Richard had issue; (4) Chester hypotheticated the Richard 3-2-1 line only, hence contradiction with Seversmith does not necessarily follow; (5) to assign Richard who married Isabella Harding as son of Richard and Ellen of Dundridge appears to HFS to require the most extraordinary "abouts" in dates; (6) Chester was provably wrong on Triamor Baldwin; (7) Seversmith is always willing to correct, does not ride a genealogical horse to death. HFS considers that (1) available evidence indicates descent from John Baldwin of the Hale; (2) E. B. Baldwin's seasoned judgment was better in most cases than certain contemporary opinion and that (3) HFS' "probables and abouts" are as reasonable as others recently printed. Let all readers of Seversmith's Colonial Families understand that they are challenged to find and prove errors in that work, knowing that they will be friendly as well as critical.

In the course of the resultant correspondence with G. T. K., the writer requested permission to publish all correspondence, but this has been refused.

ecticut has given us information indicating that Nathaniel and Sarah (Ludlow) Brewster probably had another daughter

10. Mary, who was born in the town of Brookhaven, New York in 1671 and died in 1750 in Bedford, New York. Her gravestone calls her Mary Brewster wife of Jonathan Owen; it is located in the Owen-Raymond Family cemetery on McLean street off route 172 between Mount Kisco and Bedford, New York. Mr. Hook has detailed the evidences for the connection in The American Genealogist for July, 1954, vol. XXX, pp. 135 and those following. Jonathan Owen was born according to family record in Cork, Ireland in 1671, and died in Bedford, New York aged about 84. The following are given, with certain qualifications, as children of this union, the oldest and youngest of the sons certainly:

i. Jonathan.
ii. Nathaniel.
iii. Ebenezer.
iv. George.
v. Ruth, who married about 1733 as his second wife to Isaac Lawrence jr. See chart facing p. 247, Bolton's History of Westchester County, New York.
vi. Joseph, who died 11 October, 1759, aged 53; his wife Hannah died 31 December, 1739, aged 82.
vii. A daughter, according to family account.

Page 390, line 3. The home of Francis Brewster in New Haven was on the southeast corner of Elm and College streets.

Page 400, line 9 from bottom. The following is taken from Records of the Colony and Plantation of New Haven, From 1638 to 1649, transcribed by Charles J. Hoadley, M. A., 1857:

At a Courte the 7th Day of December 1647

The Gouernor tould Mr Pell he was warned to bringe in the inventorie of his wives estate, left by her former husband;* he said he could not, because accounts was (sic) not or coulde not be made vp but he was tould he must bring it in as farr as it can goe; he dissiered time till the next court and he would doe it, and it was granted hime.

Mr. Pell was asked for his wiues fine, he dissiered more libertie to consider of it, the Court tould him they conceived ther was forbearanc inoughe allreadie, but yett they granted hime libbertie till the next monthly courte.

Mr. Evanc, for Mris Lamberton, declareth, that Mr. Pell, possesing the estate of Mr. Francis Brewster, by marriage of his wife, is debtor to Mris Lamberton 46£:06s:02d, as appeares vpon account in Mris Lambertons booke.

Mr. Pell said Mr. Brewster left behind hime a bill of his debts, in wch is Mr. Lamberton 3£ in his debte, beside they wear ptners in some goodes they bought together, but those accounts for ought he knowes are lost.

Mr. Evanc saith it is true that ther was a ptable account betwixt them, wch, as is conceived, was isued betwixt them before they went henc, beside this proper acco now demaunded, and for that he offered proofe, first by Roger Allen, whoe had pt of those goodes wch were ptable betwixt them.

Roger Allen testifyeth vpon oathe, that he bought some iorn and coales of Mr. Lamberton, in wch he conceiveth Mr. Brewster had part, and thinkes he had some of them before they were emptyed. Mr. Lamberton sent for hime, and tould hime if he would take them together, he would gain but a little by them, he bought about 20£ worth of them, and was to pay in wheat. A little before the shipp went, Mr. Lamberton and Mr. Brewster demanded it, and Mr. Brewster thought much it was not payde, but this deponent could not gitt it in time, and therfore tould hime he would allowe whatsuer damadge hee susteined for want of due payement, so they had a meeting about the acc° at Mr. Lambertons, and they appointed this deponent to come, whoe was ther as he cõceives, more than one or twic, at last the reckoning was agreed, and they together demaunded damadge for 10£, not payde in time, and they had it, so wee isued. After this time, Mr. Brewster spake no more for the wheat, thoughe he had bine very earnest for it before, nor did he, after this, offer the remaining pt of the coales, thoughe before he had, but this deponent conceiveth that that day they went awaye, he was at Mr. Lambertons, and vpon speech of the debte, Mr. Lamberton tould him he must paye it to his wife, for so it is agreed, saide hee, in making vp our accounts, and for the rest of the coales, saide hee, I would faine haue the (i. e., thes) take them, and I will take paye for them in England, of yo^r father.

Mris Linge testifyeth that they being to by some things of Mr. Brewster, they dissiered Mr. Lamberton to pay hime, w^ch he sayd he would doe, but they hearing Mr. Brewster complaining of the badness of the paye of this place, fearing least it should be offensive to hime, they went and payd hime themselues in mault, and after, told Mr. Lamberton they had satisfyed hime for those things he was to pay for for them, Mr. Lamberton said he was sorie, for he had accounted w^th Mr. Brewster, and Mr. Brewster was in his debte.

Mr. Evanc further, to prove the proper debte, (beside the booke vnder Mr. Lambertons hand produced in courte,) offered the testimony of Phillip Leake,* and of Mary( ) w^ch was M^r Lambertons servant.

Phillip Leeke testifyeth vpon oath, that Mr. Lamberton and Mr. Brewster being at his house, as he takes it that day captaine Turner went aboard to goe awaye, he heard Mr. Lamberton saye Mr. Brewster owed hime 45£, and he heard Mr. Brewster make no replie against it.

BUSHNELL

Page 512, line 13. Francis Bushnell was granted a tract of 24 acres at Muddy River, Salem, Massachusetts 8 February, 1637. There must have been a total of six in the family, for the lots were allotted pro rata (Salem, Mass., Town Records).

Page 513, after line 8. Add that in 1658 Goodman Bushnell was called on to inspect the New Haven mill and dam, and to advise as to desirable changes and repairs. Subsequently at a meeting of the General Court held at New Haven 28 February, 1658, it was declared that "ye committee have taken ye advise of Goodman Bushnell as to repairs and improvements of the dam and facilities." He was certainly of Saybrook, Connecticut 7 April, 1660 when his step-daughter Mary Norton of Saybrook (p. 61, Windsor MSS., Town Clerk's Office, Windsor, Conn.) married Samuel Rockwell. Land was conveyed to him by William Hide, 7 October, 1660 and on 17 October, 1661 he, with two others, inventoried the estate of Greenfield Larrabee. See Ancient Record Series, New Haven Historical Society, vol. 1, p. 390; and Matthew Grant Records, in Some Early Records and Documents of the Town of Windsor, Connecticut, the Connecticut Historical Society.

Bushnell states in the Bushnell Family Genealogy, 1948, p. 31, that there was no such daughter Martha who was born in England and brought to this country, and that the daughter Elizabeth must have been the one mistakenly referred to. We consider this correct; accordingly, delete No. 3. Martha.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION
1,958.1
(BUSHNELL)

Francis Bushnell (No. 1,332, page 515) was the son of 12. FRANCIS BUSHNELL 2,664

m.

He was born probably at Thatcham, Berkshire about 1555.

He was a yeoman and resident of Thatcham, where he was a churchwarden in 1611 and again in 1615. In a deed between Francis Winchcombe and Thomas Tovie and preserved among Thatcham documents, Francis Bushnell is called one of the most substantial men of the parish.

His will, dated 15 August, 1625, was evidently made while he was ill of a contagious disease. It was proved 15 March, 1625/6 and is filed in the Archdeaconry of Berks. No wife is mentioned.

The name of the mother of his children is unknown.

Issue:

1. Joane, mentioned in the will of her grandfather Nicholas as under age in 1591, evidently died before her father made his will 15 August, 1625.
2. Nicholas. He is believed to be the one of that name who was associated with Robert Boniton in a conveyance from Edward Smith and John Powle 22 January, 1627. It is possible that he was the one buried at Cuckfield, Sussex 29 January, 1644/5.
3. Ralph.
4. Francis, married 1, Ferris Quynell and 2, Joane Kinward. See vol. II, pp. 515 ff.

NOTES

The abstract of the will from the Archdeaconry of Berks follows:

> Francis Bushnell, yeoman of Thatcham, co. Berks, will dated 15 August, 1625, proved 15 March, 1625/6. No wife mentioned; bequests to eldest son Nicholas, his best brass pot and his bay mare; to son Ralph £40, and he engages his two piddles (pightles) in Thatcham, called Pococks and Greenfields, for the same; to son Francis three tenements in Thatcham called Baalls, for 20 years, he paying yearly 20s to his brother Nicholas; to Margery Bushnell, daughter of Richard Bushnell 2s, and to the rest of his God-children 12s each; to Thatcham church 10 groats (3s 4d) and to the poor there 20s. Residuary legatee and executor, his son Francis. Overseers, Mr. John Winchcombe, Esq., of Henwicke, John Powell, yeoman of Thatcham, Richard Bushnell, innholder; and Robert Humphries, innholder, to each of whom he gave 5s. Wits., John Powtes, William Waller and Robert Humphrey (sic) "to the handing over of this will of Francis Bushnell, by reason of ye contagion and infection of his disease." Inventory taken 2 January, 1625/6 by Robert Bushnell, Ric. Cove, Wm. Knight, Edw. Coxe and Ric. Dobson. Proved 15 March, 1625/6 by the executor.

See also Vol. II, pages 529-531.

Francis Bushnell was son of 13. NICHOLAS BUSHNELL 5,328

m. ELIZABETH

He was born probably in Tilehurst, Berkshire, about 1528.

Nicholas Bushnell appears to have been the earliest member of this family to live in Thatcham, Berkshire; he seems to have gone there about the time he married, say 1553. He was a churchwarden there in 1585, showing that he was then an established resident. He held lands in Thatcham and Henwick called Auberies, and also property in Midgham.

He died probably at Thatcham shortly before 19 January, 159¾, when his will was proved; the latter was dated 10 April, 1591. It is believed that he was buried in Thatcham.

Nicholas Bushnell married Elizabeth, maiden name unknown, who survived him. From the context of his will it is evident she was the mother of the children. (Arch. Berks., I, 138).

Issue:

1. Francis, married See page 1,958.
2. Roger, a husbandman of Thatcham, Berkshire; died there in 1623. It is not evident from his will that he ever married; the latter was dated 20 March, 1622/3 and proved 21 May, 1623. He gave to the poor of Thatcham, 10s; to his master, William Archer, 20s; to Richard Bushnell, son of his brother Richard, £10 at his age of 24; to Eme Bushnell, daughter of his said brother, £5 at like age; to Elizabeth, Margery and Jane Bushnell, remaining daughters of his brother Richard, £5 at their like age. Residuary legatee and executor, his said brother; overseer, John Powle. Wits., John Powle and Robert Powle. The inventory was taken 21 May, 1623 by John Powle, Robert Jole and John Garret, and amounted to £65/19/4.

3. Richard, whose connections are reported from the will of his brother Roger. He died before 26 October, 1639, presumably at Thatcham. He married and had issue:
   i. Richard.
   ii. Eme.
   iii. Elizabeth.
   iv. Margery.
   v. Jane.
4. Thomas, not mentioned in the will of his father, but given as the son of Nicholas Bushnell in the will of Alice, wife of Richard Bushnell of Sulham.
5. Joan.
6. William, husbandman and miller of Thatcham; also termed thelder. His will, dated 12 January, 1610, was proved 1 October, 1610. It gave to Catharine Ashben alias Bushnell who then dwelt with him, that messuage he held in Thatcham which adjoined the land now or late in the tenure of Richard Bushnell, butcher, for one year; and then the same to his (William's) son Richard, and the heirs of his body; and in default of issue to his daughter Joan Bushnell and the heirs of her body; with remainder, etc., to his daughter Agnes Knight, widow, etc.; also to the said Catharine Ashben alias Bushnell, the messuage wherein I dwell, adjoining the land of Thomas Tovice on the east and the King's highway on the north, for life, with remainder after her death to his son William Ashben, alias Bushnell, and the heirs of his body, with contingent remainder to Margery Ashben alias Bushnell, daughter of the said Catharine Ashben; and to his daughters Joan and Agnes as aforesaid. To his son Richard he gave a table, etc.; to his daughter Agnes Knight and to his son-in-law John Chamberlain 10s. Residuary legatee and executor the said Catharine Ashben, alias Bushnell. Overseers, Robert Chandler, yeoman, of Thatcham and Richard Smythe, yeoman of Coulthroppe. Witnesses, Robert Chandler, Richard Smythe, Richard Bushnell, butcher and William Ashben. The inventory was taken 1 October, 1610 by Robert Chandler, Andrew Smith and William Dibble of Thatcham, and came to £15/19/0. The status of Catharine Ashben in this instance is puzzling; she had had, evidently, a son William Ash-ben and a daughter Margery Ashben. Our present opinion is that Catharine was a daughter of William Bushnell's wife by a first husband surnamed Ashben; and that the other children of Catharine were by William Bushnell. Accordingly the children of William Bushnell by his wife (?formerly the widow Ashben)were:

i. Richard.
ii. Joan.
iii. Agnes, married Knight.
iv. A daughter, married John Chamberlain.

NOTES

The foregoing is taken from the Bushnell Family Genealogy, by George E. Bushnell, correlated to records we have already noted. The analysis of the connections of William Bushnell, son of Nicholas Bushnell, is our own.

Nicholas Bushnell was the son of 14. JOHN BUSHNELL 10,656

m. ALICE

He was born about 1505, perhaps at Tilehurst, Berkshire.

He was a husbandman and resident of Tilehurst.

John Bushnell made his will 20 October, 1545; the probate is not now dated. He was living 31 August, 1563, but had died before 23 August, 1568He desired to be buried in the church of St. Michael's at Tilehurst. (PCC Dandridge, 90).

The name of his wife was Alice, when his will was made. It is supposed that she was mother of the children. Issue:

1. William, who received 40s in his father's will.
2. John, who received 40s in his father's will.
3. Richard, of Sulham, Berkshire. His will was dated 23 August, 1568 and proved 9 April, 1569; it was recorded in the Archdeaconry of Berks, p. 222. He desired to be buried in the ch. yard at Sulham; bequeathed to his brother John Bushnell an axe, a bill and a scythe; forgave his brother Nicholas Bushnell 10s; gave to his cousin John Bushnell an axe and three planes; to his daughter Alice Novysse (Noyce?) a feather bed, bolster,etc., the best silver spoon, a black chest, a brass pot, the greatest postnet, two candle-sticks and a pair of andirons; also £12/6/8. After his wife's death a silver pin and a pair of silver hooks were to remain to her son William; to Richard Mowntygewe a frieze coat, and to Richard Willshere, William Barlye, Thomas Semer, Richard Hedache, and John Justice of Pursley, wearing apparel; to the poor man's box 2d. Residuary legatee and executrix, his wife Isabel. Witnesses, Master William Charde, Esq., Richard Reddyng, parson of Sulham, John Noyse of Tylehurst, Richard Wheate of Tydmarsh and Richard Hedache of Sulham. Overseers: Richard Mowntegue and Richard Wyllshere. Proved by the executrix.

4. Nicholas, married Elizabeth . See page 1,959.
5. Agnes.
6. Margaret.

NOTES

John Bushnell was living when his father William Bushnell made his will 31 August, 1563, but evidently was deceased when his own son Richard made his, 23 August, 1568. See also the Bushnell Family Genealogy, by George E. Bushnell, 1948.

John Bushnell was the son of 15. WILLIAM BUSHNELL 21,312

m.

It is estimated that he was born about 1485, and presumably in Berkshire.

He was a resident of Tilehurst, where he died shortly before 15 April, 1564. He appears to have been a man of modest competence, The name of his wife is not found.

William Bushnell made his will 31 August, 1563; it was probated 15 April, 1564 and recorded in the Archdeaconry of Berks, E-312. He was probably buried at Tilehurst.

Issue:

1. John, married Alice . See page 1,961.
2. William, a resident of Sulhampstead Abbots, Berkshire; his will, dated 28 March, 1564, was proved 1564. He desired to be buried in the churchyard at Sulhampstead Abbots; made bequests to his daughter Elizabeth who received 10 sheep, a heifer, a bed, a table of yew and other things; to John Bushnell, a sheep; to his sister Alice Bushnell a lamb; to William Avenall a lamb, and to Richard Lowgrove a sheep. Residuary legatee and executrix, his wife Elizabeth. His wife Elizabeth is to receive from her mother a vat and a cart. Overseers: William Avenall and Nicholas Lowgrove. Witnesses, Mathew Morland, curate of Sulhampstead Abbots; Robert Pellington and John Bushnell. The inventory came to £7/17/5 (Arch. Berks., K 313). The wife of William Bushnell may have been Elizabeth Knapp, as William Knapp of Hagarton, Berks in his will dated in 1562, proved 15 July, 1562, names his daughter Elizabeth Busshenell as residuary legatee. Issue:
   i. Elizabeth, styled aunt in the will of Hugh Sawcer (PCC Soame, 1620, published by the New England Historic Genealogical Society). She married Farringdon and had issue (FARRINGDON)
      A. Joan.
   ii. John, styled brother to "aunt Busshenell" in will of Hugh Sawcer. He was a resident of Sulhampstead Abbots, co. Berks. His will, dated 6 June, 1598 and proved 2 October, 1598, was recorded Arch. Berks, J 340. He desired to be buried in Sulhampstead church yard; bequeathed to his son John a cauldron, a table, etc.; to his son William a chest, etc.; to his son Peter a brass pot, etc.; to sons Lawrence and Reynold the like at 21; to daughter Bridget, 6s 8d.; his son-in-law Wortinge "to avoid from the house within one month after his death." To daughter Agnes a brass pot at 21. Residuary legatee and executrix, wife Joan. Overseers Hugh Sawcer and Richard Wise. Issue:

NOTES

The Bushnell Family Genealogy by George E. Bushnell, 1948, gives the results of the researches performed at the behest of this author. There is given on page 5 a coat of arms for the name, although there is no evidence offered that Americans of the name have the right to use it.

The [illegible] John atte Busshenelle is said to have been found by the late J. Gardner Bartlett in a tax list of 1380; the location is not specified. Generally speaking, the name first appears with some frequency in the section west of Reading and bordering on the Kennet river. The earliest Tudor Roll available for Berks seems to be that of 15 Henry VIII (1524), and Bushnells were found in the hundreds of Reading and Theale. These were:

Town	Name	Assessed on	Amt.	Subsidy
Englefield	William Bushenell	Wages	20s	4d
Sulham	Thomas Bushenell	Goods	40s	12d
"	John Bushenell	Wages	20s	4d
"	William Bushenell	Wages	20s	4d
Sulhampstead Abbots	Thomas Bushenell	Goods	£5/00s	2s 6d
"	Robert Bushenell	Wages	20s	4d
Thatcham	William Busshenell	Goods	£3/00s	18d
Tilehurst	Joan Busshenell(wid)	Goods	£10/00s	5s 0d
	William Busshenell	Wages	20s	4d

(partly illegible)

It is possible that the widow Joan Busshenell listed above is the mother of the present William Bushnell or Busshenell. The close proximity of the foregoing Bushnells to one another leads to the reasonable assumption that they were related.

The ancestry of William Bushnell is unknown.

CARPENTER

Page 538, line 17 from bottom. Further investigation leads to the opinion that Increase was born about 1710. Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell considers that (?Elizabeth) Bergen was his only wife, and that Mary Bailey was the wife of his son Increase.
line 14. See discussion referenced to line 10 from bottom.
line 10 from bottom. From bible records furnished by Mrs. Alice W. Stead of Glendale, California and the studies of Mr. Wardwell, sufficiently detailed information shows that the date of April, 1743 given in The Carpenter Genealogy by Amos B. Carpenter for this Increase Carpenter must be wrong. He was born about 1733. He is believed to be the Increase Carpenter who married 5 April, 1758 to Mary Bailey.

Page 539, line 10. Mary, wife of this Increase Carpenter, is considered to be Mary Bailey (see just above).
line 19 from bottom. Jacob was born about 1735.
line 8 from bottom. Insert after B. Jacob that i. Increase had also the following children, which revises the listing given on pages 539 and 540:

C. Elizabeth, born 4 January, 1740/1, died 31 March of 1817; married about 1760 to Benjamin Wiggins. See p. 540, line 11.

D. John, born at Jamaica, New York 25 October, 1743, died 10 November, 1819 in Rensselaer co., N. Y. He was of Nine Partners, New York as early as 9 July, 1776 (Bible Record, State Library, Albany, N. Y.)and served as Adjutant, 4th Company in the War of the American Revolution. He married 14 August, 1769, Mary, daughter of Daniel Carpenter.

E. Sarah, born about 1745, died about or before 1822, referred to in the will of her brother David. She married by a license dated 28 November, 1768 to Eldert Polhemus.

F. David, born about 1747, died between January and March, 1825 in his 78th year. His will, dated 3 October, 1822, proved 14 March, 1825, was filed at Poughkeepsie, New York in Liber G, pp. 202-205. He married about 1772 to Mary Carpenter, daughter of Nehemiah Carpenter; married 2, Maria van Valkenburg(h), born 8 August, 1760, died 21 July, 1842.

G. William, born about 1750, was a resident of Poughkeepsie, New York, where he married and had issue.

H. Luke, born in 1752, died at West Hoosick, New York, 17 November, 1827, aged 75. Mrs. Alice W. Stead writes, 13 September, 1950: "On the old Carpenter homestead in West Hoosick, N. Y., we found the gravestones of Luke Carpenter and his wife Lannah...." He

COGAN

Page 602, line 13. Our good friend Professor George E. McCracken, Ph. D., F. A. S. G., of Des Moines, Iowa informs us in a communication dated 3 August, 1951 that he has been informed of the biography of a Thomas Cogan of Chard which appears in The National Dictionary of Biography, vol. IV, p. 676. Prof. McCracken suggests and we agree, that this Thomas Cogan is the son of Robert, son of Nicholas Cogan. We quote:

> Thomas Cogan (1545? - 1607), physician, was born about 1545* at Chard, Somersetshire. He was educated at Oxford, graduated B. A. 1562-3, M. A. 1566, and M. B. 1574. He became fellow of Oriel in 1563. In 1574 he resigned his fellowship, and then (or in 1575) was appointed master of the grammar school. Before 1586 he married Ellen, daughter of Sir Edmund Trafford, and widow of Thomas Willott, who had property in Manchester. In 1591-3 he was the family physician of Sir Richard Shuttleworth. In 1595 he presented Ga-

*This date of birth requires an adjustment in the chronology given on pages 600 and those following, since it requires that the senior Thomas Cogan (No. 5,596) be born about 1520, perhaps before. Prof. McCracken is undertaking an extensive study of the Cogan families of England and the United States, and we withhold further revision until he publishes his account.

len's works and other medical books to the library of Oriel, where they are still preserved. He resigned the schoolmastership before 1602, died in June, 1607, and was buried on the 10th of that month in the church at Manchester. His will mentions property both in Somersetshire and Manchester, and bequeaths books to all the fellows and other officers of the college, and 4d to each boy in the school. His widow died in December 1611.

His works are: 1. The Well of Wisedome, conteining Chiefe and Chosen Sayinges ... gathered out of the Five Bookes of the Olde Testament ...., 1577

And further: 'The Haven of Health, made for the comfort of Students' (1584, with several later editions); with this was published 'A Preservative from the Pestilence, with a censure of the late sickness at Oxford'; 'Epistolarium familiarum M. I. Ciceronus epitome....(with an 'Epistle to all schoolmasters', the book being intended as an introduction to Latin)'. Wood also mentions in his Athenae Oxoniensis, vol. ii, p. 19, 'Epistolae item aliae familiares Ciceronis'. Thomas Cogan also published 'Orationes aliquot faciliares Ciceronis'. See also Fasti Ecclesiae anglicanae, by John Le Neve, vol. i, pp. 161, 172, 196; Whatton's History of Manchester School, p. 103; and Palatine Notebook, 2 April, 1883, Mr. J. E. Bailey.

Page 613, line 15 from bottom. From correspondence with Mr. W. E. C. Cotton of London, England dated 25 June, 1953, we are informed that Thomas Cotton and Margaret Marshall were married at South Ockenden, Essex in 1577, and Mr. Cotton feels sure that it was the widow of this Thomas Cotton whose will was proved in the Prerogative Court at Canterbury in 1622/3 (This is the Margaret Cotton who is identified as the wife of Henry Cotton, No. 11,198, on page 613). Mr. Cotton has furnished us with a more detailed account of Mrs. Cotton's will than has been hitherto available to us:

Abstract of the will of Margaret Cotton of Milford Lane in the parish of St. Clement Danes without Temple, county Middlesex, widow. To the poor of the parish where I shall be buried, 20s. To the poor of Little Walsingham, co. Norfolk, where I was born, 20s. To Thomas Marshall, my godson, oldest son of Thomas Marshall, deceased, 20 marks; to the other four children of the said Thomas Marshall, viz., John, Elizabeth, Mary and Lucy* 20 nobles apiece, to be paid to Thomas and John at 21 and to Elizabeth, Mary and Lucy at 21 or marriage. Thomas Marshall before receipt of his legacy is to release unto Mary Wootton, daughter of Richard Wootton, gent., and unto Thomas Latham, gent., and to Walter Bonnell all claims to the house in Milford Lane where I now dwell according to a deed of settlement .... to the intent that they should sell the same and dispose of the money to and amongst William Dennis my cosen and his children and such of my kindred as they shall think fit. To each of the two children of my brother Robert Marshall 20 nobles at 21. To John, Thomas, Robert, Susan and Anne Hopkins, five of the children of John Hopkins, son to my sister Mary Hopkins late of Norwich, etc. To William Dennys son of my sister Anne Dennys deceased £40 and to each of his children 20 nobles. To Prudence Grant, another daughter of the said Agnes Dennys, £30 after the death of her now husband. To Margaret Holland, my husband's sister's daughter £10, and to John Holland her husband 40s. Residue to friend Edward Heyward of Inner Temple, gent., and Thomas Latham, gent.; the latter and said kinsman William Dennys of Kerdeston, co. Norfolk to be executors. My friend John Selden of the Inner Temple, Esq., to help them. Proved 5 February, 1622/3.

*Anne, wife of Philobert Cogan, is not mentioned.

It will be noted that the godchildren of this Mrs. Cotton bear the same names as those of Thomas and Mary (Cotton) Marshall (pp. 607-8), Anne excluded. On the basis of parallelism, we identify them as being the same, and on the grounds of the sacramental relationship we consider that Mrs. Margaret Cotton was related to Thomas Marshall. However, the statement on line 2 from bottom, page 607 reading "....was mentioned by his grandmother and godmother,...." should be altered to read godmother only, as she appears to have been his aunt, not his grandmother.

Mr. W. E. C. Cotton also furnishes an abstract of the will of Thomas Cotton, husband of Margaret (Marshall) Cotton:

12 Sainberbe. Abstract of the will of Thomas Cotton of Southokenden, co. Essex, gentleman. To be buried in the church of Southokenden. To the poor of the said parish, 13s 4d; to the poor of Northokenden 6s 8d; of Awleye 10s; of Styforde 6s 8d; of Orsett 13s 4d; of Horneden 13s 4d; of Hadleye, Essex 13s 4d; of Pricklewell 13s 4d and of Stypington in Northants 20s, all within two months after my decease. To my brother William Cotton, gent., £20 within one year after my decease and to his wife 20s for a ring. To my sister Alice Platt £5 and I forgive her husband £5 which he oweth me. To my cousin Mr. John Bewell and his wife each 20s for rings. To my cousin Mr. William Taylor and his wife 20s for rings, if living. To John Hopkins of Norwich, my wife's sister's son, £5. To Mary Dennis, my wife's sister's daughter, £10 at marriage or 21, and if she die before then, it is to be divided between her brother William Dennis and her sister Prudence. To Nicholas Dennis and his wife 10s each. To Stephen Wilkinson and his wife 10s each. To William Gefferys and his wife, each 10s. To my sister Jane Cotton 40s. To Alice my servant, 6s 8d. To my wife Margaret, my debts first paid, all the residue, and she to be sole executrix. Witnesses: Clement Calthorne, Thomas Taylor, John Breatyn. Proved 26 February, 1590/1 by Edward Willett, proctor for Margaret Cotton the relict, sole executrix.

From the foregoing it is evident that Mrs. Margaret Cotton, wife of Thomas Cotton, was born Marshall. It appears accordingly that she was the daughter of Thomas Marshall,No.11,196, page 608, and that at the time of Margaret's birth he was of Little Walsingham, Norfolk. We include the following as issue of this Thomas and Ellen Marshall:

1. Thomas, married Mary Cotton. See page 607.
2. Margaret, born at Little Walsingham, Norfolk about 1559, married at South Ockenden, Essex in 1577 to Thomas Cotton, who inherited property at Stibbington, Huntingdonshire from his maternal grandfather, Richard Folkesworth. She was last a resident of Milford Lane in the parish of St. Clement Danes without Temple, co. Middlesex; her will was proved 5 February, 1622/3. No issue.
3. Robert, married and had two children, mentioned in the will of his sister Margaret.
4. Mary, who married John Hopkins and resided at Norwich, England. Issue, as mentioned in the will of her sister Margaret (HOPKINS):
    i. John.
    ii. Thomas.
    iii. Robert.
    iv. Susan.
    v. Anne.
5. Anne, deceased when her sister Margaret made her will. She married Dennis or Dennys. Issue (DENNIS):
    i. William, of Kerdeston, Norfolk; married and had issue.
    ii. Prudence, married Grant.

Therefore, the entire paragraph beginning with line 15 from the bottom on page 613 is to be stricken out. The name of the wife of Henry Cotton is unknown. We were misled by incomplete pedigrees of the Marshall family.

Mr. W. M. C. Cotton could not provide us with any definitive information concerning Henry Cotton (page 613, line 7). In his letter of 1 August, 1953 he says:

> .... I have no definite knowledge of a Henry Cotton in the Landwade family before 1600, but perhaps the name was introduced into the family through the marriage of Clement Cotton of Cotton Hall in Cambridge (town) to Julian daughter of Henry Doggett of Pusey, Berkshire. The will of Clement Cotton is in the P. C. C. (1502 8 Blamyr). It mentions no son Henry, but the name might have been given to a son who died in his father's lifetime and revived in later generations. Clement was a second son and would have shown a crescent for difference on his coat of arms. The name Bartholomew occurs in this branch of the family. There was a Bartholomew Cotton of Barrowby, co. York, proved in 1577 and dated 28 December, 1575. He leaves to "Henry Cotton my son one cow and a calf and to everyone of his children one ewe and a lamb". The bulk of his property was left to his grandchildren, Lancelot and Katherine Rigge, and I expect that he had previously made other provision for Henry by settlement. Bartholomew was probably of the "gentry" class, as he had several servants and desired to be buried in the parish church nigh unto Grace Cotton my late wife. Henry witnessed his father's will, and it is unlikely that there had been a family dispute. The arguments against this identification are (1) Henry son of Bartholomew Cotton can have been only just old enough to be the father of Mary Marshall, (2) Hampshire is a long way from Yorkshire, (3) there is nothing to connect this Henry Cotton with London.
> .... By the way, the Cambridgeshire Visitation pedigree is seriously at fault in many respects....

It is hoped that these faults may be made known through publication.

COLYER

Foreword. Since the compilation of the Colyer monograph, Vol. II, pp. 667-756, and the supplemental information given on pp. 1,014 -1,030 and vol. III, pp. 1,460-1,464, Messrs. William Miller Collier, Andrew J. Provost, Innes Getty and Marquis E. Shattuck have continued their researches on the connections of this family. In 1949 Mr. Collier issued A Private Family Document, which explained the use of the given name Casper in the Collier and affiliated families. This mimeographed brochure was indexed by Mr. Shattuck. In October, 1951 Mr. Provost issued in hektograph form his Calyer-Collier-Colyer Family (pp. 91 + index). Mr. Getty has been of generous help to the present writer. We understand at this writing that Mr. Shattuck is preparing a definitive volume for publication.

His wife is stated to have been Sarah Waters, born 1 February, 1798, died 21 Mar. 1873; they were married 25 September, 1845. Nevertheless, in the family burial plot there is a gravestone for his wife Hannah who died 21 March, 1873; she was a sister of the poet Walt Whitman and daughter of Walter Whitman senior, who built the home in which this Richard Colyer lived (see brochure, Huntington Historical Society Pilgrimage to West Hills, October 10, 1950, which in turn refers to a letter of the poet Walt Whitman published in Wake Magazine, 1948; the original letter being owned by Edward Naumberg, jr.). One of Abraham Colyer's grandsons was the late Lt. Col. Page 679, line 15 from bottom. There was but one Jan Caljer; see the cross-reference to page 686, line 13.

Page 684, line 7. In the Calyer-Collier-Colyer Family, p. 46, Mr. Provost states that Jacobus Caljer lived at Bushwick just south of Pieter Janszen de Witt. We take from the foregoing, somewhat abridged, the following account. As Cobus Collier (sic) he was recorded in 1706 as owner of 20 acres of improved lands at Bushwick then in fence. This property, long known and referred to as "The 20 Acre Lot", was located in the southerly part of a large grant made to Dirck Volkertszen in 1643, a part of which, twenty acres, was leased by Volkertszen in 1649 to Jochem Caljer for twenty years. Adrian Meserole in about 1900 stated in his Genealogy of the Meseroles of Greenpoint: "On that part of the Calyer farm, known as the 20 acre lot, there are now seven churches." Jacobus Caljer was a Lutheran, as shown by a record of 9 June, 1696 stating that Jacobus Colyer, Anthony Lispenard and John Marckert, elders and deacons of the New York Lutheran church, petitioned the Consistory at Amsterdam in the Netherlands for assistance in supporting a pastor (The Lutheran Church in New York, 1649-1772, Bulletin No. 48, p. 923). Jacobus Caljer's death date is determined approximately by the following:

> Jacobus Collier, late of Bushwick, yeoman, died intestate. Letters of administration granted to Pieter Collier of Bushwick, July 5, 1720. (Wills, New York county Register's office, Vol. IX, p. 219).

Mr. Provost has determined from his investigation in the original records that in published abstracts and in the corrections thereof as well, Jacobus is incorrectly called Johannes. This mistranscription has caused the present writer to be misled (see our discussion of the work of the late William S. Pelletreau, vol. I, p. 6). See also this SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION, reference to page 686, line 13. Thanks are given to Mr. Provost for clearing up this situation.

Page 685, line 6 from bottom. In the Calyer .. Family, Mr. Provost says at p. 49:

> .... this land of Jacobus (3) would have been located in Newtown, not in Bushwick..., Furthermore, if the described land was in Bushwick, the described conveyance would not have been recorded in Queens County ....

Mr. Provost is entirely right and our record is to be changed accordingly.

Page 686, lines 7 to 9 (issue of Jacobus and Annetje Caljer), cross-referenced to page 688, lines 1 ff. Mr. Andrew J. Provost in his Calyer-Collier-Colyer Family, p. 49, considers these two Jacobus Caljers or Calyers to be one and the same individual. We regret that here we cannot agree, on the basis of premises which have been already given. The reader will understand, therefore, that we maintain our construction of these generations to be correct.

line 13. Strike out that there were two Jan Caljers. There were not. See this page, cross-referenced to page 684, line 7. Hence there is but one Jan Caljer and it is agreed that he line 3 from bottom. In the Calyer .. Family, p. 63, Mr. Provost gives a different version of the story of her residence than that hitherto given:

> Her (i. e., Eve Calyer's) home, before marriage, was the stone farm house on the East River, at what is now Calyer Street; said to have been built in 1645 by Dirck Volkertszen whose grandsons, in 1718, sold it and its large acreage to Capt. Pieter Praa. After her marriage, Eve lived in another stone farmhouse located at what is now Freeman Street, east of Oakland Street. This house, it is believed, was built in 1663 by Christina Cappoens to replace an earlier house, destroyed by the Indians in 1655 on land acquired from Dirck Volkertszen in 1653....

Page 700, lines 6 and those following. In the Calyer .. Family, Mr. Andrew J. Provost writes (p. 6):

> Jochem (1) Caljer, on August 8, 1643, have his note for 95 guilders to one Hendrick (.....?), identified by a record of November 16, 1645 as Hendrick Pietersen, who on that date had Jochem Caljer before the magistrates regarding the purchase of a house and lot. Whereupon the parties thereto were advised to settle the matter personally "as there has been no contract." Jochem Caljer's title to the property was confirmed, September 30,

1645, by a grant made to him by the West India Company of a plot on Manhattan Island "between Pieter Schoonsteenveger's and Michael's." The property is shown on a Map of the Original Grants of Village Lots, Commencing A. D. 1642, as on the Road to the Ferry, (later Hoogh Straat) at the water front, facing the City Hall, two plots east of The Common Ditch (later Broad Street) and between the plots of Albert Coninck and Pieter Andriessen, identified as "behind the public tavern (later known as the City Hall) and next to Jochem Caljer's."

The name "Michael's" in Jochem Caljer's grant of 1645 definitely should read "Nagel's." The plot, shown on the map referred to as of Albert Coninck, definitely belonged to Jan Nagel who occupies (sic) it from an early date until his death in 1657. Albert Coninck did not acquire this plot until April 15, 1663, subsequent to its sale January 8, 1662 by Jan Nagel's widow, Grietje Dircks who, having remarried, testified before the Orphan's (sic) Court May 28, 1658, that she and her children were then living "on the north side of Hoogh Straat opposite the Hall."

The definite establishment of Jan Nagel as next-door neighbor of Jochem Caljer, together with the records of their intimacy referred to in these pages, permits the reasonable conclusion that the appearance of Jan Nagel as baptismal sponsor with Engeltje Mans for the child "Annetje Carelse" March 11, 1646, strongly supports the opinion held by several that this child was Jochem Caljer's issue.

Four plots east of Jochem Caljer's home on Hoogh Straat lived Burger Joris and his wife Engeltje Mans as shown on the map above referred to. The recorded appearances of this man and wife as baptismal sponsors, 1642 and 1646, for two putative children of Jochem Caljer, are considered by several investigators presumptive evidence that such children were, in all probability his issue.* Jochem Caljer's home on Hoogh Straat is believed to have been his residence from about 1643 until his death in 1658. It would appear, however, he seriously contemplated removal to the section of Long Island then called Mespat Kills where his friends and neighbors Dirck Volckertszen, in 1645, and Burger Jorisen, in 1643, had obtained grants of land. On June 21, 1649, Jochem Caljer leased 20 acres of Volckertszen's land for a period of twenty years under an agreement, attested by Jan Nagel and Pieter Jansen, Noorman, in which it was agreed that, in the event of the death of the lessee, the lessor shall not eject the decedent's wife from the land against her will. Two years later, 1651, Jochem leased from Volckertszen "A certain lot of land situate on Long Island together with the land heretofore leased by him, Dirck, to Jochem Calder, for the term of twenty consecutive years."

Thus, some years before his death, Jochem Caljer was in possession of lands within the area which, in 1662, was to become organized as the town of Boswyck. ....

Whether Jochem built on, or personally occupied his Long Island land is not ascertained. If buildings were erected on it, they probably were destroyed as were other neighboring properties, during the Indian uprising of 1655.

Page 707, lines 1 and 2. Mr. Andrew J. Provost has the following in his Calyer-Collier-Colyer Family, p. 25:

Cornelis does not appear in the Bushwick or Brooklyn census tabulations of 1698, nor in any of the preserved church records of that vicinity until March 12, 1699 when, at Brooklyn Dutch Church, he and Margrietje Pieters (wife of Matys Brouwer) were baptismal co-sponsors for a child of his sister Cornelia Brouwer; nor again until February 6, 1708 when, at New York Dutch Church, he and a Maritje Calyer were baptismal co-sponsors for for a child of Philip Boyle and Catharine Van Gunst. This Maritje Calyer is identified tentatively as his then wife, and more definitely so determined September 10, 1710 when Cornelis Calyer, his wife, Maritje "Rirdon", and his daughter Jannetje were recorded as becoming members of Hackensack, N. J. Dutch Church; he with letters from Brooklyn and his wife upon confession of faith. The transcribed name, Rirdon, as believed by several commentators, should be read Verdon, a name closely affiliated by marriage with the Brouwer family, into which two of Cornelis Calyer's sisters married in 1692. Cornelis Calyer's wife, Maritje Rirdon, or Verdon, is not fully identified. She may have been the Marie(Maritje) Verdon, daughter of Jacob Verdon and Femmetje Willems Bennet who was baptized June 13, 1685 at Flatbush Dutch Church. If so, she definitely would have been Cornelis Calyer's second wife, and married to him in,or before, about 1707 (sic). Foreword. On p. 764, lines 18 and 19 we commented that the basic compilation of this family needs rechecking; we had not had sufficient opportunity to that time to make the check. We have since received additional information from Mr. Donald L. Jacobus which corrects our account, and which follows.

Page 761, line 3 from bottom. Mr. Jacobus writes:

> Am not sure the Sarah listed ahead of Mary Jr. in the 1698 census is a daughter. She may well be Samuel's mother Sarah, who is known to have been living as late as 1689. Anyway, he did have wife Mary and dau. Mary, born before 1698; also, I think, a son Samuel born later; note "Samuel Cooper and mother" listed thus in the 1756 rate list.

Page 762, line 1. ii. James married 1, Elizabeth, maiden name unknown, recorded in the 1698 census; married 2, Hannah (Pierson) Stephens, born about 1680, died 16 May, 1715, buried at Stonington, Connecticut, widow of Thomas Stephens. James had three children by his first wife (at least), who were

A. Nathan.
B. James.
D. Elizabeth, married Marshall.

The foregoing were all born before 1698. Just possibly, Jerusha Cooper listed in the 1698 census of Southampton was a daughter of James and died young, although she may have been a daughter of his brother Thomas.

CUVELLIER - CUVILJE

Page 847, line 12 from bottom. Mr. William J. Hoffman has sent us a copy of The Chase, (the house publication of the Chase National Bank of the City of New York), Vol. XIX, Nos. 23 and 24 (combined))in which there is a lead article entitled "Christmas on the Bouwerie of Jan Jansen Damen ------ Almost Three Hundred Years Ago". This is introduced by an item:

> The property at 18 Pine Street upon which the Chase National Bank stands to-day has an interesting history. Once the site of the Fourth National Bank, and in 1700 a Huguenot burial ground, it proved to be, as far back as 1640, a famous farm or bouwerie --- the home of Jan Jansen Damen, wealthy Knickerbocker burgher, trader, and man of affairs, in the Dutch settlement of New Amsterdam. .... A fort at the southern tip of the island, comprising the governor's house, barracks for the garrison, secretary's office, a windmill, and a church, surrounded by a few dozen houses and a giant stockade(Wall Street to-day) formed the main portion of the settlement and scattered to the north and east were the farm houses of the more agricultural-minded burghers. Among these was the prosperous and popular Jan Jansen Damen, close friend of Governor Kieft ....

The main story (unsigned) is a pleasantly imaginative account of life in the family of Jan Janszen Damen. The author had not availed himself of information appearing in court records.

Page 862, lines 11 and those following, from bottom, to end of page 863, cross-referenced to page 1,032, line 18 from bottom, and those following. It appears to be established that Cornelis Janszen Cuypers was not related by the blood to Adrienne Cuvellier; and so her parentage is unknown. Hence the constructions as to her ancestry and connections on pages 862 and 863 are to be deleted. This has been one of the more extraordinary coincidences in our experience, because of the equivalence in meaning of cuvellier and kuyper. Mr. William J. Hoffman writes in a letter of 21 May, 1950:

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION
1,981

I received from Holland the results of a search regarding Jan Jans Damen. ....

The following is a translation of the letter I received from the Archives of the Province of Utrecht under date of May 2, 1950:

> "The affidavit mentioned by you was found among the records of Notary J. van Vechoven (Vol. 8- fol. 239) and was passed on March 10, 1655. The declaration was made by Wouter Oss. (i. e., O'szoon) van Royen, over 70 yrs. old, Harman Wss. van Schayck, 60, Adriaen Wss. van Schayck, 56 and Hendrick Gerrits, 40 yrs. old, all living under Bunnik and Vechten. It is clearly stated that Jan Janss. Damen deceased in New Netherland had left three brothers named: Cornelis Janss. Damen, Willem Janss. Damen and Cornelis Janss. Damen alias Cuyper and also a sister Neeltgen. In 1655 Cornelis (Sr.), Willem and Neeltgen were still alive but his brother Cornelis Cuyper died after him but before 1655. Jan had also a sister Hendricxgen but she died before him (Jan)."

All this is proved again by another record dated 9 April 1653 and made before the same Notary (Vol. 7- p.211) in which the heirs of Jan Janss. Damen

> "anders in de gemene wandelinge genaempt Jan Claess Damen" (commonly known as Jan Claess Damen)

(His father's name was therefore probably Jan Claesz) gave a power of attorney to Corn. van Werckhoven, Aelbert Oss. Wantenaer and Jan Cornelisz, son of Cornelis Janss. Damen "all residing in New Netherland" (incidentally they all came from Utrecht, WJH) to take all necessary steps to settle the estate of Jan Janss. Damen.

The Archivist writes:

> "There is therefore no reason for any doubt: Jan Janss Damen had two brothers both named Cornelis. That happened in many instances, more so during the Middle Ages, and should therefore not be questioned. The younger one - in order to differentiate him from his older brother - took the name of Cuyper(possibly his wife's name for she appeared in the record of 1653 with that name). ...."

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION
1,982

This settles the question definitely. As I told you I had my doubts, for a Hollander would not indicate a brother-in-law as brother; we have an entirely different word for such a man, namely zwager (although one has to be very careful about that too, especially in the Middle ages other relationships were often indicated as zwager).

The name of the father of Adrienne Cuvellier is unknown.

DAVIS

Page 868, line 6. During the compilation of the Jarvis family in this volume, a hypothesis was developed to explain why Benajah Jarvis was a bondsman in connection with the administration of the estate of David Davis (see also Vol. IV, p. 1,636, line 2, No. 149). This Benajah Jarvis married Susanna Bunce whose ancestry is as yet unproved. It is believed, however that she was a daughter of Selah Bunce who married Sarah Davis in the First Presbyterian church at Huntington, New York 15 February, 1766. Selah Bunce died intestate at Huntington in 1785 and the widow Sarah was made administrator of the estate 19 April, 1785. The heirs are not mentioned. If Sarah Davis, wife of Selah Bunce were a sister of David Davis, then their supposed daughter Susanna (Bunce) Jarvis would be a niece of David Davis. While this appears adequate to explain why Benajah Jarvis would be a bondsman, we repeat that this is only a hypothesis.

Page 869, line 18. For: ... he with Nathaniel ..., read: ... he and Nathaniel ...

Page 870, line 22. Sarah Davis who married Jonas Higbie was not, we believe, probably a sister of David Davis. See the reference to p. 868, line 6 above.

Page 873, line 8. We have been informed that an itinerant peddler was called a "Scotchman" in the seventeenth century, and that both terms were interchangeable in common usage. If John Davis was at first an itinerant vendor of merchandise from a wagon, this may have given rise to the designation Scotchman. However, he was a brickmaker when on Long Island.

DE WITT

Page 908, lines 6 and 7. At the time Pieter Janszen De Witt took the oath of allegiance to the provincial government in 1667, he stated he had been in the country thirty-five years. This confirms that he emigrated in 1652.
after line 15 insert: He was a farmer, according to Andrew J. Provost in his MS Biography of and Descent from Pieter Jans De Wit (Darien, Conn., 1952). On 13 August, 1655 he witnessed the joint will of Hendrick van Dyke and his wife Divertje Cornelis. On page 1 of the original Records of the Town of Boswyck (Bushwick), the following appears(translated by Frank L. Van Cleef):

> Petrus Stuivisant, Director General and his High Council of New Netherland, decreed that the outside people who, in a measure, reside far and wide from one another, must unite in removing their dwelling places into the towns that are nearest, because there was war with the Indians who killed several of the Netherland people. Accordingly, on the 16th of said month (1660), 14 Frenchmen, with a Dutchman named Pieter Jans Widt as their interpreter, as the aforesaid Frenchmen understood no Dutch, approached the Lord General and besought him to found a town in some suitable place ---- Accordingly, on the 19th instant the Lord General, the Lord Fiscal Nicholas de Zilla, the Lord Secretary van Reuven and the sworn Surveyor Jacques Corleau (sic:Corteleau) came to Mispat and fixed upon a place between Mispat Kill and Noormans Kill to found a town, and laid out 22 lots upon which houses were to be built.

The petitioning Frenchmen, somewhat reduced in number by withdrawals, were considered too small a group to undertake the proposed settlement along. However, the number of families was increased by a dozen or more Dutch and Scandinavian families. For this group of twenty-two families Pieter Janszen De Witt was appointed leader.

The site chosen for the village lay south of the plantation then owned and occupied by Dirck Volkertszen (see VOLKERTSZEN) who was included in the group of settlers. This location was at the head of the tidal stream then known as Noorman's Kill and later as Bushwick creek. Twenty-two plots for homes were laid out on both sides of a central roadway, later known as the Old Wood Point road. This road ran northerly to docks on Mispat (Mespat) Kill and on Noorman's Kill. It is said De Witt supervised the construction of the homes of the first settlers, as well as that of the palisade that defended them. Each family plot had space for a garden and housing for animals in the rear of the home. Outside of the palisade each settler had a long strip of farm land that extended to tide water at one of the two kills, and some salt meadow at its end. Also within the palisade an artificial pond provided a common water supply. Pieter Janszen De Witt's basic allotment was thirty-five acres.

He was one of the patentees under the Nicholls patent of 1667; and in the rate lists of 1676 and 1683 he was rated for more real and personal property than any other inhabitant of Bushwick (100 acres). He was called captain in 1676 and evidently had become the chief officer of the town militia after the death of Ryck Leydecker.

The late William L. Felter in his Historic Greenpoint (p. 17) described the farm of Pieter Janszen De Witt as located upon a neck of high ground lying north of Meeker avenue, and which was considered one of the more desirable locations of later Greenpoint; and the mansion house erected on the southerly part of the property about 1750 faced the Wood Point road. Portions of the southerly extension of the old Wood Point road as laid out between Flushing avenue and Old Bedford village, and known as the Clove road, remained in existence as late as 1890, and is well remembered by Mr. Andrew J. Provost.

line 19 from bottom. Mr. Andrew J. Provost in his study of this family has shown that Volkert De Witt had no son Pieter. We present the following revision, based on Mr. Provost's MS Biography of and Descent from Pieter Jans De Wit, p. 104.

Volkert was recorded in 1687 as native born when he took the oath of allegiance at Bushwick; and in the same year he was recorded as one of the Bushwick freeholders named in the Dongan Patent. He died shortly before 1695, presumably at Bushwick. In court proceedings instituted at Bushwick in May 1705 by Pieter Pieterszen De Witt, son of Pieter Janszen De Witt, it was stated that Volkert's widow had become the wife of Philip Volkerts, son of Volkert Dirckszen and his wife Annetje Philips Langelaan (see VOLKERTSZEN). The matter before the court concerned a document prepared by the senior Pieter Janszen De Witt subsequent to the death of his son Volkert; for the purpose of providing for Volkert De Witt's only child (Record compiled by Mr. Smith H. Stebbins). Volkert married Anna van Cleef. The records of the Reformed Dutch church in New York city on 21 August, 1695 name Anna van Cleef as the then house-wife of Philip Volcertszen (sic) when she was sponsor at the baptism of Peter, son of Dirck Volkertszen and Maria "Wip". The last was daughter of Pieter and Sarah (Alberts) De Witt. Issue of Volkert and Anna (van Cleef) De Witt:

i. Folkertje, born probably shortly before 1695. She married Simon van Noortwyck, Resident of Somerset county, New Jersey. Issue.

line 13 from bottom. Strike out that Pieter was a probable son of Volkert De Witt. He was not.

Page 910, after line 6 from the bottom. Pieter Janszen and Dorothea (Volkerts) De Witt also had a son

5. Pieter, a resident of Bushwick, New York, where he died intestate in 1721. He is believed to have come into possession of all of his father's Bushwick property. His absence from rate lists and other records of Bushwick for a considerable period of time is considered to indicate that he was resident of some other place, not yet discovered. Mr. Andrew J. Provost in the MS referred to lists the children of Pieter Pieterszen De Witt as he believes them to be, and gives accounts of many people bearing this name. Mr. Provost's work gives evidence of much study, and we trust that further documentation will be presented to augment his records.

Mr. Provost discusses also the connections of Baudwyn De Witt and Petronella De Witt, whom he considers to be possibly children of Pieter Janszen De Witt.

FURMAN

Page 1,037, line 14. The late Mrs. James Furman Kemp has told us of an anecdote concerning Jeannette. In the first days that Mrs. Smith lived in Virginia City, the Indians were wont to peer in the windows of her home, and point out things they wanted. One hefty Indian woman, so the story goes, became enamored of Jeannette's hoopskirt; and since Jeannette was alone, she gave it up, to stand shivering in her petticoats.

Smith, (Vol. I, p. 14, No. 4) who had it converted into a writing desk. Had it been preserved in its original state, it would have been of inestimable interest for the part it played in the early history of Montana.

Page 1,050, line 14. Known loyalists (tories) whose estates were confiscated by the Colonial (Revolutionary) government were, in a considerable number of instances, sent to confinement in Connecticut. This is believed to explain the "sojourn" of Zebulon Furman in Connecticut, very likely as a tory whose uncompromising attitude rendered his confinement necessary.

line 18 from bottom. The entry in the 1795 tax list opposite Zebulon Furman's name is peculiar. In most instances where real and personal property were negligible, blank spaces were left opposite the name of the individual. Not so with Zebulon.

In the column headed "Real Estate" appear four large zeros, and in the column headed "Personal Estate" there are three. We hope to be forgiven if we speculate that Zebulon (still filled with wrath at the colonial confiscation of his estate at Hempstead and perhaps also imprisonment) gave the rate taker a bad time of it, and the entry in the lists was the latter's way of indicating that Furman was more than worthless. Zebulon Furman does not appear in the tax list for 1799, made up at the year's end, although he is recorded in the census for 1800. Evidently the census was begun in 1799, and we believe accordingly that he died late in 1799, after his name had been recorded on the census work sheets.

Page 1,052, line 10 from bottom. Daniel Furman was also at one time a resident of Patchogue, New York, and lived near his brother Zebulon.

In his will Richard Gildersleeve called Thomas Rogers of Huntington his brother. This Thomas Rogers is identified as the son of Jonathan and Deborah Rogers, and on this basis it has been concluded in the past that Richard Gildersleeve married his sister (that is, a daughter of Jonathan Rogers). From the evidences at hand it does not seem possible for Thomas Rogers to have married a sister of Richard Gildersleeve. Not excluded from consideration, however, is the possibility that Richard Gildersleeve and Thomas Rogers may have married sisters; and since the name of Thomas Rogers' wife is unknown, we cannot be certain as to the surname of the wife of this Richard Gildersleeve.

He was one of the "Older Line" altho' his mother was sister to Fanny Griffiths wife of Thomas Whitehead Gildersleeve, 1812-1887, grandson of "Grand Daddy" T. W. G. This T. GROMBRIDGE

Page 1,167, lines 5 and 6, and others as may be referable to the following text. George E. Bushnell in his Bushnell Family Genealogy, 1948, page 31, avers that Marie (Mary) Grombridge, wife of Francis Bushnell, was baptised at Horsham, Sussex, 7 January, 1605/6, "perhaps dau. of Thomas and Anne (Ivc) Grombridge" (if she was baptised on this date she would be daughter of this Thomas). We have hitherto noted, with underscoring for emphasis, that Mary, daughter of this Thomas Grombridge was probably the one who married Peter Gosden 10 September, 1629. To that opinion we still adhere. See the next reference.

Abstract of will of John Grombridge the elder of Horsham, co. Sussex, yeoman, dated 10 February, 1617.

I give my soul to God and my body to be buried in the churchyard of the parish church of Horsham. To the poor of Horsham 20s, to be distributed at time of my burial. To the Cathedral of Chichester, 4d. To my elder son John 20s payable within 10 days after my death. To Elizabeth my daughter 20s payable within one year after my death. To the daughter of my said daughter Elizabeth by her former husband £9 within 1 year after my death. To my daughter Agnes, £10, or if she is dead it shall be divided among her children then living. To the children of my said daughter Agnes £40, payable within one year after my death equally among them with reversion among the survivors. If all said children die their portions shall be equally divided among the children of my daughter Mary then living. To my said daughter Mary 20s payable within 1 year after my death. To my younger son John 20s, payable within 10 days after my death. To Joane my daughter 20s within 1 year after my death. To John, son of my younger son John £40 payable within 1 year after my death. To John, son of my elder son John £40 payable within 1 year after my death. To Mathew son of my said elder son John, £40 within 1 year after my death. To Henry, son of my elder son John, £20 within 1 year after my death. To William son of my elder son John £20 within 1 year after my death. To Alice, daughter of my elder son John £20 at her age of 21 years or day of marriage. To Mary daughter of my elder son John £10 within 1 year after my death. To James, son of my elder son John £10 within 1 year after my death. To Bridgett, daughter of my elder son John £10 within 1 year after my death. If any of the children of my said 2 sons shall die their portions shall be divided among the survivors. To John son of John Sayer £20 with reversion among children of my said 2 sons if he dies. If any of the above children shall be under the age of 21 years and unmarried their portions shall be put out for their benefit until they shall come of age or marry. To Thomas Grombridge, son of my elder son John the lease of 1 messuage or croft of land called Fletchers lying near a certain brook in Horsham called Hornenbrooke for the term of years unexpired at the time of my death but my wife Joane shall receive rents and profits of said property for such part of said lease as she shall have in lieu of her dower. To my said wife, lease of Cheese (or Cheefe) lands which I lately took of Sir John Carrell the elder Knight, deceased, during the term of years unexpired paying yearly rent to the executors of the said Sir John and at her death the term unexpired shall remain to my executor. My wife shall have reasonable use of my household stuff during her life as shall be necessary for her. To the said Thomas Grombridge son of John my elder son half of all my bedding linen and other things of which my wife shall have use, and half part of all my other household stuff to my executor. To William, son of my elder son John the other half part of my last mentioned household stuff. I make Thomas Grombridge son of my elder son John sole executor, who shall be bound to my overseers for £400 for the performance of my will. I appoint as overseers Thomas Sheppard, gent., Richard Waller my son-in-law and Richard White my son-in-law, and give to each of them 20s for their pains.

To John Grombridge my elder son, rent of £8 yearly issuing out of the messuage with appurtenances in Horsham where I now dwell and out of all lands thereto belonging and also out of a croft of land with appurtenances lying near a lane in Horsham called Culver Lane which I lately purchased of Henry Wyckins and also out of another croft of land with appurtenances lying near Culver Lane lately purchased of . Richard Steere and out of reversions of all same premises; also issuing out of messuage, lands, etc., with appurtenances in the parish of Nuthurst in the said county, called Hurrocks, purchased of Robert Edsawe the younger - said rent, of £8 shall be paid to my said son John during his life with power of distraint in case of non-payment.

To said John my younger son rent yearly of £8, out of messuage and lands, etc., with appurtenances in Horsham lately purchased to me and my heirs of Mathew White to receive same for his life with power of distraint in case of non-payment.

To said Thomas Grombridge my executor and his heirs for ever the messuage where I now dwell with all lands and appurtenances and also a croft of land purchased from Henry Wickins and a croft of land purchased from Richard Steere and also a messuage with appurtenances in the parish of Nuthurst called Hurrockes, purchased from Robert Edsaw the younger. To said William Gromebridge(sic) son of my elder son John and his heirs for ever a messuage with appurtenances in Horsham purchased of Mathew White. To said Mathew son of my elder son John and his heirs for ever a messuage with appurtenances in the Borough of Horsham purchased of Thomas Steere. To said John Grombridge son of my elder son John and his heirs for ever one messuage and 2 shops with appurtenances situated within the Borough of Horsham lately purchased of Edward Waller. To Henry son of my elder son John and his heirs for ever a shop with appurtenances within the parish of Horsham lately purchased of Thomas Brewer, Gent.

Proved the 3rd of June, 1621 by Thomas Grombridge, grandson by the son of the deceased, the executor. PCC 56 Dale

There seems to be reason to believe that the testator's son John the elder was not competent at the time. This will does show that John and Elizabeth (Slater) Grombridge did have a daughter Mary who could have been born in 1609. It will be remembered that Marie or Mary (Grombridge) Bushnell, wife of Francis Bushnell testified as to her age on the shipping list, which would make her born in 1609. That the list was probably correct is indicated by the fact that Francis Bushnell's age as he reported it agrees with the indicated age from the church registers of Horsham. Therefore the daughter of Thomas Grombridge, baptised January 7, 1605/6, could not have been the wife of Francis Bushnell as the Bushnell Family Genealogy indicates.

John Grombridge the elder, the testator of the will of 10 February, 1617 reported above, is without doubt the one who married the widow Alice Jupe in Horsham 30 July, 1570 (page 1,167, line 15 from bottom). She was buried 23 April, 1587 at Horsham and he married 2, 20 November, 1587 to the widow Joan Waler (Waller) who survived him. Based on the information given in the will, and from sources already quoted, the children were, by the first wife:

+ 1. John, married Elizabeth Slater.
2. Elizabeth, baptism not recorded in Horsham, born about 1575; married and had a daughter living in 1617.
3. Ann, baptised 8 September, 1576, identified as the daughter called Agnes in the will. She married and had issue.

4. Mary, baptised 11 September, 1579, living in 1617.
5. John the younger, baptised 10 March, 1581/2; married and had
   i. John, living in 1617.
6. William, baptised 22 November, 1584, buried 14 or 24 May, 1585.
7. Sarah, baptised 2 April, 1587, married 2 February, 1606/7, John Saiers or Sayer. Issue included (SAIERS or SAYER):
   i. John.

Issue, by second wife;

8. Joane, as given at top of page 1,168.

1. John Grombridge, son of John and Alice ( ) (Jupe) Grombridge, is discussed on pages 1,169 and 1,170. From the will of his father it is found that in addition to the children hitherto listed, it is known that he had also

21a. Alice, born about 1606, living in 1617, mentioned in the will of her grandfather John Grombridge the elder.

21b. Mary, born about or in 1609, living in 1617, mentioned in the will of her grandfather John Grombridge the elder. She probably married Francis Bushnell, son of Francis and Ferris (Quynell) Bushnell.

In Calendar of Wills on File and Recorded at Albany, New York, edited by Berthold Fernow, the date of probate of the will of Lourens (Lawrence) Haff is given as 5 September, 1758 (Liber H, p. 39). In the will the children are named as Winche (not included in the list on p. 1,184), Anthony, Peter, Lawrence, Susanna, John and Mary. "Leonard" is not given in the will.

A. Joseph E., who married and had issue.
B. Sarah, married Hewsted.
C. Elizabeth, married James Germond.

line 22 from bottom, and those following. In Calendar of Wills on File and Recorded at Albany, New York, edited by Berthold Fernow, the date of probate of the will of this Jacobus Haff is given as 15 January, 1758, not 1764 (Liber H, page 37).

HALSEY

Page 1,204, line 6. Thomas Halsey was baptised in the parish church at Kempston, Beds., 26 November, 1626. The record is published under this date in Bedfordshire Parish Registers, edited by G. G. Emmison, vol. XXXIX (Kempston), p. 8. Evidently the Rev. H. C. Perry, Vicar of Kempston, could not have had a careful search made in 1948 (see footnote, Vol. III, p.1,221).

Page 1,208, lines 4 and those following. Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell has studied the numerical arrangement of the inhabitants of the town of Southampton, as given by George R. Howell in his The Early History of Southampton, Long Island, 1866. He identifies No. 8. Jeremiah Halsey as No. 326 in the list, and his first wife Annah Halsey, so-called, as No. 301. Their children are considered to have been, at least:

-. Annah, No. 302 in the census list, born about 1694.
1. Jeremiah, No. 327 in the census list.

The remainder of the children appear to have been by Ruth (she was thus a second wife).

Page 1,215, after line 14. Thomas and Elizabeth (Wheeler) Halsey had also:

1a. John, baptised at Kempston, Beds., 26 December, 1628, (Bedfordshire Parish Registers, XXXIX, Kempston). No further record.

1b. Robert, baptised at Kempston, Beds., 24 October of 1630, buried there 28 October, 1630.

line 15, No. 2. Isaac Halsey was baptised at Kempston, Beds., 18 November, 1632. In The Small Book of Deeds From the Southampton Town Clerk's Office, published by O. B. Ackerly (copy in the East Hampton, New York Free Library), there is recorded a deed dated in 1671 from Isaac Halsey and Mary, his wife to his brother Thomas Halsey, conveying lands purchased by Isaac Halsey of John Woodruff, Jr., the adopted son of John Gosmer, Gent.

HALSTEAD

Page 1,260, line 9 from bottom. We stated from records to be recited further, that Jonas Halstead was the son of Abraham Halstead by his wife Susan Whitley. During the time that we were compiling the records given on pages 1,260 and those following, we had arranged for further research in England, which was delayed by the untimely death of one researcher. The Venerable Archdeacon E. Treacy, M. B. E., of Halifax informs us that the burial registers of Halifax have been examined seriatim for the period 1610 - 1670, and that there is no entry for the burial of any Jonas Halstead. Unless the parish register is defective, we must conclude that Jonas Halstead left Halifax. A careful and rather widespread search has been made in the registers of the concentrically neighboring parishes, with negative results. We agree that the identification of this Jonas Halstead with the resident of Hempstead, New York is reasonable and plausible, and have accepted the identification. At the same time it must be borne in mind that the identification is made on circumstantial indications and that the connection is not proved, so far as we know. Accordingly we present further information on these connections.

THE MATERNAL ANCESTRY OF JONAS HALSTEAD

I. THE WHITLEY FAMILY OF OVENDEN, YORKSHIRE

14. SUSAN WHITLEY 15,657
m. ABRAHAM HALSTEAD

She was born probably in the parish of Halifax, Yorkshire about 1572/3.

Susan Whitley was baptised in the parish church at Halifax 1 February, 1572/3.

As the wife of Abraham Halstead she was a resident of Northowram in Halifax parish. After his death she married 2, in the parish church at Halifax 12 April, 1615 to John Lum of Northowram (see LUM). She died after 1621 and presumably at Northowram.

Susan Whitley married in the parish church at Halifax 5 September, 1596 to Abraham Halstead.

For descendants, see page 1,261.

NOTES

The foregoing records have been taken from the parish register records of Halifax. See also the references under the record of her father.

Susan Whitley was the daughter of 15. JOHN WHITLEY 31,314

m. AGNES MAUDE daughter of James Maude (M awde) and

He was born about 1540/1, probably in Halifax parish, Yorkshire.

John Whitley was baptised in the parish church at Halifax, 17 March, 1546.

John Whitley was the inheritor of the family estate known as City Fold, Wheatley, and was rated as a clothier of Warley in Halifax parish.

A feoffment deed dated 26 September, 1566 granted one rood of land held by John Holdsworth of Wheatley to John Whitley. John Whitley was to hold it by paying a silver denarius (8-1/2d) annually at the feast of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the patron saint of the Church at Illingworth. The witnesses to this deed were Thomas Wilkinson, Richard Deyne, John Spencer of Ovenden, and John Maude of Trimmingham, the lawyer. John Whitley purchased the freehold of this land three years later for the sum of twenty two pounds. The exact location of this land is difficult to determine. Later deeds refer to land at Page Hill as old freehold, and it is probable that this Page Hill land was identical with the plot purchased from John Holdsworth.

By a deed dated 21 June, 1569, John Holdsworth sold to John Whitley a close of land called the Ing in Wheatley, which adjoined the house of John Holdsworth, and was bounded on the north side by the highway leading from Ovenden Wood Brook into Wheatley Bank Top; on the east by lands which John Whitley had previously purchased from John Holdsworth; on the south by lands belonging to John Waterhouse, of Shibden; and on the west by appurtenances belonging to John Holdsworth. John Whitley agreed to pay the sum of £27 13s 4d as purchase money.

He had by now purchased the greater part of John Holdsworth's property in Wheatley, although the latter still retained his house, approximately on the site of the new City Fold (as reported in 1934) and the land immediately around it. By a deed dated 22 May, 1572 John Holdsworth sold to Humphrey Bentley of Ovenden, the remainder of his property in Wheatley, consisting of his house and appurtenances and a close called the backside, on the north side of the house, and also two other parcels of meadow and pasture abutting on the north side of the house. By some way no longer evident, this property came into the possession of John Whitley.

His will, dated 16 January, 1612/3, was proved 3 August, 1614. He was probably buried at Wheatley.

John Whitley married in the parish church at Halifax 27 May, 1565 to Agnes Maude of Earoyd.

Issue, baptised in the parish church at Halifax:

1. Susan, baptised 16 June, 1566, died 1 February, 1571/2.
2. Johannes or John, baptised 24 June, 1568, died after 1644. There was a marriage settlement between this John Whitley and his wife-to-be, Sibill Lister dated 27 September, 1597. The parties in the document are mentioned as John Whitley the elder of Ovenden, clothier, and John Whitley, his son and heir-apparent of the one part, and Thomas Lister of Ovenden, woolman and Sibill Lister his daughter of the other. This marriage settlement is the last of the sixteenth century deeds preserved in relation to City Fold. The late W. B. Trigg in writing of this connection stated that "It is difficult to realise the beauty and isolation of the Wheatley valley at this time, although its upper reaches still retain some of its old time charm. Most of the land was then waste, with a few isolated clearings and settlements. On one side were the rocky escarpments of Wheatley Edge, Bank Edge, and Gee Edge, together with the scrubby vegetation of the Shroggs, and on the other side the well-timbered slope of Ovenden Wood, in those days almost a forest. The stream in the valley bottom, and the rough roads survive, but not a single timbered house of this period remains, and the industrial revolution has completely devastated the southern portion of the valley." The marriage to Sibill (Sybil) Lister took place in October or November of 1597. John Whitley made his will 18 April, 1644 and died shortly thereafter, and his wife Sibill survived him for a few weeks. She appointed as her executor her nephew Thomas Lister of Shibden Hall. Both wills were made and both deaths occurred between the months of April and November, 1644. By a deed dated 29 December, 1644, Thomas Lister of Shibden Hall granted the estate for which he was trustee to John Whitley, the son of Joseph Whitley. This present John Whitley (husband of Sibill Lister) was a clothier, and a respected merchant. Issue:

i. Hannah, married Robert
ii. Edna, married John Farnell of Ovenden, Yorkshire.
iii. Grace.

3. Grace, baptised 8 October, 1570; married about 1591 to Oliver Whitton.
4. Susan, married Abraham Halstead. See page 2,000, this volume; and vol. III, p. 1,260.
5. Mathew (sic), baptised 2 October, 1575, died 1 April, 1587.
6. Margaret, mentioned in an agreement of 27 September, 1597 between John Whitley senior, John Whitley junior, Thomas Lister of Ovenden and Sibill his daughter.
7. Joseph, baptised 12 October, 1578; married, but name not reported. His children included a son
   i. John, who was the last Whitley of City Fold. He seems to have left little record of his life behind him, although he was in possession of the property for over thirty years during which time he carried on the clothier's trade through a most difficult period of political and religious strife, no documents concerning him have come to light.
8. Mychaell, baptised 23 April, 1581, died after 1613. He married and had issue:
   i. John.
   ii. Mary.

9. Maria, baptised 5 January, 1583/4, married about 1605 to Edward Farnhill. Issue (FARNHILL):

i. John.

Probably other children.

NOTES

The will of John Whitley has been abstracted by Mr. E. Thompson for Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell, from the York Registry, vol. 33, f. 215. It differs from transcripts previously made sufficiently to require reiteration:

> John Whitley the elder of Ovenden in the county of York, clothier, 16 January, 1612. To be buried in the church or churchyard at Halifax. After the payment of my debts and funeral expenses, I give to Agnes my wife one third part of my goods and out of another third I give to John Whiteley and Marie Whiteley (sic) children of Michael Whiteley and Abraham, Grace and Susan Halstead children of Abraham Halstead and John Farnhill sonne of Edward Farnehill to whom I am grandfather, £6; to every one of them xxs. To John my son 20/. To Joseph Whiteley my best tenters and a payre of sheets. To Marie my daughter, wife of Edward Farnhill, xs. The residue of my goods I give to Joseph Whiteley and Michael Whiteley my younger sonnes whom I make executors. Witnesses Richard Harrison, Dionee Hobson. Proved 3 August, 1614.

See also Transactions of the Halifax Antiquarian Society for 1934, beginning p. 155, under an article entitled 'City Fold, Wheatley' by W. B. Trigg and G. Dent. This starts off with > City Fold, hidden away among a dense cluster of 19th century cottages, clinging perilously to the cliff-like hillside of Wheatley Edge, and known by the name of "The City", has hitherto escaped the attentions of our local antiquarian investigators, and had we not been fortunate in searching out and copying the old deeds, its story might for ever have remained lost in the oblivion of the past.

>
> The name Fold is recorded in connection with the estate early in the 17th century, but the City itself cannot be older than the end of the 18th century.... (i. e., the present structure).

It will be observed that John Whitley has been called a clothier of Warley, which he was; in later years he seems to have been principally of Ovenden.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION
2,004

John Whitley was the son of 16. JOHN WHITLEY (QWYTLEY) 62,628

m. AGNES

He was born about 1510, presumably in the vicinity of Northowram, Yorks.

He appears to have been the first resident on the estate which came to be known as City Fold in Wheatley in the parish of Halifax. The first deed in connection with this property is dated 20 May, 1543, when Edward Kent sold to John Whitley of Ovenden, one messuage and all lands and meadows at Wheatley in the township of Ovenden. At the time of the sale, the property was in the occupation of John Oldfield, and Edward Kent had purchased it previously from Thomas Whitley and Robert Walker.

John Whitley appears to have gone to live on his new estate at Wheatley, but little is recorded about him. In 1561 he witnessed a grant of half an acre of the Waste of Ovenden from Edward Savile to James Eastwood, and he was witness to other transactions of like kind.

He was overseer 16 June, 1550 with John Mawde, Richard Mawde and Edward Mawde of the will of Richard Sladon of Halifax (Reg. Test., xiii, 637); and supervisor with John Mawde of Trimmingham, under the will of the latter's father-in-law, William Kinge of Skircoat, proved 7 May, 1554. These men were, without much doubt, related in some way to one another.

John Whitley was buried 3 December, 1561. His will is dated 29 November, 1561.

He married about 1537 to Agnes, maiden name not reported, who was buried 15 March, 1554/5 (Halifax Parish Registers).

Issue:

1. Gennet, married John Dixon of Bentley Royd in Halifax parish. Issue (DIXON):
   i. Sybil.
2. John, baptised 19 February, 1540/1, died young.
3. John, married Agnes Maude or Mawde. See page 2,000; and also v. III, p. 1,264.
4. Elizabeth .

NOTES

See Transactions of the Halifax Antiquarian Society for 1934, beginning with page 155, under 'City Fold, Wheatley', by W. B. Trigg and G. Dent. Therein an abstract of the will of this John Whitley is given:

> He left to his wife Agnes the tenement in Wheatley, in which he dwelt, for her dower. To his son John he left the sum of twenty-two pounds, and all his instruments pertaining to cloth working. He left to his daughter Elizabeth eighty pounds, and to his daughter Jennet, wife of John Dixon, twenty pounds. To his grand-daughter, Sibill Dixon, he left forty pounds, and the residue of his estate to his son John, and his daughter Elizabeth.

John Whitley (Qwytley) was the son of 17. JOHN WHITLEY (QWYTTLEY) 125,256

m. JOHANNA

He was born about 1475, probably in the vicinity of Northowram, Halifax parish, Yorkshire.

He was a resident of the township of Ovenden in Halifax parish, where he appears to have lived all his life as a clothier.

He was buried in the churchyard at Halifax as from Ovenden, 1 February, 1539/40. His will, dated 28 February, 1538/9, was proved 1 March, 1539/40; it makes his sons Robert and John executors (Reg. Test., xi, 439).

John Whitley married about 1505 to Johanna, maiden name not found, who as his widow was buried at Halifax 9 January, 1540/1.

Issue (at least):

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION

1. Robert, born about 1508, buried at Halifax 7 February, 1544/5.
2. John, married Agnes . See page 2,004.

NOTES

See the references hereinbefore quoted. In 1535 John Whitley or Qwyttley paid 4d for tithes of corn and hay to the Prior of Lewes. See also Chapters on the Early Registers of Halifax Parish Church by Walter James Walker, 1885, p. 51 ff. The particular John Whitley (Qwyttley) with which Mr. Walker starts his pedigree appears to be father of the present one of the seventeenth generation. It is stated that the present John Whitley was a greave of Hipperholme, in the eastern part of Halifax, and some distance from Northowram.

In this shadowy time, practically five hundred years ago, it is difficult to discern the accuracy of the connections which we find in the records and publications. However, there seems to be only one recorded name which may stand in the eighteenth generation. Accordingly we say that

John Whitley (Qwyttley) is believed to have been son of 18. JOHANNES QWYTTLEY (JOHN WHITLEY) 250,512

m.

It is estimated that he was born about 1440-1445, and probably in the vicinity of Hipperholme, Halifax parish, Yorkshire.

In 1481 he paid 2s rent for lands in the greaveship of Hipperholme.

Nothing more is known of him, and the name of his wife is unknown.

Presumed issue:

1. John, married Johanna . See page 2,005.
2. Thomas, born about 1480 at Northowram in Halifax parish; ancestor of the family which located at Sinderkills, Yorks. He was a woolman. Thomas Whitley married and had
   i. Edward
   ii. Thomas, born about 1520, was buried 17 February, 1609/10 as from Shelff in the parish of Halifax. He was a woolman in earlier days of Northowram, but later was of Hipperholme. At the time he made his will, 6 June, 1603, he called himself "late of Sinderkills, now of Shelf." It was proved 29 March, 1610. He married 1, about 1550 to Annes, who was buried 24 March, 1558/9; 2, Annes, who was buried 19 April, 1572; and 3, 13 October, 1572, Margaret Bouthe or Bothes, daughter of Edward Bouthe of Shelf. She died in 1610; her will, dated 15 April, 1610, was proved 17 January, 1610/11. Issue, by first wife;

A. Genet, born in 1553/4, baptised 9 March, 1553/4, married 24 May, 1574, Robert Sunderland.

B. Edward, born about 1557.

Issue, by second wife:

C. Thomas, born about 1561, a resident of Sinderkills. His will, dated 17 November, 1631, was proved 20 December, 1631. He gave £10 to his cousin John Whitley of Wheatley. See vol. 1, p. 90, Fam. Minorum Gentium. Issue.

Issue, by third wife:

D. Michael, baptised 18 October, 1573, a resident of Shelf, Upper End. He married Judith and had issue.

E. Susane, baptised 10 April, 1575.

F. Johannes, baptised 21 July, 1577; married Grace and had issue.

G. Matthew, baptised 23 April, 1581, a resident of Shelf; married Mary Hoyle, daughter of Samuel Hoyle.

H. Samuel, baptised 1 September, 1583; a resident of Shelf, where he died in 1611.

I. Edward the younger.

II. THE MAUDE OR MAWDE FAMILY OF EAROYD, HALIFAX PARISH, YORKSHIRE

15. AGNES MAUDE 31,315
m. JOHN WHITLEY son of John Whitley and Agnes

She was born at Earoyd, Halifax parish, Yorkshire about 1542.

Agnes Maude was baptised in the parish church at Halifax 13 March, 1541-1542.

After her marriage she was a resident at Wheatley in the parish of Halifax where she resided the rest of her life.

She married John Whitley in the parish church at Halifax, 27 May, 1565.

For descendants, see No. 31,314, page 2,000 and Vol. III, p. 1,264.

NOTES

For authorities, see under JOHN WHITLEY, No. 31,315.

Agnes Maude was the daughter of 16. JAMES MAUDE or MAWDE

m.

He was born about 1508 in the township of Warley, Halifax parish, and probably at a locality then called Earoyd.

He was described as the son of John Maude of Illingworth* when in 1530 he purchased half an acre of land with the buildings thereon, near Threapcroft, from Edward Holway.

He is probably the one of that name who witnessed the will of Jennet Gybson of Northowram (Reg. Test. xv - i, 171), 13 June, 1556, proved 8 February, 1556. He was witness to the will of Edward Speight of Warley, 12 December, 1557 (Reg. Test. xv-ii, 168), proved 9 March, 155[illegible].

*Thus correcting vol. III, page 1,264, wherein we identified this James Maude or Mawde incorrectly as son of Richard Mawde of Warley. We thank Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell for providing information on these connections.

James Maude was the owner of and resident in Maude House in Warley.*

He probably died in the period between 1565 and 1568 (three of the name were buried during three years).

The name of his wife is not reported.

Issue:

1. Johannes, born about 1535, was buried 8 April, 1541.
2. Agnes, married John Whitley. See page 2,008.
3. Gilbert, baptised 3 January, 1544/5, married in the parish ch. at Halifax, Yorkshire 21 May, 1571 to Elizabeth Crowther. Issue included
   i. Richard, baptised 6 January, 1568.
4. Johannes, baptised 27 January, 1547/8, probably the John Maude of Haroid mentioned in the manor rental for 1581: "old and new", for 22-1/2d.
5. Elsabeth, baptised 21 February, 1553/4.
6. Richard, buried at Halifax, Yorks., 6 April, 1562.
7. James (Jacobus) baptised 13 October, 1558, apparently the inheritor of Maude House. At the View of Deeds held in 1581 James Maude produced four deeds at a rental of 7-1/2d. He was also listed in the manor rental prepared at the same time, "old 18d new 1d". As he appears to be the only tenant living in the manor as of this date, he was no doubt the owner of Maude House. He married Jennet
   Issue:
   i. Jennet, who married Richard Wood of Ovenden. By this marriage Richard Wood came into possession of Maude House,

---

*The exact location of Maude House was for many years a mystery. The name first appeared in a deed connected with the first Joseph Watkinson of Watkinson Hall, but inquiry was unproductive. Among a number of old deeds presented to the Halifax Antiquarian Society by Mr. H. D. Helliwell, was one which proved beyond doubt that Maude House, or the building which succeeded it on the same site, is now known as Yew Tree, and it lies between Pharoah Lane and Illingworth Moor Chapel, on the west side of Keighley road. At an intermediate period it was also known as Height Farm.

The family of Maude appears to have been first settled in Warley, and Mr. Hanson has dealt with their early history in his paper on "The Hill" (Halifax Antiquarian Society Transactions, 1942). A branch of this family was settled in Ovenden as early as the time of Richard II, and the name appears in the Poll Tax returns of 1379.

where he lived, and in a portion of which also lived his mother-in-law, Jennet Maude. Richard Wood by his will of 18 July, 1621, proved 1 August, 1626, left to his second son John the messuage at Illingworth wherein he and Jennet Mawde lived, a pair of looms, and ten pounds.

NOTES

See Transactions of the Halifax Antiquarian Society, 1945, p. 17 ff., on 'Maude House, Illingworth' by the late W. B. Trigg; ibid., 1912, p. 102 ff.; and parish registers of Halifax, Yorkshire, previously referred to.

James Maude (Mawde) was the son of 17. JOHN MAWDE 125,260

m.

He was born probably in Halifax parish and in the vicinity of, or in Warley, about 1480.

At about the beginning of the sixteenth century he settled on Illington Moor at Maude House; the locality was referred to as Earoyd. In the Ovenden Court Rolls of 1516/7 a John Mawde is recited as a free tenant, and it is undoubtedly this one. He is recorded again in a subsidy roll of 15 Henry VIII (1524), when he was assessed at 4s on land worth £4.

Henry Savile, lord of Ovenden, by deed dated 26 January, 17 Henry VIII (1526) granted and confirmed to James Bawmforth, William Doughty, William Illingworth junior, John Maude junior (and others) one acre of land of the wastes of Ovenden as the same laid there on the east part of Charnheys, on the west part of the land of Henry Illingworth (and others), etc. It is probable that the John Mawde mentioned above is the present one.

The name of his wife is unknown.

Issue:

1. John junior, so-called, born about 1505. He probably died young, as his brother James inherited Maude House.
2. James, married. See page 2,008.
3. Richard, born at Illingworth about 1510, will dated 31 August, 1558. He married Margaret, maiden name not reported. Issue;
   i. Richard.
   ii. Costan, baptised at Halifax 19 July, 1551, buried there 23 August, 1572. He married at Halifax 5 June 1565 (sic) Christabella Stansfeld and had issue. The baptism, if of this Costan Mawde, evidently took place when he was a youth.

iii. Thomas, of Ovenden, Yorkshire; married and had, at least

A. Costan.

4. (probably) Costan, ____ .

NOTES

References include Transactions of the Halifax Antiquarian Society, 1945, p. 17 ff; 1912, p. 102 ff.; and others as will be mentioned below.

The present John Mawde, if properly identified as the John Mawde junior of 1526, would be of course, son of another John Mawde. In this connection the following will abstract is of interest, taken from Halifax Parish Wills, vol. I (orig. V, p. 84):

> John Mawde of Halifax, July 20, 1483. I bequeath my body to be buried in the churchyard of the parish church of St. John the Baptist of Halifax. I leave my best beast to the Vicar of the said church for my mortuary. Also I leave to each of my children 40s and also I leave 3s 4d to be disposed of in the aforesaid church for the health of my soul. Residue to be equally divided between my wife and all my children. I appoint my sons John, John (sic) and James executors, and John Haldesworth, John Bothis, John Waterhouse, Robert Mawde my brother, and Robert Mawde son of Richard Mawde, supervisors. Witnesses, Sr John Spyve, John Barnstaue and Robert Mawde.
> Proved August 8, 1483 by John Mawde and John Mawde, two of the executors, the other, John (sic! ?meant for James) being a minor.

It may be that the father of the present John Mawde is one of these sons John, although much more documentation is needed to establish the point. Nevertheless, the counterpoint of cross-references in records point to one of these sons John as founder of the family settled at Maude House, and the other as the propositus of the family resident at The Hill (T'hill) in Warley. The Maude families of these two places were, we believe, closely related. In Transactions of the Halifax Antiquarian Society for 1942 Mr. T. W. Hanson published the following entitled 'The Hill, Warley':

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION
2,012

The Hill in Warley is situated close to the Skircoat boundary. ....The Hill is one of the oldest settlements in the township, and Mr. Tom Sutcliffe said that about 1865 an ancient farm house occupied the site. This he described as a timber- built structure, though it is probable that by this date the ancient timber frame had been cased in stone....

Maudes of The Hill

The earliest record of The Hill occurs among the documents concerning the Chapel at Sowerby Bridge; among the trustees in 1526 are Edward Maude of the Hill, and James Maude of the Hill. Now if we turn back to one of our earliest local directories, we find that two John Maudes paid their four pence ....no home is found for either Maude (in the Poll Tax Returns for 1379). It is highly probable that John Maude of 1379 was settled at the Hill. The Maude family were also occupying Hard Green on the one side and Trimmingham and other Skircoat properties on the other side, four or five centuries ago. In Mr. John Lister's paper on the "Early Woollen Trade in Yorkshire" (Bradford Antiquary, Vol. II, O. S. p. 39), he mentions that Richard Mawde of Hyll, in the parish of Halifax, is named in an undated MS. in the Public Record Office, attributed to the time of Edward VI (1547 - 1553); but Mr. Lister thought it belonged to the year 1533. In 1536 John Mawde of Hill was one of the crowd who witnessed the famous agreement about the Tithes .... Halifax Registers say John was buried February 21, 1542-3.Without tracing the descent from father to son, I intend instead to glean from the volumes of Halifax Wills.... the part played by Maudes of Hill, as executors and trustees. In 1539 John Mawde of T'hill was witness to the will of John Mawde of Warley.* He left a stone of wool, value 2s 4d, to his mother, and

*The abstract of the will of John Mawde of Warley, son of Richard and Margerie Mawde, is published in Halifax Parish Wills, I, p. 122. He made his will 8 August, 1539. - "My body to be buried in the churche yerde dedicate to God in the memorie of the holie prophet Sanct John Baptist at Halifax. To Margerie, my mother, one stone of wooll of the price of iis iiiid. To Edward Kingstone, my brother in lawe, my whit folding jacket, one dublet, and one pare of hosse, and also one sherte. To Agnes and to Jennet, my susters, to either of them one stone of wooll of the price aforesaide. And I will that if any of theme, either the said Edwarde Kyngeston, or the saide Agnes and Jennet, do vex, truble, or hinder Alice, my wif, in any suche maters as I haue admite unto the(said) Alice, my wif, then I will all the saides (sic) legacies and bequethes unto the said Agnes, Edwarde, and Jennet to be as voide, and my executrix a stone (i. e. of wool) each to his two sisters....

Custom of the Manor

On February 20, 1540, John (Mawde) was again witness to the will of Brian Maude of Warley. As he surrendered his property for the purposes of his will the straw was handed to Edward Maude of the Hill, to conform with the custom of the Wakefield Manor. Brian divided his goods among three sons and directed "for my soul" they should give as please them and no more." Edward Maude of Hill came in for 3s 4d under the will of John Maude of Warley. His son William claimed a gown of taffetay and a mark. "I will answer to my Maker," said John, "that I do not owe him for anything betwixt him and me," and rejoined that William (was his debtor).Gilbert Maude, clothier, of Warley, died while in York. The witnesses to his will (June 8, 1547) were Christopher Stevenson,"my host,"landlord of the inn where he stayed, and "my ghostly father" the parish priest of Trinity Church, Micklegate, where he lies buried. He named Edward Maude of t'Heill to be the supervisor of the will. ....

And Mr. Hanson goes on to give particulars of later generations.

In Transactions of the Halifax Antiquarian Society for 1912, at page 102 ff. appears the following:

Grindlestone Bank, Ovenden Wood

The Maudes
John Mawde and his wife gave their four pence to the Poll Tax of 1379. In the note to the "Poll Tax Returns", we find that at the Turn held April 17, 1380, John Mawd, senior, acknowledges that he owes a debt of 13s 8d to John de Haldesworth; and Richard Jonson acknowledges that he is indebted to John Maud 13s 8-1/2d. So that John Mawd was not much richer when the accounts were balanced. If there was a John > Mawd, sen., it is evident then there was a John Mawd, jun. But the John, son of John, in the Poll Tax List is identified by Mr. Ogden as a John Jackson. Possibly John Mawde, junr., was one of those who escaped the tax.

>
> Forty years later according to the oldest deed at Jumples, Joan, daughter of John Mawhood, was the wife of Thomas de Haldsworth (son of Thomas and Isabel)....

We see in this last reference an indication of the original derivation of the name: Monthaut, otherwise Montalto (high mount). Some Maude families trace back to one Simon de Monte Alto, living in 1165. It may be true that the present John Mawde descends from this Simon, although the ubiquitous repetition of the name John makes positive identification unlikely.

The ancestry of John Mawde (page 2,010) other than as indicated above, is unknown.

Children of No. 30. John Haviland (page 1,315, lines 1 ff.)by his wife Alice (she was alive in 1638):

57. John, testator of the forementioned will; died in 1638, without issue. See Vol. III, pp. 1,318 and those following; also pp. 2,014-2,017 in this volume.

58. William as given on p. 1,315. His children were, by a wife whose name is not given:
    i. Joane.
    ii. John, born about 1625, probably No. 83 on p. 1,321, lines 1, 14.
    iii. Richard.
    iv. Francis.
    v. Miles. See Vol. III, p. 1,321, lines 7 ff. from bottom.

59. Joane, wife of Francis Webb. Issue (WEBB):
    i. Theodore.
    ii. Mary.
    iii. Francis.

60. Anne, who married Miles Flesher and had issue.

61. Susan, who married Richard Daffie or Daffy. Issue (DAFFIE):
    i. John.
    ii. Richard.
    iii. Jane.
    iv. Mary.
    v. Sarah.

62. Anthony, who married Hannah Fowler. Issue:
    i. Samuel.
    ii. Mary, not married in 1638.

62a. Thomas, deceased in 1638, mentioned in the will of his brother John. His widow was Elizabeth, surname not determined. Issue:
    i. Thomas.
    ii. Anthony.
    iii. Mary.
    iv. Jane.
    v. Frances.

62b. Daughter, married (?Richard) Bishop. Issue (BISHOP):
    i. Hester.

There were other children.

As the reader will observe, this leaves the problem of the ancestry of William Haviland (No. 396, vol. III, p. 1,289) completely unsolved.

Page 1,327, line 8 from bottom. The divorce granted to John Hicks at New Amsterdam as recorded in New York Colonial Manuscripts, VI, page 49, has been translated to read approximately as follows:

1 June (1655)

We the Council of New Netherland having seen and read the petition of John Hicks Schout at Flissingen on Long Island, wherein he represents and shows that his wife Harwood Longh has run away from him with someone else, with whom she has been married and had by him 5 or 6 children - and therefore requests that as his wife has broken the bond of matrimony (without him having given any cause for it) he asks to be qualified and given permission to marry an honorable young girl or widow (in accordance with political and ecclesiastical ordnances).

The abovementioned Council having taken notice of the above request and in addition the affidavits and declarations attached thereto made by trustworthy inhabitants of this province, find that the request of John Hicks cannot be refused according to divine and worldly law, and they therefore have given him a decree of divorce and separate him from the said Harwo.. Longh, allowing said John Hicks as they herewith do, to enter into the state of matrimony with some respectable girl or widow according to political and ecclesiastical ordinances.

This done a dii ut supra, Amsterdam in New Netherland and confirmed with our seal in red wax.

We are much indebted to Mr. Volk for his kind generosity in allowing us to quote his family records, which include an excellent autobiography of his grandmother Almira (Ketcham) Volk. The latter was a daughter of Richard Dean Ketcham by his wife Mary Howell, who was a daughter of Lemuel Howell. Lemuel Howell married Mercy Chester of Groton, Connecticut and, we believe, after the date of the massacre at Fort Griswold 6 September, 1781; that is, late in 1781 or early in 1782. We quote from the Autobiography of Almira Volk:

> My great-grandfather's name on my mother's side was Chester. He was of what was known as Puritans, and participated in the sufferings of the Revolutionary War. At Groton, Connecticut, where he lived, a fort had been erected and manned by Americans. A British man-of-war lay off the harbor, but dared not sack the town for fear of the fort. It happened on one occasion that the soldiers to quite an extent had quit duty and gone into the surrounding country to visit their families and relatives. The British, being informed by a Tory of their absence, landed, pillaged and burned the town, at the same time murdering and taking captive the brave patriots who had hastily gathered to protect their homes. Every dwelling in the town was razed to the ground except my great-grandfather's, which stood so near the fort as to greatly endanger the same by the burning of the house. If perchance this house has not been destroyed since, it is standing still. My great-grandfather's daughter, Mercy Chester, married Lemuel Howell, who served in the Revolution for his country in the glorious cause of liberty. Their daughter, Mary Howell, was my mother.

We regret to have to say that an examination of Revolutionary archives does not bear out Mrs. Volk's statement that Lemuel Howell served in the Revolutionary war. As a matter of fact, the brothers Lemuel and Selah Howell are not recorded even as signing Association Lists (Refugees from Long Island to Connecticut, by Frederick G. Mather, p. 1,064) in 1775 although their brother Israel Howell, junior refused to sign. The father, Israel Howell senior, did sign. The Autobiography does not say when Mercy (Chester) Howell died, although from the way in which it is written we think she was deceased before Almira (Ketcham) Volk was born in 1810. As three females are recorded in Lemuel's family in the census of 1790, these apparently are the three daughters Mary, Deborah and Frances and accordingly Mercy must have died before the enumeration of the census. This indication is further borne out by the fact that there were but five known children of Lemuel and Mercy (Chester) Howell. At this writing we do not know who Mercy Chester was, but investigations have been started, and any information found will be disclosed at a later date.

After line 5 from bottom, before No. 1, presumably as the oldest child, list the following as a child of Lemuel and Mercy (Chester) Howell:

O. Mary, born at West Islip, New York early in 1783, died 8 December, 1838 aged 55 years and more. She was buried in the White Cemetery at Niles, Illinois. Mary Howell married 27 April, 1805 in the First Presbyterian church at Smithtown, New York to Richard Dean Ketcham, baptised in the First Presbyterian church at Smithtown, New York 14 June, 1781, died at West Islip, New York in 1823, son of Joseph Ketcham (family record). The New York City Directories show that in 1831-1832 Mary (Howell) Ketcham, then a widow calling herself Mary Ketchum, lived at 118 Broome st. In 1824-5 she lived on Willet st., corner of Rivington street in New York city. Issue, order not certain(KETCHAM):

i. Son, died in infancy.

ii. Mercy, born in 1805, died in 1823.

iii. Hannah, who married and had issue.

iv. Almira, born 18 November, 1810 at West Islip, New York, married in New York city, N. Y., 9 October, 1830 to John Volk,widower of Hannah Jersey. He was a cooper in New York city and later resided in Chicago, Illinois, Kewaunee, Wisconsin and in other places in the central states. The experiences of this intrepid lady are recounted in her Autobiography of Almira Volk in most graphic fashion; MS copies of the printed edition have been placed in The Queens Borough Library at Jamaica, New York (the Long Island Collection) and in the library of the Huntington Historical Society at Huntington, New York. Almira died at a great age 10 September, 1906. Issue (VOLK): line 2 from bottom. Mr. John C. Rogers reports that No. 9 Abigail married Christopher Lupton, not John Rose.

Page 1,417, lines 9 from bottom and those following. We have had, in general, an unfavorable response to our proposition that the wife of John Howell was daughter of Samuel and Susannah Clarke. It will be noted that we stated that "the condition which would appear to have the greatest probability attached to it is to suppose...." There has been some tendency on the part of one or two of our friends to assume that we set this up categorically, which of course we did not, as the reference itself will show. We did not then know the maiden name of John Howell's wife, as we still do not; and on pages 1,416-1,417 gave five possible connections between Thurston Raynor and John Howell. The objection to calling John Howell's wife a daughter of Samuel Clarke seems to rest on implied chronology as indicated by the ages of some of the descendants. It is probable that the wife of John Howell and mother of his children, was born about 1630, a date that should be remembered in connection with the ensuing discussion. Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell wrote, 23 September, 1949:

> .... As to the name of John Howell's wife, and mother of his children we can not be sure that she was Susanna because so far as I know this name does not appear prior to 1670. That is, Susanna, the wife that survived John, could be a second wife and mother of none of the children. The only four year gap between children occurs between the last two, so Susanna might be the mother of Abigail .... I am not saying that Susanna was not mother of all the children but am trying to consider other possibilities. If she was the mother of all, she was not the daughter of Samuel Clarke.

Mr. Wardwell has been of the opinion that this Samuel Clarke married Susan, baptised 23 March, 1616 at Halifax, Yorkshire, daughter of Edmund and Martha (Lum) Wood. We have adverted to this situation on page 1,494, lines 7 ff. If Samuel Clarke married Susan(na) Wood, it would be unreasonable to suppose that their daughter Susanna was born as early as 1630, and this frame of reference has influenced Mr. Wardwell's thinking. It may all very well be true. On the other hand, there is no proof known to this writer, that Susan Wood married Samuel Clarke; and if she did not, the writer's case could still stand.

Mr. John C. Rogers takes a different approach in his letter of 5 January, 1953:

Re Susannah Clarke 2 dau. SAMUEL 1

For the age of this Susannah the only exact data I have is that of her brother Samuel 2's oldest daughter Susannah 3. She is given in N. Y. B and G. R.(sic)* as born in 1679, married 1697 to John Maltbie b. 1672 d. June 27 1706 ....

Samuel Clarke 2 in his will proved Aug. 2 1700 Makes his beloved wife Sarah executrix with son Samuel 3 with the provision that she bring up the young children during her widowhood or renounce and Samuel 3 to give her £20. On Aug. 21 1700 she renounced.

At the time of the will Rachel, Mary, Esther And John were all under age. I take (it) that Sarah was still a young woman. Older than the above were Eliphalet, Elisha, and Samuel. I think Eliphalet and Elisha may have been half-brothers of Samuel.

The clause (if she shall remarry) referring to Sarah is mentioned twice in the will so she must still have been a comparatively young woman. Even if 50 in 1700 she would be born 1650. In this event if Susannah 3 b. 1679 then the whole family would have been norn to her, as Susannah was the oldest daughter.

---

*The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record is meant.

It is not likely that Samuel 2 was more than ten years older than Sarah (1640). Although the ages of the children of Samuel 1 are not given, daughter Sarah 2 precedes Susannah 2 and (she was) probably younger. The only way she could have been of age within (a) reasonable, say 15 years difference between John Howell and herself would be to have been a daughter by a former wife of Samuel 1, not Susannah (Wood?). If the sons Samuel b. 1643, William b. 1645 and Joseph b. 1647/8, born in Stamford are the sons of Samuel 1 then it would seem improbable that a daughter of this earlier marriage should have the same name as the second wife.

All of which may be true, and a great deal of which depends on assumption.

It is curious that the weakest element in our own theory- that the wife of John Howell was a daughter of Samuel and Susannah Clarke, has not been emphasized by our friends. It is, very simply, that for Thurston Raynor to call John Howell his cousin based on the fact that the latter would be a nephew-in-law of one of Raynor's wives, makes his relationship to Raynor extremely legalistic and tenuous, even for those days. We shall be greatly interested in a case for a better theory, however.

Page 1,419, line 22 from bottom. Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell informs us that Sarah, wife of Samuel Clarke of North Sea, was a daughter of John and Anne Jennings. In his will of 6 November, 1685, John Jennings names his six children, one of whom was Sarah Jennings, then unmarried. Johanna, her sister, was the wife of Benjamin Haines who in his will of 17 September, 1687 has as an overseer his brother Samuel Clarke.

line 2 from the bottom. Mr. John C. Rogers has established that this Hannah Fordham was the wife of Thomas Clarke. In the Sessions records at Riverhead for 29 October 1678, it is recorded that Thomas Clarke was plaintiff versus Nathaniel Byfield, executor of the last will and testament of Captain Thomas Clarke, deceased, in an action of the case for refusing to pay to the plaintiff, the son of the said Capt.Clarke, the sum of £1,000 due to him by promises on his marriage with Hannah Fordam (Fordham), now wife of the plaintiff. The jury found for the defendant. Strike out the rest of the Page 1,422, lines 18 from bottom and those following. Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell of Brooklyn, New York has made a careful study of the listing of the children of No. 6. Richard Howell, and gives them to be:

i. Elizabeth, born about 1656, married by John Howell 18 March, 1673/4 to Joseph Marshall of Southampton. The inventory of Joseph Marshall's estate was taken 2 September, 1685 by Edward Howell and John Howell; the widow Elizabeth is mentioned (Southampton Town Records, vol. II, p. 294). Issue (MARSHALL):
   A. Elizabeth, born 14 May, 1676.
   B. Sarah, born 30 October, 1678.
   C. Joseph, born 30 October, 1680.
   D. Benjamin, born 15 October, 1682.

ii. Richard, as given.

iii. David, born about 1661, married Mary, maiden name not reported; he died 2 May, 1684. The widow married as his second wife 20 December, 1686 to John Larison.

iv. Isaac, born in 1663, died before 1696, when his brother Josiah entered an earmark that had been his brother Isaac's (Southampton Town Records, vol. II, p. 138).

v. Edmund, born about 1666, died before 1698.

vi. Ruth, born 17 June, 1669, married 12 April, 1686, Jonas Bower. See Vol. III, p. 1,424, line 6.

vii. Josiah, born about 1670, married 1, Mary 2, Phebe Johnes. He died 11 April, 1752. See Vol. III, p. 1,423, line 2.

viii. Joseph, born about 1673 or 1674. Richard Howell conveyed to his son Joseph 2-1/2 acres before 1698, (Southampton Town Records, vol. II, p. 327) when he was apparently deceased.

ix. Hezekiah, as given in vol. III, p. 1,423, lin.

x. Daniel, born about 1679; to Ewing, New Jersey before the enumeration of the 1698 census of Southampton, N. Y. He married and had ten children.

Marcy Pettit alias Bishop (movables) £5/11/9
Mary Whitney alias Bishop (movables) £5/11/7
Abigail Morehouse alias Bishop (movables) £5/11/7

Each of the last four was described as a daughter of Mr. John Bishop. Receipts were entered from Eliasaph and Mary Whitney, and from Abigail Morehouse. Stamford land records show the following:

(F, p. 412)
"Distribution Bill for the heirs of Enos Bishop" entered here, dated 7 March, 1758 and "Rec^{d} June y^{e} 2^{d} 1760".

Mr. Donald L. Jacobus has found many records of the heirs, except in the line of Enos Bishop of Brookhaven, New York. No records are filed for them at Stamford. In this connection he says:

> Did the heirs of Enos forget, after having the "bill of distribution" copied into the land records, to sell the island etc.? I simply cannot understand the silence of the records.

He was buried in the family cemetery on the place. In 1928 the location was sold and the cemetery was moved to the public cemetery at Wading River. line 10 from bottom. Mrs. Alfred Bruce (No. 142, p. 1,534) of Brookhaven, New York, is the owner of the home originally set up by Robert Ellison, husband of Elizabeth Hulse, No. 300 on this page. Mrs. Bruce writes:

> You know I have been interested in looking up the past history and owners of this house ("Valentine's", South Country Road, Brookhaven, New York) - .... as to how old the old kitchen part is with its wooden pegs and the half trees under it for timbers. .... And this is sort of coincidental: Elizabeth who first owned the house, Nettie* who owned it longest and I who now own it all trace back to Richard Hulse. "Huh!" said Osborn when I told him that with much enthusiasm, "if I came down there to live I'd trace back to him too". No wonder we hear queer noises and the christian door will squeak and swing open and no one enters. I always say: "Come on in, Elizabeth, it's your house".

The children of Robert and Elizabeth (Hulse) Ellison were:

543a. Letitia, married Groves.

Accordingly some adjustment in the assignment and dates of the children is necessary. Phebe Aber, widow: Formerly Phebe Furman. Israel was a militiaman in Losey's Co.; he died August, 1811, at Warwick, N. Y. They were married by the Rev. J. Joline, March, 1782.

R. line 9. Miss Grace L. Hulse informs us that No. 12. Charles Hallock Hulse was not son of Hampton Hulse. This is indeed correct and is an error that we should have caught. While the correlation of this information comes too late at the time of the present writing to do more than make a passing reference, it should be noted that Charles Hallock Hulse is No. 19 on p. 1,522, and consequently belongs to an entirely different connection. It will be noted that the listing of the children on pages 1,522 and 1,603 are different, and in a future day we hope to adjust this matter. This is the result of "contributions" from different sources of record. However, the record on page 1,522 is believed to be correct, as the writer obtained it personally from the late Rev. William Warren Hulse, a brother of Charles Hallock Hulse, many years ago.

lines 8 from bottom ff. Mr. Donald L. Jacobus writes:

> William[3] bought one acre and house on 21 November, 1725, then called of Norwalk. On 25 Dec. 1751 William of Norwalk sold one acre, house lot, house and shop; then his wife Hannah signed off her dower interest and her signature was witnessed by John Street and Will[m] Jarvis. Would William witness his own wife's signature, or was this the son? The family tradition in (the) Jarvis Genealogy tells much about the younger William's brother, Benjamin the Tory. Benjamin Jarvis of Norwalk bought 2 acres, and a house and lot 21 April 1764. Then there is a mortgage recorded 18 Dec. 1771 (vol. 15, p. 354, covers two pages; these last leaves in this volume have more than half of each leaf torn jaggedly out and missing); mortgage from Benjamin to Hannah Jarvis (description missing but I assume his mother) AND to mother-in-law Sarah Hitchcock (so described). Underneath are entries of three payments on mortgage, in 1772, 1773 and on 6 Sept. 1776; the second reads "upon the Mortgage of my son Benja" rest of line missing, and is witnessed by Jonathan Jarvis. Benjamin sold 5 acres 16 April 1776; appears no more; undoubtedly the Tory. Jonathan Jarvis bought 18 Oct. 1758, 46 x 18 feet with a shop or store; mortgaged 9 Feb. 1770 and appears no more; presumably lost property; his 1770 mortgage was witnessed by Thomas Jarvis.

As none of these can be placed in the well-known family of Capt. Samuel Jarvis of Norwalk, it seems likely that William[3] had besides Joseph (who may have d. young or moved away), sons William, Jonathan, Thomas, and Benjamin the Tory. A very obscure group, but it does seem rather likely that William who married Mary Wright was of this group.

William[3] Jarvis died at Norwalk before 5 Sept. 1767, when adm'n was granted to Benjamin Jarvis. No realty shown. Among debts, one to Stephen and Abraham Jarvis on a bond; these were nephews, sons of Samuel. List of articles set to widow. William moved over line to Salem, Westchester Co., where Cloe dau. of "Leu. Jarvis" was bapt. 28 Mar. 1766. William was Lieut. in Capt. Jonathan Haight's Co., Westchester Co. Troops, 1762 (Report of State Historian of N. Y., Colonial Series, 2: 690, 720).

JUDD

Page 1,644, line 9, No. 3, Mary (Judd) Webster. Our good friend William Galbraith Smith of Washington, D. C., past president of the National Genealogical Society and well-known genealogist, is descended of this sister of our ancestress Hannah (Judd) Smith. Joseph and Mary (Judd) Webster had a daughter Mary who was born 31 May, 1679 in Connecticut and died at New Hartford in the same state 3 January, 1780, thus achieving an age of more than one hundred years. She married 26 December, 1717 to Captain Isaac Kellogg at Hartford, Connecticut. Their daughter Huldah Kellogg was born at New Hartford, Connecticut 30 March, 1740 and died 31 August, 1809 at Bridgewater, New York. Huldah married in 1763 at New Hartford to James Benham, born in 1735 in Connecticut, died at Bridgewater, New York 6 May, 1830, a soldier on the Colonial side in the War of the American Revolution (corporal). Their son James Benham junior was born at New Hartford, Connecticut 14 August, 1784 and died at Bridgewater, New York 6 January, 1809. He married 10 October, : to Sarah Sedgwick, a first cousin of Noah Webster, the lexicographer. Their daughter was Sophronia Webster Benham, born 2 October, 1802 at Bridgewater, New York and died 19 December, 1865 at Warren, Pennsylvania. She married 8 January, 1823 to William Rufus Rogers, born 14 August, 1798 at Canajoharie, New York, died 27 August, 1847 at Jamestown, New York where he had been a postmaster and justice of the peace. Their daughter was Lucy Rogers, born at Jamestown, New York 13 March, 1834, died 16 March, 1896 at Warren, Pennsylvania. Lucy Rogers married the Hon. William David Brown at Warren, Pennsylvania, 17 December, 1856; he was a judge of the judicial district composed of Warren and Forest counties. Their daughter Kate Brown was born at Warren, Pennsylvania 25 April, 1873 and died there 30 July, 1923. She married at Warren, Pennsylvania 28 June, 1898 to John Galbraith Smith, born 9 August, 1874 at Struthers, Ohio, died at Youngstown, Ohio 25 June, 1943, son of James Alexander and Charlotte (Smith) Galbraith, legally adopted by Mr. and Mrs. J. Arrel Smith of Struthers, Ohio.

The son of John Galbraith and Kate (Brown) Smith was William Galbraith Smith, born at Warren, Pennsylvania 18 October, 1900. He graduated at Kiskiminetas Springs Preparatory School, Saltsburg, Pennsylvania in 1919; and received the A. B. degree at Amherst in 1923. Mr. Smith served as a private in the Eighth Service Command, Camp Wolters, Mineral Wells, Texas in 1942-1943; honorably discharged 10 April, 1943. He is a member (past president) of the National Genealogical Society; also of the Vermont Historical Society and the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania. He is also a member of the Sons of the American Revolution and of Phi Delta Theta. He is a well-known professional genealogist of Washington, D. C.

Page 1,693, line 10 from bottom, No. 7. Isaac was baptised in the First church at Huntington, New York 29 March, 1734 and died at Ronkonkoma in the town of Brookhaven, New York 16 December, 1806. He married in St. George's church, Hempstead, New York 28 April, 1760 to Freelove Carll, baptised in the First church at Huntington, New York 5 June, 1743, deceased before 1806, daughter of Timothy and Jerusha (Scudder) Carll. The ancestry of this man is incorrectly given in the Wickham-Billard Ancestry by Mrs. Josephine C. Frost, pp. 136-137. An old transcript of the bible record of this Isaac Ketcham was in the possession of Julia Wickham of Cutchogue, New York; the children are also mentioned in the will of their grandfather Timothy Carll, Liber 34, p. 238 of Wills, New York city, New York, dated 15 May, 1776, proved 15 June, 1781. Issue:

i. Scudder, born 15 March, 1761, died at Brookhaven, town of Brookhaven, New York 6 January, 1799. He married 15 November, 1789, Elizabeth Rose.
ii. Phebe, born 11 November, 1762.
iii. Sarah, born 18 February, 1765, died in 1833; married 1, Conklin Lewis, died 4 October, 1791, son of Joseph and Naomi (Conklin) Lewis (page 1,836, No. 61); married 2, 15 March, 1795 to Timothy Oakley, son of Samuel and Abigail (Wood) Oakley. See OAKLEY.
iv. Oliver, born 20 April, 1767, died 13 October, 1801, a resident of Brookhaven, New York; married 19 January, 1792, Elizabeth Skidmore.
v. Jerusha, born 23 February, 1771, died 5 October of 1817.
vi. Polly (Mary), born 18 October, 1773.
vii. Catharine, born about 1777 (not in copy of bible record) married Appollos Wetmore, son of Noah and Submit Wetmore.

One of the daughters married Jacob Townsend.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION

The will of this Isaac Ketcham was dated 11 December, 1806, and proved 26 December, 1806; it is filed in Liber B of Wills, Riverhead, New York.

line 14 from bottom. Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell has provided us with a list of the children of Solomon and Rebecca(Platt) Ketcham:

18a. Jonas, born 4 December, 1779, died 31 October, 1842; married about 1800 to Amelia Conkling, dau. of Abel Conkling.

19. Hannah, as recorded.

20. Solomon, born 12 December, 1784 (not 1785), died 28 March, 1852.

20a. Oliver, born 11 October, 1788, died 5 August, 1792.

20b. Amos Platt, born 12 May, 1791, died 19 October, 1828; removed to Amenia and then to Poughkeepsie, New York. He married Ann Rogers Platt.

21. Conklin, born 22 October, 1794, lost at sea; married 31 August, 1816 to Catharine Smith, daughter of Wessell Smith.

21a. John, born 2 September, 1797.

36a. Phebe Eliza(beth), born 13 September, 1835, married John Albin. Issue.

36b. Hannah M., born 4 June, 1839, married Jos. Edwards.

37. Mahlon J., born 6 December, 1842, married Martha E. Walters. The son

iii. Raymond was born 3 November, 1879, not 1877.

Page 1,699, lines 1 ff. This John Ketcham had lands at Newtown, New York also. In the Newtown Town Records, II, p. 12, there is recorded an indenture dated 27 February, 1694/5 between John Ketcham of Huntington, New York and his wife Elizabeth, and Philip Ketcham of Newtown, wherein John Ketcham sold all his lands at Newtown to Philip Ketcham. Mrs. Elizabeth Ketcham signed with her mark: E K.

Page 1,701, lines 19 ff. The research of Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell shows that No. 17. Timothy did not marry Zerviah (Brotherton) Place. He removed to Westchester county, New York and lived at Cortlandtown; enlisted in the militia in 1759 and died shortly afterward (about 1760). Timothy Ketcham married Amy Lane, daughter of Daniel and Mary Lane of Peekskill, New York; as the widow of Timothy Ketcham she was living in 1761. Issue:

i. Joshua, born about 1753, died in September, 1812, married Ruth Nichols.

ii. John, born about 1755, died 29 March, 1808, a resident of Philipstown, New York; married Phoebe (van Velsor?).

iii. Joseph, born about 1758, died at Philipstown, New York 12 October, 1820; married 5 December, 1787 to Charity Austin.

The Timothy Ketcham who married Mrs. Zerviah Place is considered to have been No. 57, page 1,721, line 9.

line 12 from bottom. Crum Pond is in Yorkville, Westchester county, New York.

Page 1,702, lines 14 ff. It has been known to genealogists of the Ketcham family that there appear in Huntington, New York several presumed members of the family who might well have been children of No. 10. David Ketcham. There is considerable indication for the hypothesis that David Ketcham had at least the following issue (this is not proved):

28a. Rebecca, who married Thomas Ketcham, No. 13, page 1,702.

28b. Isaac, born about 1720, died about 1750; the problem of his further connections is being studied.

28c. James, "The Tory", who appears in Huntington, New York and in Norwalk, Connecticut. He married and had issue:

i. Isaac, born about 1742, the well-known counterfeiter of Cold Spring, New York. In May, 1776 he was arrested with Israel and Isaac Youngs (see YOUNGS) and others at Cold Spring for counterfeiting Colonial currency. The proceedings are graphically reported by Peter Force in American Archives, Fourth Series, Vol. 6 (1776), pages 1300 ff., 1343. In the same month, he being still confined, says his wife is dead, and his six children are lamenting the loss of their mother. Isaac Ketcham gave the authorities testimony which aided the Colonial case and was released before 12 July, 1776. He enlisted in the regular army 21 November, 1776 in Capt. Titus' Co., Col. Livingston's 4th New York Regiment; and, still in the army died of smallpox at Fishkill, New York, 21 July, 1777. His wife was named Mary; they had six children.

ii. Anna, born about 1744, married 29 March, 1762, Obadiah Barto.

Perhaps other children.

line 9 from bottom, cross-referenced to page 1,693, lines 9 ff., from bottom, and page 1,997, line 4, No. 32. This Isaac Ketcham is considered to have been the one who married Rebecca Haff, daughter of Joseph Haff.

Page 1,704, line 2, No. 54. Rebecca was baptised 27 July, 1746 at Huntington, New York.

Page 1,706, line 12, No. 46. Joshua Ketcham. The record of this family was obtained from one of our correspondents. Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell believes, however, that this is the Joshua Ketcham who married Elizabeth Davis of Westbury, New York, daughter of Thomas and Isabella (Powell) Davis of Westbury and Greenwich, Connecticut (see Vol. II, page 869, lines 8 and 7 from bottom). Their daughter Mary Ketcham, at the time called daughter of Joshua Ketcham of Huntington, New York, married in the Second Congregational church at Greenwich, 4 February, 1779 to Josiah Utter. Joshua Ketcham of Fishkill mentions no daughter Mary in his will. It may be (since we have but few dates to guide us) that Joshua Davis of Fishkill was a son of Joshua and Elizabeth (Davis) Ketcham. In any case, since the record has been challenged, all references to Joshua Ketcham of Fishkill under No. 46 on this page are to be deleted.

lines 20 and 19 from bottom, ff. No. 47 Zebulon Ketcham died 2 February, 1823. Of his children, 107. Ruth married Seaman.

108. Hannah, married Silas Whitman.

No. 113. Conklin Ketcham is said to have been the fifth child.

Page 1,707, line 2 from bottom, ff. No. 108. David Ketcham was born in 1773 and died in 1867; married in 1797 to Abigail Nostrand, who was born in 1775.

Page 1,715, line 1. For: 1967, read: 1697.

Page 1,716, line 19. The investigations of Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell show that the elder Samuel Ketcham (son of John and Susan) was of Newtown, New York before December, 1683. He was not living in Huntington in 1707. The Samuel Ketcham who purchased from Obadiah Wilkins was Samuel junior. The elder Samuel (No. 1) died in Newtown, perhaps in July, 1707. On August 7, 1707 his son Samuel of Queens county, eldest son and heir, went to Huntington and recorded his confirmation of a deed by his father, dated 10 December, 1704, to his brother Nathaniel. This is proof that the grantor, the elder Samuel Ketcham, was then very recently dead. The Samuel Ketcham mentioned in the Newtown church record in 1708 was therefore the younger Samuel.

Page 1,717, lines 12 ff., from bottom, No. 5. Philip Ketcham's wife Martha Betts died before 2 December, 1726, on which date he married in the First Presbyterian church of Newtown, New York to Charity (Smith) Edsall of Hackensack, New Jersey, daughter of Michael and Francina (Berry) Smith and widow of John Edsall.

Page 1,718, line 1. This reference to a Philip Ketcham has been shown by Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell to be in error. The Philip whose birthdate is reported as 8 March, 1680 was a son of John and Elizabeth Ketcham of Huntington who died young (No. 4, page 1,699). Since Philip Ketcham of Newtown (No. 5, page 1,717) left one half of his estate by his will to his granddaughter Mary (line 3), it is believed that her father was a John Ketcham of Newtown. From the census of 1698 it is indicated that there was another son in the family of Philip Ketcham of Newtown (No. 5, page 1,717) and his name is believed to have been Samuel.

lines 14 ff., from bottom. Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell writes, 21 April, 1954:

> ....you are wrong in listing the children of Theophilus Ketcham. These children are listed as Kellam, not Ketcham, in the N. Y. G. and B. Record which you quote.
>
> Yesterday I had opportunity to see the records of Bedford, New York and the children are there listed as Kellam, and not Ketcham.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION
2,046

My records show that the inventory of Theophilus Ketcham was made Mar. 4, 1729/30. (He was) thus dead in 1736. In 1736, at Bedford, Theophilus Kellam and his son Reuben signed a petition.

Therefore, the listing of the children, Nos. 25 to 31, are to be deleted.

i. Joseph, married Charity
ii. Mary.
iii. Daniel, born about 1738; enlisted 10 April, 1760 aged 21, in Capt. Thomas Jarvis' Company, Beekman Precinct. He married Mary Hall, daughter of John Hall of Beekman, New York. This family moved to Pittstown, Rensselaer county, New York about 1785.

line 16, No. 62. Alexander Ketcham, recorded as shot in 1780. Whatever the circumstances may have been, he was living 27 April, 1780 at Norwalk, Connecticut, and petitioned there for relief of poll tax. He died in 1792, for on 28 November, 1792 administration was granted on the estate of Alexander Ketcham, lieutenant in the Army of the United States, to Carll Ketcham, yeoman, a brother of Huntington, New York. He married Abigail, maiden name not reported, and had issue.

line 2 from bottom. Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell identifies this Isaac Ketcham (No. 69) as the one of Eastern Plains in the town of Huntington. He died intestate in December, 1780, and administration on his estate was granted to the widow Mary. Their children were:

i. Samuel, baptised 5 November, 1767.
ii. Jemima, baptised 14 February, 1768.

iii. Philetus, born 26 February, 1770, died 26 October, 1834. He married Phebe Oakley, born 7 April, 1787, died 7 March, 1834, daughter of Nathaniel and Sarah (Cushew) Oakley. Issue:

A. George Downing, born 20 November, 1798, died 3 February, 1866; married Mary L. and had issue.
B. Sarah, born 9 September, 1802.
C. Elizabeth, born 27 December, 1807, died in October, 1890.
D. Rebecca, born 17 March, 1805, died 7 October, 1836.

> Langedyk is indeed a small hamlet but rather than area I would call it the district of Stellingwerf, subdistrict of Sevenwolden. I wanted to find out (for you) whether it was the grieteny of Oost Stellingwerf --- that is the Frisi an name for a district which is under the government of a grietman, something like a sheriff. But I think district is absolutely correct.
>
> As far as Krankheyt is concerned that is indeed the word for sickness and I would surmise that the person adopting this word as a surname was indeed an invalid of some kind. It is indeed a unicum which I have never come across in the Netherlands. I do not know of any town or other word that comes any way near it.
